Shared Services Arrangements

Shared services arrangements (SSAs) are permitted for this grant. Check the box below if applying as fiscal agent. The organization submitting this application is the fiscal agent of a planned SSA. All participating agencies will enter into a written SSA agreement describing fiscal agent and SSA member responsibilities. All participants understand that the written SSA agreement is subject to negotiation and must be approved before a NOGA can be issued.

SSAs are not permitted for this grant.

Identify/Address Needs

List up to three quantifiable needs, as identified in your needs assessment, that these program funds will address. Describe your plan for addressing each need.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Quantifiable Need</th>

<td>Develop high quality talent to fill approximately five principal or assistant principal positions annually</td>
<td>Encourage high-capacity Midland teachers to enter school leadership via MISP funded stipends for additional leader responsibilities and grant funded stipends to gain certification via partnership with University of Texas Permian Basin (UTPB). Candidates will remain classroom teachers during residency</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Build durable leadership development pipeline in Midland</td>
<td>Leverage principal prep grant funding to run “pilot” residency program. Using objective evaluation criteria, build case to expand program/partnership with UTPB using local LEA funding, philanthropy, and (if available) downstream grant opportunities from TEA</td>

SMART Goal

Describe the summative SMART goal you have identified for this program (a goal that is Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Timely), either related to student outcome or consistent with the purpose of the grant.

Identify five classroom teachers demonstrating instructional success and strong leadership potential to complete principal certification and hired as principals or assistant principals in MISD for the subsequent for the 2019-20 academic year

Measurable Progress

Identify the benchmarks that you will use at the end of the first three grant quarters to measure progress toward meeting the process and implementation goals defined for the grant.

First-Quarter Benchmark:

By August 31st 2018:

Process Goals:
1. Project team founded and meets bi-weekly to measure progress and administer program
2. Residency programs developed at up to five Midland school sites

Outcome/Implementation Goal:
1. 5/5 eligible teachers identified for certification program

RFA # 701-18-105 SAS # 276-18 2018-2019 Principal Preparation Grant Program
Second-Quarter Benchmark:

By November 31st 2018

Process Goals:
1. Project team continues to measure progress and meet bi-weekly

Outcome/Implementation Goal:
1. 5/5 eligible teachers enrolled in and attending certification program at UTPB
2. Residency programs underway at participating schools

Third-Quarter Benchmark:

By February 28th 2019

Process goals:
1. Project team continues to meet bi-weekly to measure progress and administer program

Outcome/Implementation Goal
1. 5/5 eligible teachers on track to complete certification program at UTPB
2. 5/5 eligible teachers report satisfaction with residency including opportunity to engage in authentic leadership experiences and focus on instructional leadership.
3. Principal mentors report teacher candidates scoring at least 3 out of 4 on MISD-developed residency evaluation rubric

Project Evaluation and Modification

Describe how you will use project evaluation data to determine when and how to modify your program. If your benchmarks or summative SMART goals do not show progress, describe how you will use evaluation data to modify your program for sustainability.

Progress tracking: MISD will form a small project management team at the LEA to administer this grant and ensure we are hitting all implementation milestones. This group will engage in bi-weekly project reviews to ensure we are on track. The team will include the Chief Academic Officer, the Director of Professional Development and the Director of Human Resources. The team will articulate periodic high-level implementation and outcome goals for the entirety of the grant, consistent with mid-year adding to the benchmarks enumerated above. Our aim is to evaluate progress regularly to respond quickly to the evolving needs of this innovative opportunity.

Program Effectiveness Tracking: In addition to our partner IHE's evaluation process, MISD will develop a candidate evaluation rubric. The rubric will assign a value of 1-4 (4 being "exceptional") across seven domains: student culture, data-driven instruction, observation and feedback, team effectiveness, personal leadership, change management, and delivering effective professional development. Candidates will review the rubric three times. At the beginning of the program, to norm with their mentor-principal on expectations, mid-year as a progress check, and end of year as a final review. Each time, candidates will self-evaluate, and mentor principals will also complete an evaluation. Teachers and mentor candidates will meet to compare results and discuss opportunities for growth.

Application of the Rubric: The rubric will be used to 1) evaluate progress of candidates, 2) evaluate quality of residency program at each school-site 3) evaluate alignment of UTPB certification program to grant/LEA goals 4) norm on expectations and provide guidelines for school-site residencies. Candidate progress will be measured using the process described above. The overall quality of each residency program will also be measured according to the rubric. Midland is pursuing a high-quality, autonomous school strategy and thus we will afford significant autonomy to school sites to design a specific residency program. Schools will be asked to design a program that focuses on the seven domains and school sites that do not support high ratings for candidates across all seven domains will forfeit the opportunity to run a residency program in subsequent years. Lastly, we will use the rubric to evaluate the alignment of UTPB's program to the grant and Midland's goals. Candidates will be asked to rate UTPB's course content on the seven domains (using the same 1-4 scale). We will use this data to provide feedback to UTPB to refine the courses.
1. The LEA must provide sustained and rigorous clinical learning in an authentic school setting and substantial leadership responsibilities such as the ability to address and resolve a significant problem/challenge in the school that influences practice and student learning; the skills needed to establish and support effective and continuous professional development with assigned teaching staff; and the ability to facilitate stakeholders' efforts to build a collaborative team within the school to improve instructional practice, student achievement, and the school culture.

Strategic Approach: Through TEA’s System of Great Schools initiative, Midland is developing a strategy that supports high-quality, autonomous schools. We are calling this strategy “Midland on the Move.” One core tenet of Midland on the Move is that significant talent and professional development decisions are best made at the school site. For this reason, we will support the development of diverse clinical learning experiences at different school sites. Principals (with their leadership team) will be invited to identify up to two eligible teachers from their schools and submit a residency plan. Schools with a combination of the most eligible candidates including the extent to which candidates reflect the diversity of MISD’s student population, and highest quality plans will be selected to administer the residency program.

Residency Plan Evaluation: MISD will employ a “tight-loose” approach to the principal residency. We will be “tight” on program guidelines, requiring schools to articulate a plan that clearly provides substantial leadership opportunities and development across seven domains: student culture, data-driven instruction, observation and feedback, team effectiveness, personal leadership, change management, and delivering effective professional development. Plans must also address how the candidate will be supported through his/her current teaching role while afforded the opportunity for leadership experience. The district will be “loose” on the specific content and delivery of training and leadership opportunities at the actual school site. We believe that each school is unique, that each principal knows his/her staff best, and that the highest-quality, most impactful program will be developed within a school’s specific context.

Benefits of “Tight-Loose” Approach: We believe the “tight-loose” approach affords several advantages. 1) Program quality. We believe the program will be better when it is owned by principal mentors and developed with their specific school-contexts in mind. 2) Strategic alignment. This approach aligns with Midland’s overall approach of high-quality autonomous schools. 3) Best practice sharing – overall program improvement. Principals, and schools, excel at different things. One school may have an excellent culture while another excels at observation and feedback. By encouraging diverse approaches (loose) with specific quality guidelines (tight) we can surface best practices at individual schools and spread those best practices to other programs. To that end, after residents have completed their programs, we will engage in a year end review to identify bright spots and encourage residency providers to adopt best practices for year 2 residency administration. This has the dual-benefit of improving the residency programs specifically and also encouraging the general spread of best practices across schools.

