What's New with the English and Spanish Language Arts and Reading TEKS?

What's New with the TEKS?

- Final TEKS for kindergarten – grade 8 English and Spanish language arts and reading adopted May 2017
- English language arts and reading TEKS are available online at http://tea.texas.gov/Academics/English\_TEKS\_Review/
- Spanish language arts and reading TEKS are available online at http://tea.texas.gov/Academics/Spanish\_TEKS\_Review/

What's New with the TEKS?

Overview of Changes

- Streamlining of TEKS
- Vertical alignment across grade levels
- Horizontal alignment between English and Spanish with differentiation as appropriate for foundational language and composition skills
- Organization of concepts around seven new strands
- Integration of Figure 19 expectations into general student expectations for each grade level and course

What's New with the TEKS?

Strands

- The new TEKS are organized into seven strands—
  - Developing and sustaining foundational language skills
  - Comprehension
  - Response
  - Multiple genres
  - Author's purpose and craft
  - Composition
  - Inquiry and research

What's New with the TEKS?

Strands (cont'd)

- Strands include the four domains of language (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) and thinking.
- Some strands are made up of two or more substrands.
- Substrands vary by grade level.
- Substrands have unique knowledge and skill statements and organize student expectations into related categories within a strand.

What's New with the TEKS?

Strands (cont'd)

Response skills: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking using multiple texts. The student responds to an increasingly challenging variety of sources that are read, heard, or viewed. The student is expected to:

Understanding the TEKS

Introductions

- A description of the content of course and key information about the course and the standards
- (2) Text complexity increases with challenging vocabulary, sophisticated sentence structures, nuanced text features, cognitively demanding content, and subtle relationships among ideas (Texas Education Agency, STAAR Performance Level Descriptors, 2013). As skills and knowledge are obtained in each of the seven strands, students will continue to apply earlier standards with greater depth to increasingly complex texts in multiple genres as they become self-directed, critical learners who work collaboratively while continuously using metacognitive skills.

Understanding the TEKS

Knowledge and Skill Statements

- Broad statements of what students must know and be able to do
- Sometimes organized into strands and substrands

(3) Developing and sustaining foundational language skills: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking--vocabulary. The student uses newly acquired vocabulary expressively. The student is expected to:

Understanding the TEKS

Student Expectations (SEs)

- Directly related to the knowledge and skill statement
- Are more specific about how students demonstrate their learning
- Always follow the phrase “The student is expected to....”
- Always begin with a verb

(D) edit drafts using standard Spanish conventions, including:
(iii) singular, plural, common, and proper nouns, including gender-specific articles

Romanette

Understanding the TEKS

Wording in the TEKS

- and—must be included
- among—include all
- or—use one or the other (both not necessary)
- including—must include
- such as—only examples

Knowledge and Skills Statement	Student Expectation	Breakout
(1) The student uses the writing process recursively to compose multiple texts that are legible and uses appropriate conventions. The student is expected to:	(A) plan a first draft by selecting a genre for a particular topic, purpose, and audience using a range of strategies such as brainstorming, freewriting, and mapping;	(i) plan a first draft by selecting a genre for a particular topic using a range of strategies
		(ii) plan a first draft by selecting a genre for a particular purpose using a range of strategies
		(iii) plan a first draft by selecting a genre for a particular audience using a range of strategies

Understanding the TEKS

Process Standards

Process standards describe ways in which the student is expected to engage with the content.

- Process standards are part of the student expectations of the TEKS.
- In the English and Spanish language arts and reading TEKS, process standards are included throughout the TEKS.

Understanding the TEKS

Process Standards

There will be instances in which a process standard cannot be addressed in student text narrative.

Example:

Developing and sustaining foundational language skills: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking--fluency. The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text.

Understanding the TEKS

Determining TEKS Coverage

All student expectations within a given knowledge and skills statement do not need to be sufficiently addressed in order for an individual SE within that group to count toward the 50%.

However, all breakouts within a given student expectation must be sufficiently addressed in order for an individual SE to be counted toward the 50%.

Understanding the TEKS

Determining TEKS Coverage

A student expectation (SE) is considered to be addressed if

- all breakouts for content SEs are addressed at least once in the student text narrative, and
- once in an end-of-section review exercise, an end-of-chapter activity, or a unit test
- all breakouts for process SEs are addressed at least once in the student text narrative and once in an end-of-section review exercise, an end-of-chapter activity, or a unit test; or
- twice in an end-of-section review exercise, an end-of-chapter activity, or a unit test.

