Introduction

In this unit you will introduce five additional vowel sounds and the most common spelling for each sound:

1. /ee/ spelled 'ee' as in tree
2. /ae/ spelled 'a_e' as in plane
3. /ie/ spelled 'i_e' as in limes
4. /oe/ spelled 'o_e' as in cone
5. /ue/ spelled 'u_e' as in cube

You will also teach eleven additional Tricky Words, most of which contain one of the sounds taught in this unit. However, these words have the sound written with a different spelling.

WARM-UPS

The Warm-Up exercises for this unit are once again divided into two parts. In the first part, students will orally segment two-syllable words or they will review Tricky Words. In the second part, students will review letter-sound correspondences taught in previous lessons.

The oral segmenting exercises will help students develop several important skills. First, they will help students develop fluent segmenting ability, which is crucial for spelling. In addition, they will help increase students' auditory attention span because longer words are included in this unit. Finally, they will allow students to continue the oral work with two-syllable words they began in Unit 9 and give them practice hearing two segments in two-syllable words. This oral practice with two-syllable words will set the stage for the introduction of written two-syllable words in Grade 1.

It is up to you to determine how much to emphasize syllables. However, it is not advisable at this stage of instruction to spend significant class time teaching about syllable types or syllable identification (syllabification). Please note syllable identification (or syllabification) is not an explicit objective for this unit. At this point, it is important to give students practice hearing syllables. It is not important, and probably not advisable, to attempt to introduce the complicated taxonomy of "syllable types."

The finger exercises in the Warm-Up are designed to help students segment words into syllables. For the two-syllable words included in this unit, a particular pattern of finger tapping is recommended. Begin by tapping your forefinger (or pointer finger) against your thumb as you say the first sound. As you say the other sounds in the first syllable, proceed to tap the thumb against the middle finger, the third finger, and the pinkie. For the first sound in the second syllable, return to the thumb-forefinger tap. This return to the forefinger represents and makes visible the start of the second syllable.

In each word to be segmented, the syllable breaks are marked to help you know when to return to the forefinger. Breaking points are marked with a small divider between the syllables (e.g., cup·cake).

SYLLABLE DIVISIONS

You will notice the syllable divisions used in this program are not always the same as the divisions used in dictionaries. This is deliberate. There are some cases in which clear phonics instruction calls for a slightly different division than is typically found in dictionaries written for accomplished readers. The following bullets explain the placement of the syllable dividers:

- For compound words, the divider is placed between the two component words. Examples: week·end, foot·ball.
- For words ending with grammatical suffixes (e.g., -ing, -est, -es), the divider is generally placed before the suffix. Examples: cheap·est, box·es, runn·ing.
- For words ending with word-formation suffixes (e.g., -ness, -ish, -less, -en), the divider is generally placed before the suffix. Examples: ill·ness, self·ish, care·less, wood·en.
- For words that do not have an obvious grammatical or word-formation suffix, the words are divided according to the dictionary divisions and/or according to pronunciation. Examples: blis·ter, lan·tern, pa·stry, rai·sins.
- For words containing double-letter spellings for consonants, the divider is placed after the double-letter spelling rather than in the middle. Most dictionaries would print bat·ter, big·ger, and traf·fic; this program prints batt·er, bigg·er, and traff·ic. This is done because the double-letter spellings have been taught as single spelling units and it is best not to separate units that students have been encouraged to view as whole entities.

“LONG” VOWELS AND SEPARATED DIGRAPHS

The five vowel sounds taught in this unit have traditionally been called the “long” vowels.

The five sounds in this unit are also the only sounds in the language that are also letter names: /ae/ = ‘a’, /ee/ = ‘e’, /ie/ = ‘i’, /oe/ = ‘o’, /ue/ = ‘u’. Each sound can be spelled with the matching letter name, as in range, Egypt, item, go, and union. However, you will note these single-letter spellings are not taught as the basic code spellings for these sounds.

This program deliberately delays introducing the single-letter spellings ‘a’, ‘e’, ‘i’, ‘o’, and ‘u’ as spellings for the “long” vowel sounds until after students have had sufficient practice with the basic code spellings for “short” vowel sounds (e.g., ‘a’ pronounced /a/; ‘o’ pronounced /o/). Later in this program, students will learn these letters can stand for more than one sound; they can be pronounced “short” or “long.”

The ‘ee’ spelling for /ee/ is a vowel digraph analogous to the consonant digraphs students have already learned (e.g., ‘ch’, ‘sh’, ‘ng’). The spellings for the sounds /ae/, /ie/, /oe/, and /ue/ are also digraphs, but they are digraphs of a different sort. They are separated digraphs. The two letters work together to stand for a single sound, but the letters no longer sit next to each other. Instead, they are separated from each other by another spelling. This intervening spelling will always be a consonant spelling and it will usually be a single-letter spelling. For example, in words like tame, tide, tone, and cute, a single letter stands between the two letters of the vowel digraph. There are a few words in English where a consonant digraph stands between the two letters of a separated vowel digraph; ache is one example. This program does not introduce the latter type of separated digraph in Kindergarten.

It is important for students to understand that two letters can work together to represent a single sound—even if the letters are separated. This is likely to be difficult for some students to grasp; even those who grasp the idea quickly may need time to automatize the procedure during reading. It involves a significant departure from the left-to-right decoding they have been doing up to this point. Students have been taught to read from left to right, but in order to read words with separated digraphs they need to begin scanning to the right and then glancing back again to the left.

The complexity of the mental operations involved in reading is increasing as the sequence of instruction progresses. Consider what is involved in reading the following three words: ham, sham, shame. To read ham, the reader needs to inspect each letter, remember which sound each letter stands for, and then blend the three sounds together. To read sham, the reader must do all of these things but, additionally, must also recognize that ‘s’ and ‘h’ are a letter-team. The reader may need to discard a first impression that the word begins with two consonant sounds, /s/ followed by /h/. To read shame, the reader must perform all of the above-mentioned tasks while additionally scanning ahead, spotting the letter ‘e’, connecting the letter ‘e’ to the letter ‘a’, and remembering these letters stand for the /ae/ sound. When you combine these tasks, you have a rather complicated procedure, one that takes lots of practice to automatize.

MARKING AND POINTING TECHNIQUES

One of the goals of this unit is to help students learn to see and process separated digraphs as single spelling units. Here are a few ideas to facilitate learning.

First of all, there are marking conventions pointing out the connection between the letters. In the Teacher Guide caret is placed below the letters to show the connection between the letters of a separated digraph:

bike

Some teachers prefer to mark the connection with an arch over the top:

bike

Students can be asked to circle the letters and letter teams that stand for individual sounds. They can make a horseshoe-like shape encompassing the 'i' and the 'e' in bike, like this:

bike

You can also reinforce the connection by using a pointing trick. When pointing to single-letter spellings or digraphs written with letters side by side, use a single pointing finger. When you point to a split digraph use a second finger to make a “V” sign, with one finger pointing at the first letter in the separated digraph and the other pointing at the final ‘e’.

The split-finger “V” point looks very much like the caret used in the Teacher Guide. This is one reason it is preferred.

SILENT ‘E’ AND MAGIC ‘E’

In this program, spellings such as ‘a_e’ and ‘i_e’ are referred to as separated digraphs. You may also use the term split digraph if you prefer.

In years past, you may have spoken of the ‘e’ in words like name or note as the silent ‘e’. Or you may have used the phrase magic ‘e’. Of these two phrases, magic ‘e’ is preferable. There are a few issues in telling students some letters are silent. For one thing, if you think about it, all letters are silent. If they could speak, we would not have to read them and turn them back into sounds. Also the phrase “silent letter” may lead some students to believe that only some letters in a word matter as far as determining the pronunciation of the word while others have no purpose. In fact, the ‘e’ in kite is every bit as important in terms of determining pronunciation as the ‘i’. Without the ‘e’, the word would be pronounced kit. All in all, magic ‘e’ seems to be a better way of capturing what the ‘e’ is doing in these spellings than silent ‘e’. You are encouraged to avoid teaching the concept of silent ‘e’ in this unit and silent letters in general. In most cases, it is more useful to think of all of the letters in a word as representing a sound, either singly or in tandem with other letters. For example, in the word light, it is more useful to think of ‘igh’ as standing for /ie/ than to think of ‘i’ as standing for /ie/ and ‘gh’ as being “silent.”

READING PRACTICE AND STORY QUESTIONS ACTIVITY PAGES

Students will continue their reading practice with Scott, the Reader for this unit. You should continue to observe student performance, making notes on the Anecdotal Reading Record found in the Teacher Resources section at the back of this Teacher Guide.

Students will also continue to complete story questions activity pages on the stories they have read. Some students may answer the questions using single words or phrases. You should encourage them to answer in complete sentences. This will allow them to practice writing sentences, print capital letters, and use punctuation marks.

At this point in the sequence of instruction, students have not yet learned spellings for all of the sounds in English. They know at least one way to write all of the consonant sounds except for the very rare /zh/ as in treasure, but they have very incomplete knowledge of the vowel sounds. During the course of this unit they will learn one way to write /ee/ (street), /ae/ (bake), /ie/ (bike), /oe/ (home), and /ue/ (cute), but they still will not have learned to write the vowel sounds /oo/ (soon), /oo/ (look), /ou/ (shout), /oi/ (oil), /aw/ (paw), /er/ (her), /ar/ (car), and /or/ (for). This means students may want to write words using sounds for which they have not yet learned a spelling. Please help students with any word they do not know how to spell. For example, if a student wants to use the word book in a response, please provide the correct spelling, perhaps pointing out that he has not yet learned the spelling 'oo' for the /oo/ sound.

When assessing student performance on these activity pages, you are encouraged to accept all phonetically plausible spellings without correction. You should, for the time being, accept funnee for funny, wate for wait, nite for night, and bote for boat, and so on.

In addition to vocabulary, punctuation marks become increasingly important as part of the reading process. Periods, commas, question marks, and exclamation points have been identified and the learning process is ongoing. The apostrophe is used in this unit to denote ownership (i.e., possessive) and it is also used in contractions. At this point in Kindergarten, it is sufficient to identify the apostrophe used in a contraction in simple terms. Students need to be aware of the linguistic capability to shorten two words into one word using the apostrophe.

SELF-SELECTING TEXT

Throughout the unit, encourage students to choose texts that appeal to them from the classroom library. Use the guidance in the Pausing Point to help students self-select a text.

For detailed information on Independent Reading and to further support students to read grade- and language proficiency-appropriate texts with independence, see the component Independent Reading Guide available on the program's digital components site. TEKS K.4

 TEKS K.4 Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time.

TRICKY AND HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

In this unit, you will introduce eleven more Tricky Words. All of these words are high-frequency words having sounds that cannot be blended using the letter-sound correspondences students have been taught. The Tricky Words introduced in this unit are: he, she, we, be, me, they, their, my, by, you, and your.

Only a few of these Tricky Words are completely irregular. Most of them have some letters pronounced and written just as one would expect. With each word, you are encouraged to teach the parts of each Tricky Word that are regular and can be blended, and those parts that are not regular and must simply be remembered.

When students encountered Tricky Words in the Kindergarten units prior to Unit 8, very controlled opportunities for practice are intentionally provided, using only the Picture Reader and related activity pages and relying heavily on the use of pictures, with a limited number of words presented in very predictable, repetitive language. This controlled approach for introducing Tricky Words early in students' Kindergarten reading experience reduces the level of cognitive demand so that students can focus solely on remembering the Tricky Word(s) without also being called upon to make use of the code knowledge they have learned to decode other words in the text.

In Unit 8, students continued to learn new Tricky Words using the Picture Reader, while, at the same time, a limited number of these same Tricky Words were also gradually included in the stories of the Unit 8 decodable Reader. Starting in Unit 9, new Tricky Words were no longer introduced or practiced in the context of the Picture Reader. Instead, once a Tricky Word has been introduced, it will be immediately included in the decodable stories and other components, such as the activity pages.

Teachers should be aware that both the increased number of Tricky Words being introduced in this unit, as well as their incorporation in the unit Reader, represents an increase in cognitive demand that some students may initially find challenging, in that they must instantaneously recognize whether a word can be decoded or whether it is a Tricky Word that does not “play by the rules.”

For that reason, additional support is provided to aid students in making this distinction. In both the Reader and the Activity Book the tricky parts of the Tricky Words are underlined in gray. The tricky parts of a word continue to be underlined until it has appeared twenty times in the Reader. In the Unit 10 Reader, you will notice some Tricky Words from the previous unit are still underlined. These words did not occur twenty times in the previous Reader.

Teachers may want to recommend that all or some students reread parts of the Picture Reader when they have spare time as a way to continue to reinforce retention of the many Tricky Words that have already been taught in earlier units.

If you have a Tricky Word Wall in your classroom, you may want to write each of these new words on a yellow index card and add it to the Word Wall as it is introduced.

Included below for your reference are the words from the Dolch Sight Word List and Fry's Instant Words List that students should be able to read at the beginning and end of Unit 10.

As of the beginning of this unit, students should be able to read 90 words from the Dolch Sight Word List (Preprimer–Grade 2) and 95 words from Fry's Instant Words List (first 300 words), as follows:

At the beginning of Unit 10:

	Dolch Words	Fry Words
Tricky Words	a, all, are, blue, down, from, funny, here, I, little, look, no, of, once, one, out, said, so, the, there, three, to, two, was, were, what, when, where, which, why, yellow	a, all, are, down, from, funny, here, I, little, look, no, of, once, one, out, said, so, the, there, three, to, two, was, were, what, when, where, which, why, word

By the end of this unit, students should be able to read the following new words from each of these respective lists, representing a total 116 Dolch Words and 129 Fry Words.

By the end of Unit 10:

	New Dolch Words	New Fry Words
Tricky Words	be, by, he, me, my, she, their, they, we, you, your	be, by, he, me, my, she, their, they, we, you, your

It is highly recommended that you assess each student’s recognition of these words at both the beginning and end of the unit on one of these lists. Assessment materials are included in Teacher Resources. You may also choose to copy and send home the Family Letter and Flash Cards included in Teacher Resources.

ORAL BLENDING

Using a routine to help students learn to substitute syllables will reinforce their oral syllable awareness. Add the following routine during Syllable Blending activities as noted in Lessons 5 and 11.

- Tell students that you will practice substituting syllables in spoken compound words.
- Say, “Let’s practice substituting a syllable using the word sail•boat. Substituting means to replace a piece of the word with another word part.”
- Clap the syllables while saying sail•boat, and then have students repeat after you.
- Say, “I hear two syllables. Let’s substitute the first syllable, sail, with the word tug. Now we have the word tug•boat.”
- Repeat the activity with play•ground/un•der•ground.
- Point out that students can also change parts of syllables to make new words. For example, paint•er becomes paint•ed by changing the ending syllable. TEKS K.2.A.ix

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENTS AND ADDITIONAL SUPPORT

Throughout this unit, formative assessments are clearly marked for monitoring student performance and progress in the following key skills:

- oral segmenting (Warm-Up: Oral Segmenting)
- letter names and letter sounds (Warm-Up: Sound/Spelling Review)
- discussion questions comprehension (Demonstration Story Reading)
- oral reading of decodable stories (Small Group and Partner Reading)

Observation records for recording student performance of these skills are included in Teacher Resources.

Teachers may want to have two separate clipboards—one with the Oral Segmenting Observation Record, Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record, and Discussion Questions Observation Record. A second clipboard may hold the Anecdotal Reading Records, one for each student in the class, arranged in alphabetical order. Careful organization of these materials will mean that they are readily accessible when needed, so they can be used most efficiently.

 TEKS K.2.A.ix Demonstrate phonological awareness by manipulating syllables within a multisyllabic word.

Quick “Checks for Understanding” are also designated in various lessons.

Careful attention to this information collected on a daily basis will enable teachers to quickly determine which students may benefit from re-teaching and/or more practice in particular skills, using the Additional Support activities found at the end of each lesson.

END-OF-YEAR STUDENT PERFORMANCE ASSESSMENT

During the last few lessons of this unit, directions are provided for a year-end Student Performance Assessment. You should administer this assessment to all students. A class summary recording sheet is provided for each assessment as well as an overview summary sheet for individual students' results. This individual summary sheet provides data on the acquisition of skills, so you may want to send this important information to the teacher who will be working with the student for the upcoming school year.

TEACHER RESOURCES

At the back of this Teacher Guide, you will find a section titled Teacher Resources. In this section, assorted forms and charts are included that may be useful, including:

Introduce /ee/ > 'ee'

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Foundational Skills

Students will orally segment two-syllable words with up to seven phonemes.

✚ TEKS K.2.A.iv; TEKS K.2.A.vi

Students will name lowercase letters of the alphabet and provide the ✚ corresponding sound. TEKS K.2.B.i; TEKS K.2.D.v

Students will identify spoken words with the medial /ee/ sound and will write the digraph spelling 'ee' to represent this sound.

✚ TEKS K.2.A.x; TEKS K.2.B.i

Reading

Students will read "Scott and Lee" with purpose and understanding and will answer oral, literal, and inferential questions about key details of the story.

✚ TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.G; TEKS K.9.E

Students will use illustrations and texts to learn or clarify word meanings.

✚ TEKS K.3.B

Students will establish a purpose for reading.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

In Warm-Up: Oral Segmenting, students will either practice segmenting the sounds in two-syllable words or review Tricky Words. (In this lesson, they will practice segmenting.) In Warm-Up: Sound/Spelling Review, you will review letter-sound correspondences taught in previous lessons.

This is the first Reading lesson that includes a story comprehension activity page. There is one comprehension activity page for each story in the Scott Reader.

The story comprehension activity pages are intended to be used after students have read the story at least once. These activity pages are a good way for students to practice handwriting and develop their writing skills. They are also a good way for you to monitor reading comprehension. Although the questions on these early activity pages are very simple, they will become more challenging and open-ended as students progress through the program.

Foundational Skills

- Gather the Large Letter Cards for twenty spellings already taught. Choose cards students need to practice.

➤ Digital Component 1.1

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 1.1 (Digital Component 1.1) to display for Meet the Spelling Activity Page, or use the digital version.

Reading

➤ Digital Component 1.2

- Create the Preview Spellings chart (Digital Component 1.2) for Introduce the Story on the board/chart paper, or use the digital version.
- Plan how you will group and pair students today for reading. Students who can work more independently (Group 2) should be paired to read with partners today. You will work with students who need more support (Group 1) as a small group.

Universal Access

- Bring in a picture of a blackbird to use in Oral Segmenting.

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)

✚ Oral Segmenting TEKS K.2.A.iv; TEKS K.2.A.vi

Note: In this unit, students will be asked to blend two-syllable words. Explain the concept with the analogy of a sandwich. Slicing a sandwich in half makes it easier to hold and eat. It's the same way with words; some words have too many sounds to say in one try, so we have to break the words up into big chunks called syllables. Starting in this unit, students will break words up into different chunks: syllables (like the halves of a sandwich); and sounds (the bread, meat, etc., that make up those smaller halves).

When segmenting, continue using the thumb-finger taps to represent sounds. However, there is a slight modification to this strategy. Draw attention to the fact that the words consist of two syllables by returning to the forefinger-thumb tap for the first sound in the second syllable instead of repeatedly tapping the thumb and pinkie together or returning to the forefinger on the fifth sound.

- Look at each word in the box and notice where they are marked with a syllable divider.
- Say the first word (classroom).
- Repeat the word, pausing slightly between the syllables.

✚ TEKS K.2.A Demonstrate phonological awareness by: (iv) identifying syllables in spoken words; (vi) segmenting multisyllabic words into syllables; TEKS K.2.B.i Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by identifying and matching the common sounds that letters represent; TEKS K.2.D.v Demonstrate print awareness by identifying all uppercase and lowercase letters; TEKS K.2.A.x Demonstrate phonological awareness by: segmenting spoken one-syllable words into individual phonemes.

- Say the first syllable in a segmented fashion, marking each sound with a thumb-finger tap, beginning with a thumb-forefinger tap (/k/ /l/ /a/ /s/). Say the second syllable in a segmented fashion, returning to the thumb-forefinger tap for the first sound (/r/ /oo/ /m/).
- Say the blended word.
- Repeat and have students segment the sounds in the word while doing the thumb-finger taps.
- Continue this process with the remaining words.
- You may discontinue the teacher demonstration for the words if students no longer need this support.

Prior to blending the second word, show students a picture of a blackbird. Point to the picture of the blackbird and ask a student what color the animal is. Segment the word black. Ask another student what the name of the animal is. Segment the word bird. Tell students the name of this particular bird is blackbird and model segmenting the full word, asking students to repeat. Proceed with blending the words.

Observation: Oral Segmenting Observation Record

Call on different students to segment each word. Note students' performance in the Oral Segmenting Observation Record.

Sound/Spelling Review

- Hold up the first Large Letter Card.
- Have students say the sound represented on the card, and then name the letter as well.

Large Letter Cards

- Repeat this process with the remaining cards.

Observation: Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record

Call on different students to provide the letter name and letter sound for each Large Letter Card. Note students' performance in the Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record.

INTRODUCE THE SOUND /EE/ (5 MIN.)

Hear Medial Sounds

- Tell students today's sound is /ee/.
- Have students say the /ee/ sound several times, stretching it out.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ee/ sound at the beginning: eat, each, ear, and easy.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ee/ sound in the middle: sheep, bead, dear, and meal.
- Ask students if they can tell whether /ee/ is a vowel sound or a consonant sound. (It is a vowel sound, made with an open mouth.)
- Tell students you are going to say a number of words. Some of the words will have /ee/ as the middle sound and some will not.

1. seed
2. shop
3. feet
4. meat

5. bed
6. team
7. ship
8. seat

Check for Understanding

Have students close their eyes and listen carefully. Tell students to raise their hands when they hear a word containing the /ee/ sound.

INTRODUCE THE SPELLING /EE/ → 'EE' (10 MIN.)