Timeline: Upon notification of grant award, MISD will immediately announce the opportunity to principals and ask them to begin considering candidates. In mid-April, MISD will release the principal preparation residency application and guidelines. Principals must submit applications by mid-May and awards will be made by the end of May. Upon award, teachers will apply to UTPB’s certification program. Residencies will start concurrent with the certification program classes in late summer 2018.

Incentive to Participate: Principals will be interested in developing a residency program for the following reasons. 1) A “first right to hire” their candidate for open AP positions. If the principal has an open AP position, they will be given the opportunity to hire their candidate(s) to fill the position after their candidate(s) have completed the certification program. 2) A “second right to hire” graduates from other schools with residencies for open AP positions. If a candidate leaves his/her home school (e.g. to serve as a principal in another school), the principal at the home school may select first against all non-residency school graduates from other residency schools. 3) A residency program is a significant hiring advantage. MISD is committed to continuing the residency program beyond this year, regardless of additional funding from TEA. Running an established residency program, with stipends for additional responsibilities and to support certification gives a principal a significant bargaining chip to hire high-potential candidates. 4) District prestige. Winning and running a successful residency program will increase a principal’s profile in the district and bring prestige to the school, offering another hiring advantage.
2. The LEA must ensure that there is a systematic and informed targeted recruitment and selection process utilizing demonstrated criteria such as track record of measurable student achievement, evaluations/appraisals, interpersonal leadership, response to observations and feedback, and growth mindset to ensure quality of future principal pool. Plan for consideration of the following in LEA recruitment and selection strategy: degree to which the diversity of the residents mirrors that of the student population.

Recruitment and Selection of Residency Candidates: MISD will require principals to identify up to two eligible candidates in their residency plans according to specific, objective selection criteria. The principal must submit the names and qualifications of identified candidates with the overall residency plan and MISD will consider candidates qualifications in the overall evaluation of the school’s residency plan.

Selection Criteria and Process: Principals must identify candidates who demonstrate strong capacity in the following areas:
1) Instructional success as demonstrated by objective measures including teacher evaluation results and evidence of impact on student outcomes including assessment results (formative and summative where available) 2) candidate’s commitment to leadership demonstrated by current formal or informal leadership roles in the school (e.g. instructional coach, grade-team lead, etc.) 3) candidate’s commitment to school culture and student development demonstrated by participation in extra-curricular activities 4) and a brief qualitative summary from the principal of the teacher candidate’s qualification, commitment, and capacity to lead including growth mindset, interpersonal leadership, and response to observations and feedback. Candidates will also be required to complete a short application, which will be included in the residency plan package for MISD review. This application will include a section from the candidate outlining the candidate’s commitment to continue working in Midland (providing an open position is available). Lastly, MISD will consider the extent to which the teacher candidate reflects the diversity of the district.

MISD is reviewing the feasibility of requiring candidates to sign an MOU to commit to serving in Midland for at least four years following completion of the residency program. The MOU will require departing candidates to return a portion of the certification program stipend equal to the number of years they remain in Midland following completion minus four times 25%. (4-4 x 25% = 0 return) (4-2 x 25% = 50% return).

3. The LEA must provide the name of the institution of higher education (IHE) or educator preparation program (EPP) providing principal preparation; the IHE’s or EPP’s scope and sequence that includes topics such as student culture routines, data-driven instruction, observation and feedback, team effectiveness, personal leadership, change management, and delivering effective professional development; and the IHE’s or EPP’s required reading and textbooks.

Midland ISD will be collaborating with the University of Texas of the Permian Basin (UTPB). The Principal Certification program at UTPB is Nationally Recognized by ELCC and accredited by NCATE/CAEP. It is located less than 20 minutes away, which makes it easy for our interns to access courses and support. The scope of the Principal Certification program encompasses: Instructional Leadership Development, Theories of Educational Leadership, School Law, Administration of Special Programs, Principalship, and Practicum. As part of the certification process students may also take either School Finance, School Public Relations, School Human Resources Management, or T-TESS. Topics such as campus culture and climate, data-driven instruction, instructional coaching, team effectiveness, leadership theory and styles, change management, and development of human resources are embedded within these courses. Required reading and textbooks used in the courses are: The fundamental 5: The formula for quality instruction, Educational administration: Concepts and practices, The educator's guide to Texas school law, Texas documentation handbook, The administration and supervision of special programs in education, The principal: Creative leadership for excellence in schools, and Texas Public School Organization & Administration. In addition, Interns may also be exposed to the following textbooks in electives: School public relations for student success, School customer service, Human resource leadership for effective schools, and The principals guide to school budgeting.
4. The LEA must provide the IHE's or EPP's candidate evaluation process and metrics; IHE's or EPP's instructional coaching protocols such as the tools used during observations to identify the highest leverage action steps for the principal resident and the protocol the IHE or EPP uses to conduct feedback sessions.

Each and every course within the Principal Certification Program at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin (UTPB) is replete with rubrics, clearly outlining the learning and expectations of the principal candidates. Assignments are action-oriented or project-based in nature and focus on helping candidates unpack the mechanics of executing day-to-day responsibilities. Candidates are required to actually perform in an administrative capacity, i.e., implement and evaluate data-driven campus change, identify leadership styles and capacity, evaluate and coach personnel, assess and evaluate ethical decision making, reflect on the cultural perspectives of others and school's community context, evaluate various school programs, analyze campus and district performance data, and determine effective leadership approached given specific circumstances.

Evaluation and coaching process mechanics include strategic conversations around theory and practice, detailed and descriptive feedback related to the degree to which written submissions meet grading standards outlined in the rubric(s), and debrief around problems of practice. More specifically, during Practicum visits, the site supervisor is invited to join the coaching conversation and their insight is leveraged as part of candidate debrief about their leadership experiences and observations. At the conclusion of the Practicum course, candidate site-supervisors complete a Mentor Evaluation of the candidate and receive a summary evaluation from the university-assigned Field Supervisor.

By way of example, the reviewer will see rubrics included in the grant submission illustrative of tools used by UTPB faculty to review student submissions and as a vehicle to support feedback around instructional coaching.

Students will practice making instructional recommendations for a teacher struggling to engage student thinking beyond the lower levels of Blooms Taxonomy. Watching the ILD video of Kellye's lesson, students will identify a least two different elements of Kellye’s lesson and recommend ways Kellye could elevate the rigor of his instruction. See the Video and Transcript in the Module 2 section of the Canvas course shell. See the rubric for a full explanation of the grading standards.

Instructional Leadership: Assignment 3 Rubric

For the third assignment, students will view a minimum of two Calibration videos. These videos are accessible via the “Calibration Videos” tab in the teachfortexas.org T-TESS portal. This resource is accessible via the teachfortexas.org website and should be accessed after successful completion of the training requirements for T-TESS. These videos should be viewed prior to taking your Certification Test (accessible through the Appraisers tab in the teachfortexas.org portal) and will help you calibrate to the rating standards for instruction. Failure to complete this activity will not necessarily compromise your ability to successfully pass the Certification exam; however, successful completion of this activity should support your ability to be successful on the Certification Test. That said, this is an expected assignment and failure to complete this assignment will negatively impact your course grade.

