DISCUSSION ITEM

1. Commissioner's Comments
   (Board agenda page I-275)

Commissioner of Education Mike Morath reported to the committee that the spring student assessments have gone smoothly so far. He noted that for the first time assessments for grades 3-8 were available online. He discussed a new parent-friendly assessment report that will be issued to help them understand State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness (STAAR) results, a planned assessment website and other changes to the assessment program or reporting products. He answered questions from committee members, including confirming that state law will require him to detach property from Houston ISD if district citizens don’t approve one of the revenue-sharing options available under the state’s school finance system.

“Spanish, as opposed to English, has a closer letter-sound relationship and clearly defined syllable boundaries. The syllable in Spanish is a more critical unit of phonological awareness than in English because of the consistent phoneme-grapheme correspondence. Syllables are important units for Spanish because of their strong effect in visual word recognition (Carreiras et al., 1993) and their major role in predicting Spanish reading success. In addition, Spanish presents a much higher level of orthographic transparency than English and does not rely on sight words for decoding. This orthographic transparency accelerates the decoding process, and the focus quickly moves to fluency and comprehension. However, in English, “sight” words are used because of words that are not decodable such as "are" or "one." In Spanish, decoding issues are not as prevalent as issues of comprehension. These specific features of the Spanish language will influence reading methodology and development.”