Teacher Modeling

- Tell students you are going to show them how to write the /ee/ sound.
- Write a large lowercase 'ee' on the board/chart paper and describe what you are doing using the phrases in the diagram. Explain that the two letters work together as a team to stand for the /ee/ sound. Model drawing the digraph several more times, using the phrases or counting off the strokes as you create the spelling.
- Tell students you are going to use your entire arm to write a very large spelling in the air. Model this with your back to students, encouraging them to copy the motions and repeat the phrases with you.
- Write 'f' and 'ff' on the board/chart paper, and explain that 'f' and 'ff' are pronounced the same way.
- Explain that vowel spellings work differently.
- Write 'e' and 'ee' on the board/chart paper.
- Point to the 'e' spelling and explain, when they see one 'e', they should say the /e/ sound as in bed.
- Point to the 'ee' spelling and explain, when they see the double-letter spelling 'ee', they should say the /ee/ sound as in sheep.
- Tell students whenever the spelling 'ee' appears on a activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in darker, bolder ink to remind them the two letters stand for a single sound.

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. line across
2. most of a circle to the left

MEET THE SPELLING ACTIVITY PAGE (15 MIN.)

➤ Digital Component 1.1

- Distribute and display Activity Page 1.1. Tell students they will practice writing the /ee/ sound together.
- Work as a group, guiding students to complete each item in the rows of spellings as you model the handwriting process. Trace the gray dotted spellings first; then write the spellings, using just the black dots as starting points. Say the sound as you finish each spelling.
- Show students how to read the word see; have students trace and write the word using the black dots to start each letter. Repeat with the word feet.

- Turn to the back of the activity page. Ask students to read each word, identify the matching picture, and then write the word on the corresponding line. Model each step so students can follow along.

Lesson 1: “Scott and Lee” Reading

Primary Focus

Students will read “Scott and Lee” with purpose and understanding; and will answer oral literal and inferential questions about key details of the story.

✦ TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.G; TEKS K.9.E

Students will use illustrations and texts to learn or clarify word meanings.

✦ TEKS K.3.B

✦ Students will establish a purpose for reading. TEKS K.4; TEKS K.5.A

✦ INTRODUCE THE READER (5 MIN.) TEKS K.9.E

- Give each student a Scott Reader.
- Point out the title of the book, printed on the cover. Remind students a book’s title tells about the book. Ask students to read the title of the book. Explain the book is about a boy named Scott and is told by a person who is not a character in the story. Tell students that when someone who is not in the story tells it, they are called a narrator.
- Review the parts of the book (front cover, title page, back cover, page numbers) if necessary. Encourage students to take turns distinguishing letters from words within the sentences.

INTRODUCE THE STORY (5 MIN.)

Preview Spellings

- Before reading the story, refer to the Preview Spellings chart you prepared in advance, underlining the ‘ee’ spelling in each word. Read the words aloud as a class.

✦ TEKS K.2.B.ii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by using letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words; TEKS K.5.G Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance; TEKS K.9.E Listen to and experience first- and third-person texts; TEKS K.3.B use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings; TEKS K.4 Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time; TEKS K.5.A Establish purpose for reading assigned and self-selected texts with adult assistance.

🗺️ Preview Core Vocabulary TEKS K.3.B

- Before reading today's story, preview the following vocabulary with students.

pen—n., a small, fenced-in area for animals (2)

Example: We saw the pigs in their pen, eating and running around.

sweet—adj., a kind and gentle disposition, temperament, or mood (2)

Example: My sweet Aunt always bakes me cookies.

Core Vocabulary
Multiple-Meaning Core Vocabulary Words			pen sweet
Sayings and Phrases

Note: You may want to point out that the word pen can have other meanings. Students may be more familiar with the word pen referring to a writing tool. In today's story, which takes place on a farm, it has the meaning previously noted.

You may also want to point out that the word sweet can have other meanings. Students may be more familiar with the word sweet referring to a sugary flavor. In today's story, it has the meaning previously noted.

🗺️ TEKS K.3.B Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

- Review the use of the apostrophe as an indication of ownership (i.e., possessive).
- As in previous units, optional vocabulary activity pages are provided for use at your discretion.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they will read a story about some animals owned by Scott's family. Tell students to pay special attention to the story so that, at the end, they can tell you which is Scott's pet.

READ "SCOTT AND LEE" (10 MIN.)

TEKS K.4; TEKS K.5.A; TEKS K.9.E

Small Group

- Both this lesson and the following lesson have time designated to read "Scott and Lee" in small groups. Remind students that the story is told by someone who is not a character. Read with Group 1 students during this lesson (while Group 2 students partner read) and Group 2 students during the following lesson (while Group 1 students partner read). Be sure to record anecdotal notes regarding students' reading progress.

Group 2: (students able to work independently) Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading "Scott and Lee" aloud. Students who finish early should reread stories from previous Readers (encourage them to establish a purpose for reading, such as enjoyment) or choose a sentence from this story to copy and illustrate. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. Students should not read ahead.

Group 1: (students who need support) Have students follow along in their Readers as you use a Scott Reader to read aloud the story "Scott and Lee" without interruption. Read the story a second time, having students take turns reading sentences. Alternatively, you may use a different remediation exercise addressing students' specific needs.

Observation: "Scott and Lee" Anecdotal Reading Record (Group 1)

As you listen to each student read, make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

TEKS K.4 Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time; TEKS K.5.A Establish purpose for reading assigned and self-selected texts with adult assistance; TEKS K.9.E Listen to and experience first- and third-person texts.

Wrap-Up

- Discuss the following questions as a class.

Discussion Questions for “Scott and Lee”

1. Literal. Which animal is Scott’s pet?
 - » Scott’s pet is Lee the Sheep.
2. Literal. Who keeps a pig?
 - » Scott’s dad keeps a pig.
3. Literal. What does Scott’s mom keep?
 - » Scott’s mom keeps three hens.
4. Inferential. Describe Lee.
 - » Accept reasonable answers based on the text and illustrations.
5. Evaluative. Think-Pair-Share. Ask your partner a question about “Scott and Lee.”
6. Are there any questions you have to help clarify your understanding of the story?

MORE HELP ORALLY SEGMENTING TWO-SYLLABLE WORDS

Push and Say

- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 1.1 for each student.
- Provide students with a handful of small objects (blocks, pennies, beans, etc.)
- Tell students you will say words for them to break into their smallest sounds.
- The boxes and objects will represent individual sounds before they are blended into words.
- Use the following words to give students segmenting practice:

1. chap•ter (3 + 2) /ch/ /a/ /p/ • /t/ /er/
2. sand•wich (4 + 3) /s/ /a/ /n/ /d/ • /w/ /i/ /ch/
3. thun•der (3 + 2) /th/ /u/ /n/ • /d/ /er/
4. home•stead (3 + 4) /h/ /oe/ /m/ • /s/ /t/ /e/ /d/
5. swimm•ing (4 + 2) /s/ /w/ /i/ /m/ • /i/ ng/
6. pan•cake (3 + 3) /p/ /a/ /n/ • /k/ /ae/ /k/

MORE HELP WITH ORAL READING

Play Parts

- Provide each student with a copy of Activity Page TR 1.2.
- Pair students and have one student read the narrator describing Scott and his family, and the other read the narrator describing Lee the sheep.

Note: Using a highlighter to mark the parts students will read is suggested.

MORE HELP WITH LOWERCASE LETTERS AND SOUNDS

Letters on the Back

- Pair students to work together for this activity.

- Have students sit on the floor one behind the other.
- Provide each pair of students with an index card on which you have written selected lowercase letters.
- Have the first student “write” a lowercase letter on the back of their partner, but remind him/her not to say the name or letter sound aloud.
- The second student identifies the letter by name, says it aloud, then provides the corresponding sound by saying it aloud.
- Continue play until both partners have identified and provided the sound for each lowercase letter.

MORE HELP WITH READING AND SPELLING

/ee/ in the Middle

- Group students in a circle.
- Tell students you are going to read a list of words to each of them, some words with the medial /ee/ and some with /e/.
- Read the first word in the box to the first student. The student should spell the word orally. If the word contains the medial /ee/ the student should move to the middle of the circle. If the word contains the /e/ the student stays in their place.
- After each /ee/ word is spelled correctly, write it on the board/chart paper for all to see, so that by the end of the game students will have a complete list.
- Read the next word to the second student and have them repeat the procedure. If the second student receives an /ee/ word, he or she moves to the middle, taking the place of the first student.
- When all /ee/ words have been spelled and written on the board/chart paper, provide students with pencil and paper.
- Have students write the list of /ee/ words.

1. pens	5. cheek	9. stem	13. reef
2. sweet	6. meet	10. week	14. sled
3. feel	7. bed	11. red	15. seed

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 491 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 502 of those words would be completely decodable.

Students have now been taught at least one way to write 31 of the 44 sounds in the English language.

The sound /ee/ is the 12th most common sound in English.

The sound /ee/ is found in approximately 23 percent of English words.

The sound /ee/ is spelled 'ee' approximately 9 percent of the time.

The spelling alternatives 'e' as in me, 'ea' as in bead, 'e_e' as in eve, 'ey' as in key, 'ie' as in Annie, 'i' as in Maria, 'y' as in happy, and 'ei' as in receive are taught in later grades.

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)

Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English "play by the rules" and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not "play by the rules" are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students, even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Review at least fifteen of the Tricky Words taught in Units 8 and 9: all, from, funny, was, here, no, once, said, so, there, to, were, what, when, where, which, why, word.
- Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

COMPLETE THE SENTENCES (15 MIN.)

- Remind students they learned a new sound and spelling in the previous lesson.
- Ask students for the sound they learned in the previous lesson. Once the /ee/ sound has been identified, have the class repeat it.
- Have a student come to the board/chart paper and write the spelling for the /ee/ sound. Then have students write the spelling in the air using their pointer fingers.

➤ Digital Component 2.2

- Distribute and display Activity Page 2.1.
- Explain that three words are printed at the top of the activity page. Each of these words completes one of the sentences printed below.
- Ask students to read each word in the box.
- Demonstrate reading the first sentence three times: once with the word feet, once with the word seems, and once with the word needs.
- Ask students which word completes the sentence.
- Have students print the word seems on the line provided, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating (providing guided practice) until students are ready to work independently. Don't forget the back of the activity page.

Small Group

- If you read with Group 1 during the previous lesson, read with Group 2 students today while Group 1 students partner read. Be sure to record anecdotal notes regarding students’ reading abilities.

Group 1: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns rereading “Scott and Lee.” Students who finish early should choose a sentence from this story to copy and illustrate. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. Students should not read ahead.

Group 2: Have students follow along in their Readers as you use a Scott Reader to read aloud the story, “Scott and Lee,” without interruption. Read the story a second time, having students read.

MORE HELP WITH ORAL READING

Silly Voices

- Make a copy of the Silly Voices Cards, Activity Page TR 2.1, and cut the cards apart.
- Provide students with the Scott Reader, and help them find the story, “Scott and Lee.”

Support

The task of applying a silly voice requires notable cognitive effort. Silly Voices should be used to motivate students to revisit text that is already very familiar from prior instruction and rereading. If students are not already reading the text with high accuracy, then rereading without silly voices to first establish ease with word recognition is appropriate.

- Have students choose or draw a Silly Voices Card to determine the voice they will use for reading aloud.
- Students read aloud independently, with a partner, or to you.
- Partner reading options may include:
 - Take turns reading the entire story.
 - Have one student be the leader, reading a line at a time for the partner to echo.

MORE HELP READING TRICKY WORDS

Bingo

- Make a copy of the Bingo Word Cards (Activity Page TR 2.2) for your use, and cut the cards apart.
- Make a copy of the Bingo Boards (Activity Page TR 2.3), one board for each student.
- Provide each student with nine tokens to use as place markers.
- As word cards are selected and read, students search for the word on their game board. Ask students to put their finger on the word if they find it and read it aloud to confirm they are correct before covering the space.
- When students are incorrect, use the opportunity to address the confusion.
- When students are correct ask, “How did you know that was _____?” (This verbalization of knowledge or strategies used is powerful for reinforcing learning.)
- The game may be played until one or all students get three spaces covered in a row, or until one or all students get “blackout” (covering the entire board).

Observation: Oral Segmenting Observation Record

Call on different students to segment each word. Note students' performance in the Oral Segmenting Observation Record.

Sound/Spelling Review

- Hold up the first Large Letter Card.
- Have students say the sound represented on the card, as well as the letter name.
- Repeat this process with the remaining cards.
- Show students Sound Card 47 (tree) and add it to the /ee/ Sound Poster.

Observation: Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record

Call on different students to provide the letter name and letter sound for each Large Letter Card. Note students' performance in the Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record.

POP-OUT CHAINING (20 MIN.)

- Remind students they recently learned the sound /ee/ as in sheep.
- Have students say the /ee/ sound several times.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words with the /ee/ sound: queen, eel, read, week, eagle, leaf, seed.
- Write the spelling 'ee' on the board/chart paper, and have students write the spelling in the air using their pointer fingers.
- Distribute and review the following Large Letter Cards: 'm', 'n', 't', 'd', 'f', 's', 'p', 'b', 'l', 'r', 'e', and 'ee'.
- Tell students if they are holding a card with a sound in step, they should go to the front of the room and stand in the order spelling step.
- Tell students you are a magician. When you say, "Alakazam!" the student with the 'ee' card is to replace the student with the 'e' card to change the word's vowel sound and make a new word.

Large Letter Cards

Sound Poster and Card

- Say “Alakazam!” and have the student with the ‘ee’ card replace the student with the ‘e’ card, changing step to steep.
- Have the class read the new word.
- Repeat this process with the remaining word pairs.

INTRODUCE TRICKY WORDS: HE, SHE, WE (10 MIN.)

Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English “play by the rules” and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not “play by the rules” are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students that even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

➤ Digital Component 3.1

| 8. no | 16. here | 24. three | |

Tricky Word: He

- Write the Tricky Word he on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may say /h/ /e/.)
- Tell students we actually pronounce this word /h/ /ee/ as in, “He is a big boy.”
- Circle the letter ‘h’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /h/.
- Underline the letter ‘e’ and explain this letter makes up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect this letter to be pronounced as /e/, but this letter stands for the /ee/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading he, they have to remember to pronounce the letter ‘e’ as /ee/.
- Tell students that when writing he, they have to remember to spell the /ee/ sound with the letter ‘e’.
- Point to the word he as you say the following sentence, “I bet he is very strong!” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word he in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word he on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall.

Tricky Words: She and We

- Repeat this process with the words she and we. Like the word he, the words she and we are exceptions to the pattern students learned earlier when ‘e’ is sounded /e/. Point out that all of these words rhyme.

Subjective Pronouns

- Explain to students that the Tricky Words he, she, and we are subjective pronouns. These words can take the place of a noun and can perform an action in a sentence. For example: He went to the store. Provide a list of subjective pronouns (he, I, it, she, they, we, and you).
- Write each of the sentences on the board:
I was proud of _____ team. (I, me, my) _____ play soccer on the weekends. (I, me, my) Carlos passed _____ the ball. (I, me, my)
- Model asking questions about each sentence to choose the correct pronouns: “How is the pronoun used in the sentence? Is it the subject? Is it the object? Or does it show possession?”
- When students talk and write about the story “Red Ants” later in this lesson and in Lesson 4, encourage them to use subjective pronouns in their writing.

Check for Understanding

As students Turn and Talk, circulate through the room, listening for correct pronunciation and grammatically correct use of Tricky Words he, she, and we.

Lesson 3: "Red Ants" Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read "Red Ants" with purpose and understanding and will answer oral, literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about key details of the story. TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.B; TEKS K.5.G

Small Group

- Both this lesson and the following lesson have time designated to read “Red Ants” in small groups. Read with Group 1 students during this lesson (while Group 2 students partner read) and Group 2 students during the following lesson (while Group 1 students partner read). Be sure to record anecdotal notes regarding students’ reading progress.

Group 2: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading “Red Ants.” Students who finish early should reread the story “Scott and Lee” or choose a sentence from the Reader to copy and illustrate. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. Students should not read ahead.

Group 1: Have students follow along in their Readers as you use a Scott Reader to read aloud the story “Red Ants” without interruption. Read the story a second time, having students read. If you have time, reread “Scott and Lee” in the same fashion. Alternatively, you may use a different remediation exercise addressing students’ specific needs.

Reading

Exchanging Information and Ideas

Beginning

Ask yes/no questions using simple phrases: “Did Lee the Sheep have a bad week?” “Was Scott happy with the ants?”

Intermediate

When asking each question, provide students with a specific sentence frame: “Scott tells the ants Lee is . . .” “Scott has to sweep the ants . . .”

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to expand and/or build on student responses.

Discussion Questions for “Red Ants”

1. Literal. What do the red ants do?
 - » The ants bite Lee.
2. Inferential. Which parts of Lee’s body do the red ants bite?
 - » The ants bite Lee on his legs and feet.
3. Evaluative. What are some possible reasons why the ants bit Lee?
 - » Accept reasonable answers based on the text and illustrations.
4. Literal. How does Scott get the ants off of Lee?
 - » Scott sweeps the ants off with his hand.
5. Literal. What does Scott suggest the ants eat instead of Lee?
 - » Scott tells the ants to munch on plants and weeds.
6. Evaluative. Think Pair Share. Ask your partner a question about “Red Ants.”
7. Are there any questions you have to help clarify your understanding of the story?

DICTIONATION WITH WORD (20 MIN.)

Dictation with Words

- Ask students to take out a pencil and a piece of paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of words for them to write. Some words will contain the /e/ sound spelled with the letter 'e' and some will contain the /ee/ sound spelled with the digraph 'ee'.
- Say the word seed. Then segment the word, raising one finger for each sound: /s/ (raise thumb) . . . /ee/ (raise pointer finger) . . . /d/ (raise middle finger).
- Ask students how many sounds are in the word seed.
- Draw three lines on the board/chart paper—one for each sound in seed. Have students do the same on their paper.
- Ask students for the first sound in seed. Fill in the first line on the board/chart paper with the letter 's'. Have students do the same on their paper.
- Repeat for the remaining two sounds and spellings in seed.
- Model reading the word as a strategy for double-checking its spelling.
- Demonstrate this process with at least one or two additional words before having students write the words independently.
- Remind students to refer to the Sound Posters to remember how to write the spellings.

Lesson 4: "Red Ants"

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read "Red Ants" with purpose and understanding; will answer written questions about key details of the story; and will draw an illustration with a caption, depicting part of the story.

REREAD "RED ANTS" (20 MIN.)

Small Group

- If you read with Group 1 students during the previous lesson, read with Group 2 students while Group 1 students partner read. Be sure to record anecdotal notes regarding students' reading progress.

Group 1: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns rereading "Red Ants." Students who finish early should reread the story "Scott and Lee," or choose a sentence from the Reader to copy and illustrate. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. Students should not read ahead.

Group 2: Have students follow along in their Readers as you use a Scott Reader to read aloud the story "Red Ants" without interruption. Read the story a second time, having students read. If you have time, read "Scott and Lee" in the same fashion. Alternatively, you may use a different exercise addressing students' specific needs.

Call on different students to provide the letter name and letter sound for each Large Card. Note students' performance in the Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record.

INTRODUCE TRICKY WORDS: BE, ME (10 MIN.)

Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English “play by the rules” and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not “play by the rules” are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students, even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

Tricky Word: Be

- Write the Tricky Word be on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may say /b/ /e/.)
- Tell students we actually pronounce this word /b/ /ee/ as in, “I will be there soon.”
- Circle the letter ‘b’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /b/.
- Underline the letter ‘e’ and explain this letter makes up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect this letter to be pronounced as /e/, but this letter stands for the /ee/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading be, they have to remember to pronounce the letters ‘e’ as /ee/.
- Tell students that when writing be, they have to remember to spell the /ee/ sound with the letters ‘e’.
- Point to the word be as you say the following sentence, “The team can be good if we practice!” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word be in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word be on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall.

Tricky Word: Me

- Repeat this process with the word me. Like the word be, the word me is an exception to the pattern students learned earlier, and ‘e’ is sounded /ee/.

Check for Understanding

As students Turn and Talk, circulate through the room, listening for correct pronunciation and grammatically correct use of Tricky Words be and me.

- Explain that the words printed on yellow paper are Tricky Words. Yellow means proceed with caution.
- Shuffle the cards and have students read them one at a time.
 - When students select a green card they may say “Green, go!” before reading the word.
 - When students select a yellow card they may say, “Yellow, careful!” before reading the word.

Note: Laminate the word cards for use in future lessons.

Complete the Sentences

- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 6.4 for each student.
- Have students read the Tricky Words at the top of the page and the sentences below.
- Have students complete the sentences by writing the Tricky Word(s) that completes each sentence.

BASIC CODE

Introduce /ae/ > 'a_e'

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Foundational Skills

Students will name lowercase letters of the alphabet and provide the corresponding sound. TEKS K.2.B.i; TEKS K.2.D.v

Students will identify spoken words with the medial /ae/ sound and will write the digraph spelling 'a_e' to represent this sound. TEKS K.2.A.x; TEKS K.2.C.ii

Reading

Students will read "Cake and Grapes" with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about key details of the story. TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.B; TEKS K.6.C

Students will read independently for increased periods of time. TEKS K.4

Lesson 7: Introduce /ae/ > 'a_e'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

Students will name lowercase letters of the alphabet and provide the corresponding sound. TEKS K.2.B.i; TEKS K.2.D.v

Students will identify spoken words with the medial /ae/ sound and will write the digraph spelling 'a_e' to represent this sound.

TEKS K.2.A.x; TEKS K.2.C.ii

WARM-UP (5 MIN.)Sound/Spelling Review

- Gather the Large Letter Cards for 'ee' and nineteen other spellings that have been taught. Choose cards students need to practice.
- Hold up the first Large Letter Card.
- Have students say the sound represented on the card. If the card shows a letter team, have students name the letters as well.
- Repeat this process with the remaining cards.

