

Instructional Material Portal Informational Webinar Series

TEA is launching an online Instructional Material Portal (IMP) that will support districts' local review and adoption processes by providing clear, transparent, and user-friendly information about the quality of instructional materials—similar to a Consumer Reports for materials.

Join one of the informational webinars below to learn more about this project and how to get involved. Topics covered will include:

- Purpose and goals of the IMP
- The Instructional Materials Quality Review \(IMQE\) pilot
- The reviewer nomination and selection process
- Opportunities for Texas educators to provide input and feedback on the draft English language arts and reading (ELAR) pilot rubric for grades 3–8
- Q&A
