FAQs

-  What are the benefits of identifying students as military-connected?
District and open-enrollment charter schools will be able to appropriately link military connected students and their families to resources, services, and laws (MIC3) they are eligible for because of their active-duty status.
-  What are a school's requirements for collecting military student identifier (MSI) data?
Districts and open-enrollment charter schools must include the military student identifier questions in their student enrollment packet.
-  Does the parent/guardian need to provide proof of their military status?
Verification of military status is not required for the purposes of the military student identifier. Verification may be required if the school has a special program for which there is an eligibility requirement, such as state-funded prekindergarten. Districts and open-enrollment charter schools should not make copies of Department of Defense (DoD) identification cards.
-  How does the military student identifier (MSI) in the Public Education Information Management System (PEIMS) differ from the Federal Impact Aid Survey?
PEIMS allows the TEA to collect data from districts and open-enrollment charter schools regarding their military connected student population, also known as the military student identifier (MSI). Districts and open-enrollment charter schools may choose to apply for Impact Aid funds based on the number of military-connected students; however, the collection of the Impact Aid survey is not connected to the PEIMS military student identifier. Districts and open-enrollment charter schools should ensure they are collecting the PEIMS military student identifier through their enrollment process.