Large Letter Cards

Observation: Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record

Call on different students to provide the letter name and letter sound for each Large Letter Card. Note students' performance in the Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record.

INTRODUCE THE SOUND /AE/ (10 MIN.)Hear Medial Sounds

- Tell students today's sound is /ae/.
- Have students say the /ae/ sound several times, stretching it out.

TEKS K.2.B.i Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by identifying and matching the common sounds that letters represent; TEKS K.2.D.v Demonstrate print awareness by identifying all uppercase and lowercase letters; TEKS K.2.A.x Demonstrate phonological awareness by: segmenting spoken one-syllable words into individual phonemes; TEKS K.2.C.ii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words using sound-spelling patterns.

- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ae/ sound at the beginning: ate, ache, ape, able, and age.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ae/ sound in the middle: cake, cave, made, nail, and lake.
- Ask students if they can tell whether /ae/ is a vowel sound or a consonant sound. (It is a vowel sound, made with an open mouth.)
- Tell students you are going to say a number of words. Some of the words will have /ae/ as the middle sound and some will not.

1. lake	5. cake	9. right
2. tape	6. bait	10. chain
3. song	7. bet	11. net
4. chat	8. game	12. rake

Check for Understanding

Have students close their eyes and listen carefully. Tell students to raise their hands when they hear a word containing the /ae/ sound.

INTRODUCE THE SPELLING /AE/ → 'A_E' (10 MIN.)

TEKS K.2.C.ii

Teacher Modeling

- Tell students you are going to show them how to write the /ae/ sound.
- Tell students this spelling is a little different from the spellings they have studied up until now.
- Draw a large lowercase 'a_e' on the board/chart paper, being sure to indicate the space between the letters with a short line (as shown). Explain that both letters work together, as a team, to stand for the sound /ae/.
- Point out the space you left between the letter 'a' and the letter 'e'. Explain when you write an actual word, you fill in the space between the 'a' and the 'e' with a letter for the sound that comes after the /ae/ sound.

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. circle to the left
2. short line down (leave a space)

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. line across
2. most of a circle to the left

TEKS K.2.C.ii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words using sound-spelling patterns.

game

Point at the 'g' from underneath with your pointer finger. Then move your pointing finger under the 'a' and, at the same time, move your middle finger so you have a 'v' with your pointer finger pointing at the 'a' and your middle finger pointing at the 'e'. For 'm,' return to single-finger pointing.

- Add 'g' and 'm' to make game. (You may wish to use three different colors: the color that you used for the 'a_e' spelling, a second color for 'g', and a third color for 'm'.)
- Explain that at first, students might think this is /g/ /a/ /m/ /e/ (gamm-eh), but the letters 'a' and 'e' work together (as a letter team) to stand for one sound, the /ae/ sound, even though there is a letter between them. Thus, the word is game.
- Illustrate this relationship by drawing a V-shaped mark connecting the 'a' and the 'e' (see illustration).
- Point out even though the word game contains four letters ('g', 'a', 'm', and 'e'), it is made up of only three sounds (/g/, /ae/, and /m/).
- Have students trace the word in the air with a pointed finger while saying the sounds.
- Write grape on the board/chart paper. Explain this is another example of the 'a'-space-'e' spelling for the /ae/ sound.
- Draw a V-shaped mark under grape as you did with game.
- Tell students you would like them to help you spell another word with the 'a_e' spelling.
- Have students identify the first sound in made. Write an 'm' on the board/chart paper.
- Have students identify the second sound in made. Write an 'a' on the board/chart paper next to the 'm'. Explain the letter 'a' is the first part of the spelling for /ae/. Tell students you will write the second part after you write the spelling for the sound that comes after the /ae/ sound.
- Have students identify the last sound in made. Write a 'd' on the board/chart paper next to the 'a'. Explain that if you left the word like this, it would be pronounced mad. To spell made, you need to finish writing the /ae/ sound.
- Ask students what letter must be written beside the 'd' in order to finish writing the /ae/ sound. Once the letter 'e' has been identified, write an 'e' on the board/chart paper.
- Remind students 'a' and 'e' work together to stand for the /ae/ sound.
- Tell students whenever the spelling 'a_e' appears on an activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in darker, bolder ink to remind them the two letters stand for one sound.

MEET THE SPELLING ACTIVITY PAGE (15 MIN.) TEKS K.2.C.ii

Digital Component 7.1

- Distribute and display Activity Page 7.1.
- Show students how to read the word make; then have students trace and write the word using the black dots to start each letter. Repeat with the word same.
- Turn to the back of the activity page. Ask students to read each word, identify the matching picture and circle it, and then write the word on the corresponding line. Model each step so students can follow along.
- If you wish, you may suggest students circle the separated digraph using a horseshoe shape, as described in the Introduction.

- Review the use of the apostrophe as an indication of ownership (i.e., possessive).

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they will read a story about Scott and his friend Jade. Ask students to pay special attention to the story so they can tell you what Scott shares with Jade.

READ “CAKE AND GRAPES” (15 MIN.)

TEKS K.4

Small Group

Group 2: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading “Cake and Grapes.” Students who finish early should reread the stories “The Bees” and “Red Ants” or choose a sentence from the Reader to copy and illustrate. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. Students should not read ahead.

Group 1: Have students follow along in their Readers as one student at a time reads from “Cake and Grapes.” Read the story a second time, having students take turns reading sentences. If you have time, read “The Bees” and “Red Ants” in the same fashion. Alternatively, you may use a different remediation exercise addressing students’ specific needs.

Observation: “Cake and Grapes” Anecdotal Reading Record (Group 1)

As you listen to each student read, make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Wrap-Up

- Discuss the following questions as a class. Encourage students to use the text.

TEKS K.4 Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time.

Reading

Exchanging Information and Ideas

Beginning

Ask yes/no questions using simple phrases: “Does Scott give Jade grapes?” “Does Jade eat all of Scott’s cake?”

Intermediate

When asking each question, provide students with a specific sentence frame: “Jade shares . . .”

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to expand and/or build on student responses.

Discussion Questions for “Cake and Grapes”

1. Literal. What does Scott share with Jade?
 - » Scott shares cake with Jade.
2. Literal. What does Jade share with Scott?
 - » Jade shares grapes with Scott.
3. Literal. How do you know Jade and Scott enjoyed their food? Give an example from the story or illustrations that helps you know.
 - » Jade and Scott ate all of their food. Jade and Scott are smiling.
4. Inferential. Look at Jade’s and Scott’s clothes and shoes. What type of weather do you think they have? Give an example from the story or illustrations that helps you know.
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
5. Evaluative. How are grapes and cake alike? How are they different?
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
6. Evaluative. Think-Pair-Share. Ask your partner a question about “Cake and Grapes.”
7. Are there any questions you have to help clarify your understanding of the story?

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH ORAL READING

Silly Voices

- Make a copy of the Silly Voices Picture Cards, Activity Page TR 2.1, and cut the cards apart.
- Provide students with the Scott Reader, and help them find the story, “Cake and Grapes.”
- Follow the procedure in Lesson 2.

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING

Complete the Spelling

- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 7.1 for each student.
- Tell students you will read a list of words with the ‘a _e’ spelling pattern.
- Ask students to listen carefully to each word and write the letters that complete the spelling of each word on the sheet.
- Use the words in the box.

- | | |

MORE HELP WITH LOWERCASE LETTERS AND SOUNDS

Letters in the Snow

- Put a dollop of shaving cream on student desks and have students smooth it out to create a writing surface.
- Have students say each letter of the alphabet and provide the corresponding sound, then write the letter in the shaving cream with a finger.

PROGRESS MONITORING (OPTIONAL)

- Copy the Word Cards for Progress Monitoring 1 (Activity Page TR 7.2) and cut out the words. You may want to use one set of words to assess each student, or make each student a set to use for flash card practice.
- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 7.3 (Record Sheet for Progress Monitoring 1) for each student.
- Model with the sample item.
- Show the cards to the student one at a time. Use the Record Sheet to record each word as the student reads.
- Place a check next to each word read correctly.
- For misread words, write exactly what students say as the word is sounded out. If students misread a word, prompt them to try to read the word again, letting them know their first attempt was incorrect.
- Students may benefit from the supports utilized during instruction such as blending motions and representing sounds with objects (e.g., Push & Say). Demonstrate and encourage their use during modeling with the sample item if needed. The goal is for students to eventually be capable of completing the tasks without physical supports or, at least, utilizing the supports independently (without your prompt).
- Scoring is based on one point assigned for every sound-spelling in a word which is read correctly. Interpret scores as follows:
 - 9 or 10 points—excellent
 - 7 or 8 points—good
 - 5 or 6 points—fair
 - Less than 5 points—poor
- Goal: Achieve scores of good or excellent (7 points or higher).
- Scores of 6 or less indicate additional reteaching and reinforcement is required from Additional Support and the Unit 10 Pausing Point.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 525 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 539 of those words would be completely decodable.

Students have now been taught at least one way to write 32 of the 44 sounds in English.

The sound /ae/ is the 25th most common sound in English.

The sound /ae/ is found in approximately 12 percent of English words.

The sound /ae/ is spelled 'a_e' approximately 25 percent of the time.

The spelling alternatives 'a' as in acre, 'ai' as in rain, 'ay' as in say, 'ey' as in hey, 'ea' as in great, 'eigh' as in eight, and 'ei' as in vein are taught in later grades.

Large Letter Cards

- Distribute the following Large Letter Cards, reviewing each card's sound: 'm', 'n', 't', 'd', 'c', 'f', 's', 'p', 'l', 'r', 'a', and 'e'.
- Tell the student with the 'e' card that they are holding the magic letter 'e'.
- Tell students that if they are holding a card with a picture of a sound in fat, they should go to the front of the room and stand in the order spelling fat.
- Tell students you are a magician. When you say, "Alakazam!" the student with the 'e' card should add it to the end of fat to change the word's vowel sound and make a new word.
- Say "Alakazam!" and have the student with the 'e' card add it to the end of fat, changing fat to fate.
- Have students read the new word.
- Repeat this process with the remaining word pairs, giving several students a chance to present the magic 'e' card.

INTRODUCE TRICKY WORDS: THEY, THEIR (10 MIN.)

Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English "play by the rules" and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not "play by the rules" are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students that even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

Tricky Word: They

- Write the Tricky Word they on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may say /th/ /e/ /y/.)
- Tell students we actually pronounce this word /th/ /ae/ as in, “When will they get here?”
- Circle the letters ‘th’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /th/.
- Underline the letters ‘ey’ and explain that these letters make up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect these letters to be pronounced separately as /e/ and /y/, but these letters stand for the /ae/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading they, they have to remember to pronounce the letters ‘ey’ as /ae/.
- Tell students that when writing they, they have to remember to spell the /ae/ sound with the letters ‘ey’.
- Point to the word they as you say the following sentence, “I think they will be hungry after school.” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word they in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word they on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall

Tricky Word: Their

- Write the Tricky Word their on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may say /th/ /e/ /i/ /r/.)
- Tell students we actually pronounce this word /th/ /ae/ /r/ as in, “Their car is smaller than ours.”
- Circle the letters ‘th’ and explain that they are pronounced just as one would expect, as /th/.
- Circle the letter ‘r’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /r/.
- Underline the letters ‘ei’ and explain that these letters make up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect these letters to be pronounced separately as /e/ and /i/, but these letters stand for the /ae/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading their, they have to remember to pronounce the letters ‘ei’ as /ae/.
- Tell students that when writing their, they have to remember to spell the /ae/ sound with the letters ‘ei’.
- Point to the word their as you say the following sentence, “Kids get their presents on their birthdays.” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word their in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word their on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall.

Possessive Pronouns

- Explain to students that the Tricky Word they is a subjective pronoun and their is a possessive pronoun. Tell students that a possessive pronoun shows ownership. For example: Their mother is here. Provide a list of possessive pronouns (my, mine, your, yours, our, ours, her, hers, his, their, theirs, its).
- Write the following sentences on the board and read them aloud: Clara and Ken couldn’t wait to go visit their grandmother. They spent all day packing their suitcases.
- Have a volunteer underline the possessive pronouns. Have another volunteer circle the subjective pronoun.
- When students talk and write about the story “Cake and Grapes” later in this lesson, encourage them to correctly use possessive pronouns in their writing and speaking.

Check for Understanding

As students Turn and Talk, circulate through the room, listening for correct pronunciation and grammatically correct use of Tricky Words they and their.

Lesson 9: /ae/ > 'a_e'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

- ✚ Students will read previously taught Tricky Words. TEKS K.2.B.iv
- Students will read single-syllable words with the 'a' and 'a_e' spellings; and will
- ✚ choose the word that correctly matches a picture. TEKS K.2.B.ii

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)

Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English “play by the rules” and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not “play by the rules” are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students, even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Review at least fifteen of the Tricky Words taught in Units 8 and 9: all, from, funny, was, here, no, once, said, so, there, to, were, what, when, where, which, why, word, he, she, we, be, me, they, their.
- Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

MATCH THE PICTURE (15 MIN.)

- Remind students they recently learned the sound /ae/ as in cake.
- Have students say the /ae/ sound several times.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ae/ sound: pain, say, ape, lace, shake, hay, ache.
- Write the spelling 'a_e' on the board/chart paper, and have students write the spelling in the air using their pointer fingers.

➤ Digital Component 9.2

- Distribute and display Activity Page 9.1.
- Point out the two words below each picture.
- Read the two words below the first picture together as a class.
- Have students identify the word matching the picture.
- Ask students to circle the word in the box matching the picture.

PROGRESS MONITORING (OPTIONAL)

- Copy the Word Cards for Progress Monitoring 2 (Activity Page TR 10.2) and cut out the words. You may want to use one set of words to assess each student, or make each student a set to use for flash card practice.
- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 10.3 (Record Sheet for Progress Monitoring 2) for each student.
- Follow the procedure in Lesson 7.
- Scoring is based on one point assigned for every sound-spelling in a word which is read correctly. Interpret scores as follows:
 - 9 or 10 points—excellent
 - 7 or 8 points—good
 - 5 or 6 points—fair
 - Less than 5 points—poor
- Goal: Achieve scores of good or excellent (7 points or higher).
- Scores of 6 or less indicate additional reteaching and reinforcement is required from Additional Support and the Unit 10 Pausing Point.

Oral Segmenting

- The expectation is you will demonstrate the tapping and segmenting. You may discontinue the teacher demonstration when students no longer need this support.
- Follow the instructions in Lesson 1. Model for students how to substitute a syllable to the word daydream/daytime using the routine described in the Introduction. (day•dream/day•time)

1. cup•cake (3+3) /k/ /u/ /p/ • /k/ /ae/ /k/
2. sea•gull (2+3) /s/ /ee/ • /g/ /u/ /l/
3. day•dream (2+4) /d/ /ae/ • /d/ /r/ /ee/ /m/
4. shoe•lace (2+3) /sh/ /oo/ • /l/ /ae/ /s/
5. grape•fruit (4+4) /g/ /r/ /ae/ /p/ • /f/ /r/ /oo/ /t/
6. nick•name (3+3) /n/ /i/ /k/ • /n/ /ae/ /m/
7. sun•burn (3+3) /s/ /u/ /n/ • /b/ /er/ /n/
8. home•work (3+3) /h/ /oe/ /m/ • /w/ /er/ /k/
9. wedd•ing (3+2) /w/ /e/ /d/ • /i/ /ng/

- Guide students in adding a syllable using the routine in the Introduction for seagull/seashell, homework/classwork (sea•gull/sea•shell; home•work/class•work).

TEKS K.2.A Demonstrate phonological awareness by: (iv) identifying syllables in spoken words; (vi) segmenting multisyllabic words into syllables; (ix) manipulating syllables within a multisyllabic word; (x) segmenting spoken one-syllable words into individual phonemes; TEKS K.2.C.ii demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words using sound-spelling patterns.

Prior to blending the third word, talk to students about the word cupcake. Hold up either a cupcake or a picture of a cupcake and ask a student to provide the word cupcake.

Segment the word cup, asking students to repeat, then segment the word cake, asking students to repeat. Follow by segmenting the full word cupcake, asking students to repeat. Repeat the process with the pictures for grapefruit, sunburn, and wedding. Proceed with blending the words.

Observation: Oral Segmenting Observation Record

Call on different students to segment each word. Note students' performance in the Oral Segmenting Observation Record.

INTRODUCE THE SOUND /IE/ (10 MIN.)

Tongue Twister

- Tell students the sound is /ie/.
- Have students say the /ie/ sound several times, stretching it out.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ie/ sound at the beginning: item, idea, ivy, ice, island.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ie/ sound in the middle: hide, mine, light, fine, bite.
- Ask students if they can tell whether /ie/ is a vowel sound or a consonant sound. (It is a vowel sound, made with an open mouth.)
- Have students close their eyes and listen as you read the following tongue twister: I'd like ninety-five slices of lime pie.

Check for Understanding

Read the tongue twister a second time, having students raise their hands whenever they hear the /ie/ sound. Break the tongue twister into segments and read it again, having students repeat each segment back to you: I'd like (pause) ninety-five (pause) slices of (pause) lime pie.

INTRODUCE THE SPELLING /IE/ → 'I_E' (10 MIN.)

Start on the dotted line.

1. short line down (lift)
2. dot (leave a space)

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. line across
2. most of a circle to the left

Point at the 't' from underneath with your pointer finger. Then move your pointer finger under the 'i' and, at the same time, move your middle finger so you have a 'V' with your pointer finger pointing at the 'i' and your middle finger pointing at the 'e'. For 'm', return to single-finger pointing.

Teacher Modeling

- Tell students you are going to show them how to write the /ie/ sound.
- Tell students this spelling is similar to the spelling they learned for the /ae/ sound.
- Write a large lowercase 'i_e' on the board/chart paper, being sure to indicate a space between the letters with a short line (as shown). Tell students both letters work together to stand for the sound /ie/.
- Point out the space you left between the letter 'i' and the letter 'e'. Explain that when you write an actual word, you will fill in the space between the 'i' and the 'e' with a letter for the sound that comes after the /ie/ sound.
- Add 't' and 'm' to make time. (You may wish to use three different colors: the color that you used for the 'i_e' spelling, a second color for 't', and a third color for 'm'.)
- Explain that, at first, students might think this is /t/ /i/ /m/ /e/ (timm-eh), but the letters 'i' and 'e' work together (as a letter team) to stand for one sound, the /ie/ sound, even though there is a letter between them. Thus, the word is time.
- Illustrate this relationship by drawing a V-shaped mark connecting the 'i' and the 'e' (see illustration).
- Point out that even though the word time contains four letters ('t', 'i', 'm', and 'e'), it is made up of only three sounds (/t/, /ie/, and /m/).
- Have students write the word in the air with a pointed finger while saying the sounds.
- Write fine on the board/chart paper. Explain this is another example of the 'i'-space-'e' spelling for the /ie/ sound.
- Draw a V-shaped mark under fine as you did with time.
- Tell students you would like them to help you spell another word with the 'i_e' spelling.
- Have students identify the first sound in bite. Write a 'b' on the board/chart paper.

- Have students identify the second sound in bite. Write an 'i' on the board/chart paper next to the 'b'. Explain the letter 'i' is the first part of the spelling for /ie/. Tell students you will write the second part after you write the letter of the sound that comes after the /ie/ sound.
- Have students identify the last sound in bite. Write a 't' on the board/chart paper next to the 'i'. Explain that if you left the word like this, it would be pronounced bit. To spell bite, you need to finish the spelling for the /ie/ sound.
- Ask students what letter must be written beside the 't' in order to complete the /ie/ sound. Once the letter 'e' has been identified, write an 'e' on the board/chart paper.
- Remind students 'i' and 'e' work together to stand for the /ie/ sound.
- Tell students that whenever the spelling 'i_e' appears on an activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in darker, bolder ink to remind them the two letters stand for one sound.

MEET THE SPELLING ACTIVITY PAGE (15 MIN.)

➤ Digital Component 11.1

- Distribute and display Activity Page 11.1.
- Show students how to read the word time; then have students trace and write the word using the black dots to start each letter. Repeat with the word shine.
- Turn to the back of the activity page. Ask students to read each word, identify the matching picture, and write the word on the corresponding line. Model each step so students can follow along.
- If you wish, you may suggest students circle the separated digraph using a horseshoe shape, as described in the Introduction.

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “A Fine Hike” with purpose and understanding; and will answer oral literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about key details of the story. TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.B; TEKS K.5.G

INTRODUCE THE STORY (5 MIN.)

Preview Spellings

- Before reading the story, refer to the Preview Spellings chart you prepared in advance, underlining the targeted spelling in each word. Read the words aloud as a class.

➤ Digital Component 11.2

/ee/ > ‘ee’	/ae/ > ‘a_e’	/ie/ > ‘i_e’ sleep	lake	hike
three	makes	Clive miles five fire nine
		smile

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Before reading today’s story, preview the following vocabulary with students.

hike—n., a long walk (18)

Example: The Miller family took a long hike through the woods on Saturday.

mile—n., a measurement of distance; 5,280 feet (18)

Example: Emily only needed six minutes to run a mile.

➤ TEKS K.2.B.ii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge using letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words; TEKS K.5.B Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance; TEKS K.5.G Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they will read a story about a camping trip. Tell students to pay special attention to the story so they can tell you where Scott, Clive, and Clive’s dad set up their tent.

READ “A FINE HIKE” (15 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 2: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading “A Fine Hike.” Students who finish early should reread the stories “Skates” and “Fun in the Sand.” You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. They should not read ahead.

Group 1: Have students follow along in their Readers as one student at a time reads from “A Fine Hike.” Read the story a second time, having other students read. If you have time, read “Skates” and “Fun in the Sand” in the same fashion. Alternatively, you may use a different remediation exercise addressing students’ specific needs.

