through the dialogue and staging of their plays.	(C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text;
	(5) Multiple Genres: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students recognize and analyze genre-specific characteristics, structures, and purposes within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical and diverse texts. The student is expected to:

- (A) recognize characteristics and structures of literary texts including:
 - (v) analyzing how playwrights characterize their protagonists and antagonists through the dialogue and staging of their plays;
 - (F) recognize how forms and structures are the same and different within and across genres such as historical fiction, epics and ballads, fantasy, science fiction, biographies, autobiographies, memoirs, informational text, primary source documents, narrative nonfiction, argumentative text, poetry, drama, and hybrid text.
- (6) Comprehension of Literary Text/Fiction. Students understand, make inferences and draw conclusions about the structure and elements of fiction and provide evidence from text to support their understanding. Students are expected to:
- (A) analyze linear plot developments (e.g., conflict, rising action, falling action, resolution, subplots) to determine whether and how conflicts are resolved;
- (B) analyze how the central characters' qualities influence the theme of a fictional work and resolution of the central conflict; and
- (C) analyze different forms of point of view, including limited versus omniscient, subjective versus objective.

- (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
- (C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text;
- (5) Multiple Genres: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students recognize and analyze genre-specific characteristics, structures, and purposes within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical and diverse texts. The student is expected to:
- (A) recognize characteristics and structures of literary texts including:
- (i) analyzing complex linear and nonlinear plots with one or more subplots;
- (ii) analyzing the influence of setting in character and plot development in linear and nonlinear plots;
- (iii) analyzing how the central characters' qualities influence the resolution of the central conflict and the theme;
- (F) recognize how forms and structures are the same and different within and across genres such as historical fiction, epics and ballads, fantasy, science fiction, biographies, autobiographies, memoirs, informational text, primary source documents, narrative nonfiction, argumentative text, poetry, drama, and hybrid text.
- (6) Author's Purpose and Craft: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use critical inquiry to analyze the purpose of authors' choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a text. Students will analyze and apply author's craft purposefully in order to develop their own products and performances. The student is expected to:
- (B) identify and explain how a text structure contributes to an author's purpose;
- (F) identify and analyze the use of literary devices including subjective and objective point of view and irony to achieve a specific purpose;

(7) Comprehension of Literary Text/Literary Nonfiction. Students understand, make inferences and draw conclusions about the varied structural patterns and features of literary nonfiction and provide evidence from text to support their understanding. Students are expected to analyze passages in well-known speeches for the author's use of literary devices and word and phrase choice (e.g., aphorisms, epigraphs) to appeal to the audience.	 (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to: (C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text; (5) Multiple Genres: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students recognize and analyze genre-specific characteristics, structures, and purposes within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical and diverse texts. The student is expected to: (C) recognize characteristics and structures of persuasive or argumentative text including:
(8) Comprehension of Literary Text/Sensory Language. Students understand, make inferences and draw conclusions about how an author's sensory language creates imagery in literary text and provide evidence from text to support their understanding. Students are expected to explain the effect of similes and extended metaphors in literary text.	(3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts.Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:(C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text;
	(6) Author's Purpose and Craft: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use critical inquiry to analyze the purpose of authors' choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a text. Students will analyze and apply author's craft purposefully in order to develop their own products and performances. The student is expected to:
	(E) explain the effect of literal and figurative language, including extended metaphors and symbolism, to achieve intended purposes;
(9) Comprehension of Informational Text/Culture and History. Students analyze, make inferences and draw conclusions about the author's purpose in cultural, historical, and contemporary contexts and provide evidence from the text to support their understanding. Students are expected to analyze works written on the	(3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. same topic and compare how the authors achieved similar or different purposes.	(C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text;
	(G) compare multiple sources including different genres and write a response with accurate and relevant text evidence and commentary; and
	(6) Author's Purpose and Craft: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use critical inquiry to analyze the purpose of authors' choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a text. Students will analyze and apply author's craft purposefully in order to develop their own products and performances. The student is expected to:

- (10) Comprehension of Informational Text/Expository Text. Students analyze, make inferences and draw conclusions about expository text and provide evidence from text to support their understanding. Students are expected to:
- (A) summarize the main ideas, supporting details, and relationships among ideas in text succinctly in ways that maintain meaning and logical order;
- (B) distinguish factual claims from commonplace assertions and opinions and evaluate inferences from their logic in text;
- (C) make subtle inferences and draw complex conclusions about the ideas in text and their organizational patterns; and
- (D) synthesize and make logical connections between ideas within a text and across two or three texts representing similar or different genres and support those findings with textual evidence.