In order to successfully complete this assignment, students will do the following:

1) Watch at least two of the Calibration Videos
2) Script their observations using the recommended form or an alternative approved via email with the professor
3) Scripted notes are based in facts and observations and do not include evaluative language or subjective judgement
4) Categorize evidence using the Categorizing Evidence Template
5) Score the appraisal for the Instruction and Learning Environment domains only with the use of the T-TESS Rubric
6) Provide a brief narrative related to how well your scoring aligned to the state-provided scoring with an explanation of any discrepancies

Note: Most submissions will be made in the form of a narrative paper with a supplemental scripting sheet. Students who desire to complete the assignment in an alternative format should consult with the course professor.

* For this last assignment, I am not requiring that you provide a narrative about the evidence used in your ratings beyond what you document in your scripted notes. However, remember that your ratings must be evidence based. Some students may elect to document evidence as part of this assignment. It is allowed even though it’s not required. Electing to do this could support the refinement of that skill for use on the exam and in your “real-world” appraisals.

Technical Aspects can be broadly defined at the instructor’s discretion.
Instructional Leadership: Module 5 Assignment

Consider 3 distinct instructional challenges and how the integration of specific technology resources may support a teacher's ability to be more efficient or more effective.

For additional credit, present this submission with some additional type of technology. The use of a Powerpoint alone will not garner additional credit.

T-TESS Course: Module 3 Assignment

Students will practice coaching an effective teacher. Using evidence from the video, students will script their observations, note Cheryl’s strengths, and suggestions for growth based on their observations. In order to practice the process of identifying strengths and areas for growth, students will identify at least two (2) of each. Comments will be evidence based and recommendations will be measurable.

<td>For full credit in this aspect of the rubric, students must script their observations and submit their scripting form. Unless there is an alternative and documented agreement, students must use the template provided in the Module section of canvas. If students have a preferred method of scripting other than the recommended form, they may request permission to use that form. Requests should be made via email. Module 6 – Special Education

Chapter 8 of the Ubben text
Chapter 19 of the Vornberg text

Dates: April 9th through April 15th

Module 6 Assignment Due April 11th by noon

While we cannot guarantee equality of results, one of the key ideas behind special education is equality of opportunity. This is the difference between Equality and Equity. Equality being focused on outputs (learning and the ability to communicate learning) and Equity being focused on inputs (instruction and learning opportunities which build capacity). We typically agree, in principle, that each student deserves a meaningfully differentiated education. This means we strive to meet individualized student needs.

Students are identified for special education services by having a diagnosed categorical disability. Some of those labels are LD (learning disabled), AI (Auditory Impairment), AU (Autism Spectrum), VI (Visual Impairment), ED (Emotional Disturbance), OHI (Other Health Impairment). This is not an exhaustive list, only some examples.

In addition to meeting the needs of students served by special education, other special-populations considerations include Bilingual/ESL and G/T.

Furthermore, all students, regardless of special designation, deserve an education which is meaningfully differentiated to meet their educational needs.

This assignment has three tasks:

1. Identify 2 different types of student-groups served by special education (by label) and describe reasonable classroom accommodations which generally support learning for that student-group. Make sure there is a differentiation between the different labels.

2. Discuss reasonable classroom or schooling accommodations which generally support learning for either a student identified as Limited English proficient (those served through Bilingual/ESL) or for a student identified as Gifted and Talented (G/T). By

3. Respond to the following statement: “Every student, regardless of the presence of a “label”, deserves instruction and an education which are meaningfully differentiated to meet their needs.”

For more detailed grading standards see the assignment rubric.

Module 6 Discussion Participation Due April 15th by noon

Effective educational leaders stay current on laws and issues concerning special needs students. It has been brought to your attention that some of your teachers have not been implementing modifications for special education students in their classroom, as they feel the students are being successful without the modifications. What would you do?

Post and reply to the Module 6 Discussion forum by going to the Discussion Board button on the course menu.

Module 7 – Learner Centered Schools

Chapter 11 of the Ubben text
Appendix A of the Vornberg text

Dates: April 16th through April 23rd

Module 7 Discussion Participation Due April 18th by noon

Effective educational leaders must assign teachers based on student needs, rather than teacher needs. Teachers new to the profession often complain that they are assigned the most academically needy students; while veteran teachers argue they have paid their dues and should be assigned the least academically needy students. How would you resolve this?

Post and reply to the Module 7 Discussion forum by going to the Discussion Board button on the course menu.

Module 7 Assignment Due April 23rd by noon (one day later than other module assignments)

Section I requires the candidates to demonstrate knowledge of the process of developing a campus planning committee. Section I is worth 30 points.

Section II requires the candidate to conduct a needs assessment of their campus using TAPR data from the TEA website in order to identify areas for improvement. Section II is worth 30 points.

Course Objectives

The Practicum is an opportunity for Principal Certification Candidates to have authentic field experiences in the principalship or related administrative leadership positions. This is a time when they work closely with administrators or other supervisors at their school or other educational setting. Interns must be able to display the knowledge, skills, and dispositions as framed in the Texas State Board for Educator (SBEC) Certification Principal Domains and Competencies Principal Preparation Manuel at:

http://cms.texas-ets.org/index.php/download_file/1086/

The test framework can be found there as well.

Interns will utilize and document these standards-based competencies in Practicum experiences and activities.

Measureable Learning Outcomes

During this course:

Candidates will engage with their site supervisor in obtaining 75 hours of practical experience in educational administration and align those experiences to the state and national standards.

Candidates will develop a mission statement in order to effectively determine what drives and motivates them as well as establishing what non-negotiables are practical as they assume leadership positions.

Candidates will take a mock certification exam and determine areas of strength and weakness in addition to developing a plan for improvement.

Candidates will complete a major course project called the Professional Improvement Project or PIP. This project is to be thought of as a Capstone experience that builds the capacity for organizational leadership in the school and is an opportunity to identify and meet a real need on your campus. The project must be something for which the candidate is the primary "driver." The project must have a significant point of implementation. It can be the start of a multi-semester initiative; however, there should be some meaningful event or occasion upon which the candidate can reflect for the purpose of growth and the purpose of considering next steps. It cannot be something that is altogether set to happen during a future semester. Projects should also be something that has the support of the candidates’ campus administrator/mentor.

This course is a Web Course and is conducted within Canvas at http://utpb.instructure.com. Make every attempt to check your e-mail the announcements section at least weekly.

Course Objectives
The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the theory and practice of special programs provided in the schools. These programs usually have special or categorical funds. Such programs have common characteristics regarding the receipt, application, and accountability of funds as well as the specifying of eligibility criteria and services for students. Schools today are more sophisticated and offer an increasing array of programs. No one person is likely to possess a complete understanding of every program delivered in the typical school. This course is designed to provide school personnel - particularly school administrators and teacher leaders - with the knowledge needed to successfully manage the various special instructional and support programs in schools. Organization and time management is critical to the success of any administrator. As you begin this course, read the entire syllabus and all of the modules. Review all materials and begin to plan the semester.