Observation: “A Fine Hike” Anecdotal Reading Record (Group 1)

As you listen to each student read, make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Wrap-Up

Discussion Questions for “A Fine Hike”

1. Literal. Where do Scott, Clive, and Clive’s dad set up their tent?
 - » They set up the tent at the top of the hill.
2. Literal. How many fish do Scott and Clive catch?
 - » Scott and Clive catch five fish.
3. Inferential. How do you think Dad cooked the hot dogs?
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
4. Inferential. What do Scott, Clive, and Clive’s dad do at nine?
 - » Accept reasonable answers based on the text and illustrations.
5. Inferential. Why do you think that Scott, Clive, and Clive’s dad were tired?
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
6. Evaluative. Think-Pair-Share. Ask your partner a question about “A Fine Hike.”
7. Are there any questions you have to help clarify your understanding of the story?

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 549 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 566 of those words would be completely decodable.

Students have now been taught at least one way to write 33 of the 44 sounds in English.

The sound /ie/ is the 27th most common sound in English.

The sound /ie/ is found in approximately 9 percent of English words.

The sound /ie/ is spelled 'i_e' approximately 34 percent of the time.

The spelling alternatives 'i' as in behind, 'igh' as in sigh, 'ie' as in pie, 'y' as in shy, 'y_e' as in style, and 'ye' as in bye are taught in later grades.

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English “play by the rules” and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not “play by the rules” are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students that even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Review at least fifteen of the Tricky Words taught in Units 8 and 9: all, from, funny, was, here, no, once, said, so, there, to, were, what, when, where, which, why, word, he, she, we, be, me, they, their.
- Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

COMPLETE THE SENTENCES (15 MIN.)

- Remind students that they learned a new sound and spelling in the previous lesson.
- Ask students to provide the sound they learned in the previous lesson. Once the /ie/ sound has been identified, have the class repeat it.
- Have a student come to the board/chart paper and write the spelling for the /ie/ sound. Ask students to write the spelling in the air using their pointer fingers.

➤ Digital Component 12.2

- Distribute and display Activity Page 12.1.
- Point out the three words printed at the top of the activity page. Each of these words completes one of the sentences printed below.
- Ask students to read all three words.
- Demonstrate reading the first sentence three times: once with the word bike, once with the word likes, and once with the word cake.
- Ask students which word completes the sentence.
- Have students print the word likes on the line provided, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

- Tell the student with the 'e' card that they are holding the magic letter 'e'.
- Tell students that if they are holding a card with a sound that is in bit, they should go to the front of the room and stand in the order that spells bit.
- Tell students you are a magician. When you say, "Alakazam!" the student with the 'e' card should add it to the end of bit to change the word's vowel sound and make a new word.
- Say "Alakazam!" and have the student with the 'e' card add it to the end of bit, changing bit to bite.
- Have the class read the new word.
- Repeat this process with the remaining word pairs, giving several students a chance to present the magic 'e' card.

Tricky Word: My

- Write the Tricky Word my on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may say /m/ /y/.)
- Tell students we actually pronounce this word /m/ /ie/ as in, "That is my hat."
- Circle the letter 'm' and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /m/.
- Underline the letter 'y' and explain that this letter makes up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect this letter to be pronounced as /y/, but this letter stands for the /ie/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading my, they have to remember to pronounce the letter 'y' as /ie/.
- Tell students that when writing my, they have to remember to spell the /ie/ sound with the letters 'y'.

- Point to the word my as you say the following sentence, “I eat my lunch outside when it’s sunny.” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word my in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word my on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall.

Check for Understanding

As students Turn and Talk, circulate through the room, listening for correct pronunciation and grammatically correct use of Tricky Word my.

Lesson 13: “The Bike Ride” Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Bike Ride” with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about key details of the story. TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.B; TEKS K.5.G

- Review the use of the apostrophe as an indication of ownership (i.e., possessive). Students will also encounter an apostrophe used for the contraction let’s.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they will read a story about Scott and his sister, Meg. Tell students to pay special attention to the story so they can tell you what Scott and Meg are doing in the story.

READ “THE BIKE RIDE” (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 2: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading “The Bike Ride.” Students who finish early should reread the stories “A Fine Hike” and “Skates.” You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages. Students should not read ahead.

Group 1: Have students follow along in their Readers as students read one at a time from “The Bike Ride.” Read the story a second time, having students read. If you have time, read “A Fine Hike” and “Skates” in the same fashion. Alternatively, you may use a different remediation exercise that addresses students’ specific needs.

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)
Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English “play by the rules” and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not “play by the rules” are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students that even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Review he, she, me, be, we, they, and their, plus eight Tricky Words from previous units.
- Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

INTRODUCE TRICKY WORD: BY (5 MIN.)

- Write the Tricky Word by on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may say /b/ /y/.)
- Tell students we actually pronounce this word /b/ /ie/ as in, “The soap is by the sink.”
- Circle the letter ‘b’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /b/.
- Underline the letter ‘y’ and explain that this letter makes up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect this letter to be pronounced as /y/, but this letter stands for the /ie/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading by, they have to remember to pronounce the letter ‘y’ as /ie/.
- Tell students that when writing by, they have to remember to spell the /ie/ sound with the letter ‘y’.
- Point to the word by as you say the following sentence, “A deer ran by us on our hike.” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word by in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word by on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall

Check for Understanding

As students Turn and Talk, circulate through the room, listening for correct pronunciation and grammatically correct use of Tricky Word by.

WIGGLE CARDS (10 MIN.)

- Use the cards you prepared in advance.
- Tell students you are going to show them some cards describing actions; you would like them to read each card and perform the action listed.
- Show students a card, have them read it, and let them perform the action.
- If you have time, repeat some or all of the cards.

Vocabulary Type	Tier 3 Domain-Specific Words	Tier 2 General Academic Words	Tier 1 Everyday Speech Words
Core Vocabulary			rent
Multiple-Meaning Core Vocabulary Words			strip
Sayings and Phrases

Note: You may also wish to point out that the word strip has multiple meanings, such as a strip of paper. In today’s story, which is about an airplane, it has the meaning previously noted.

Review the use of the apostrophe as an indication of ownership (i.e., possessive). Students will also encounter an apostrophe used for the contractions that’s, it’s, and what’s.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they will read a story about a plane ride. Ask students to pay special attention to the story so they can tell you who rents a plane.

READ “THE PLANE RIDE” (15 MIN.)

Partner Reading

- Ask students to sit with their partners and take turns reading “The Plane Ride.”
- Encourage students who finish early to reread the stories “The Bike Ride” and “A Fine Hike,” but discourage them from reading ahead. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages.

Observation: “The Plane Ride” Anecdotal Reading Record

Circulate around the room and listen to pairs of students read. As you listen to each student read, make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Reading

Exchanging Information and Ideas

Beginning

Ask yes/no questions using simple phrases: “Does Scott’s dad ask Scott and Meg to ride a plane?” “Can the kids see lots of things from the plane?”

Intermediate

When asking each question, provide students with a specific sentence frame: “When Scott looks out of the plane, he sees . . .”

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to expand and/or build on student responses.

TRICKY WORD PRACTICE (15 MIN.)

- Distribute Activity Page 16.2.
- Tell students they will practice writing Tricky Words.
- Write they on the board/chart paper and have students read it.
- Have students copy they onto the first handwriting guide on the activity page (see Illustration 1). They should say the name of each letter as they copy the word.

- Erase the word they from the board/chart paper.
- Have students fold their activity page along the dotted line and position it so the word they copied is facing the desk and the blank handwriting guides are facing up (see Illustration 2).
- Have students write they from memory on the top handwriting guide (see Illustration 3). They should say the name of each letter as they write the word.
- Tell students to unfold their activity pages and compare the word they just wrote with the word they copied earlier (see Illustration 4).
- Have students correct the word if needed.

INTRODUCE THE SOUND /OE/ (10 MIN.)

Hear Medial Sounds

- Tell students today's sound is /oe/. This is the sound we make when we are surprised or when we have just remembered something: "Oh!"
- Have students say the /oe/ sound several times, stretching it out.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /oe/ sound at the beginning: open, oak, only, own, ocean.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /oe/ sound in the middle: bone, road, boat, goat, tone.
- Ask students if /oe/ is a vowel sound or a consonant sound. (It is a vowel sound, made with an open mouth.)
- Tell students you are going to say a number of words. Some of the words will have /oe/ as the middle sound and some will not.

- | | | |
|---------|---------|-----------|
| 1. rose | 5. note | 9. foot |
| 2. take | 6. home | 10. phone |
| 3. soap | 7. lock | 11. block |
| 4. boot | 8. goat | 12. show |

Check for Understanding

Have students close their eyes and listen carefully. Tell students to raise their hands when they hear a word containing the /oe/ sound.

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. circle to the left (leave a space)

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. line across
2. most of a circle to the left

INTRODUCE THE SPELLING /OE/ → 'O_E' (10 MIN.)

Teacher Modeling

- Tell students you are going to show them how to write the /oe/ sound.
- Tell students this spelling is similar to the spellings they learned for the /ae/ sound and the /ie/ sound.

Using your right hand, point at the 'r' from underneath with your pointer finger. Then move your pointer finger under the 'o' and, at the same time, move your middle finger so you have a 'v' with your pointer finger pointing at the 'o' and your middle finger pointing at the 'e'. For 'd', return to single-finger pointing.

- Write a large lowercase 'o_e' on the board/chart paper, being sure to indicate the space between the letters with a short line (as shown). Tell students both letters work together to stand for the sound /oe/.
- Point out you left a space between the letter 'o' and the letter 'e'. Explain when you write an actual word, you will fill in the space between the 'o' and the 'e' with a letter for the sound that comes after the /oe/ sound.
- Add 'r' and 'd' to make rode. (You may wish to use three different colors of chalk: the color you used for the 'o_e' spelling, a second color for 'r', and a third color for 'd'.)
- Tell students they might think this is /r/ /o/ /d/ /e/ (rodd-eh), but the letters 'o' and 'e' work together (as a letter team) to stand for one sound, the /oe/ sound, even though there is a letter between them. Thus, the word is rode.
- Illustrate this relationship by drawing a V-shaped mark connecting the 'o' and the 'e' (see illustration).
- Point out that even though the word rode contains four letters ('r', 'o', 'd', and 'e'), it is made up of only three sounds (/r/, /oe/, and /d/).
- Have students write the word in the air with a pointed finger while saying the sounds.
- Write note on the board/chart paper. This is another example of the 'o'-space-'e' spelling for the /oe/ sound.
- Draw a V-shaped mark under note as you did with rode.
- Tell students you would like them to help you spell another word with the 'o_e' spelling.
- Have students identify the first sound in hope. Write an 'h' on the board/chart paper.
- Have students identify the second sound in hope. Write an 'o' on the board/chart paper next to the 'h'. Explain the letter 'o' is the first part of the spelling for /oe/. Tell students you will write the second part after you write the letter for the sound coming after the /oe/ sound.
- Have students identify the last sound in hope. Write a 'p' on the board/chart paper next to the 'o'. Explain if you left the word like this, it would be pronounced hop. To spell hope, you need to finish writing the /oe/ sound.
- Ask students what letter must be written beside the 'p' in order to complete writing the /oe/ sound. Once the letter 'e' has been identified, write an 'e' on the board/chart paper.

- Remind students 'o' and 'e' work together to stand for the /oe/ sound.
- Tell students whenever the spelling 'o_e' appears on an activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in darker, bolder ink to remind them the two letters stand for one sound.

MEET THE SPELLING ACTIVITY PAGE (15 MIN.)

➤ Digital Component 17.1

- Distribute and display Activity Page 17.1.
- Show students how to read the word home; then have students trace and write the word using the black dots to start each letter. Repeat with the word stone.
- Turn to the back of the activity page. Ask students to read each word, identify the matching picture, and write the word on the corresponding line. Model each step so students can follow along.
- If you wish, you may suggest students circle the separated digraph using a horseshoe-like shape, as described in the Introduction.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 572 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 577 of those words would be completely decodable.

Students have now been taught at least one way to write 34 of the 44 sounds in English.

The sound /oe/ is the 28th most common sound in English.

The sound /oe/ is found in approximately 9 percent of English words.

The sound /oe/ is spelled 'o_e' approximately 16 percent of the time.

The spelling alternatives 'oe' as in toe, 'ow' as in know, 'oa' as in oat, 'o' as in no, 'ough' as in dough, and 'ou' as in shoulder are taught in later grades.

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

- Students will read previously taught Tricky Words. TEKS K.2.B.iv

Students will read single-syllable words with the 'ee', 'a_e', 'i_e', and 'o_e' spellings and will choose the correct word to “fill in the blank” in a series of sentences.

- TEKS K.2.B.ii

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)

Tricky Word Review

- Remind students that most words in English “play by the rules” and are pronounced exactly the way you would expect, but some do not. Words that do not “play by the rules” are called Tricky Words.
- Remind students, even in a Tricky Word, some parts are pronounced just as you would expect. Usually, only one or two letters are tricky.
- Review previously taught Tricky Words using the Word Wall or the digital version, following established procedures. Review he, she, me, be, we, they, and their, plus eight Tricky Words from previous units.
- Be sure to point out that the tricky parts of each word are underlined.

COMPLETE THE SENTENCES (15 MIN.)

- Remind students they learned a new sound and a spelling for the sound in the previous lesson.
- Identify the /oe/ sound by referring to the Sound Poster.
- Write the spelling students learned for the /oe/ sound. Have students write the spelling in the air using their pointer fingers.

➤ Digital Component 18.2

- Distribute and display Activity Page 18.1.
- Show students the three words printed at the top of the activity page. Each of these words completes one of the sentences printed below.
- Ask students to read the first word.
- Read the remaining two words together.
- Demonstrate reading the first sentence three times: once with the word hope, once with the word made, and once with the word time.
- Ask students which word completes the sentence.
- Have students print the word time on the line provided, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

REREAD “THE GIFT” (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns rereading “The Gift.” Students who finish early should reread the stories “The Plane Ride” and “The Bike Ride.” They should not read ahead. You may also wish to assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages.

Group 2: Have students follow along in their Readers as one student at a time reads from “The Gift” without interruption. Read the story a second time, having other students read aloud. If you have time, read “The Plane Ride” and “The Bike Ride” aloud.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they will read a story about Scott selling something. Tell students to pay special attention to what Scott sells at his snack stand.

READ "SCOTT'S SNACK STAND" (15 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 2: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading "Scott's Snack Stand." Students who finish early should reread the stories "The Sled Ride" and "The Gift." They should not read ahead. You may also assign any of the optional vocabulary activity pages.

Group 1: Have students follow along in their Readers as one student reads a paragraph at a time from “Scott’s Snack Stand” without interruption. Read the story a second time, having other students read aloud. If you have time, read “The Sled Ride” and “The Gift” in the same fashion. Alternatively, you may complete a different remediation exercise addressing students’ specific needs.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

In this lesson, you will introduce the sound /ue/ as in cute. Note that /ue/ needs to be pronounced as /ue/, not /oo/: compare feud and food, use and ooze. Note also /ue/ is actually a sound combination consisting of two sounds, /y/ and /oo/. It is taught here as if it were one sound because it is often written using single-letter spellings like 'u' as in user and spelling units like 'u_e' as in cube. There is no need to explain this to the class, but if a student notices /ue/ consists of two sounds, you can confirm this.

Sound/Spelling Review

- Review the letter sounds and names using established procedures.
- Review the 'a_e' spelling by holding up the 'a' card with your right hand and the 'e' card with your left hand, leaving a space between the cards. Do the same with the 'i' card and the 'e' card to review the 'i_e' spelling and the 'o' card and the 'e' card to review the 'o_e' spelling.

Large Letter Cards

Observation: Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record

Call on different students to provide the letter name and letter sound for each Large Letter Card. Note students' performance in the Letter Name and Letter Sound Observation Record.

INTRODUCE THE SOUND /UE/ (10 MIN.)

Hearing Medial Sounds

- Tell students today's sound is /ue/.
- Have students say the /ue/ sound several times, stretching it out.
- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ue/ sound at the beginning: you, use, unit, Utah.

TEKS K.2.B.i Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by identifying and matching the common sounds that letters represent; TEKS K.2.D.v Demonstrate print awareness by identifying all uppercase and lowercase letters; TEKS K.2.A.x Demonstrate phonological awareness by: segmenting spoken one-syllable words into individual phonemes; TEKS K.2.C.ii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words using sound-spelling patterns.

- Ask students to repeat a number of words having the /ue/ sound in the middle: cube, cute, fuse, fuel, huge, mule.
- Ask students whether they can tell if /ue/ is a vowel sound or a consonant sound. (It is a vowel sound, made with an open mouth.)
- Tell students you are going to say a number of words. Some of the words will have /ue/ as the middle sound and some will not.

- | | |
|----------------|----------------|
| 1. tame | 6. cube (/ue/) |
| 2. cute (/ue/) | 7. room |
| 3. mule (/ue/) | 8. huge (/ue/) |
| 4. run | 9. cone |
| 5. feud (/ue/) | 10. soon |

Check for Understanding

Have students close their eyes and listen carefully. Ask students to raise their hands when they hear a word containing the /ue/ sound. Students should raise their hands for any word with the /ue/ sound. Remember that this is an oral exercise for students, so the different spellings are of no importance.

Start at the dotted line.

1. cup
2. short line down (leave a space)

Start between the dotted and the bottom line.

1. line across
2. most of a circle to the left

INTRODUCE THE SPELLING /UE/ › 'U_E' (10 MIN.)

Teacher Modeling

- Tell students you are going to show them how to write the /ue/ sound.
- Explain that this spelling is similar to the spellings they learned for the /ae/ sound, the /ie/ sound, and the /oe/ sound.
- Write a large lowercase 'u_e' on the board/chart paper, being sure to leave a space between the letters. Explain that both letters work together to stand for the sound /ue/.
- Point out you left a space between the letter 'u' and the letter 'e'. Tell students when you write an actual word, you will fill in the space between the 'u' and the 'e' with a letter for the sound that comes after the /ue/ sound.

- Add 'c' and 't' to make cute. (You may wish to use three different colors: the color that you used for the 'u_e' spelling, a second color for 'c', and a third color for 't'.)
- Tell students they might think this is /k/ /u/ /t/ /e/ (cut-eh), but the letters 'u' and 'e' work together (as a letter team) to stand for one sound, the /ue/ sound, even though there is a letter between them. Thus, the word is cute.
- Illustrate this relationship by drawing a V-shaped mark connecting the 'u' and the 'e' (see illustration).
- Point out even though the word cute contains four letters ('c', 'u', 't', and 'e'), it is made up of only three sounds (/k/, /ue/, and /t/).
- Have students write the word in the air with a pointed finger while saying the sounds.
- Write mule on the board/chart paper. Explain this is another example of the 'u'-space-'e' spelling for the /ue/ sound.
- Draw a V-shaped mark under mule as you did with cute.
- Tell students you would like them to help you spell another word with the 'u_e' spelling.
- Have students identify the first sound in cube. Write a 'c' on the board/chart paper.
- Have students identify the second sound in cube. Write a 'u' on the board/chart paper next to the 'c'. Explain the letter 'u' is the first part of the spelling for /ue/. Tell students you will write the second part after you write the sound that comes after the /ue/ sound.
- Have students identify the last sound in cube. Write a 'b' on the board/chart paper next to the 'u'. Explain if you left the word like this, it would be pronounced cutb. To spell cube, you need to finish writing the /ue/ sound.
- Ask students what letter must be written beside the 'b' in order to complete the /ue/ sound. Once the letter 'e' has been identified, write an 'e' on the board/chart paper.
- Remind students 'u' and 'e' work together to stand for the /ue/ sound.
- Tell students whenever the spelling 'u_e' appears on an activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in darker, bolder ink to remind them the two letters stand for one sound.

Using your right hand, point at the 'c' from underneath with your pointer finger. Then move your pointer finger under the 'u' and, at the same time, move your middle finger so you have a 'V' with your pointer finger pointing at the 'u' and your middle finger pointing at the 'e'. For 't', return to single-finger pointing.

MEET THE SPELLING ACTIVITY PAGE (15 MIN.)

➤ Digital Component 22.1

- Distribute and display Activity Page 22.1.
- Show students how to read the word cute; then have students trace and write the word using the black dots to start each letter. Repeat with the word use.
- Turn to the back of the Activity Page. Ask students to read each word, identify the matching picture, and then write the word on the corresponding line. Model each step so students may follow along.
- If you wish, you may suggest students circle the separated digraph using a horseshoe-like shape, as described in the Introduction.

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING

Fill in the Consonants

- Distribute the following Large Letter Cards: 'u', 'e', 'd', 'n', 'c', 't', 'm', 'l', 'b', 's', 'h', 'g', and 'f'.
- Have the two students with the 'u' and 'e' cards come to the front of the room, stand far enough apart so that another student can fit between them, and hold their cards up for all to see.
- Call out the following words to students, one a time.

- | | | |
|---------|----------|----------|
| 1. dune | 4. tube | 7. fuse |
| 2. cute | 5. tunes | 8. fumes |
| 3. mule | 6. huge | 9. flute |

- Ask the students with the consonants that are used to spell each word come to the front and position themselves so that the word is spelled correctly.
- Choose two new students to come to the front and hold the 'u' and 'e' cards for each new word.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 577 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students attempted to read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 584 of those words would be completely decodable.

The students have now been taught at least one way to write 35 of the 44 sounds in English.

The sound /ue/ is the 36th most common sound in English.

The sound /ue/ is found in approximately 2 percent of English words.

The sound /ue/ is spelled 'u_e' approximately 19 percent of the time.

The spelling alternatives 'u' as in pupil, 'ue' as in cue, and 'ew' as in few are taught in later grades.

LARGE CARD CHAINING (15 MIN.)

