

Organization Information

Organization Name:

Amira Learning, Inc. is an industry-leading EdTech company that accelerates reading mastery through intelligent tutoring solutions. In partnership with Houghton Mifflin Harcourt (HMH), the leading provider of K–12 core curriculum, Amira currently works with over 400 school districts nationally, including nearly 30 Texas LEAs and 75,000 Texas students. Amira’s solutions are based on decades of R&D, built in partnership with researchers from Carnegie Mellon University and the University of Texas Health Science Center. Amira Learning’s services in Texas include delivering the digital version of the TPRI assessment and screener.

Amira Learning’s tutoring solutions are delivered via two complementary means:
1. Our “Intelligent Tutoring” is delivered by the Amira software. Amira is the first AI-powered reading coach and teacher’s assistant. Amira, the avatar, listens to students read out loud, assesses mastery, and delivers personalized guided practice using more than 40 Science of Reading-based tutoring techniques.

Organization Description:

Amira delivers superior efficacy in reading outcomes with K-5 students. The Evidence For ESSA site reviewed research conducted by the Project Listen team at Carnegie Mellon and validated an "Strong" effect size of 0.64. CPRE at Columbia Teachers College researched Amira’s impact during the COVID school year (SY2020-21), and documented an effect size of .445 after 30 sessions of tutoring. This effect size exceeds the average impact of the top 10 human tutoring programs on ProvenTutoring.org.