Measurable Learning Outcomes
By the end of this course, you will be able to:

- Assure teams are making appropriate decisions at manifest determination meetings
- Discuss the positive and negative aspects of standardized testing programs for students
- Identify how the values and beliefs of school/district leadership affect programming decisions for English Language Learners
- Identify strategies a principal can use when dealing with parents whose child does not qualify for the gifted program
- Evaluate an early childhood program
- Evaluate a school counselor
- Understand the issues involving an Alternative Educational Placement setting or an Adjudicated Youth Program setting
• Understand and present the history and background, current laws, court decisions, guidelines, and regulations of governmental agencies, procedures for acquiring support, management functions, and evaluation of a selected special program within a public school
• Display an understanding of IDEA and 504 including the difference between the two programs and the continuum of services provided

AVID Course Designation
This course EDLD 6363 Administration of special Programs has been identified as a course by The UTPB School of Education as one in which teaching and learning strategies adopted by AVID will be implemented. As a candidate in Principalship, you will be expected to develop an understanding of the strategies, to model the strategies, to maintain fidelity of implementation, and to examine how these strategies may impact your effectiveness as a professional educator either through coursework or a clinical/field experience as outlined by the course instructor.

Required Textbooks:

ISBN: 9781589922075

Course Activities:

Module Assignments (7)

The Professor will assign suggested and required readings for each module that will cover elaborations of course objectives, textbook material and links to related information on the Web. After you have completed the suggested and required readings, you should then log into “Assignment Tool” and complete the required assignments for each module. There is one assignment per module. The final project is also your assignment 7.

Module Discussions (7)

A reflective question will be posted by the Professor for each module, regarding the readings from the required textbooks. Students should log into “Discussions Tool” to review these questions and post answers to the discussion question. Students will post their response, as well as replying to the posts of two other students. Discussion posts must be made by the due date to receive full credit. There will be one discussion topic for each module. Due dates for discussion posts will typically be the Wednesday prior to the due date for the first assignment in each module. Discussion posts are paced in this manner to support your ability to reflect on the content prior to submission of assignments. See the course calendar in the “Course Calendar” link for exact due dates.

Identify Three Key Words in ELCC Standard 1. Simply read the standard (see link in Module 1 Lecture) and identify three words you believe are central to the standard.

Conduct a Literature Search for Articles Connected to Those Key Words. In other words, use these terms as search terms in the chosen database. Databases for your consideration include Education Full Text and Google Scholar. The lecture gives details for how to access the university’s on-line database. The articles should be connected to the assigned standard and general School Public Relations efforts. You should have at least 3 articles. If you read the abstract and cannot think of how they relate to both the assigned standard and to the work of school/public relations, do not select that article.

Provide a Brief Paper (3 to 5 pages). Each summarized article should fill approximately one page (maybe a little more). APA formatting for references and academic writing will be important on this assignment.

Assignment 3: Post by noon November 12th

Take your article summaries and identify 8 Questions you could pose to a stakeholder group. These are questions you will create and should be clearly tied to information learned in your review of the literature. External stakeholders to consider for these questions include Parents, Community For-Profit Businesses, Not-for-Profit organizations (this represents a wide range of options), and the media. Internal stakeholders to consider include campus administrators, central office personnel, teachers, and staff* (clerical, paraprofessional, cafeteria, maintenance, etc...). If you like, you may pose more than the eight required questions; however, at least one question should be posed for each stakeholder group listed above and must be based on something you found in your review of the literature.

In this assignment you will also submit three external stakeholder and three internal stakeholders you would be interested in interviewing. Points will be lost if you do not have a question for each of the eight stakeholder groups listed above. Deviations from the prescribed list must be approved via email before the due date for this assignment.

These groups should be listed in order of preference for interviews. Interview assignments will be made with consideration for your communicated preferences.

For the purpose of this course and assignment, staff and teachers are not the same group of employees. Staff will include non-certified professionals such as clerical, paraprofessional, cafeteria, maintenance, etc. If you believe another group fits into this category, please discuss with the professor.

Module 4: Community Support Resources and PR Policy

November 13th through November 19th

The student will also inquire about existing formal partnerships with community businesses. If none exist, the student should communicate that clearly in the submission. Finally, the student will identify at least 3 potential partnerships for the future. See the rubric for a full description of grading standards and all assignment requirements.

Module 5: Understanding Stakeholder Perspective – The External Stakeholder

Readings: Moore Chapters 8, 10, and 12-14

ELCC Standards: 1, 2, 4

Discussion Topic: Post by noon November 22nd

Module 5: According to retired UTPB Professor Tom Parks, “People support what they help to create”. How does this insight relate to engaging external stakeholders in schools (your organization)?

In addition to an original response to this prompt, reflect on and reply to two posts made by other students.

Assignment 5: Post by noon December 3rd

Conduct an interview with an assigned external stakeholder (one of the stakeholder groups for which you developed questions in your second assignment). Conduct an interview with an assigned internal stakeholder (one of the stakeholder groups for which you developed questions in your second assignment). The questions will be provided by the professor and will be based on questions developed and preferences submitted in the third assignment. Interviews must be recorded in some fashion and transcribed. Possible options for this include digital recordings (with a digital voice recorder) tape recordings, written recordings or interviews which are conducted via email if the subject is willing to respond to your assigned questions in that mode. Module 7: Building a Strategic School Public Relations Plan

December 4th through December 11th (Assignment Submissions made by December 10th will received 5% extra credit.)

ELCC Standards: 1, 3, 4, 5, 6

Discussion Topic: Post by noon December 6th

Share your final definition of School Public Relations.

In addition to an original response to this prompt, reflect on and reply to two posts made by other students.

Assignment 7: Post by noon December 11th (5% extra credit if posted by anytime on December 10th.)

Develop a strategic Communications and Partnership Plan with Consideration for what you learned through your learning activities in the course. Note that this activity may or may not form the basis for an actual and operational plan on your campus. This plan will be created with consideration for the learning experiences in which you engaged during this course. While these experiences have given you information to create a draft plan, you may consider expanding stakeholder input and research efforts prior to full implementation of the plan you develop and submit for this final project. Furthermore, this assignment is designed to give the aspiring school leader an opportunity to practice the basic mechanics of developing a School/PR plan. As such, it is clinical in nature and not thoroughly comprehensive. One notable missing piece will be the absence of a fully developed emergency and crisis plan. This element is left out for reasons of time limits. However, you will provide a brief reflection on the role of emergency plans in comprehensive strategic PR plans.

Lastly, consider the resources listed in the Module 7 link. They include a list of important elements and processes for building a strategic communications plan and a number of examples of plans in use. The examples are also available in the Module 2 PowerPoint.

Grading Standards will be fully described in the rubric.

December 11th

Mini-Internship Log and Reflection are due (any time that day). See assignment description below in the “Course Assessment” section of the syllabus.

Module 1

Human Resources Structure and Conceptual Setup

Chapter 1

ELCC Standards: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6

October 18th through October 29th

Introductory Period: This is an introductory period of the course during which you will orient yourself to the course and its expectations. During this time you will also fulfill all requirements of Module One so that they can be submitted on time according to the assignment description.