- (11) Comprehension of Informational Text/Persuasive Text. Students analyze, make inferences and draw conclusions about persuasive text and provide evidence from text to support their analysis. Students are expected to:
- (A) compare and contrast persuasive texts that reached different conclusions about the same issue and explain how the authors reached their conclusions through analyzing the evidence each presents; and
- (B) analyze the use of such rhetorical and logical fallacies as loaded terms, caricatures, leading questions, false assumptions, and incorrect premises in persuasive texts.

- (A) identify and analyze the author's purpose and message within texts;
- (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
- (C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text;
- (F) paraphrase or summarize texts in ways that maintain meaning and logical order; and
- (5) Multiple Genres: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students recognize and analyze genre-specific characteristics, structures, and purposes within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical and diverse texts. The student is expected to:
- (B) recognize characteristics and structures of informational text including:
- (i) explaining how the text is designed to organize and convey ideas.
- (ii) evaluating the author's use of multiple structures to organize information coherently
- (D) analyze and construct multimodal texts and digital literacies for a variety of purposes;
- (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
- (C) express and write about the implicit and explicit meanings of text; (G) compare multiple sources including different genres and write a response with accurate and relevant text evidence and commentary; and
- (5) Multiple Genres: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students recognize and analyze genre-specific characteristics, structures, and purposes within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical and diverse texts. The student is expected to:
- (C) recognize characteristics and structures of persuasive or argumentative text including
- (i) analyzing the argument by identifying the claim the author presents in the thesis, and explain how the author anticipates and answers readers concerns and counterarguments, and use of appeals;

	(6) Author's Purpose and Craft: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use critical inquiry to analyze the purpose of authors' choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a text. Students will analyze and apply author's craft purposefully in order to develop their own products and performances. The student is expected to:
	(G) identify and analyze the use of rhetorical devices including repetition, loaded language, counterarguments, and leading questions
(12) Comprehension of Informational Text/Procedural Texts. Students understand how to glean and use information in procedural texts and documents. Students are expected to:(A) analyze text for missing or extraneous information in multi-step directions or	(5) Multiple Genres: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. 	(6) Author's Purpose and Craft: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use critical inquiry to analyze the purpose of authors' choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a text. Students emulate author's craft purposefully in order to develop their own products and performances. The student is expected to:

- (14) Writing/Writing Process. Students use elements of the writing process (planning, drafting, revising, editing, and publishing) to compose text. Students are expected to:
- (A) plan a first draft by selecting a genre appropriate for conveying the intended meaning to an audience, determining appropriate topics through a range of strategies (e.g., discussion, background reading, personal interests, interviews), and developing a thesis or controlling idea;
- (B) develop drafts by choosing an appropriate organizational strategy (e.g., sequence of events, cause-effect, compare-contrast) and building on ideas to create a focused, organized, and coherent piece of writing;
- (C) revise drafts to ensure precise word choice and vivid images; consistent point of view; use of simple, compound, and complex sentences; internal and external coherence; and the use of effective transitions after rethinking how well questions of purpose, audience, and genre have been addressed;
- (D) edit drafts for grammar, mechanics, and spelling; and
- (E) revise final draft in response to feedback from peers and teacher and publish written work for appropriate audiences.