Large Letter Cards

- Remind students they learned a new sound and a spelling for the sound in the previous lesson. The new sound is /ue/.
- Write the spelling for the /ue/ sound. Have students write the spelling in the air using their pointer fingers.
- Write an example word containing the spelling 'u_e' on the board/chart paper (e.g., cute).
- Remind students they also recently learned to write the vowel sounds /ae/, /ie/, and /oe/ using the spellings 'a_e', 'i_e', and 'o_e'.
- Write an example word containing each spelling on the board/chart paper (e.g., cake, bike, and hope).
- Distribute and review the following Large Letter Cards: 'm', 'n', 't', 'c', 'k', 's', 'p', 'b', 'l', 'h', 'i', 'e', 'a', 'u', and 'o'.
- Tell students if they are holding a card with a sound in cut, they should go to the front of the room and stand in the order spelling cut.
- If necessary, help students to stand in the correct order.
- Once the word has been spelled correctly, say, "If this is cut, show me cute."
- Students should rearrange themselves to make the new word.
- Continue this process until all of the words in the first chain have been spelled.
- Have students trade cards.
- Complete the remaining chains.

Tricky Word: You

- Write the Tricky Word you on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may try to say /y/ /o/ /u/, which is hard to pronounce.)
- Tell students that we actually pronounce this word /ue/ as in, “You are nice.”
- Circle the letter ‘y’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /y/.
- Underline the letters ‘o’ and ‘u’ and explain these letters make up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect these letters to be pronounced separately as /o/ /u/, but these two letters work together to stand for the /oo/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading you, they have to remember to pronounce the letters ‘o’ ‘u’ as /oo/.
- Tell students that when writing you, they have to remember to spell the /oo/ sound with the letters ‘o’ ‘u’.
- Point to the word you as you say the following sentence, “If you help me, I’ll help you.” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word you in an oral sentence.

- Write the Tricky Word you on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall.

Tricky Word: Your

- Write the Tricky Word your on the board/chart paper and ask students how they would pronounce it by blending. (They may try to say /y/ /o/ /u/ /r/, which is hard to pronounce.)
- Explain that we actually pronounce this word /y/ /or/ as in, “This is your piece of pie.”
- Circle the letter ‘y’ and explain it is pronounced just as one would expect, as /y/.
- Underline the letters ‘o’, ‘u’, and ‘r’ and explain these letters make up the tricky part of the word. Students would probably expect these letters to be pronounced separately as /o/ /u/ /r/, but these three letters work together to stand for the /or/ sound.
- Tell students that when reading your, they have to remember to pronounce the letters ‘o’ ‘u’ ‘r’ as /or/.
- Tell students that when writing your, they have to remember to spell the /or/ sound with the letters ‘o’ ‘u’ ‘r’.
- Point to the word your as you say the following sentence, “Is that your dog?” Ask students to Turn and Talk, using the word your in an oral sentence.
- Write the Tricky Word your on a yellow card and add it to the Tricky Word Wall.

Possessive Pronouns

- Explain to students that the Tricky Word you is a subjective pronoun and your is a possessive pronoun. Tell students that a possessive pronoun shows ownership. For example: Your cat is black. Provide a list of possessive pronouns (my, mine, your, yours, our, ours, her, hers, his, their, theirs, its).
- Write the following sentences on the board and read them aloud: You have a big dog. Is that bird also yours?
- Have a volunteer underline the possessive pronoun. Have another volunteer circle the subjective pronoun.
- When students talk and write about the story “In the Pet Shop” later in this lesson, encourage them to correctly use possessive pronouns in their writing and speaking.

Check for Understanding

As students Turn and Talk, circulate through the room, listening for correct pronunciation and grammatically correct use of Tricky Words you and your.

- Gather sets of board game letter tiles, or write letters on small tiles.
- Provide each student with the following letters: ‘a’, ‘b’, ‘c’, ‘e’, ‘g’, ‘h’, ‘i’, ‘l’, ‘n’, ‘o’, ‘p’, ‘r’, ‘s’, ‘t’, ‘u’.
- Call out the words in the box, one at a time, and have students spell the words using the tiles.

1. cub	5. can	9. cut
2. cube	6. cane	10. cute
3. slop	7. grip	11. shin
4. slope	8. gripe	12. shine

PROGRESS MONITORING (OPTIONAL)

- Copy the Word Cards for Progress Monitoring 4 (Activity Page TR 24.2) and cut out the words. You may want to use one set of words to assess each student, or make each student a set to use for flash card practice.
- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 24.3 (Record Sheet for Progress Monitoring 4) for each student.
- Follow the procedure in Lesson 7.
- Scoring is based on one point assigned for every sound-spelling in a word which is read correctly. Interpret scores as follows:
 - 9 or 10 points—excellent
 - 7 or 8 points—good
 - 5 or 6 points—fair
 - Less than 5 points—poor
- Goal: Achieve scores of good or excellent (7 points or higher).
- Scores of 6 or less indicate additional reteaching and reinforcement is required from Additional Support and the Unit 10 Pausing Point.

WIGGLE CARDS (5 MIN.)

- Tell students you are going to show them some cards describing actions; you would like them to read each card and perform the action listed.
- Show students a card, have them read it, and let them perform the action.

YES/NO QUESTIONS (15 MIN.)

> Digital Component 25.1

- Distribute and display Activity Page 25.1.
- Ask students to read the first question.
- Ask students if the answer to the question is yes or no.
- Have students write no on the line provided, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

TRICKY WORD PRACTICE (15 MIN.)

- Distribute Activity Page 25.2.
- Tell students they will practice writing Tricky Words.
- Write you on the board/chart paper and have students read it.

- Have students copy you onto the first handwriting guide on the activity page (see Illustration 1). They should say the name of each letter as they copy the word.

- Erase the word you from the board/chart paper.
- Have students fold their activity page along the dotted line and position it so the word they copied is facing the desk and the blank handwriting guides are facing up (see illustration 2).
- Have students write you from memory on the top handwriting guide (see illustration 3). They should say the name of each letter as they write the word.
- Tell students to unfold their activity pages and compare the word they just wrote with the word they copied earlier (see illustration 4).
- Have students correct the word if needed.
- Repeat these steps with the remaining Tricky Words.

- Explain that three Tricky Words are printed at the top of the activity page. Each of these Tricky Words completes one of the sentences printed below.
- Ask students to read the first Tricky Word.
- Read the remaining two Tricky Words.
- Demonstrate reading the first sentence three times: once with the Tricky Word so, once with the Tricky Word no, and once with the Tricky Word your.
- Ask students which Tricky Word completes the sentence.
- Have the students print the Tricky Word no on the line provided, following your example.
- Complete the remaining sentences in the same fashion.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

The End-of-Year Student Performance Assessment is provided in Lessons 26–28.

Parts 1A and 1B: Word Reading Assessment: Part 1A is an assessment of students' ability to read decodable words. Part 1B assesses students' ability to read Tricky Words. Part 1 should be administered to the entire class simultaneously.

Part 2: Sound Writing Assessment assesses knowledge of spelling-sound correspondences. Given a sound, students must write the corresponding spelling. This section should also be administered to the entire class simultaneously in Lesson 27.

Part 3: Letter Sounds Assessment also assesses knowledge of letter-sound correspondences. Given a spelling, students must provide the corresponding sound. This section should be administered to students who miss 6 or more of the 20 (total) items on Parts 1A and 1B and/or 4 or more of the 15 items on Part 2. This section should be administered on an individual basis as time permits and/or during the Pausing Point.

Optional Assessments

Part 4: Writing Lowercase Letters Assessment: In Unit 8, students were asked to recognize and circle each lowercase letter as it was pronounced. Part 4 now assesses students' ability to write each letter of the alphabet in lowercase form as the letter names are pronounced. This section should be administered to the entire class simultaneously if used. This optional assessment should be considered a progress-monitoring tool (Lesson 28).

Part 5: Uppercase Letter Names Assessment is also an optional assessment for which students are asked to recognize and circle each uppercase letter as it is pronounced. If given, this section should be administered to the entire class simultaneously (Lesson 28).

Record the results of this End-of-Year Student Performance Assessment on the Kindergarten End-of-Year Summary (Activity Page 26.3). This can be given to Grade 1 teachers along with each student's assessment information from Unit 8.

Reading

➤ Digital Component 26.1

- Create the Preview Spellings chart (Digital Component 26.1) for Introduce the Story on the board/chart paper, or use the digital version.
- Plan to pair students for partner reading in today's lesson.

PARTS 1A AND 1B: WORD READING ASSESSMENT (25 MIN.)

Administration

Note: This section of the assessment is to be administered to all students simultaneously. It should take approximately 15 minutes.

- Distribute Activity Pages 26.1 and 26.2.
- Tell students you are going to say a number of words.
- Explain that for each word you say, there are four words printed on the activity page; students should circle the word you say.
- Read the words listed here one at a time, pausing between words so students are able to circle the target word. You may repeat each word one time. Do not elongate or segment the words.

PART 2: SOUND WRITING ASSESSMENT (15 MIN.)

Administration

Note: This section of the assessment is to be administered to all students simultaneously. It should take approximately 10 minutes.

- Distribute Activity Page 27.1.
- Tell students you are going to say a number of sounds; they should write the spelling for each sound you say.
- Say the sounds, not the words, listed here one at a time, pausing between sounds so students have enough time to write each spelling. Repeat each sound only once. Do not elongate the sound.

- | | | |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1. /ch/ (as in chin) | 6. /w/ (as in wag) | 11. /o/ (as in hop) |
| 2. /e/ (as in pet) | 7. /a/ (as in hat) | 12. /ng/ (as in sing) |
| 3. /h/ (as in hat) | 8. /v/ (as in vet) | 13. /j/ (as in jump) |
| 4. /sh/ (as in shop) | 9. /qu/ (as in quit) | 14. /r/ (as in red) |
| 5. /th/ (as in thin) | 10. /i/ (as in it) | 15. /u/ (as in but) |

Scoring

Score the Part 2 assessment prior to Student Performance Assessment, Part 3. Record results on the Sound Writing Assessment Summary Sheet located in Teacher Resources. Also record results on Activity Page 26.3 for each student.

PART 3: LETTER SOUNDS ASSESSMENT

Administration

Note: Time has not been specifically allocated during this lesson to administer this assessment. It can be administered either at times during the day when other students are working independently or during the Pausing Point.

This section of the assessment should be administered to individual students who miss 6 or more of the 20 (total) items on Parts 1A and 1B of the Word Reading Assessment and/or 4 or more of the 15 items on the Sound Writing Assessment. You will need to administer this portion of the assessment over the course of the remaining Unit 10 lessons.

- The Part 3: Letter Sounds Assessment student testing sheet is located in Teacher Resources. Place the sheet in front of the student.
- Tell the student you are going to show them some spellings; he or she should say the sound each spelling represents.
- Point to the spellings one at a time, pausing between spellings to give the student a chance to respond. Use Activity Page 27.4 to record the student’s responses. For each spelling the student pronounces incorrectly, write an ‘x’ on the corresponding line.

Scoring

Record each student’s score on the Letter Sounds Assessment Summary Sheet located in Teacher Resources and on Activity Page 26.3.

GUESS MY WORD (10 MIN.)

- Set up the pocket chart.
- Arrange cards for the following vowel spellings along the top of the pocket chart: 'i,' 'e,' 'a,' 'u,' 'o'.
- Arrange cards for the following consonant spellings along the bottom of the pocket chart: 'm,' 'n,' 't,' 'c,' 's,' 'l'.
- Tell students you are thinking of a decodable word with a separated digraph you can build with these spellings. (See box below for possible words.)
- Tell students how many sounds are in your word.
- Have students guess your word by asking whether or not it contains specific sounds and/or spellings.
- If students identify a spelling in the word, move the spelling to the middle of the pocket chart.
- Continue until the word has been spelled in the center of the pocket chart.
- Repeat with additional words.

Foundational Literacy Skills

Prior to blending the first word, talk to students about the word dentist. Hold up a picture of a dentist and tell students that the name for this person is dentist. Segment the first syllable, den-, asking students to repeat, then segment the second syllable, -tist, asking students to repeat. Follow by segmenting the full word dentist, asking students to repeat. Repeat the process with the pictures for rainbow and scarecrow. Proceed with blending the words.

ELPS 2.A; ELPS 2.E

- Tell students you are a magician. When you say, “Alakazam!” the student with the ‘e’ card should add it to the end of cut to change the word’s vowel sound and make a new word.
- Say “Alakazam!” and have the student with the ‘e’ card add it to the end of cut, changing cut to cute.
- Have the class read the new word.
- Repeat this process with the remaining word pairs.

- | | |
|---------------|----------------|
| 1. cut—cute | 6. tot—tote |
| 2. cub—cube | 7. bit—bite |
| 3. hop—hope | 8. pal—pale |

| 5. quit—quite | 10. slim—slime |

Lesson 29: “Lunch Trades” Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “Lunch Trades” with purpose and understanding; will answer written questions about key details of the story; and will draw an illustration with a caption, depicting part of the story.

 TEKS K.2.B.ii; TEKS K.5.G; TEKS K.6.E

REREAD “LUNCH TRADES” (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Have students take out their Readers, sit with their partners, and take turns reading “Lunch Trades” aloud to one another. Students who finish early should reread the stories “The Skiff Ride” and “The Cave.” They should not read ahead. You may wish to assign an optional vocabulary activity page.

Group 2: Have students follow along in their Readers as one student at a time reads aloud a paragraph from “Lunch Trades.” Read the story a second time, having students read aloud. If you have time, reread “The Skiff Ride” and “The Cave” in the same fashion.

 TEKS K.2.B.ii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge using letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words; TEKS K.5.G Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance; TEKS K.6.E Interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing.

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- Reconvene the whole class and distribute and display Activity Page 29.1.
- Ask students to read the first question.
- Ask students for the answer to the first question.
- Have students write the decodable answer on the line provided, following your example: Ham is in Dave’s lunch bag.
- Ask students to read the second question.
- Ask students to identify the correct answer.
- Have students shade the circle next to the correct answer, following your example.
- Direct students to complete the last question independently.
- Once students have completed the questions, have them illustrate a part of the story in the box provided and write a caption on the line provided.

RECOGNIZE AND ISOLATE THE SOUNDS TAUGHT IN UNIT 10

Sound Off

- Tell students you are going to read a story containing a number of examples of the /ee/ sound. The /ee/ sound can be at the beginning, in the middle, or at the end of a word.
- Ask students to touch their knees whenever they hear the /ee/ sound.
- Read the story sentence by sentence, making an effort to emphasize the /ee/ sound whenever it occurs

Once there was an evil queen. She was very, very mean. The mean queen had a sweet son named Dean. He was only thirteen. The mean queen made Dean eat so many peas that his teeth turned an ugly shade of green!

- Follow the same procedure for the /oe/ sound.

Hope wrote a note to her pal Moe. The note said, "Moe, won't you come home with me for a meal of sloppy joes?" Moe wrote a note back. It said, "No, Hope, I won't. Sloppy joes are so yummy! But I have to go home to shovel snow."

Sound Riddles

- Tell students you are going to say some riddles, each of which has an answer containing the target sound.

/ie/

1. I'm thinking of something very cold and very sweet that melts when you take it out of the freezer. (ice cream)
2. I'm thinking of something having two wheels and two pedals. A lot of kids like to ride this. (bike)
3. I'm thinking of a round dessert that has crust and can be made with cherries, pumpkin, or blueberries. (pie)
4. I'm thinking of the number that comes after four. (five)
5. I'm thinking of the opposite of day. (night)
6. I'm thinking of something that brightens up a room when you turn it on. (light)
7. I'm thinking of the opposite of left. (right)
8. I'm thinking of something you might do when you are very sad. (cry)
9. I'm thinking of the woman who wears a white dress at a wedding. (bride)
10. I'm thinking of what birds do with wings. (fly)

/ae/

1. I'm thinking of a sweet dessert that usually has frosting. You might eat this on your birthday. (cake)
2. I'm thinking of something a lot like a pond, only bigger. (lake)
3. I'm thinking of a letter that stands for the /j/ sound. ('j')
4. I'm thinking of water that falls from clouds. (rain)
5. I'm thinking of something that you play at recess. (game)
6. I'm thinking of the part of the body that has eyes, nose, and mouth. (face)
7. I'm thinking of a long animal that slithers. This animal has no legs. (snake)
8. I'm thinking of a letter that stands for the /k/ sound. ('k')
9. I'm thinking of the opposite of early. (late)
10. I'm thinking of the opposite of love. (hate)

/ue/

1. I'm thinking of a letter that stands for the /u/ sound. ('u')
2. I'm thinking of a shape having six square sides. (cube)
3. I'm thinking of a make-believe animal that looks like a horse with one horn. (unicorn)
4. I'm thinking of a word that means the opposite of me. (you)
5. I'm thinking of a word that often describes puppies and kittens. This word means almost the same thing as adorable. (cute)
6. I'm thinking of an animal that is a mix between a horse and a donkey. (mule)

/ee/

1. I'm thinking of something covering most trees. (leaves)
2. I'm thinking of something we plant when we want to grow a flower. (seed)
3. I'm thinking of the number that comes after two. (three)
4. I'm thinking of something we use to lock or unlock a door. (key)
5. I'm thinking of the color of grass. (green)
6. I'm thinking of something we do at night. (sleep or dream)
7. I'm thinking of a farm animal that says, "Baa, baa!" (sheep)
8. I'm thinking of something we do when we are hungry. (eat)
9. I'm thinking of what we use our eyes to do. (see)
10. I'm thinking of something that has a trunk, branches, and leaves. (tree)

RECOGNIZE THE SPELLINGS TAUGHT IN UNIT 10

How Many Sounds?

- Distribute and display Activity Page PP.1.
- Remind students that some spellings are digraphs (letter teams), which means they are made up of more than one letter.
- Ask students to tell you the first sound in the first word.
- Complete the remaining sounds in the same fashion.
- Ask students how many sounds are in the word smile.
- Have students write the number 4 in the box, following your example.

- Have students copy smile on the handwriting guidelines, following your example.
- Complete the remaining words in the same fashion.

Highlight Digraphs

- Write a number of decodable words containing the digraphs taught in this unit on a sheet of paper.
- Ask students to read the words and highlight the letters of each digraph.
- Have students connect the separated digraphs with a V-shaped mark.

MORE HELP READING DIGRAPHS

Teacher Chaining

- Write nine on the board/chart paper.
- Ask a student to read the word, first in a segmented fashion and then blended.
- Remove the first 'n' and add 'l' to create line.
- As you make this change, say, "If that is nine, what is this?"
- Continue this process to complete the chains.

1. nine > line > lime > time > tame > name > nape > nap > tap > tape
2. cute > cube > cub > cab > cat > fat > fate > date > late > lane
3. line > shine > shin > sheen > teen > ten > men > man > mane > mine
4. pipe > ripe > rip > sip > sick > tick > tim > time > dime > dome
5. base > chase > case > cape > cope > hope > rope > role > hole > pole

Wiggle Cards

- Follow the procedure in Lesson 6.

- | | |
|------------------|-----------------------|
| 1. munch cake | 8. run a mile |
| 2. chase pals | 9. smell a rose |
| 3. ride a bike | 10. hiss like a snake |
| 4. doze off | 11. shake hands |
| 5. slap five | 12. smile |
| 6. stare at pal | 13. be a plane |
| 7. stand in line | 14. rub your nose |

Word Collections

- Write decodable words containing the sound pairs /e/ and /ee/, /a/ and /ae/, /i/ and /ie/, /o/ and /oe/, or /u/ and /ue/ on cards, one word per card. The difference in their spellings should only be the added 'e'. For example, for the /a/—/ae/ pair, make cards with words such as rat and rate, pan and pane, and mat and mate.
- Label two boxes or paper bags with the spellings 'a' and 'a_e'.
- Ask students to read the words on the cards and say if the words contain the /a/ sound or the /ae/ sound.
- Have students place the word cards in the appropriate containers.

Mark the Sentence

- Distribute and display Activity Page PP.2.
- Ask students to read the first sentence.
- Ask students to read the second sentence.
- Ask the class which of the first two sentences matches the first picture.
- Have students shade the circle next to the matching sentence, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

Connect It

- Have students complete Activity Page PP.3.

Word Recognition with Phrases

- Distribute and display Activity Page PP.4.
- Point to the first row of phrases, and tell the class you are going to say one of the two phrases.
- Say the phrase a red flame.
- Ask the class which of the two phrases spells a red flame.
- Once the class has answered correctly, have the students circle the phrase a red flame, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

- | | | |
|------------------|-------------------|--------------------|
| 1. a red flame | 5. bees in a hive | 9. a lot of feed |
| 2. she runs in | 6. you and Mom | 10. the green lime |
| 3. pass the cone | 7. wake him up | 11. shade of red |
| 4. the bikes | 8. they are cute | 12. on this side |

Vowel Switch

- Distribute and display Activity Page PP.5.
- Ask students to read the first word.
- Ask students to read the second word.
- Ask students which of the first two words matches the first picture.
- Have students circle the matching word, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

MORE HELP WITH TRICKY WORDS

Colored Flashcards

- Print decodable words on green flashcards and Tricky Words on yellow flashcards.
- Explain that the words printed on green paper are regular and can be read via blending. Green means go!
- Explain that the words printed on yellow paper are tricky. Yellow means proceed with caution.
- Shuffle the cards and have students read them one at a time.

Tricky Words:

- | | |
|----------------|-----------------|
| 1. he | 7. their |
| 2. she | 8. my |
| 3. we | 9. by |
| 4. be | 10. you |
| 5. me | 11. your |
| 6. they | 12. once |

Possible Decodable Words:

- | | |
|----------|-----------|
| 1. see | 12. made |
| 2. take | 13. came |
| 3. like | 14. keep |
| 4. three | 15. gave |
| 5. make | 16. ate |
| 6. home | 17. green |
| 7. name | 18. sleep |
| 8. tree | 19. close |
| 9. seem | 20. fine |
| 10. use | 21. hope |
| 11. five | 22. ride |

Match Maker

- Write the Tricky Words taught so far on small cards, one word per card, two cards for each word.
- Shuffle the cards and lay them face down on the table.
- Have students turn over two cards at a time, attempting to find matching cards.
- If a student finds a match, he or she keeps the cards.
- Let the game continue until all matches have been found.