October 20th (noon) Student Information Sheet is Due

October 22nd by 5 PM Module 1 Discussion:

Why is it important to have and articulate a clear vision and message for how HR responsibilities relate to a campus’ ability to realize the organizational vision?

October 29th by noon Module 1 Assignment:

In some ways, the assignment structure for the course is backwards. Where you would typically have a more labor intensive assignment at the end, this first assignment is likely going to be the most difficult and time consuming and, consequently, will be worth the most.

For the first assignment, I want you to conduct an interview with your principal. Must be a lead campus principal. This interview should be considered as a baseline activity that will create a practical context for all your course assignments. The purpose for this experience is for you to get a sense of the degree to which your principal’s HR efforts at the campus level are strategically directed and executed for the purpose of improving teaching and learning.

Realistically, if this is done well, you should expect this interview to take an hour and a half to two hours. That time can be broken into smaller segments. While I will not require it, I encourage you to consider recording the interview if your principal will acquiesce. This will allow you to more fully reflect when writing your paper. Also, while I will not prescribe an artificial length, I anticipate this paper will be at least 8 to 10 pages if you are going to fully explore the principal’s thoughts and develop a good context that will support your ability to see the relevance of content throughout the course. Please see the rubric for a more complete explanation of grading standards for this assignment.

While the following is not an exhaustive list (you can have more), I expect these concepts will be addressed in your interview:
- The school’s vision (what the school is supposed to look like/be - the eventual reality if all stakeholders stay true to the mission)
- The school’s mission (the school’s purpose statement - defining characteristics - core values)
- The principal’s leadership style – in their own words
- How the principal goes about the hiring process – this should include some brief exploration of the nature of the district’s support in the process
- The principal’s philosophy as it relates to the evaluation of teacher effectiveness and the role of growth plans and/or the GSPD (In other words: Generally: What is the purpose for a growth plan? Why would one be developed? – Or more specifically in Texas: How can the GSPD support growth in all teachers?)
- How the principal plans and executes professional development for their teaching and administrative staffs (including the principal)
- Board policy as a practical matter – to what degree does board policy impact day to day operation
- Specific efforts related to campus culture (“Who we are”) and climate (“What it feels like”) – How does the principal address these
- The principal’s philosophy of conflict management

See Scoring Standards in the Rubric for this assignment.

Module 2

Recruitment/Hiring/Retention

Chapters 2, 3 – 4 as an optional read

ELCC Standards: 1, 3, and 5

October 30th through November 5th

November 1st by noon

Module 2 Discussion:

Case Number 1 in Chapter 2 Answer questions 1 and 3 (2 and 4 are strictly optional) (Pages 29-30) or Case Number 3 in Chapter 3 – Answer both questions (Pages 54-55).

November 5th by noon

Module 2 Assignment – Develop an organizational chart that represents all employees (not students and parents) on your campus and where they fall in the organizational hierarchy. Individual teachers need not be named, but your organizational chart should be comprehensive and should clearly identify roles and lines of supervision. In identifying roles, don’t forget, this is not just instructional. You’ll want to include all professional roles. I will not outline all roles, but in order to provide some examples: Don’t forget about custodians, nurse, and counselors in addition to specialized teaching roles like ESL, SPED, etc. Also, avoid collapsing roles to “teachers.” Rather, show each teaching role whether by grade level – elementary – or by content – secondary. Finally, don’t forget to clearly demonstrate lines of authority in your chart. If you’re not sure how to represent the organization in an Org Chart, Google Organizational Chart and review some examples. These elements will impact your assignment grade.
While I will not prescribe the software for development, I’ve seen this done effectively in Excel. In Excel, you can create highlighted borders to frame out roles. See rubric for grading standards. Furthermore, in a brief response, evaluate the effectiveness of the structure of your campus. This evaluation should focus on the flow of supervision and support on the campus and should not solely be focused on recommendations for new hires. Be prepared to qualify your statements (see rubric). Also, make suggestions for how your school could be functionally improved (by recommending changes to organizational structure) in a way that would bear out greater levels of student achievement. Some considerations include different hiring priorities, reorganization of the staff for greater management efficiency, and consideration of new, changed, or elimination of programs. Again, be prepared to qualify your recommendations.

See Scoring Standards in the Rubric for this assignment.

Module 3

Evaluations and Remedial Efforts

Chapters 8 and 14

ELCC Standards: 2, 3, and 5

November 6th through November 12th

November 8th by noon Module 3 Discussion:

Read and respond to Case No 2 question number 2 and the question here:
How has the principal’s leadership deficit in this area undermined her ability to conduct a high-quality, effective evaluation of Joyce’s teaching effectiveness? What behavioral changes would you recommend so that the principal can more effectively ensure Joyce’s appraisal accurately reflects her effectiveness? (Page 162/163 of your text)

November 12th by noon

Module 3 Assignment: With the support of a campus administrator (does not necessarily have to be the principal) develop an approach to addressing growth needs in a struggling teacher. The teacher should be imaginary or, at minimum, enough of the specifics from a real-life example should be changed in order to protect the teacher’s privacy. In the absence of a district or campus defined structure for this effort, a great resource that can support your development of your approach is the secondary course textbook: The Documentation Handbook. See the rubric for grading standards. The plan should have the following aspects:

1) Clear description of the deficit being addressed with directives that inform the teacher of the specific behaviors that must be addressed/corrected
2) Relevant T-TESS domain that is in deficit (or other appraisal instrument as appropriate)
3) Clear articulation of any interventions already attempted (i.e. informal conferences, directives, written documentation that has been delivered and signed, etc...)
4) At least 2 clearly defined and measurable objectives or goals the teacher will be required to meet (development activities, compliance, instructional behaviors, etc...)
5) Official offer of support with specific types of support articulated
6) A clear statement of consequences for failure
7) A clear statement of resolution upon completion
8) Clearly defined, articulated, and reasonable timelines for successful completion
Places for signatures, dates, and notification of who is going to be made aware of process and outcomes (cc line)

* For those in Texas – It is ok (even preferable) to start with the GSPD template being used by your campus/district. However, if the GSPD template (or another standardized form) used by your district doesn’t cover all these points, you will need to submit a supplemental narrative. This allows you to "show your work." If you have specific questions, email the professor.

See Scoring Standards in the Rubric for this assignment.

Module 4:
Capacity Building and Training
Chapters 6 and 7

ELCC Standards: 1, 2, 3

November 13th through November 19th

November 15th by noon

Module 4 Discussion:

Case No 2 on pp 139-141 questions 1 and 2

November 19th by noon

Module 4 Assignment:

Important Key:

The intent for this assignment is to have you identify an area of need based on campus testing data and develop a PD approach to equipping teachers to address that area while ensuring your PD is aligned to campus mission and vision. As you read the assignment description and rubric, do so with consideration for this frame.

Rubric Assignment 4: Develop a professional development program or series using the school's vision and mission statements and most recent data from the state exam (STAAR if available, TAKS data). Your principal should be able to provide the official vision and mission statements for your campus (if you do not already have that from the interview). While I will not prescribe a format, I would suggest you consider the use of a table to provide a quick and easily readable visual. That format could also help ensure you address all necessary components.