Understanding the ELPS

English Language Proficiency Standards (ELPS)

- Outline English language proficiency level descriptors for English language learners (ELLs) in listening, speaking, reading, and writing
- Materials must cover only those standards that have been designated as appropriate for inclusion in instructional materials
- Fewer standards in total than student expectations for most grade levels and courses
- Focus is on teacher materials

Understanding the ELPS

English Language Proficiency Standards (ELPS)

- (5) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/writing. The ELL writes in a variety of forms with increasing accuracy ... The student is expected to:
- (C) spell familiar English words with increasing accuracy, and employ English spelling patterns and rules with increasing accuracy as more English is acquired

Accessible Instructional Materials

Accessible Print Materials

- NIMAS is a technical standard used to produce XML-based source files, from which accessible, student-ready alternate-format versions (e.g., braille, e-text, digital talking book, large-print) can be created and distributed to students with print disabilities.
- Publishers of adopted print materials must provide NIMAS files of their programs to facilitate the production of specialized formats.
- NIMAS files are required for all printed instructional materials.
- The NIMAS Technical Specification, v1.1, can be found at <http://aem.cast.org/creating/nimas-technical-specification-annotated.html>.

Accessible Print Materials

- New publishers should email nimac@aph.org to request a publisher account.
- The NIMAC provides instructions on how to set up an account, prepare metadata correctly, and make submissions.
- Visit <http://www.nimac.us/publishers.html> for more information.
- Publishers must provide contact information of the production manager and the contact information of the individual providing NIMAS files at the time other contact information is provided.

- Each sample must be a complete version of the final product and include all content intended to be in the final product.
- Publishers must provide access information necessary for review of the samples and the information must be valid until the final samples are submitted in May 2019, and access information will be posted to the TEA website.
- The content in the pre-adoption must remain static until final samples are submitted. Any edits made to the content must be made in a new version of the sample, which the publisher must also provide to TEA and each of the ESCs.
- Each electronic sample must allow for multiple simultaneous users and be equipped with a word-search feature.

Correlation to TEKS and ELPS

- Correlations indicate the exact location where the publisher believes each SE is addressed.
- TEA will provide electronic correlation templates for each subject and grade level or course.
- Publishers of digital/electronic programs, including online programs, are also required to embed the correlations in the program.
- Each SE must be met at least twice in the components intended for student use and twice in the components intended for teacher use.
- State review panels use correlations as their primary reference as they review instructional materials.
- Correlations should be carefully constructed and accurate because poorly chosen correlations can result in a product's being determined ineligible for adoption.
- Publishers should avoid providing different citations for the teacher and student materials because that can be confusing for review panelists.
- Although TEA requires correlations to be provided electronically, review panelists may request a hard copy.

Due date: 5:00 p.m. on Friday, April 6, 2018—ELAR, spelling (English), handwriting (English), English Learners Language Arts, and Personal Financial Literacy

5:00 p.m. on Friday, May 4, 2018 —SLAR, spelling (Spanish), and handwriting (Spanish)

Samples for Review Panels

- Meetings will take place in the summer of 2018 (July 9–27 and August 6–10) at the Crowne Plaza Austin.
- Publishers must provide additional pre-adoption samples of each component listed on the Complete Description.
- Samples for the review panels may be print samples, electronic samples, or galley proofs.
- All print samples must be accompanied by hard copies of the correlations.
- All electronic samples must have embedded correlations.
- Detailed instructions regarding delivery and set up will be provided as the meeting approaches.

- All errors identified by the state review panels and by the publisher must be corrected as a condition of adoption.

Due date: 5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 31, 2018

Submission method: Email to review.adoption@tea.texas.gov

Publisher's Certification of Editorial Review and Intent to Correct

- Publishers must affirm that materials have been edited for accuracy, content, and compliance with requirements of the proclamation.
- Publishers must certify that all required corrections will be incorporated into the final version of adopted materials.

Due date: 5:00 p.m. on Friday, October 19, 2018

Submission method: Email to review.adoption@tea.texas.gov

Note: Publishers may not make changes to the original pre-adoption sample. Any changes made prior to the submission of the post-adoption sample must be documented. A new version of the sample that incorporates the changes must be submitted to TEA and each ESC so that it is available for public review.

Report on Interoperability and Ease of Use

- Some publishers also choose to use an Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) system to receive and fill orders.

Note: Intrastate freight, shipping, and expenses associated with delivering the adopted instructional materials to districts will be paid by the state, but the state does not pay for out-of-state shipping costs.

Due date: 5:00 p.m. on Friday, September 28, 2018