Tricky Word Beanbag Toss

- Write the Tricky Words taught in this unit on cards. Place them faceup on the floor.
- Hand a beanbag to a student and explain he or she should toss the beanbag towards the cards.
- Have the student read the Tricky Word card the beanbag hits or lands near.

Tricky Word Clues

- On the board/chart paper, write three to six Tricky Words taught in this program.
- Choose one word and then give students clues about the word.
- Clues could include the number of letters in the word, the first and/or last letter in the word, and what part of the word is tricky.
- Once students have found the right word, ask them to use it in a sentence.

Handwriting Activity Pages with Tricky Words

- Distribute Activity Pages PP.23, PP.24, and PP.25.
- Have students trace and copy the Tricky Words.
- Have students underline the tricky part of each Tricky Word.

Activity Pages
PP.23 – PP.25

- On the back of each activity page are the same words as on the front. The back is more difficult because only starting dots are provided.

INDEPENDENT READING

Self-Select Text

Materials: Classroom Library

- Explain that sometimes students read assigned books in groups, but sometimes they have the opportunity to choose reading materials to read on their own. Tell students that they can make good choices about books by thinking carefully about what they are interested in.
- Gather three or four books of different levels and genres from the classroom library. Display the titles, and call students' attention to the pictures on the cover. Say, "Some of these books look more interesting to me than others. These two are about _____ and _____. They both sound interesting! I'll look at the words and pictures in both books before I choose one."
- Have students self-select a book and tell why they chose it. TEKS K.4

READ DECODABLE STORIES

Practicing Reading

- Ask students to sit with their partners, take out their Readers, and take turns reading the following stories aloud to one another: "Mike's Tale," "Green Grove Glade," "The Boss," and "The King of Kites."
- Encourage students who finish early to reread stories from previous lessons.
- Students should answer questions using complete sentences.

Discussion Questions for "Mike's Tale"

1. Inferential. Where are the kids?
 - » They are in a forest or woods.
2. Literal. What is Mike's tale about?
 - » a Grump
3. Literal. What makes a snapping noise?
 - » Meg
4. Literal. Who gets scared?
 - » Dave

Discussion Questions for “Green Grove Glade”

1. Literal. Where does Dave take Scott?
 - » Green Grove Glade
2. Literal. Name some things that you can do at Green Grove Glade.
 - » swing, slide, ride
3. Literal. What does Scott tell his mom about Green Grove Glade?
 - » It was fun.

Discussion Questions for “The Boss”

1. Inferential. What is a glare?
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
2. Inferential. Why do Meg and Scott glare at each other?
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
3. Literal. Who gets to be the boss?
 - » Jen

Discussion Questions for “The King of Kites”:

1. Literal. What did Scott make?
 - » a kite
2. Literal. Describe what Scott’s kite looks like.
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
3. Inferential. What parts does a kite need to have?
 - » Accept reasonable answers.
4. Literal. Where do Scott and Dave go to fly the kite?
 - » to the lake

- Ask students to read the four sentences on Activity Page PP.15 and then copy or paste the sentences onto Activity Page PP.16 in the correct sequence.
- Have students illustrate each sentence.

MORE HELP READING AND SPELLING WORDS WITH DIGRAPHS

Large Card Chaining

- Distribute the following Large Letter Cards, reviewing each card’s sound as you pass it out: ‘m’, ‘n’, ‘t’, ‘d’, ‘c’, ‘k’, ‘f’, ‘s’, ‘b’, ‘l’, ‘r’, ‘w’, ‘sh’, ‘i’, ‘e’, ‘a’, ‘u’, ‘o’, and ‘ee’.
- Tell students if they are holding a card with a picture of a sound in life, they should go to the front of the room and stand in the order spelling life.
- If necessary, help students establish the correct order.
- Once the word has been spelled correctly, say, “If that is life, show me like.”
- Students should rearrange themselves to make the new word.
- Continue this process until all of the words in the first chain have been spelled.
- Proceed to the next chain.

1. life > like > bike > bake > make > made > wade > wide > tide > side
2. did > dad > deed > feed > seed > seem > seek > peek > leek > meek
3. hat > fat > fate > rate > date > late > mate > mute > cute > cube
4. rode > ride > side > tide > time > tame > lame > lime > life > line
5. broke > brake > rake > lake > shake > shame > shade > fade > made

WRITE WORDS CONTAINING THE DIGRAPHS TAUGHT IN UNIT 10

Word Recognition

- Follow the procedure in Lesson 10, using the words in the box.

- | | | |
|---------|---------|----------|
| 1. bike | 5. has | 9. twin |
| 2. dime | 6. my | 10. ripe |
| 3. fin | 7. site | 11. win |
| 4. like | 8. they | 12. she |

Chaining Dictation

- Distribute and display Activity Page PP.17.
- Direct students' attention to the first word, and ask students if any of them know what letters need to be written on the lines to make cute.
- Have students write a 'u' on the first line and an 'e' on the second line, following your example.
- Continue demonstrating until students are ready to work independently.

- | | |
|---------|-----------|
| 1. cute | 6. bike |
| 2. cut | 7. bake |
| 3. but | 8. wake |
| 4. bit | 9. woke |
| 5. bite | 10. choke |

Dictation with Words

- Tell students to take out a pencil and a piece of paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of words for them to write.

- Say the word cube. Then segment the word, raising one finger for each sound: /k/ (raise thumb) . . . /ue/ (raise pointer finger) . . . /b/ (raise middle finger).
- Ask students how many sounds are in the word cube.
- Draw three lines on the board/chart paper—one for each sound in cube. Have students do the same on their paper.
- Remind students the /ue/ sound is spelled with two letters, so a fourth line is needed. Draw a fourth line on the board/chart paper, and have students do the same on their paper.
- Ask students for the first sound in cube. Fill in the first line on the board/chart paper with the letter 'c', and have students do the same on their paper.
- Ask students for the second sound in cube. Fill in the second line on the board/chart paper with the letter 'u', and have students do the same on their paper. Remind students that the letter 'u' is the first part of the spelling for /ue/. Tell the class you will write the second part after you write the letters for the sound coming after the /ue/ sound.
- Ask students for the third sound in cube. Fill in the third line on the board/chart paper with the letter 'b', and have students do the same on their paper. Explain if you left the word like this, it would be pronounced cub. To spell cube, you need to finish writing the /ue/ sound.
- Ask students what letter must be written on the fourth line in order to complete the picture of the /ue/ sound. Once the letter 'e' has been identified, fill in the fourth line on the board/chart paper with the letter 'e', and have students do the same on their paper.
- Model reading the word as a strategy for double-checking its spelling.
- Demonstrate this process with at least one or two additional words before having students write the words independently.
- Remind students to refer to the Sound Posters to aid in remembering how to write the spellings.

WRITE PHRASES OR SENTENCES

Making Phrases

- Write decodable nouns, decodable adjectives, and the Tricky Words he, she, we, be, me, they, their, my, by, you, and your on cards, one word per card.
- Have students create phrases with these cards.
- Then have students copy the phrases on paper.

Dictation with Sentences

- Provide students with a pencil and paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of sentences. There will be statements, questions, and exclamations. Be sure to use the proper intonation when reading the sentences. (Select sentences from the list below.)
- Tell students to write each sentence you say.

- For each sentence you say, hold up one finger for each word.
- Ask students to count the words and then draw a line on their paper for each word they hear with a finger space between the lines.
- Once students have drawn the lines, ask them to write each word, sound by sound. Finally, ask students to read the sentence back to you.
- Remind students to refer to the Sound Posters to aid in remembering how to write the spellings.

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. What a cute dog! | 11. Time to wake up! |
| 2. The drapes are green. | 12. Is this your plate? |
| 3. Get them some rope! | 13. What a shame! |
| 4. She sits by Mike. | 14. Where are my sheep? |
| 5. Am I late? | 15. My mom made me a cake. |
| 6. I will take nine limes. | 16. Jake needs his things. |
| 7. We rode the bus home. | 17. Did she smash the dish? |
| 8. That's a fine fish! | 18. The fumes smell bad! |
| 9. He likes their bikes. | 19. The mole dug a hole. |
| 10. When will we plant the seeds? | 20. What time is it? |

Sentence Strips

- Choose sentences from the Scott Reader that can be illustrated and copy them onto slips of paper. Place the slips of paper in your pocket chart.
- Have students choose a sentence to copy and illustrate.

Making Questions, Exclamations, and Statements

- Write decodable nouns, decodable adjectives, and decodable verbs on cards, one word per card. Make sure some of these words contain separated digraphs. Write the Tricky Words he, she, we, be, me, they, their, my, by, you, and your on cards, one word per card. Also, make cards with question marks, exclamation points, and periods.
- Have students create questions, exclamations, and statements with these cards.
- You may have students copy the sentences on paper.

ENRICHMENT PASSAGES

The following enrichment passages may be used as additional practice and extension opportunities for students who are progressing in the core instruction, successfully learning the sound-spelling patterns, and able to read the decodable text accurately.

The content of these enrichment passages is blended, consisting of approximately 50% decodable words. The passages introduce students to applying foundational (word recognition) skills in more complex, content-area text.

Students who are successfully mastering the code can often generalize these skills to multisyllabic words and sound-spelling patterns that have not yet been taught.

You may wish to preview text vocabulary and/or support some students by using partner reading, choral reading, or small group reading.

The American Flag

The U.S. flag is a very special and important symbol for America. It is red, white, and blue. The flag has fifty stars, and each star stands for one of our states. It also has thirteen stripes to remember the first thirteen colonies. When we see the flag, it helps us feel proud and reminds us of how much we love our country. We wave the flag and show it at special times, like Fourth of July, to celebrate America.

Comprehension Questions

1. What colors are on the U.S. flag? (red, white, blue)
2. How many stars are there, and what do they mean? (fifty stars, one for each state in the United States)

Texas and the Presidents

Some U.S. Presidents have special ties to Texas. President Dwight D. Eisenhower was born in Texas, but he moved away when he was very young. President Lyndon B. Johnson lived in Texas for a long time. President George H.W. Bush and his son, President George W. Bush, also made Texas their home. Texas has been an important state to several presidents.

Comprehension Questions

1. Which presidents were father and son? (George H.W. Bush and George W. Bush)
2. What are some kinds of connections presidents have had with the state of Texas? (They have been born there and lived there.)

Businesses

Do you know what a business is? It is when people make or sell things, like when you have a lemonade stand. You decide how much to sell the lemonade for. Businesses help people by giving them things they need or want.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is a business? (a place for people to make or sell things)
2. Can you think of something you would like to sell? (Answers may vary, but students should name an object or service that could be sold by a business.)
3. How do businesses help people? (Businesses help people by providing things they need or want.)

The Pledge of Allegiance

Have you heard the Pledge of Allegiance? Maybe you say it each morning in your classroom. The Pledge of Allegiance is a little like a speech. People usually say it aloud together. It was written long ago, in the 1800s. We say the pledge to show that we love our country.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Pledge of Allegiance?
2. What is one place where people say the Pledge of Allegiance?
3. Why do people say the Pledge of Allegiance?

The U.S. Constitution

Have you heard of the Constitution? It is a very special set of rules for our country. It was written a long time ago. Just like you have rules at school, the Constitution has rules for everyone in the United States. It helps keep us happy and safe.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Constitution? (a set of rules)
2. Why do we have the Constitution? (It helps keep us happy and safe.)
3. When was the Constitution written? (a long time ago)

The Declaration of Independence

Have you heard of the Declaration of Independence? It is a very special document. It was written a long time ago to tell the world that our country wanted to be free. The people who wrote it said that everyone should have the chance to be happy and free.

Comprehension Questions:

1. What is the Declaration of Independence? (a special document)
2. Why was it written? (to help people have the chance to be happy and free)
3. What did the people want when they wrote it? (for our country to be free)

DOLCH FLASH CARD FAMILY LETTER

Name _____

Dear Family Member,

In this unit, your student will continue to learn new words from the Dolch Sight Word List.

Your student will be taught to read the following new words as Tricky Words: he, she, we (Lesson 3), be, me (Lesson 5), they, their (Lesson 8), my (Lesson 13), by (Lesson 15), you, and your (Lesson 23.) You are being provided with flash cards that include the new words learned in this unit. Your student should already be able to read all of the other words on the flash cards successfully at the beginning of this unit.

Please have your student cut out the flash cards. In order to build increasingly rapid, automatic recognition of these words, show the cards to your student in random order and have them read them to you as quickly as possible several times each week.

DOLCH WORD ASSESSMENT RECORD: BEGINNING AND END OF UNIT 10

Student Name: _____

Instructions: This is an optional assessment of words from the Dolch Sight Word List. At the beginning of Unit 10, show the student the Dolch Word List which follows this record. Ask them to read each word from the list, proceeding in order from top to bottom. (Alternatively, you may use information from the end of Unit 9 Dolch word assessment.)

Provide the student with either a blank sheet of paper or card stock to place on the word list page directly under the row they are reading. As he or she completes a row, they should slide the paper down just enough to read the next row.

Record the student's performance on each word in the chart below, using + to indicate that the word was read correctly and – to indicate the word was read incorrectly; if the student misreads a completely different word in its place, record the word read by the student. Mark as incorrect any word that the student does not read within 3–5 seconds.

Repeat this assessment at the end of Unit 10.

ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION OF THE END-OF-YEAR ASSESSMENT

The Unit 10 End-of-Year Student Performance Assessment is a multipart assessment of skills students have learned in the program. More specifically, the End-of-Year Student Performance Assessment requires that students identify decodable words as the teacher reads them aloud, identify Tricky Words as the teacher reads them aloud, and write spellings corresponding to sounds the teacher pronounces aloud. It is imperative that you clearly identify and document individual students' weaknesses to assist students' Grade 1 teachers in their planning for the following school year. To be successful in Grade 1, students must have mastered the basic code for the short vowel and consonant sounds and be able to apply this knowledge to blend and read words of three to five sounds. Students should also be able to recognize and read the Tricky Words taught in Kindergarten.

This set of assessment results, combined with those from Unit 8, provide a student record that will be invaluable to each student's Grade 1 teacher.

It is important that teachers be cognizant of the possible losses and gains in skills that may result over the summer hiatus. For example, some students may experience a "summer learning loss" in skills, whereas other students may experience gains in their skills due to extracurricular summer experiences (e.g., private tutoring, summer camps, and other programs provided by the community). Although the student record provides valuable information that Grade 1 teachers may use for planning purposes, it will nonetheless be crucial that Grade 1 teachers complete a comprehensive placement assessment with each entering Grade 1 student.

Interpreting Assessment Scores
Word Recognition
If student scores...	Recommendation
18–20 correct Word Reading	This student has OUTSTANDING preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
16 or 17 correct on Word Reading	This student has STRONG preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
14 or 15 correct on Word Reading	This student has ADEQUATE preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
13 or less on Word Reading	This student has QUESTIONABLE preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
Sound Writing
If student scores...	Recommendation
14 or 15 correct on Sound Writing	This student has OUTSTANDING preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
12 or 13 correct on Sound Writing	This student has STRONG preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
11 correct on Sound Writing	This student has ADEQUATE preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction.
10 or less on Sound Writing	This student has QUESTIONABLE preparation for Grade 1 Skills instruction. Bring this student's performance to the attention of the teacher for the next school year.

Generally you will find the following applies to most students. If a student scores:

- in the OUTSTANDING or STRONG range on Word Reading and/or Sound Writing, the student is ready for instruction using Grade 1 materials.
- in the ADEQUATE or QUESTIONABLE range on Word Reading and/or Sound Writing, the student may not be ready for instruction using Grade 1 materials without rigorous intervention.
- If a student's scores indicate the need for the administration of the Letter Sound assessment, this is another indicator the student may not be ready for instruction using Grade 1 materials.

Word Recognition +	Sound Writing =	Grade 1 Readiness

In the Pet Shop

Scott is in a pet shop.
He spots a chimp in a pen.
The chimp hangs from a branch. Then he jumps up on a big red cube and grins at Scott.

Scott sings a tune to the chimp. The chimp waves back. Scott likes the chimp, and the chimp seems to like him!

Correlation—Teacher’s Guide

(1) Developing and sustaining foundational language skills: listening, speaking, discussion, and thinking—oral language. The student develops oral language through listening, speaking, and discussion. The student is expected to:

TEKS K.1.A	listen actively and ask questions to understand information and answer questions using multi-word responses
TEKS K.1.B	restate and follow oral directions that involve a short, related sequence of actions
TEKS K.1.C	share information and ideas by speaking audibly and clearly using the conventions of language;
TEKS K.1.D	work collaboratively with others by following agreed-upon rules for discussion, including taking turns
TEKS K.1.E	develop social communication such as introducing himself/herself, using common greetings, and expressing needs and wants

(2) Developing and sustaining foundational language skills: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking—beginning reading and writing. The student develops word structure knowledge through phonological awareness, print concepts, phonics, and morphology to communicate, decode, and spell. The student is expected to:

(A) demonstrate phonological awareness by:

TEKS K.2.A.i	identifying and producing rhyming words
TEKS K.2.A.ii	recognizing spoken alliteration or groups of words that begin with the same spoken onset or initial sound;
TEKS K.2.A.iii	identifying the individual words in a spoken sentence;

(1) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/learning strategies. The ELL uses language learning strategies to develop an awareness of his or her own learning processes in all content areas. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. The student is expected to:

ELPS 1.A	use prior knowledge and experiences to understand meanings in English
ELPS 1.B	monitor oral and written language production and employ self-corrective techniques or other resources
ELPS 1.C	use strategic learning techniques such as concept mapping, drawing, memorizing, comparing, contrasting, and reviewing to acquire basic and grade-level vocabulary
ELPS 1.D	speak using learning strategies such as requesting assistance, employing non-verbal cues, and using synonyms and circumlocution (conveying ideas by defining or describing when exact English words are not known)
ELPS 1.E	internalize new basic and academic language by using and reusing it in meaningful ways in speaking and writing activities that build concept and language attainment
ELPS 1.F	use accessible language and learn new and essential language in the process
ELPS 1.G	demonstrate an increasing ability to distinguish between formal and informal English and an increasing knowledge of when to use each one commensurate with grade-level learning expectations
ELPS 1.H	develop and expand repertoire of learning strategies such as reasoning inductively or deductively, looking for patterns in language, and analyzing sayings and expressions commensurate with grade-level learning expectations

ELPS 2.B	recognize elements of the English sound system in newly acquired vocabulary such as long and short vowels, silent letters, and consonant clusters
ELPS 2.C	learn new language structures, expressions, and basic and academic vocabulary heard during classroom instruction and interactions
ELPS 2.D	monitor understanding of spoken language during classroom instruction and interactions and seek clarification as needed

ELPS 2.F	listen to and derive meaning from a variety of media such as audio tape, video, DVD, and CD-ROM to build and reinforce concept and language attainment
ELPS 2.G	understand the general meaning, main points, and important details of spoken language ranging from situations in which topics, language, and contexts are familiar to unfamiliar	U10: p. 21, U10: p. 42, U10: p. 62, U10: p. 81, U10: p. 101, U10: p. 110, U10: p. 141, U10: p. 160, U10: p. 180, U10: p. 197, U10: p. 208, U10: p. 226, U10: p. 244, U10: p. 262, U10: p. 272, U10: p. 284
ELPS 2.H	understand implicit ideas and information in increasingly complex spoken language commensurate with grade-level learning expectations
ELPS 2.I	demonstrate listening comprehension of increasingly complex spoken English by following directions, retelling or summarizing spoken messages, responding to questions and requests, collaborating with peers, and taking notes commensurate with content and grade-level needs
ELPS 3.A	practice producing sounds of newly acquired vocabulary such as long and short vowels, silent letters, and consonant clusters to pronounce English words in a manner that is increasingly comprehensible
ELPS 3.B	expand and internalize initial English vocabulary by learning and using high-frequency English words necessary for identifying and describing people, places, and objects, by retelling simple stories and basic information represented or supported by pictures, and by learning and using routine language needed for classroom communication
ELPS 3.C	speak using a variety of grammatical structures, sentence lengths, sentence types, and connecting words with increasing accuracy and ease as more English is acquired
ELPS 3.D	speak using grade-level content area vocabulary in context to internalize new English words and build academic language proficiency
ELPS 3.E	share information in cooperative learning interactions
ELPS 3.F	ask and give information ranging from using a very limited bank of high-frequency, high-need, concrete vocabulary, including key words and expressions needed for basic communication in academic and social contexts, to using abstract and content-based vocabulary during extended speaking assignments

For kindergarten and grade 1, certain of these student expectations apply to text read aloud for students not yet at the stage of decoding written text. The student is expected to:
ELPS 4.A	learn relationships between sounds and letters of the English language and decode (sound out) words using a combination of skills such as recognizing sound-letter relationships and identifying cognates, affixes, roots, and base words
ELPS 4.C	develop basic sight vocabulary, derive meaning of environmental print, and comprehend English vocabulary and language structures used routinely in written classroom materials
ELPS 4.D	use prereading supports such as graphic organizers, illustrations, and pretaught topic-related vocabulary and other prereading activities to enhance comprehension of written text
ELPS 4.E	read linguistically accommodated content area material with a decreasing need for linguistic accommodations as more English is learned
ELPS 4.F	use visual and contextual support and support from peers and teachers to read grade-appropriate content area text, enhance and confirm understanding, and develop vocabulary, grasp of language structures, and background knowledge needed to comprehend increasingly challenging language
ELPS 4.G	demonstrate comprehension of increasingly complex English by participating in shared reading, retelling or summarizing material, responding to questions, and taking notes commensurate with content area and grade level needs	U10: p. 21, U10: p. 62, U10: p. 81, U10: p. 101, U10: p. 110, U10: p. 141, U10: p. 160, U10: p. 180, U10: p. 197, U10: p. 208, U10: p. 226, U10: p. 244, U10: p. 262, U10: p. 272, U10: p. 284

ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in writing. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. For kindergarten and grade 1, certain of these student expectations do not apply until the student has reached the stage of generating original written text using a standard writing system. The student is expected to:
ELPS 5.A	learn relationships between sounds and letters of the English language to represent sounds when writing in English
ELPS 5.B	write using newly acquired basic vocabulary and content-based grade-level vocabulary
ELPS 5.C	spell familiar English words with increasing accuracy, and employ English spelling patterns and rules with increasing accuracy as more English is acquired
ELPS 5.D	edit writing for standard grammar and usage, including subject-verb agreement, pronoun agreement, and appropriate verb tenses commensurate with grade-level expectations as more English is acquired
ELPS 5.E	employ increasingly complex grammatical structures in content area writing commensurate with grade level expectations such as (i) using correct verbs, tenses, and pronouns/antecedents; (ii) using possessive case (apostrophe -s) correctly; and, (iii) using negatives and contractions correctly
ELPS 5.F	write using a variety of grade-appropriate sentence lengths, patterns, and connecting words to combine phrases, clauses, and sentences in increasingly accurate ways as more English is acquired
ELPS 5.G	narrate, describe, and explain with increasing specificity and detail to fulfill content area writing needs as more English is acquired

Introduction

UNIT 7 OVERVIEW

Vowel Spellings

In this unit, you will continue to teach the advanced code, but you will now turn from spelling alternatives for consonant sounds to spelling alternatives for vowel sounds.