Considerations that you should make and report include how the activity(ies) support the realization of the campus vision, how the PD furthers accomplishment of the mission, and how the PD addresses deficiencies revealed in the testing data. Other considerations to make and report include cost, appropriate time, key figures needed to make the PD happen, and participants ranked in order of importance for their participation. Finally, for each participant or participant group, a statement of relevance should be made that demonstrates your ability to communicate the practical value of the PD.

See Scoring Standards in the Rubric for this assignment.
Module 5

Legal Issues/Board Policies

Chapter 11 – 12 as an option (some elements of 13 for grievances)

ELCC Standards: 3, 5, and 6

November 20th through November 26th

November 22nd by noon

Module 5 Discussion:

It's your first year as a principal at Robert Smith Middle School. After the first two months, you come to realize that Jerri, a third year teacher is struggling. In passing conversations, you learn that she has come into teaching as a second career through alternative certification. She reportedly left a career in real estate because she wanted to make a difference for kids. Unfortunately, your observations have confirmed reports from the math department head that Jerri has real difficulty connecting to students. Her lectures are dry, the classroom is stale, and she has no tolerance for individual expression from her students. Furthermore, she sends students to the office for discipline more often than any other math teacher at her grade level. Being this is her third year, you will have a definite contract decision to make come March or April.

1) What are your administrative options as they relate to employment for the next year? How will you go about making your decision?

2) What efforts might you give to supporting Jerri’s growth as a teacher?

November 26th by noon

Module 5 Assignment:

Rubric Assignment 5: This assignment has two parts. The first part is simple: Find in your district's board policy either a PDF or an MS Word copy of each policy code discussed in the lecture. By policy code, I mean each specific combination of letters directly mentioned in the lecture. For instance, the policy code DCA is discussed in the lecture but the policy code DIA is not discussed in the lecture. Therefore, I would expect to see the policy documents for DCA in your submission but not the policy documents for DIA (yes that is a hint). While I discuss other policy concepts, you are only to submit policy documents for codes I specifically mention in the lecture.

Use the transcript for the lecture if you need it. Assemble them into a single document (preferred but not required) and submit it. This will give you the chance to navigate your district's on-line policy book.

The second part of the assignment is to discuss a hypothetical employee with a hypothetical disability. How would you accommodate so that person could begin or continue (if the disability occurred while the employee was already on staff) working on your campus? You should research the disability with at least one reference to a reputable website (typically .org, .gov, or .edu) or organization (personal communication or pamphlet) and be able to describe why the accommodations are appropriate. This assignment will help you prepare critically for the possible future scenario where you will need to provide accommodations to disabled employees.

See Scoring Standards In the Rubric for this assignment.
Module 6

Salary and Benefits

Risk Management – The broad function of a district HR department

Chapter 9

ELCC Standards: 5

November 27th through December 3rd

November 29th by noon

Module 6 Discussion:

Case 1 pages 182-183. Answer questions 2 and 3.

December 3rd by noon

Module 6 Assignment:

For this module, you have an opportunity to flex your detective skills in an effort to find key information. The purpose of this assignment is to accomplish two basic things:

1) You will learn valuable information related to the technical inner workings of your HR department and about some of the external factors that make HR administration challenging in a school district, and

2) You will practice the art of information exploration. This reinforces an important idea in effective leadership: As a leader it is important that you develop the right questions or questioning processes. Knowing answers is well and good...knowing how to ask questions, however, opens your world to great potential for learning and leading. All knowledge is available to the one who asks the right questions in the right circumstances.

Specifically, you should be able to find and in one combined document submit the following artifacts or information:

1) As a percentage of total expenditures, how much does your district commit to payroll costs (you’ll likely need to contact your district’s HR office to acquire this information or it is accessible via a link on the last page of your district’s TAPR report in Texas)?

2) Provide salary schedules or descriptive information related to how your district determines pay for teachers, counselors, and administrators (if it is collected together in a common document you could provide the information for other employee classifications as well).

3) Are your district’s medical benefits self-funded or not? If not, into what system is your premium paid? If it is, is it externally managed or not?

4) Including other local districts (no more than 3 other districts) and non-school district options, be able to list at least 5 local employment options available to employees. These could be a source of employment competition. (Extra credit – Provide entry level salary for each.)

See Scoring Standards in the Rubric for this assignment.
Module 7 Capacity Building as a Function of Human Resources Management

December 4th through December 10th

December 6th by noon

Module 7 Discussion:

Case 2 pages 265-266. Provide thoughtful and substantive answer to all parts of question 3.

December 10th by noon

Module 7 Assignment:

As a principal, you should look for ways to build capacity in your staff. How do you cultivate knowledge and skills so that your campus is better prepared to meet student needs? Further, how can you make a skills investment in your assistants and aspiring leaders? Consider the myriad of task oriented responsibilities of the principalship. Without even trying to think too hard here are some: Budget Management, Instructional Leadership, State Testing, Special Programs (Including Bil/ESL, SPED, G/T, CTE), Community Engagement, Professional Development, Emergency Management, Managing Awards, and Managing Meetings.

Whether using the above or other principal responsibilities, in this assignment you will choose three responsibilities that must be executed effectively on a successful campus. Research what goes into ensuring these responsibilities happen. Then, describe how you will involve at least three other aspiring leaders into the process of executing each separate responsibility. See Scoring Standards in the Rubric for this assignment.

December 11th any time

Mini-Internship Log and Reflection are due. See assignment description below in the “Course Assessment” section of the syllabus.

In addition, candidates will be expected to submit a Practicum log signed by the candidate and their site-supervisor which demonstrates the experiences included in the accumulation of hours. This log will also include columns where you will tie your experiences to the ELCC standards and the SBEC competencies. The log document is included in the course syllabus. For the purpose of this activity, students should submit the name and position of the individual who will serve as your site supervisor within the first week of this course.

Course Activities:

Discussions (7) 20 pts per week – total – 140 pts

A reflective question will be posted by the Professor each week, based on Module topics. Students should access the Discussion thread for each respective Module to review these questions and post answers to the discussion question. Students will post their response, as well as replying to the posts of two other students. Discussion posts must be made by the due date to receive full credit.

Top 3 Preferences for the PLC Paper Focus – 25 pts

Students will submit three possible areas for focus on your PLC paper. List them in order of priority. I will select one (probably your first choice) and communicate that to you. That will be your focus for your PLC paper. See the rubric in the Resources section of the course for a full explanation of grading standards.

Assignments (6) – 100 pts per week – total – 600 pts

After completing assigned readings, students will review PowerPoint presentations prepared by the instructor. The PowerPoint lectures will be summaries, elaborations of the textbook material, and links to related information on the Web. After you have completed reviewing the lecture, you should then log into “Assignment Tool” and complete the required assignment.

