History of Records Exchange

The U.S. Department of Education (USDE) supported a system called the Migrant Student Record Transfer System (MSRTS) built in 1969 and operated by the Arkansas Department of Education in Little Rock, Arkansas. MSRTS provided the capability for State and local migrant personnel to enter student academic, health and assessment records. MSRTS was centrally hosted on a mainframe and states could transfer records among states. Forty-nine states used MSRTS and this central repository held data on over 600,000 students.

In 1988, a National Commission on Migrant Education (NCME) studied the function and effectiveness of MSRTS. In their report to Congress, the Office of Migrant Education (OME) provided the Commission's findings:

- As use of MSRTS expanded, it became mostly a reporting tool for State data management reporting rather than an instrument used for the exchange of student information.
- Because the reporting requirements that states established for the MSRTS became more complex and burdensome to local schools, educators became less responsive and timely in collecting data.
- Because MSRTS remained a paper-based system for collecting and reporting information, it did not reflect current technological advancements for sending and receiving information, the flow was impeded. Consequently, without access to timely information from MSRTS, local educators used MSRTS for validating decisions already made, rather than as a means to exchange student information.
- The type of information reported by each state and the format in which information was collected were never standardized across States nor widely accepted by local schools for making decisions about the academic or health status of a student.
- Migrant students and parents were not routinely notified of their MSRTS numbers nor trained in the importance and uses of the MSRTS record.

In 1994, a Government Accountability Office (GAO) report found that MSRTS was slow, incomplete and used infrequently. GAO recommended that USDE determine the feasibility of using electronic student record systems, such as those being used for all students, instead of MSRTS. A study was conducted with two objectives: describe available methods of transferring records in a timely and cost-effective manner, and describe the relevance of records transfer to school systems, highlighting the current experiences and views of experienced and knowledgeable individuals. The study found that school officials would use information if they had it, but that they did not expect prior schools to forward the information; therefore, the telephone was the most common method to transfer information. Because of the inefficiencies described in the GAO report, MSRTS was terminated in June of 1995. States are still responsible for ensuring the linkage and transfer of migrant student records using their existing resources.

The New Generation System (NGS)

NGS is a web-based interstate information network that communicates demographic, educational and health data on migrant students to educators throughout the nation.

The establishment of the New Generation System began with a vision of what such a system should do for teachers, health providers, families and administrators in creating an optimum educational environment for migrant students. NGS addresses the immediate need of record/text data transfer, yet addresses the need to communicate relevant and authentic information on students in an efficient and real-time manner.

The NGS system is designed to capture educational and health data on migrant students. The system allows educators to record the movement of migrant students through the educational process by producing on-line records of a student's educational progress and health profile. Educators can generate a student transfer document to facilitate academic placement as the student transfers schools. NGS also allows educators to generate various student-level, management and Office of Migrant Education performance reports. Plans are to electronically upload data from NGS into the new national MEP student record system, the Migrant Student Information Exchange (MSIX).

Migrant Records Exchange Initiative

The Migrant Student Information Exchange (MSIX) is a web-based consolidated database of minimum data elements that is populated from the existing state information systems. The state migrant information systems remain the authoritative sources of the migrant data for their state's students. However, the MSIX will make data on all migrant students available to any state nationwide that has a legitimate need to view the educational and health information on an interstate child. The development of the MSIX was completed and available to states in the 2008-2009 school year. However, the MSIX is not yet fully implemented by all states.

The vision of the MSIX is to provide states information they need when they need it. When fully implemented, the MSIX will be the technology that will allow all states to share educational and health information on migrant children who travel from state to state and who as a result, have student records in multiple states' information systems. The MSIX will work in concert with the existing migrant student information systems, such as NGS, to fulfill its mission to facilitate the appropriate enrollment, placement and accrual of credits for migrant children nationwide. All states in the NGS consortia have fully implemented MSIX.

Affected Staff: NGS Data Specialists Submission to Terminal Site: Daily for incoming data Time Requirements: Daily for incoming data

Terminal Site Log

This log is optional. The State MEP does not require districts to maintain a log for NGS. The district may choose whether or not to keep a log for NGS.

Please refer to the following if using this log:

The Terminal Site Log of Incoming Data may be completed on a daily basis by the NGS Data Specialist for all data received. This form will be used for tracking the accuracy, completeness and timeliness of all incoming migrant student data, as well as for documenting the volume of data entry.

Logs must be maintained at each terminal site that receives incoming data. If a district receives all incoming data at one site, only one log needs to be maintained at that site. If a district has more than one terminal site that receives incoming data, then the number of logs needs to reflect the number of terminal sites.

Instructions for the Terminal Site Log

This log is used to keep track of all daily __incoming__ data at each terminal site.

DISTRICT/CAMPUS: Indicate the name of the district if all incoming data is received at a central location and then distributed or indicate the name of the campus if it is a terminal site receiving data.

MONTH/YEAR: Indicate the month and year (e.g., September 2013).

DAY: Indicate the day of the month. (Do not include the month or year since it is already identified at the top of the log sheet.) For days on which no data is received, no log entries are needed.

REQUIRED ACTIVITIES

GRADES 6-8 COURSEWORK: Indicate number of students in grades 6-8 for whom grades are received each day.

GRAD. PLAN (Graduation Plan): Indicate number of graduation plans received each day.

FINAL GRADES: Indicate number of students for whom final grades are received each day. You can specify the semester by encoding an "F" for fall or "Sp" for spring or "S" for summer (e.g., 30F or 24Sp).

PARTIAL WORK: Indicate number of students for whom partial work is received each day. You can specify the semester by encoding an "F" for fall or "Sp" for spring or "S" for summer.

The following NGS areas are the 2013- 2014 MEP Compliance Indicators for activities conducted during the 2012-2013 school year:

1. Priority for Service Reports
2. Summer/Intersession Enrollments (MEP-funded summer programs)
3. Alternate Student ID (PEIMS Identification Numbers)
4. Migrant ID&R and NGS staff trained annually by the regional ESC
5. Student Graduation Plans

ESCs need to encourage project district NGS Data Specialists to request NGS reports before they leave for their summer break to be sure the district is in compliance with the indicators.

Indicator #1

Texas MEP: Special Projects

The Texas MEP funds two special project grants to help districts address migrant students' needs in accumulating course credits and the coordination of resources and services throughout the state of Texas and the United States.

MEP Special Projects

Distance Learning Program for Migrant Secondary Students
The purpose of this program is to provide, on an intrastate and interstate basis, alternative credit options for migrant secondary students through distance learning. The program's mission is to help Texas migrant students graduate from high school by providing opportunities to earn credit at any time and any place through a variety of accessible distance learning delivery systems to include print, electronic and Internet formats. The program offers several distance learning courses that are aligned with the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) and help migrant students prepare for the state academic assessments (TAKS/STAAR™).

Texas Migrant Interstate Program (TMIP)
The mission of the Texas Migrant Interstate Program (TMIP) is to help reduce the effects of educational disruption that Texas' mobile, migrant children often face as they move within or outside the state. The TMIP's certified bilingual counselors provide assistance to migrant students, their families, school counselors and other school staff in order to ensure critical information exchange, appropriate course placement and secondary credit accrual needed for on-time graduation from high school. The TMIP coordinates with receiving states so that students migrating from Texas can take the state academic assessment outside the state when needed for grade level promotion or to meet graduation requirements (exit level).