Vowel spellings are the trickiest part of the English spelling code. Most vowel sounds can be spelled several different ways. This means that vowel sounds are hard to spell. For example, to spell the sound /ae/, a student has to not only be able to hear the /ae/ sound but also select the correct spelling from several alternatives.

It is no wonder that many students struggle to decode vowel spellings when reading—and struggle even more mightily to spell vowel sounds when writing. The difficulty is embedded in the English writing system. However, the orderly and systematic way in which the vowel spellings are introduced in this unit and in later grades will help students cope with the complexity of English vowel spellings and lead to significantly stronger reading and spelling skills.

Spelling Alternatives

In this unit, the focus is on two of the so-called “long” vowel sounds, /ae/ and /oe/. Students will review the basic code spelling for each sound and then learn common spelling alternatives:

- /ae/ spelled ‘a_e’ (review), ‘ai’, ‘ay’ (new)
- /oe/ spelled ‘o_e’ (review), ‘oa’ (new)

Only the most common alternatives are taught in Grade 1. Other spelling alternatives will be taught in Grade 2.

In the past, you may have taught students the well-known jingle, “When two vowels go walking, the first one does the talking.” You may be tempted to use that jingle here to explain why way and wait are pronounced with /ae/ and why boat is pronounced with /oe/. However, it is preferred that you avoid this saying. This rule is actually very unreliable. It is wrong almost as often as it is right. In addition, the rule treats vowels as letters, like ‘a’ and ‘o’, when, in fact, vowels are sounds. Finally, the walking-talking rule teaches students that they only need to pay attention to the first letter in a digraph spelling. That can cause students to misread words such as now, head, and cookie. For digraphs, one has to keep in mind that both letters work together to stand for the vowel sound.

Syllable Breaks

In this unit, as in the last unit, the use of the syllable divider to separate two-syllable words into smaller, more manageable chunks is discontinued. Please refer to the appendix at the end of this Teacher Guide for further discussion of syllabification in English if students need ongoing scaffolding.

Tricky Words

The following words are introduced as Tricky Words as they occur in the Reader: Mexico (Lesson 5), talk (Lesson 7), Hidalgo and Britain (Lesson 8), gracias (Lesson 9), Carlos (Lesson 10), and Gomez (Lesson 12).

Decodable Reader

The Reader for this unit is called Kay and Martez. It focuses on a young girl, Kay, and her friendship with a Mexican-American boy named Martez. In the second half of the Reader, Kay, Martez, and Kay's family go on a trip to Mexico. The stories incorporate Grade 1 history and geography topics from the curriculum. Please note that there is not always a new story in each lesson.

Please read the stories before assigning them to students to determine any vocabulary that might be unknown to students. Words or phrases such as zip line are decodable, but may be challenging for some students.

Note that there is no Big Book for this unit. If you feel that you need to demonstrate the stories to students, you can use the images found on the program's digital components site for this Reader.

You should continue to observe student performance, monitoring as many individual students or reading groups as possible. Each story is accompanied by a set of discussion questions in the Teacher Guide. Please discuss these questions with students orally, and encourage them to answer in complete sentences. You will also find Story Questions activity pages that require a written response in the Unit 7 Activity Book.

Grammar

The grammar lessons in this unit cover several topics: the use of conjunctions, commas, and noun-verb agreement in sentences. You will discuss the conjunctions and, but, and or and demonstrate how they are used in writing. You will also introduce commas as punctuation marks that separate items in a series.

Spelling

Weekly spelling lists and assessments continue in this unit. The spelling lists continue to be made up of words with letter-sound correspondences that students have already been introduced to in reading.

Students will also create a Dictation Journal that focuses on spelling words in isolation as well as in sentences. Spelling assessments will incorporate a phrase or sentence that students must spell correctly.

- For the dictation journal, you can either have students use a journal they use for other writing activities or you may wish to create a small dictation journal for each student. Stapling five pieces of paper together is all you will need for each journal. (1)

Writing

In this unit, you will introduce students to instructional writing. As in other units of Grade 1, students are taught a three-stage writing process. First students plan, then they draft, and then they edit. You will be asked to draw attention to these steps again as students work on these kinds of writing.

Students will also practice opinion writing in this unit. Students will learn that, when writing an opinion piece, they should state their opinion, give reasons for their opinion, and provide a conclusion for their thoughts. Students will also be encouraged to include evidence from the text to support their opinion.

UNIT 7 ASSESSMENTS

Formative Assessments and Additional Support

In addition to the weekly spelling assessments, formative assessments are clearly marked for monitoring individual student performance and progress in key skills throughout this unit. Quick “Checks for Understanding” to evaluate classroom performance as a whole are also designated in various lessons.

Careful attention to this information, collected on a daily basis, will enable teachers to quickly determine which students may benefit from reteaching and/or more practice in particular skills, using the Additional Support activities found at the end of each lesson.

Student Performance Assessment

An End-of-Year Assessment for students using the program for Grade 1 is provided, starting in Lesson 19. You should administer this year-end assessment even if students have not fully completed all units of the Grade 1 program.

If time permits, it would be ideal to administer the entire assessment to all students in your class. Administer the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment to all students. The story used in the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment will be completely decodable for students who have completed Unit 6. The assessment allows you to gauge students’ independent reading proficiency and comprehension. It also allows you to do additional follow-up assessment for students who may be struggling. You will ask all students in the class to read a story called “Shark and Wee Fish” silently and to then answer a set of multiple-choice questions about the story.

The Fluency Assessment makes use of the same story, “Shark and Wee Fish,” for assessment of reading accuracy and fluency. As you listen to individual students read the story aloud, you will make a running record and take a measurement of fluency. This section should be administered to all students who miss two or more of the seven questions on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment.

The Word Reading in Isolation Assessment is a word-reading assessment designed to test students' ability to read the specific spellings taught or reviewed in Grade 1. Ideally, you should administer this assessment to all students. However, if time is limited, you may choose to administer this assessment only to those students to whom you administered the Fluency Assessment, or to those students in your classroom who are most at risk.

You are strongly encouraged to share the results of this assessment with all students' Grade 2 teachers. A summary sheet (Activity Page 19.3) is provided that can be passed on to Grade 2 teachers with students' assessment information.

SMALL GROUP WORK

In this unit, explicit instructions are given on how to integrate small-group work. Generally, exercises for two groups are suggested, assuming that Group 1 consists of independent workers and Group 2 of students who need more support. Of course, you can subdivide your class further. Small-group work is typically suggested during story reading time. You will have the choice to (1) have both groups work on the same skill, with the independent group working on their own while the other group receives guidance from you or (2) reteach/reinforce a skill that you feel needs to be practiced more with Group 2. For reteaching/reinforcing skills, please use the Additional Support activities from relevant lessons and the Pausing Point for additional exercises and activity pages. Please keep in mind that you do not have to use the small-group configuration every time it is suggested and that you can adapt other lessons so they contain small-group work.

PAUSING POINT

An extensive listing of additional activities to teach and practice the Unit 7 skills can be found in the Pausing Point section included after the last lesson if you need to provide targeted remediation for individual or groups of students in any areas in which they performed poorly on the end-of-unit assessment.

TEACHER RESOURCES

In this section at the end of the Teacher's Guide, you will find forms and charts which may be useful, including the following:

- Anecdotal Reading Record
- Discussion Questions Observation Record
- Spelling Alternatives Observation Record

- Spelling Tree Templates
- End-of-Year Assessment Materials
- Additional Support Activity Pages
- Activity Book Answer Key

ADDITIONAL MATERIALS FOR UNIT 7

Some additional materials are needed for specific lessons of Unit 7. These materials are always listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart at the beginning of each lesson. For your convenience, a complete list of additional materials is included here. The number in parentheses indicates the first lesson in which the materials are used.

- yellow, green, and brown paper for the Spelling Trees (1)
- green markers, one per student (1)
- unruled, white index cards (1)
- red markers, one per student (3)
- chart paper (14)
- scissors and glue stick for each student (14)
- two large sticky notes of two different colors for each student (17)
- digital components: Throughout this unit and others, whenever the lesson suggests the teacher model the completion of an activity page or prepare a chart to display, you may use the digital version provided in the digital components for this unit. (2)

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Today you will introduce two spelling alternatives for the /ae/ sound. Students should already know the basic code spelling 'a_e' as in cake. In today's lesson you will review this spelling and introduce the spelling alternatives 'ai' as in wait and 'ay' as in day. The following chart shows how common each spelling is.

- Review the following spelling patterns:
 - 'ai' is generally used in initial position (aim, aid) or medial position (pail, paint) and is almost always followed by a consonant spelling. It is rarely used in final position. Notice how odd the pseudowords hai and pai look when compared to the real words aim, jail, raid, and sailor.
 - 'ay' is generally used in final position (say, pay) and rarely found in initial or medial positions. Notice how odd mayl and fayl look when compared to may, spray, and player.
 - 'ay' is the only spelling taught here that regularly falls at the end of a word.
 - The spellings 'ey' (hey), 'ea' (great), and 'eigh' (eight) are rare and will be taught in Grade 2.

Foundational Skills

- Prepare to display the Vowel Code Flip Book within view of all students; also have the Spelling Cards listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and green markers readily available.

- Create a Spelling Tree for the /ae/ vowel sound using the template provided in Teacher Resources. You should make the final tree at least 18" x 24", but even larger would be preferable. Make the branch at the bottom the longest and the branch at the top the smallest. Make two other branches, one slightly longer than the other, in between.
- Label the trunk /ae/. Label the bottom branch 'a_e', the next branch 'ai', and the third branch 'ay'. Label the smallest branch at the top "odd ducks."
- On green paper, make multiple copies of the leaf template found in Teacher Resources. Write /ae/ words such as cake, frame, game, pavement, take, brain, chain, nails, wait, aim, day, play, stay, subway, and portray on the leaves.
- On yellow paper, make multiple copies of the odd duck template found in Teacher Resources. You do not need to write words in advance on the odd ducks; just have these available during the lesson in the event a student offers a word with the /ae/ sound that doesn't fall into one of the other spelling patterns.
- A completed Spelling Tree is shown here:

- Prepare the Spelling Alternatives Observation Record provided in Teacher Resources. Over the course of the unit, be sure to ask each student to decode words with 'a_e', 'ai', and 'ay' for /ae/ (beginning in Lesson 1) and 'o_e' and 'oa' for /oe/ (beginning in Lesson 11).
- Write the following on index cards or sentence strips to use for the Wiggle Cards activity:

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. Do a rain dance. | 5. Tilt your face sideways. |
| 2. Bend at your waist. | 6. Sit down. |
| 3. Take one step to the left. | 7. Stretch your arms. |
| 4. Act like you are painting a fence. | |

Universal Access

- Bring in a mirror for students to observe their articulation of sounds.
- Bring in pictures for words listed on the Spelling Tree. Give thought in advance to any words that can be demonstrated with actions.

Foundational Literacy Skills

Direct students to the shape of your mouth when you form the /ae/ sound.

Have students look at themselves in a mirror to see what their mouth looks like when they make the sound. Have them compare this to the shape their mouth makes when they make the /a/ sound. If mirrors are not available, have student pairs face each other, first making the /ae/ sound, then /a/.

ELPS 1.B; ELPS 2.A;

ELPS 3.A

Vowel Code Flip Book Review

- Have students say the /ae/ sound several times, stretching it out.
- Turn to the Vowel Code Flip Book page 6.
- Point to the 'a_e' spelling, read the sample word (cake), and discuss the power bar.
- Write 'a_e' on the board/chart paper, along with the sample word. (cake)
- Have students turn to Individual Code Chart page 2.
- Have them locate and trace the green outline of the card and the code information for 'a_e' > /ae/ with a finger.
- Tell students they will now learn two more spellings for the /ae/ sound.
- Show students the Spelling Card for /ae/ > 'ai' (wait). Discuss the power bar and have a student read the example word. Attach the Spelling Card to the appropriate place.
- Have students outline the 'ai' vowel spelling in green marker in their Individual Code Charts.
- Follow the same procedure for the spelling 'ay' (day).
- Discuss the power bar and have a student read the example word. Attach the Spelling Card to the appropriate place.
- The spellings can be found on the following pages in the Vowel Code Flip Book and in students' Individual Code Charts.

Vowel Code Flip Book	Individual Code Chart
1. 'a_e' > /ae/ (cake) page 6	1. 'a_e' > /ae/ (cake) page 2
2. 'ai' > /ae/ (wait) page 6	2. 'ai' > /ae/ (wait) page 2
3. 'ay' > /ae/ (day) page 6	3. 'ay' > /ae/ (day) page 2

✚ TEKS 1.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables.

- Tell students that whenever the spelling 'ai' or 'ay' appears on an activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in bold type to remind them that this is a spelling they learned recently.

Check for Understanding

Write the words way, swam, stay, may, tail, map, clay, main, rain, ran, pain on the board/chart paper and read them aloud, pointing to the individual sounds as you segment the word. Ask students to raise their hand if the word has the /ae/ sound.

SPELLING TREE FOR /AE/ (10 MIN.)

- Show students the Spelling Tree and explain that you are going to use it to help them keep track of the spellings for the /ae/ sound.
- Point to the trunk labeled /ae/.
- Point to the four branches: 'a_e', 'ai', 'ay', and odd ducks. Explain that the 'a_e' branch is the longest and on the bottom, the 'ai' branch is the second longest, and the 'ay' branch is the third longest. Remind students that the smallest branch (or the one with the least open space around it) is for odd ducks.
- Shuffle the leaves and then show each leaf.
- Ask a student to read the leaf and then place it on the correct branch of the Spelling Tree.

Observation: Spelling Alternatives

Ask as many students as possible to read a word and place the leaf on the Spelling Tree. Make note of their individual ability to decode words with 'ai' and 'ay' for /ae/ in the Spelling Alternatives Observation Record.

WIGGLE CARDS (5 MIN.)

- Using the cards you prepared in advance, show students a Wiggle Card, have them read it, and let them perform the action on the card.
- Continue with the remaining cards.

Support

If the spelling alternatives continue to confuse students, draw two different-looking flowers (e.g., a tulip and a daisy) on the board/chart paper. Explain that, in the same way that we can draw different pictures of a flower, we can write different letters to represent the /ae/ sound.

PRACTICE WITH SPELLINGS FOR /AE/ (20 MIN.)

Note: This should be a teacher-led exercise.

Activity Page 1.1

- Have students turn to Activity Page 1.1.
- Tell students they are going to practice reading some words that have the /ae/ sound spelled 'ai' or 'ay'.
- Have students take turns reading the 'ai' words aloud.
- Briefly discuss the meaning of any words that students may not know, such as exclaim or aid.
- If students read the words haltingly, have them read them a second time.
- Repeat the same steps for the 'ay' words.
- Once students have read all of the words, have them look at the back of the activity page.
- Have students fill in the blanks in the sentences using the words in the box.

Activity Page 1.1: Spelling Alternatives

Collect Activity Page 1.1 to review and monitor student progress decoding words with 'ai' and 'ay' > /ae/.

Lesson 1: Spelling

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell words with closed syllables and consonant digraphs and will use sound-spelling patterns.

✚ TEKS 1.2.C.i; TEKS 1.2.C.ii; TEKS 1.2.C.iii; TEKS 1.2.C.iv

Students will read and write the Tricky Word by and words with /ae/ > 'a_e', /n/ >

✚ 'kn', /ng/ > 'n', /ch/ > 'tch', /r/ > 'wr', and /a/ > 'a'. TEKS 1.2.B.iii; TEKS 1.2.B.vi

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS (15 MIN.)

TEKS 1.2.C.i; TEKS 1.2.C.ii;

TEKS 1.2.C.iii

- Have students turn to Activity Page 1.2.
- Tell students that the words they will practice and learn this week will use the spellings they learned in the previous unit.

✚ TEKS 1.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by: (i) spelling words with closed syllables, open syllables, VCe syllables, vowel teams, and r-controlled syllables; (ii) spelling words with initial consonant digraphs; (iii) spelling words using sound-spelling patterns; (iv) spelling high-frequency words from a research-based list; TEKS 1.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by: (iii) decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables; (vi) identifying and reading at least 100 high-frequency words from a research-based list.

- Read and write each spelling word, underlining and reviewing the alternative spelling in each word. Have students repeat each word after you. Remind students that the last word is a Tricky Word and must be memorized.
- Ask one or more students to use each word in a sentence, making sure to explain the meaning of any words they may not know.
- The words for the week are:

/ae/ > 'a_e'	/n/ > 'kn'	/ng/ > 'n'	/ch/ > 'tch'	/r/ > 'wr'	/a/ > 'a'	Tricky Word fade	knitting	drinking	pitch	wrapper	hands	by catch

- Have students take out their Dictation Journals. Explain that you will say a sentence that uses one of this week's spelling words and students will write the entire sentence in their Dictation Journal.
- Say, "She was knitting by the fire."

Complete the Sentence

- Write the headings 'a_e', 'ai', and 'ay' in a row on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students you will say some incomplete sentences, each of which is missing the last word.
- Explain that the missing words contain the /ae/ sound.
- As you read each sentence, pause to have students fill in the missing word.
- Once students have given the answer, write the word on the board/chart paper under the appropriate heading.

1. On my birthday, I eat birthday _____. (cake—'a_e')
2. Water that falls from the sky is called _____. (rain—'ai')
3. If something is not ready for you, you may have to _____. (wait—'ai')
4. Superman wears a long, flowing _____. (cape—'a_e')

7. Triangles, squares, and circles are examples of _____. (shapes—'a_e')
8. Saturday is my favorite _____. (day—'ay')

Highlight the Spelling

- Write the words from the box on index cards or a piece of paper.
- Ask students to read the words and use a highlighter to highlight the letters of each new spelling.

- | | | |
|----------|---------|----------|
| 1. day* | 5. way* | 9. pay |
| 2. may* | 6. air | 10. rain |
| 3. play* | 7. hair | 11. stay |
| 4. say* | 8. main | 12. wait |

Words with an asterisk are on the Dolch and/or Fry Word List.*

- To provide students with practice spelling entire sentences, dictate a sentence using one of the words from the box above. Have students write the entire sentence in their Dictation Journal.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average between 630 and 783 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average between 642 and 798 of those words would be completely decodable.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Foundational Skills

- Prepare leaves for the following words for the Spelling Tree: rain, sail, waist, tail, explain, bay, pay, say, may, gate, lake, safe, and tale.

Reading

- There is no Big Book for this Reader.
- At the start of each week, prepare the Discussion Questions Observation Record provided in Teacher Resources. Over the course of the week, be sure to ask each student to respond to at least one discussion question. Make notes regarding each student's ability to respond in complete sentences and answer literal, inferential, and evaluative questions.

➤ Digital Component 2.1

- Create the Preview Spellings chart (Digital Component 2.1) for Introduce the Story on the board/chart paper, or use the digital version.

Universal Access

- Make copies of the Preview Spellings chart for Lesson 2 located in Teacher Resources.
- Bring in a mirror for students to observe their articulation of sounds.

Lesson 2: Review and Practice

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will decode words with /ae/ > 'ai' and 'ay'.

 TEKS 1.2.A.iv; TEKS 1.2.A.vi; TEKS 1.2.B.iii

WARM-UP (10 MIN.)

Spelling Tree

- Show students the /ae/ Spelling Tree and explain that you are going to add more leaves. Review the sound/spellings represented on each branch.
- Shuffle the leaves and show them one by one. Ask a student to read the leaf and then place it on the correct branch of the Spelling Tree.

Observation: Spelling Alternatives

Ask as many students as possible to read a word and place the leaf on the Spelling Tree. Make note of their individual ability to decode words with 'ai' and 'ay' for /ae/ in the Spelling Alternatives Record.

TEACHER CHAINING (10 MIN.)

- Write see on the board.
- Ask a student to read the word.
- Remove the 'ee' and add 'ay' to create say.
- As you make this change, say to students, "If that is see, what is this?"
- Ask students what change you made to the word see to get the word say.
- Continue this process until all of the words in the first chain have been spelled.
- When you have come to the end of the first chain, erase the board and begin the next chain.

 TEKS 1.2.A Demonstrate phonological awareness by (iv) recognizing the change in spoken word when a specified phoneme is added, changed, or removed; (vi) manipulating phonemes within base words; TEKS 1.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables.

Primary Focus: Students will read “Martez, Martez, Martez” with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal and inferential questions about key details in the story. TEKS 1.2.D; TEKS 1.6.A; TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.7.C

INTRODUCE THE READER AND STORY (5 MIN.)