Final Project – 200 pts

The goal of final module’s assignment is to create a paper that deals with PLCs. In this paper, you will explore, reflect, and describe the processes by which you would hypothetically focus a PLC’s efforts. The problem you address should be a real-world problem that one might anticipate on a campus in Anytown, USA. The problem does not necessarily need to be something that is happening or has happened on your campus. Specific areas of focus for your writing will include a general review of PLCs, describing the focus or desired results of your PLC’s efforts, identifying the staff development components of your PLC, a discussion of the vision/mission fit of your PLC efforts, and a discussion of the role of school constituencies among other things. For a full description of the grading standards for this assignment, see the rubric in the Module 7 Assignment section of the on-line course shell. The link is titled Assignment 7 Rubric. For more about PLCs, see the resources provided under the title PLC Articles at the bottom of the screen found via the Modules link the Canvas course shell.

A couple notes about the project – You should have submitted your topic for the PLC to the professor no later than Friday of the second week of the course. This was addressed in the Module 1 lecture. Also, your work is in theory. There is no expectation that this idea be put into practice by the end of the course. However, that does not limit you from developing something that could be put into practice.

15-hour Mini-Internship Log and Reflection (100 points) - Candidates are to shadow a campus administrator for 15 hours. This can be before school, after school or during school. It may be your current campus administrator or one not on your campus. It may be a principal or an assistant principal. Candidates will complete a log of the various experiences and then write a 2 page reflection on the experiences and how they altered or cemented to beliefs of what it means to be a campus administrator. In addition, candidates will be expected to submit a Practicum log signed by the candidate and their site-supervisor which demonstrates the experiences included in the accumulation of hours. This log will also include columns where you will tie your experiences to the ELCC standards and the SBEC competencies. The log document is included in the course syllabus. For the purpose of this activity, students should submit the name and position of the individual who will serve as your site supervisor within the first week of this course.

Candidate Disposition Sheet – 20 pts

This document is a self-appraisal tool with which students can reflect on their own dispositions. The form for this exercise is available in the Module 0 section of the Canvas course shell and should be submitted no later than the 6th Friday of the course.

Student Information Sheet – 15 pts

Students will fill out and submit the Student Information Sheet available in the Modules tab of the on-line course shell.

Post your answer to the Module 2 Discussion to this forum by creating a new thread. Also, please reply to at least 2 of your peer’s posts.

Module 2 Assignment:

September 10th by noon

Students will practice making instructional recommendations for a teacher struggling to engage student thinking beyond the lower levels of Blooms Taxonomy. Watching the ILD video of Kellye’s lesson, students will identify a least two different elements of Kellye’s lesson and recommend ways Kellye could elevate the rigor of his instruction.
In order to practice an important skill, part of this assignment will be to script what you observe prior to making determinations about the Kellye’s strengths and weaknesses. I apologize for a little redundancy as I will repeat some of this in the next module, but this is relevant to this module’s assignment and to the assignment for the next module.

During your observation of this lesion, you will script what you view. Most of the time, I would use a legal pad or MS Word document broken into three columns. Down the left side of the document, I write Time, in the second column Teacher Behaviors, and in the third column I record Learner Behaviors. This allows me to script my observations without judgement and facilitates an ability after the observation to review my recorded observations for the purpose of reaching non-judgmental conclusions that are measurable and fact based. There is a template available in the Module 2 section of the Canvas course shell for scripting. Incidentally, the same template will be available in the Module 3 section for use with that Module’s assignment.

See the Video and Transcript in the Module 2 section of the Canvas course shell. See the rubric for a full explanation of the grading standards.

Module 3 – Instructional Leadership and Teacher Evaluation and Support

By the end of this module, the accompanying assignment, and your assigned reading, you should be able to:

2) Articulate important steps in the teacher evaluation process
3) Identify and discuss steps which support an ability to coach and build capacity in teachers
4) Discuss in practical terms the place of lesson planning in the teacher evaluation process
5) Understand the limited degree to which the evaluation process should play a role in teacher nonrenewal
6) Be aware of the most commonly used teacher evaluation tool in Texas
7) Articulate the practical difference between evaluation and support in the appraisal process
8) Identify key data available to support the evaluation process
9) Become aware of different supervisory styles and how could strategies from all styles support an ability to foster teachers growth

Upon completion, report the following:

What style do you most strongly identify with based on the inventory. Is it what you expected? Why or why not?

Then, name a supervisory approach other than the one identified by the inventory and discuss how you would supervise and support a teacher who might be more responsive to that approach.

Post your answer to the Module 3 Discussion to this forum by creating a new thread. Also, please reply to at least 2 of your peer's posts.

Module 3 Assignment:

Due September 17th by noon

Students will practice coaching an effective teacher. Using evidence from the video, students will script their observations, note Cheryl's strengths, and suggestions for growth based on their observations. In order to practice the process of identifying strengths and areas for growth, students will identify at least two (2) of each. Comments will be evidence based and recommendations will be measurable.

Module 4 Assignment:

Due September 24th by noon

While this module is a little brief, the assignment will take a little bit of time this week. Vanderbilt University provides a great open-access resource. I’m assigning this for several reasons. First, it reinforces everything we’ve discussed here. Second, and more importantly, it requires that you navigate a resource that you could use to support teachers on your campus. Remember, this module is about helping you support teachers.

Here’s what you need to do:

1) Go to the web address on this slide. http://iris.peabody.vanderbilt.edu/

2) Select the link for Differentiated Instruction in the menu on the right side of the page after you scroll down a bit

3) Click on the expandable menu titled Modules

4) Select the hyperlink for Differentiated Instruction: Maximizing the Learning of All Students

5) Read the introduction and complete all Module Activities. I would think this should take up to a couple hours to complete provided that you listen to all the embedded mini-lectures and review all the information.

6) Upon completion of the Module, please prepare a paper submission that addresses the following things:

   1. What is differentiated instruction?
   2. Describe at least four significant ways in which differentiated instruction differs from traditional classroom instruction.
   3. How can teachers get to know their students? Make sure to include the three characteristics of students that are important for differentiating instruction and give at least two examples of how teachers can learn about each.
   4. Ms. Hasbro has taught high-school Spanish for ten years. She would like to start differentiating instruction and needs to make some changes.
      a. Explain why each of Ms. Hasbro’s classroom practices listed below is not a differentiated practice.
      b. Describe what Ms. Hasbro can do differently with each of them in order to truly differentiate.
         - Delivers instruction primarily by lecturing
         - Does not permit students to retake tests they have failed
         - Records zeros for missing assignments
         - Groups students at the beginning of the year based on the previous year’s achievement test scores
         - Gives bonus points for classroom participation
         - Gives a test every Friday

Think back to a class you took in high school. Describe both the class and how the teacher typically conducted it. Describe five elements that you would change to make it more differentiated. (Make sure to include at least one each for content, process, and product.)
The due date for this assignment is listed on the course Calendar/Schedule. For a full description of grading standards, see the rubric.

Module 5 – Instructional Leadership with Technology

By the end of this module, the accompanying assignment, and your assigned reading, you should be able to:

1) Develop a deeper understanding of what instructional technology is along with the ability to identify helpful technology-based instructional resources

2) Understand and plan for broad applications of and for instructional technology

3) Articulate some of the reasons behind occasional teacher rejection of integrated technology as an instructional medium

4) Define and discuss the purpose for integration of instructional technology

5) Identify and discuss some of the resources available to help administrators help teachers with the integration of instructional technology

Reading and Resources:

Greg Toppo YouTube Video https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=D17P3kqB3_O

Groff and Mousa “Framework” Article (In the Canvas course shell)

K-2 Data Map Document (Resource available in the Canvas course shell)

Additional document with information about Tech uses to support school leaders (Resource available in the Canvas shell)

Dates: September 25th through October 1st by noon

Module 5 Discussion Participation:

Due September 27th by noon

Select one of the following topics:

Share a situation where you’ve seen technology integrated in a way that enhanced the efficiency or effectiveness of a lesson.