- (C) interpret and analyze author's use of print and graphic features to achieve specific purposes;
- (7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:
- (A) plan a first draft by selecting a genre appropriate for conveying the intended meaning to an audience, determining appropriate topics through a range of strategies (e.g., discussion, background reading, personal interests, interviews),;
- (B) develop drafts by choosing an effective organizational strategy (e.g., sequence of events, cause-effect, compare-contrast) and building on ideas to create a focused, organized, and coherent piece of writing;
- (C) revise drafts independently and collaboratively to ensure clarity, development, organization, style, word choice, and sentence fluency;
- (D) edit drafts independently and collaboratively using standard English conventions of grammar, spelling, capitalization, and punctuation including;
- (E) publish written work for appropriate audiences;
- (F) use the elements of craft to advance the writer's purpose when composing by
- (i) developing an engaging idea reflecting depth of thought with specific details and relevance
- (ii) organizing with sound and purposeful structure including an effective lead, transitions, sentence-to-sentence connections, and closing
- (iii) using intentional word choice, precise nouns, and strong actions verbs
- (iv) constructing a variety of sentence structures and lengths
- (v) using author's craft to develop voice
- (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
- (E) reflect on and adjust responses when valid evidence is presented
- (H) respond to ideas and feedback about personal and academic writing; and
- (I) respond to various audiences with appropriate register, vocabulary, and voice.
- (7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process
- (15) Writing/Literary Texts. Students write literary texts to express their ideas and feelings about real or imagined people, events, and ideas. Students are expected to:

*Created by TEA staff revised 4/2016

(A) write an imaginative story that:

(i) sustains reader interest;

(ii) includes well-paced action and an engaging story line;

(iii) creates a specific, believable setting through the use of sensory details;

(iv) develops interesting characters; and

(v) uses a range of literary strategies and devices to enhance the style and tone; and

(B) write a poem using:

(i) poetic techniques (e.g., rhyme scheme, meter);

(ii) figurative language (e.g., personification, idioms, hyperbole); and

(iii) graphic elements (e.g., word position).

(16) Writing. Students write about their own experiences. Students are expected to write a personal narrative that has a clearly defined focus and includes reflections on decisions, actions, and/or consequences.

(17) Writing/Expository and Procedural Texts. Students write expository and procedural or work-related texts to communicate ideas and information to specific audiences for specific purposes. Students are expected to:

(A) write a multi-paragraph essay to convey information about a topic that:

(i) presents effective introductions and concluding paragraphs;

(ii) contains a clearly stated purpose or controlling idea;

(iii) is logically organized with appropriate facts and details and includes no extraneous information or inconsistencies:

(iv) accurately synthesizes ideas from several sources; and

(v) uses a variety of sentence structures, rhetorical devices, and transitions to link paragraphs;

(B) write a letter that reflects an opinion, registers a complaint, or requests information in a business or friendly context; recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:

(G) compose literary texts using genre characteristics and author's craft including personal narratives, fiction and poetry

(7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:

(G) compose literary texts using genre characteristics and author's craft including personal narratives, fiction and poetry

(1) Developing and Sustaining Foundational Language Skills: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing. Students develop oral language and word structure knowledge through phonological awareness, print concepts, phonics, and morphology to communicate decode and encode. Students apply knowledge and relationships found in the structures, origins, and contextual meanings of words. The student is expected to:

(D) develop oral language through listening and speaking by:

(i) giving an organized presentation with a specific point of view

(3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:

(I) respond to various audiences with appropriate register, vocabulary, and voice.

(7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:

(C) write responses to literary or expository texts that demonstrate the use of writing skills for a multi-paragraph essay and provide sustained evidence from the text using quotations when appropriate; and	(H) compose informational texts using genre characteristics and author's craft including essays
(D) produce a multimedia presentation involving text, graphics, images, and sound using available technology.	(J) compose correspondence that reflects an opinion, registers a compliant, or requests information in a business or friendly structure
(18) Writing/Persuasive Texts. Students write persuasive texts to influence the attitudes or actions of a specific audience on specific issues. Students are expected to write a persuasive essay to the appropriate audience that:	(3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
(A) establishes a clear thesis or position;	(I) respond to various audiences with appropriate register, vocabulary, and voice.
(B) considers and responds to the views of others and anticipates and answers reader concerns and counter-arguments; and	(7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process
(C) includes evidence that is logically organized to support the author's viewpoint and that differentiates between fact and opinion.	recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:
	(I) compose argumentative texts using genre characteristics and author's craft
(19) Oral and Written Conventions/Conventions. Students understand the function of and use the conventions of academic language when speaking and writing. Students will continue to apply earlier standards with greater complexity. Students are expected to:	(7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:
(A) use and understand the function of the following parts of speech in the context of reading, writing, and speaking:	(D) edit drafts independently and collaboratively using standard English conventions of grammar, spelling, capitalization, and punctuation including:
(i) verbs (perfect and progressive tenses) and participles;	(i) use sentence combining techniques to write with variety;
(ii) appositive phrases;	(iv) parallel structure
(iii) adverbial and adjectival phrases and clauses;	(v) consistent verb tenses
(iv) relative pronouns (e.g., whose, that, which); and	(vi) subject-verb agreement
(v) subordinating conjunctions (e.g., because, since);	(vi) subject-verb agreement
(B) write complex sentences and differentiate between main versus subordinate clauses; and
(C) use a variety of complete sentences (e.g., simple, compound, complex) that include properly placed modifiers, correctly identified antecedents, parallel structures, and consistent tenses.
(20) Writing/Conventions of Language/Handwriting. Students write legibly and use appropriate capitalization and punctuation conventions in their compositions. Students will continue to apply earlier standards with greater complexity. Students are expected to:	(7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:

(A) use conventions of conitalization and
(A) use conventions of capitalization; and	(D) edit drafts independently and collaboratively using standard English conventions
(B) use correct punctuation marks, including:	of grammar, spelling, capitalization, and punctuation including:
(i) commas after introductory structures and dependent adverbial clauses, and	(ix) capitalization for proper nouns appropriately and for stylistic purposes;
correct punctuation of complex sentences; and	(x) punctuating complex sentences correctly;
(ii) semicolons, colons, hyphens, parentheses, brackets, and ellipses.	(vii) quotation marks, including for dialogue and citation; and
	(iii) semicolons, colons, and ellipses when appropriate.
(21) Oral and Written Conventions/Spelling. Students spell correctly. Students are expected to spell correctly, including using various resources to determine and check correct spellings.	(iii) seniessis, tatis, and enipses with appropriate
(22) Research/Research Plan. Students ask open-ended research questions and develop a plan for answering them. Students are expected to:	(8) Inquiry and Research: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students engage in both short-term and sustained recursive inquiry processes
(A) brainstorm, consult with others, decide upon a topic, and formulate a major research question to address the major research topic; and	for self-selected and assigned purposes. The student is expected to: (A) generate student selected and teacher guided questions for formal and informal
(B) apply steps for obtaining and evaluating information from a wide variety of sources and create a written plan after preliminary research in reference works and additional text searches.	inquiry (B) develop a plan
(23) Research/Gathering Sources. Students determine, locate, and explore the full range of relevant sources addressing a research question and systematically record the information they gather. Students are expected to:	(8) Inquiry and Research: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students engage in both short-term and sustained recursive inquiry processes for self-selected and assigned purposes. The student is expected to:
(A) follow the research plan to gather information from a range of relevant print and electronic sources using advanced search strategies;	(C) gather and synthesize information from a variety of sources
(B) categorize information thematically in order to see the larger constructs inherent in the information;	(D) determine credibility of primary and secondary sources
(C) record bibliographic information (e.g., author, title, page number) for all notes and sources according to a standard format; and
(D) differentiate between paraphrasing and plagiarism and identify the importance of using valid and reliable sources.
(24) Research/Synthesizing Information. Students clarify research questions and evaluate and synthesize collected information. Students are expected to:	(8) Inquiry and Research: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students engage in both short-term and sustained recursive inquiry processes
(A) narrow or broaden the major research question, if necessary, based on further research and investigation; and	for self-selected and assigned purposes. The student is expected to:

- (B) utilize elements that demonstrate the reliability and validity of the sources used (e.g., publication date, coverage, language, point of view) and explain why one source is more useful and relevant than another.
- (25) Research/Organizing and Presenting Ideas. Students organize and present their ideas and information according to the purpose of the research and their audience. Students are expected to synthesize the research into a written or an oral presentation that:
- (A) draws conclusions and summarizes or paraphrases the findings in a systematic way;
- (B) marshals evidence to explain the topic and gives relevant reasons for conclusions:
- (C) presents the findings in a meaningful format; and
- (D) follows accepted formats for integrating quotations and citations into the written text to maintain a flow of ideas.

- (1) Developing and Sustaining Foundational Language Skills: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing. Students develop oral language and word structure knowledge through phonological awareness, print concepts, phonics, and morphology to communicate decode and encode. Students apply knowledge and relationships found in the structures, origins, and contextual meanings of words. The student is expected to:
- (D) develop oral language through listening and speaking by:
- (i) giving an organized presentation with a specific point of view
- (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
- (F) paraphrase or summarize texts in ways that maintain meaning and logical order; and
- (I) respond to various audiences with appropriate register, vocabulary, and voice.
- (8) Inquiry and Research: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students engage in both short-term and sustained recursive inquiry processes for self-selected and assigned purposes. The student is expected to:
- (E) demonstrate understanding using appropriate mode of delivery
- (i) display academic citations
- (ii) use source materials ethically
- (F)incorporate digital technology, when appropriate
- (26) Listening and Speaking/Listening. Students will use comprehension skills to listen attentively to others in formal and informal settings. Students will continue to apply earlier standards with greater complexity. Students are expected to:
- (A) listen to and interpret a speaker's purpose by explaining the content, evaluating the delivery of the presentation, and asking questions or making comments about the evidence that supports a speaker's claims;
- (B) follow and give complex oral instructions to perform specific tasks, answer questions, or solve problems; and
- (C) summarize formal and informal presentations, distinguish between facts and opinions, and determine the effectiveness of rhetorical devices.
- (1) Developing and Sustaining Foundational Language Skills: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing. Students develop oral language and word structure knowledge through phonological awareness, print concepts, phonics, and morphology to communicate decode and encode. Students apply knowledge and relationships found in the structures, origins, and contextual meanings of words. The student is expected to:
- (D) develop oral language through listening and speaking by:
- (ii) developing strategies to support active listening; and

(4) Collaboration. Students develop collaboration skills to participate productively in diverse interactions within a variety of digital and social environments using the four domains of language as appropriate. The student is expected to: (A) listen actively to interpret a speaker's message by summarizing, asking questions, and making comments when appropriate; (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to: (F) paraphrase or summarize texts in ways that maintain meaning and logical order; and (27) Listening and Speaking/Speaking. Students speak clearly and to the point, (3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. using the conventions of language. 	(3) Response: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students react and respond to a variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:
	(A) describe the emotional impact of and personal connections to a variety of sources including self selected texts;
	(D) interact with a variety of sources read, heard, or viewed in meaningful ways such as notetaking, and annotating, freewriting, or illustrating.
	(4) Collaboration. Students develop collaboration skills to participate productively in diverse interactions within a variety of digital and social environments using the four domains of language as appropriate. The student is expected to:
	(D) evaluate the effectiveness of collaboration.
	(6) Author's Purpose and Craft: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use critical inquiry to analyze the purpose of authors' choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a text. Students will analyze and apply author's craft purposefully in order to develop their own products and performances. The student is expected to:

(E) identify and analyze how an author's use of language contributes to the mood, style and tone of a text;
(7) Composition and Presentation: Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing using Multiple Texts. Students use the modes of writing/discourse and the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are meaningful and legible and use appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:
(D) edit drafts independently and collaboratively using standard English conventions of grammar, spelling, capitalization, and punctuation including (viii) differentiate between commonly confused terms (e.g., its, it's; affect, effect).
