State law requires schools to offer the required curriculum.

Foundation Curriculum—
- English language arts
- Mathematics
- Science
- Social studies

Enrichment Curriculum—
- Career and technical education
- Fine arts
- Health education
- Languages other than English
- Physical education
- Technology applications
No state requirements for instructional time. This is locally established.

However, schools must ensure that “sufficient time is provided for teachers to teach and students to learn” all of the TEKS for a subject or course.

A variety of flexible instructional arrangements and settings are permitted.
SBOE rules establish what schools must make available to students.

A few notes:

- Career and technical education: a coherent sequence of courses from at least three career clusters
- LOTE: levels I, II, and III or higher of the same language
- Science: exemption for districts with fewer than 500 students
The TEKS are curriculum standards that identify what students must know and be able to do at the end of each subject or course.

Curriculum and instructional materials are determined by the local education agency.

The SBOE regularly reviews and updates the TEKS.

- New K-8 TEKS for English and Spanish language arts and reading will be implemented in classrooms in 2019-2020.

- Streamlined social studies TEKS for K-12 are expected to be implemented in 2019-2020 (depending upon final approval by the SBOE in November).

- New high school TEKS for English language arts and reading and ESOL are expected to be implemented in 2020-2021.

The current TEKS are the required curriculum standards and will remain in TAC until the new TEKS are implemented.

The new reading and language arts TEKS are indicated in the TAC with “Adopted 2017” in the title.

- Students may enroll in high school courses in grades earlier than grade 9.

- Dual credit courses may be offered in partnership with a state college or university. A memorandum of understanding (MOU) or articulation agreement is required.

- Innovative courses approved by the state may be used toward state elective credit only.