Or

Share a situation where a technology initiative failed. If you share this, what might have made the initiative successful?

Or

If you’ve not seen technology integration attempted (should be rare) what specific application of technology would you like to see and how do you think such an initiative would enhance teaching and learning in your classroom/on your campus?

Module 5 Assignment:

Due October 1st by noon
Consider 3 distinct instructional challenges and how the integration of specific technology resources may support a teacher’s ability to be more efficient or more effective.

For additional credit, present this submission with some additional type of technology. The use of a Powerpoint alone will not garner additional credit.

The due date for this assignment is listed on the course Calendar.

For a full description of grading standards, see the rubric.

Module 6 – Instructional Leadership with Data

By the end of this module, the accompanying assignment, and your reading, you should be able to:

1) Understand interconnectedness of various sources of data and other campus systems
2) Consider and plan with consideration for many and varied categories of data which should be considered when making decisions as a campus leader
3) Identify a variety of ways to train teachers in the use of data
4) Develop a plan for identifying the purpose of grades and understanding (as a community) what grades should communicate
5) Articulate how data might be used formatively and summatively
6) Discuss and plan for district and campus developed data collection and disaggregation tools

Reading and Resources:

AEL Categories of Data (Resource)

Dates: October 2\textsuperscript{nd} through October 8\textsuperscript{th} by noon

Module 6 Discussion Participation:

Due October 4\textsuperscript{th} by noon

List at least three sources of underused data (only one can be directly related to academic achievement). Why did you select those three and what is their value?

Module 6 Assignment Due:

October 8\textsuperscript{th} by noon

With the support of a campus mentor, find your school’s report card. In Texas, this is called a TAPR. Identify at least two areas of relative strengths and two area of relative weaknesses revealed by the data. These areas may or may not be directly related to state assessment performance. The areas of strength cannot both be from the same grade level or content. Same for the weaknesses. Develop a plan that capitalizes on strengths and addresses the weaknesses.

A note: State education agencies typically produce report cards which highlight campus and district success against predetermined standards for performance. If you and your mentor/administrator cannot locate such a document, you should contact the course professor for direction. Irrespective of what a “report card” may be called, there should be some type of formal document that shows data that is objective and can be useful for helping identify areas for celebration of success and for campus-wide remedial efforts.

For more detailed grading standards see the assignment rubric.

Module 7 – Instructional Leadership and Professional Development

By the end of this module, the accompanying assignment, and your assigned reading, you should be able to:

1) Articulate a general purpose statement for Professional Development
2) Be aware of specific research based PD strategies
3) Identify best practices which should be considered when preparing PD
4) Discuss the role of Growth Plans or Personalized Professional Development Plans in a broader PD strategy
5) Define a PLC with consideration for what is it not and be able to identify available resources to support the development of a PLC effort

Reading and Resources:

Module 7 Discussion Participation:

Due October 11th by noon
Describe how you would go about the process of helping determine a program of Professional Development for:

An individual Teacher

A grade level

A campus

Post and reply to the Module 7 Discussion forum by going to the Discussion Board button on the course menu.

Module 7 Assignment:

Due October 15th by noon
The goal of final module's assignment is to create a paper that deals with PLCs. In this paper, you will explore, reflect, and describe the processes by which you would hypothetically focus a PLC’s efforts. The problem you address should be a real-world problem that one might anticipate on a campus in Anytown, USA. The problem does not necessarily need to be something that is happening or has happened on your campus. Specific areas of focus for your writing will include a general review of PLCs, describing the focus or desired results of your PLC’s efforts, identifying the staff development components of your PLC, a discussion of the vision/mission fit of your PLC efforts, and a discussion of the role of school constituents among other things. For a full description of the grading standards for this assignment, see the rubric in the Module 7 Assignment section of the on-line course shell. The link is titled Assignment 7 Rubric. For more about PLCs, see the resources provided under the title PLC Articles at the bottom of the screen found via the Modules link the Canvas course shell.

A couple notes about the project — You should have submitted your topic for the PLC to the professor no later than Friday of the second week of the course. This was addressed in the Module 1 lecture. Also, your work is in theory. There is no expectation that this idea be put into practice by the end of the course. However, that does not limit you from developing something that could be put into practice.

Directions: Fill out this form for each candidate in your course as a way to document dispositions. Dispositions are defined as "professional attitudes, values, and beliefs demonstrated through both verbal and non-verbal behaviors as educators interact with students, families, colleagues, and communities. These positive behaviors support student learning and development." (NCATE Glossary). You are to provide examples for each of the 8 elements. Check the box to indicate the disposition level that you have identified in your candidate (TARGET, ACCEPTABLE, UNACCEPTABLE) and the number of points and for each element.

UTPB Principal Practicum Mentor Assessment

Student Instructions:
Attached is the “Internship Evaluation by Mentor” form to be used in evaluation your performance. Please provide your internship summary log to your mentor principal to help the principal complete the evaluation. This mentor evaluation form is documentation for state certification; therefore, make sure that your mentor returns the form within one week of your completion of your internship. If you have any questions or concerns about the evaluation process or any other matter, please let me know as soon as possible.

Instructions for mentoring principals:
The Six Standards for School Leaders were developed by the Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISLLC). Each element of a standard has four levels of performance: Distinguished, Independent, Developing, and Novice. The levels range from describing interns who are considered exemplary in addressing the standard, to interns who are just beginning to master the basics of school leadership. Please use N/O (Not Observed=0 Points) if you are unable to comment on any of the standards. Below are general definitions of the four levels of performance for each standard:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NOVICE</th>
<th>DEVELOPING</th>
<th>INDEPENDENT</th>
<th>DISTINGUISHED</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 Point Awarded</td>
<td>2 Points Awarded</td>
<td>4 Points Awarded</td>
<td>5 Points Awarded</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The intern is just beginning to understand the concepts underlying the standard. The intern does not demonstrate an understanding of what is needed to perform effectively in the designated area.</td>
<td>The intern appears to understand the concepts underlying the standard and attempts to implement its elements. Implementation is inconsistent or otherwise not entirely successful. Performance is adequate and the intern seeks resources to build knowledge and enhance skills. Additional experience, education, and mentoring will enhance the intern’s proficiency in this area.</td>
<td>The intern clearly understands the concepts underlying the standard and applies knowledge and skill in implementing it as well. The intern is reflective, learns from experience and manages his/her own professional development. Resources are utilized to build knowledge and skills. The intern regards self as effective in the standard and is regarded by others as performing well.</td>
<td>Interns at this level are considered to be exemplary in addressing the standard. They make a contribution to the field, both in and outside the school. The interns synthesize information, integrate concepts and resources, and have the courage to risk new possibilities. Their work is consistently exceptional in quality and they have earned the respect of staff, students, and parents.</td>