- Introduce students to the new Reader, Kay and Martez. Explain that this Reader is about a girl named Kay and her friend, Martez, who is Mexican-American. Explain that Martez’s parents are from Mexico.
- Look at the table of contents together. Remind students that the titles of stories often give us a clue as to what each story is about. Allow students to share what they think some of the stories might be about.
- Ask students to locate the first story in the table of contents. Ask students to tell you the page number on which “Martez, Martez, Martez” starts. (page 2)

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students they should read today's story to learn who Martez is.

READ "MARTEZ, MARTEZ, MARTEZ" (15 MIN.)

Whole Group

- Read the story as a group, allowing students to take turns reading a paragraph aloud. Encourage students to read with expression, and model this for them if necessary. The rest of the class should follow along in their Readers as a classmate reads aloud.

Wrap-Up

- Use the following discussion questions to guide conversation about the story. Remember to encourage students to answer in complete sentences. When answering a question, ask students to cite the part of the story that guided their answer.

Discussion Questions on "Martez, Martez, Martez"

1. Literal. What does Martez like to do?
 - » Martez likes to play hopscotch and draw pictures with crayons. (Help students distinguish the action word in the question and answer.)
2. Inferential. Is Kay faster than Martez?
 - » No, Kay is not faster than Martez because Martez is the fastest child on the playground.
3. Inferential. How does Kay know Martez?
 - » Martez is in Kay's class at school.
4. Literal. What does Kay think of Martez?
 - » Kay thinks Martez is the best. (You may want to point out that the phrase I think does not appear in the text. Ensure students understand that words such as nice and best indicate opinion.)
5. Literal. Where does Kay want to invite Martez?
 - » Kay wants to invite Martez for dinner at her house.

Challenge

Ask students why they think Kay's dad says "Martez, Martez, Martez!" three times. What is he suggesting? You may wish to expand this into a discussion on use of repetition for emphasis in text and conversation.

WARM UP (10 MIN.)

Nouns and Verbs

Nouns

- Remind students that they have learned about a part of speech called a noun that can be a person, place, or thing.
- Say the phrase, "tall man." Have students repeat the phrase, and ask them to identify which word is a noun. (man)
- Ask students if the noun man names a person, place, or a thing. (a person)
- Remind students that there are also special kinds of nouns called proper nouns. They are called proper because they name someone or something specific.
- Tell students that you will say two nouns: Jane and girl. Ask students which word refers to a specific person. (Jane)
- Explain that Jane is a proper noun because it names a specific person.
- Explain to students that each person in the room has a proper noun for their name.
- Say a student's name and ask that student to raise their hand. Point out that not everyone has this name, so we know it refers to a specific person.
- Then say the word girl and ask all the girls in the class to raise their hands.
- Point out that the word girl refers to many students in the class, not just one. Therefore, it is a common noun and not a proper noun.
- Repeat this procedure with a boy's name and the boys in the class.

- TEKS 1.11.D.iii Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including singular, plural, common, and proper nouns;
- TEKS 1.2.B.v Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with inflectional endings including -ed, -s, and -es; TEKS 1.11.D.i Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including complete sentences with subject-verb agreement.

- Summarize the proper noun information by asking students why we have proper nouns. (Students should understand that there are particular or specific people or things that need to be named, so they can be identified.)
- Read each of the following sentences aloud. Have students identify the noun in each item below, and then identify whether that noun is a proper noun or a common noun.

1. Caitlin likes to skate. (Caitlin, proper)
2. My friend runs. (friend, common)
3. [The name of your principal] spoke. ([principal's name], proper)
4. Children shout. (children, common)
5. Dogs bark. (dogs, common)

Check for Understanding

After you read each sentence, ask students to give Thumbs Up if the noun is a proper noun or Thumbs Down if it is a common noun.

Verbs

- Remind students that a word which names an action is a part of speech called a verb.
- Actions are things you can do, like run and jump and read.
- On the board/chart paper, write the sentence: Spin the wheel.
- Have students read the sentence, name the action, then pretend to perform the action.
- Tell students that spin is an action word. A word that names an action is a part of speech called a _____. (verb)
- Underline spin with a squiggly line and explain that you have underlined the action word.
- On the board/chart paper, write the sentence: Wave your hand.
- Have students read the sentence, name the action, then perform the action.

ELPS 2.C

- Tell students that wave is an action word. A word that names an action is a part of speech called a _____. (verb)
- Underline the word wave with a squiggly line and explain that you have underlined the action word.
- Continue in the same manner with the following sentences, writing each on the board/chart paper and asking students to identify the verb.

1. Sway from side to side. (sway)
2. Raise your arm. (raise)
3. Point one finger. (point)
4. Clap your hands. (clap)
5. Jump up in the air once. (jump)

Exit Pass: Noun and Verb Identification

Write the following word pairs on the board/chart paper. Ask students to use at least one word pair to create a sentence on a piece of paper. Have students circle the noun and underline the verb with a squiggly line. Collect papers to monitor student understanding.

1. horses—ride
2. runs—Martez
3. hands—clap
4. point—finger

PLURAL NOUN REVIEW (20 MIN.)

- Remind students that plural means more than one. Plural words can end in 's' or 'es'.
- Using the chart you prepared in advance, point to the columns "cats," "dogs," and "foxes." Remind students that the sound of the 's' can either be /s/ or /z/, depending on the last consonant of the word.

Language

Using Nouns and Noun Phrases

Beginning

Ask simple yes/no questions: “Does hats sound like cats?” “Is more than one ant called ants or antses?”

Intermediate

Provide sentence frames for students to complete: “One box, two ____.”
One mandrill, ten ____.”

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to place the words in the appropriate column without prompting.

ELPS 2.C

- Tell students that you are going to ask them to turn singular nouns into plural nouns.
- Write hat on the board/chart paper and ask students to read the word.
- Explain that when you talk about two or more of these, you would say hats. Tell students that you will write the word hats in the column labeled cats, because the ‘s’ is pronounced /s/ at the end of hats, just like cats.
- Repeat with the remaining words in the box.

- | | | |
|----------|----------|-------------|
| 1. hat | 4. wave | 7. mandrill |
| 2. plane | 5. clock | 8. rash |
| 3. patch | 6. box | 9. ant |

- As a class, write the date on the activity page, reminding students where to place commas. Tell students they will complete this activity page after rereading "Martez, Martez, Martez."

Group 1: Meet with students needing additional support and reread "Martez, Martez, Martez." Complete Activity Page 3.1 together.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read "Martez, Martez, Martez," make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Group 2: Have students read "Martez, Martez, Martez" either with a partner or by themselves, and complete Activity Page 3.1.

Activity Page 3.1: Story Questions

Collect Activity Page 3.1 to evaluate student progress answering questions about key details in the story, "Martez, Martez, Martez."

TEKS 1.4 Use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 1.6.G Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Today you will introduce students to noun-verb agreement. These are mainly oral lessons, getting students to hear the correct noun-verb agreement. More explicit instruction and practice for this topic will come in the later grades.

Reading

- Give some thought in advance as to which students need the greatest support in reading and place them in Group 1 to work with you in a small group. Group 2 students will read with partners.

Connecting Ideas

Beginning

Provide students with multiple choices and ask them to choose an appropriate conjunction: “Martez likes hopscotch, (so/and/but) he does not like coleslaw.”

Intermediate

Offer students word pairs and ask them to use an appropriate conjunction to join them in a sentence: “oranges—apples” could become “You can have oranges and apples.” or “You can have oranges or apples.” or “You can have oranges but not apples.” Discuss the differences in sentence meanings because of the conjunctions.

Advanced/Advanced High

Offer students a series of actions and ask them to use conjunctions to combine two or more of them: “I saw a dog. He looked friendly. I petted him. He wagged his tail.” could become “I saw a dog and he looked friendly.” or “The dog looked friendly so I petted him.” Encourage students to use variation.

ELPS 3.C

Primary Focus

Students will revise and expand oral sentences using the decodable conjunctions and, but, so, and or. TEKS 1.11.C

Students will distinguish between singular and plural nouns and will match the correct verb form with singular and plural nouns in oral sentences.

TEKS 1.2.B.v; TEKS 1.11.D.i

WARM-UP (15 MIN.)

Sentences with Conjunctions

- Remind students that when they speak or write, they should strive to make what they say or write interesting. Tell students that one way that they can do this is by adding words called conjunctions to join phrases and sentences.
- Conjunctions are words that connect phrases and sentences together.
- Say, “My class went on a trip.” Point out that this is a sentence.
- Ask students how they might expand this sentence and make it longer.
- One way we can expand sentences and make them longer is to use conjunctions to connect one sentence to another. Common conjunctions are and, but, or, and so. Write and, but, or, and so on the board/chart paper.
- Demonstrate aloud how to expand sentences using these conjunctions: “My class went on a trip and it was fun. My class went on a trip, but it started to rain.”
- Ask students to provide other revised sentences aloud using the decodable conjunctions and, but, or, and so. Point out that and joins like phrases or sentences, but joins a phrase that changes the direction of the sentence, or offers choices, and so indicates cause.
- Work with students to expand sentences of their choosing.

Note: It is not critical that students be able to identify which words are conjunctions but that they are able to use them to expand sentences.

TEKS 1.11.C Revise drafts by adding details in pictures or words; TEKS 1.2.B.v Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with inflectional endings including -ed, -s, and -es; TEKS 1.11.D.i Edit drafts using conventions of standard English, including complete sentences with subject-verb agreement.

Check for Understanding

Have students create an oral story using conjunctions to build on each other's ideas. Start the story with a statement. For example, if you say "I am going on a camping trip and . . .," the first student might say "I am packing my raincoat or . . ." The next student might say "I am bringing my umbrella but . . ." As students participate, observe their ability to use conjunctions properly.

Support

Pay attention to students' spoken language throughout the day. If students make errors in noun-verb agreement when speaking, gently repeat what they said, modeling correct noun-verb agreement. Do not require students to repeat what you say.

NOUN-VERB AGREEMENT (20 MIN.)

- Tell students they will now practice listening to the ways nouns and verbs work together in a sentence.
- On the board/chart paper, write the word Kay and ask students, "Is Kay a singular or plural noun?" (singular)
- Next to the word Kay, write both jump and jumps. Ask students, "Would we say Kay jump or Kay jumps?" Repeat the sentence choices aloud.
- Tell students that since Kay is a singular noun, we say "Kay jumps."
- Ask students to listen carefully. Tell them you will say two sentences, and they should pick the one that sounds correct. Say: "The boys eat sandwiches. The boys eats sandwiches."
- Tell students that since boys is a plural noun, we say "The boys eat sandwiches."
- Ask a student to say another plural noun. Ask another student to say a verb.
- Say the provided plural noun along with a correct and incorrect choice for the verb, and ask students which verb sounds correct. For example, ask students if you would say "The girl walk." or "The girl walks."
- Ask students for two more plural noun examples following the same procedure as before. Repeat for two singular noun examples.

Exit Pass: Noun-Verb Agreement

Write the following word pairs on the board/chart paper. Ask students to use each word pair to create a sentence on a piece of paper. Point out that this time, students must also adapt the verb to match the noun. Have students circle the noun and underline the verb with a squiggly line. Collect papers to monitor student performance.

1. Martez—eat (Martez eats corn on the cob.)
2. Kay—play (Kay plays hopscotch.)
3. parents—smile (My parents smile.)
4. father—groan (Her father groans.)

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students to read today's story to find out how the dinner goes.

READ "DINNER WITH KAY" (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Working with students needing additional support, read "Dinner with Kay" and complete Activity Page 4.1 up to the final question.

Group 2: Have students read "Dinner with Kay" either with a partner or by themselves, and complete Activity Page 4.1 up to the final question.

- After completing Activity Page 4.1, have students use a red marker to circle the nouns and a green marker to underline the verbs with a squiggly line. Double-check their noun-verb agreement.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “Dinner with Kay,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Evidence for Martez’s Character

- Point students to the final question on the activity page: “Write about one thing that Martez says because he is nice.”

Page 8

- Tell students to skim page 8 and raise their hand if they find something that Martez says or does that is an example of him being nice. (Martez says, “I like this corn a lot! You are a good cook!”)

Page 10

- Tell students to skim page 10 and raise their hand if they find something that Martez says or does that is another example of him being nice. (Martez says, “This corn is so sweet. You are a good shopper.”)

- Have a student read the first paragraph on page 12 aloud. Then ask students if there is anything in this paragraph that might be an example of saying or doing something nice. (Prompt students to recognize that there is not anything in this paragraph that would be considered an example of being nice.)
- Read the second paragraph on page 12 aloud. Now tell students to skim the remainder of page 12 to find additional examples of Martez saying or doing something nice and raise their hands to share. (Answers may vary, but could include that he ate all the food on his plate; he runs inside to thank Kay’s mom and dad for dinner; or he asks if Kay can have dinner at his house the next day.)

Support

You may want to explain that when you say they should skim the text, it means they do not need to reread every word, but that they should look for key points. If they want to find something Martez says, they could look for quotation marks in the text.

- Tell students that examples found in the text are called evidence. Ask students to complete the final question on their activity page. Encourage them to include evidence from the text to support the statement that Martez is a nice kid.

Activity Page 4.1: Story Questions

Collect Activity Page 4.1 to assess students' progress in understanding the story "Dinner with Kay." Pay particular attention to student responses on the final question and note whether students use evidence in the text to support their answer.

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will decode words with /ae/ > 'ai' and 'ay', and words with the r-controlled vowel sounds /er/, /ar/, and /or/. TEKS 1.2.B.iii

MATCH THE PICTURES (15 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Pages 5.2 and 5.3.
- Tell students that they will practice the spelling alternatives they have learned for the /ae/ sound, as well as review the r-controlled vowel sounds /er/, /ar/, and /or/.
- On Activity Page 5.2, students should choose the sentence that describes the picture.
- On Activity Page 5.3, students should read the word and write it below its picture.

Note: Most r-controlled vowels in Spanish do not typically include the sounds associated with them; for example, 'er' in English. Ask students to read aloud the sentences and provide support as necessary.

Activity Pages 5.2, 5.3: Match the Pictures

Collect Activity Pages 5.2 and 5.3, and review, paying particular attention to spellings that students consistently identify incorrectly.

TEKS 1.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students to read today’s story to find out what is in the red dish.

READ “THE RED DISH” (25 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Meet with students needing more direct support. Listen as students take turns reading “The Red Dish.”

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “The Red Dish,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Group 2: Tell students to take turns reading “The Red Dish.” If they finish early, they can combine two of the sentences on the board/chart paper with a conjunction (and, or, but, so) and illustrate their new sentence, or they may reread a previous story in the Reader.

Evidence for Martez’s Character

- Reconvene the whole class, and remind students that in the previous lesson they looked at Martez’s character and found evidence that he has good manners.
- Ask students to list Martez’s actions and speech in this chapter. Select students to share their response and write it on the board/chart paper. In each case, ask whether or not this is what they would expect of someone with good manners.
- Ask students if they still think Martez has good manners, and provide evidence from the text, such as when Martez explains the dishes to Kay, notices she is in pain and brings her ice cubes, or compliments her on joining the club.

Reading

Evaluating Language Choices

Beginning

Read the sentence: “Kay stuffs some in her mouth and lets them melt.”

Explain that them refers to ice cubes. Tell students stuffs is an action word.

Read again, replacing stuffs with the word put.

Demonstrate what each verb implies by pretending to stuff, and then put, something in your mouth.

Intermediate

Read the sentence with different action words and ask students to demonstrate the difference between what each verb implies by pretending to stuff/put/place/pour something into their mouths.

Advanced/Advanced High

Ask students what the action word stuffs implies and why the writer may have chosen that specific word.

ELPS 4.F

Support

As students read “The Red Dish,” point out that the word stuff is used both as a noun and as a verb in this story. On page 14, stuff is used as a noun (referring to the food in the dishes) and on page 18, stuffs is used as a verb (explaining how Kay shoves ice into her mouth quickly).

Challenge

Point students to the phrase Brave or perhaps foolish. Ask students what the conjunction or means. Discuss why eating the red peppers might be brave or foolish. Ask students if they think it could be both, and if so why.

Check for Understanding

Ask students for other adjectives they would use to describe Martez, and ask them to provide evidence from the text or illustrations. (Answers will vary but should point to the text and illustrations. For example, cheerful because he smiles a lot or nice because he helps Kay).

Wrap-Up

Discussion Questions on “The Red Dish”

1. Literal. Which peppers are hotter, those in the red dish or those in the green dish?
 - » The peppers in the red dish are hotter.
2. Inferential. Why might it be foolish to try some of the food in the red dish?
 - » The food in the red dish is hot, hot, hot, and might be unpleasant to eat.
3. Literal. How does Kay cool off her mouth?
 - » Kay cools off her mouth by letting ice cubes melt in her mouth.
4. Literal. What club does Martez tell Kay she is now a part of?
 - » Martez tells Kay she is in the “I-ate-from-Dad’s-red-dish-and-am-still-living-to-tell-the-tale club.”
5. Evaluative. Do you think Kay will eat more food from the red dish? Why or why not?
 - » Answers may vary, but should include evidence from the text or illustrations.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question. Note student performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, noting whether the question answered was literal, inferential, or evaluative, and whether the student answered in a complete sentence and/or cited evidence from the text.

Word Sort with Boxes

- Write the following words on index cards:

1. clay	4. paid	7. player
2. rain	5. may	8. wait
3. brain	6. pay	9. saying

- Label two small boxes with the sound/spellings ‘ay’ and ‘ai’.
- Have students read the words on the word cards and ask them which target spelling they contain.
- Have students place the cards in the appropriate boxes.

Dictation with Words

- Provide each student with a pencil and a piece of paper.
- Write the spellings ‘ai’ and ‘ay’ on the board/chart paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of words. These words will contain the alternative spellings for /ae/ taught in this unit.
- Have students write each word that you say.
- For each word you say, hold up one finger for each sound.

Support

Remind students that when they hear /ae/ at the end of a word, it is probably spelled with ‘ay’ and if they hear it in the middle, it is probably spelled with ‘ai’ or ‘a_e’.

- Ask students to count the sounds and then draw a line on their paper for each sound that they hear. For example, for the word may, two lines would be drawn on the paper: ____ ____.
- Once students have drawn one line for each sound, remind them that the sound /ae/ in the word may is spelled with the letters 'ay'.
- Have students write the spellings on their respective lines: m ay.
- Finally, ask students to read the word back to you.
- Write the word on the board/chart paper and have students self-correct.
- Repeat with additional words.

NOUN-VERB AGREEMENT (15 MIN.)

Support

Pay attention to students' oral language throughout the day. If students make errors in noun-verb agreement when speaking, gently repeat what they said, modeling correct noun-verb agreement. Do not require students to repeat what you say.

- Remind students that they have practiced saying singular and plural nouns and matching verbs. Tell students that they will practice doing this again today.
- Ask a student to provide you with a singular noun. Ask another student to provide you with a verb.
- Say the noun and verb in a sentence, saying both the correct and incorrect form of the verb. Ask students which sounds correct. Repeat the noun-verb phrase with correct agreement.
- Repeat several times with both singular and plural nouns, such as the following:

1. Martez—visit (Martez visit(s) Kay's house.)
2. Kay—play (Kay play(s) tag.)
3. parents—look (Her parents look(s) out the window.)
4. ice cubes—melt (The ice cubes melt(s) in the glass.)

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS (15 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Page 6.2
- Tell students that the words for this week will use the spellings that they have learned in the last few lessons.
- Read and write each spelling word, underlining and reviewing the alternative spelling in each word. Have students repeat each word after you. Remind students that the last word is a Tricky Word. Tricky Words do not follow the rules, so their spellings must be memorized.
- Ask one or more students to use each word in a sentence, being sure to explain the meaning of any words they may not know.
- The words for the week are:

/ae/ > 'a_e'	/ae/ > 'ai'	/ae/ > 'ay'	Tricky Words
escape	rain	stay	your hair	stray
	explain	display

TEKS 1.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by: (i) spelling words with closed syllables, open syllables, VCe syllables, vowel teams, and r-controlled syllables; (ii) spelling words with initial consonant digraphs; (iii) spelling words using sound-spelling patterns; (iv) spelling high-frequency words from a research-based list.

Activity Page 6.2

- Explain that you will say a sentence that uses one of this week’s spelling words and students will write the entire sentence in their Dictation Journal.
- Say, “I will take your rain jacket.”

- Any assortment of tokens can be used for students to cover spaces on their game boards (e.g., cubes, beans, tiles).
- Select and read a word card, then have students search for the word on their game board.
- Have students put a finger on the word when they find it, then read it aloud before covering the space. When students are correct ask, “How did you know that was _____?” If a student is incorrect, use the opportunity to address the confusion.
- The game may be played until one or all students get three spaces covered in a row, or until one or all students get “blackout” (covering the entire board).
- To provide students with practice spelling entire sentences, dictate a sentence using one of the words from the Bingo boards. Have students write the entire sentence in their Dictation Journal.

Lesson 7: Practice and Review

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will orally segment and blend two-syllable words into syllables and sounds and will provide the spelling for the segmented words.

 TEKS 1.2.C.iii

SEGMENT AND BLEND TWO-SYLLABLE WORDS (15 MIN.)

- Look at each word in the box below and notice where they are marked with a syllable divider.
- Say the first word (display).
- Repeat the word, pausing slightly between the syllables.
- Say the first syllable in a segmented fashion, marking each sound with a thumb-finger tap, beginning with a thumb-forefinger tap (/d/ /i/ /s/).
- Say the second syllable in a segmented fashion, returning to the thumb-forefinger tap for the first sound (/p/ /l/ /ae/).
- Say the blended word while making a fist.
- Have students repeat after you.
- Continue this process with the remaining words.
- After you segment the last word, have students guide you in spelling the word.

1. dis·play (3+3) /d/ /i/ /s/ · /p/ /l/ /ae/
2. es·cape (2+3) /e/ /s/ · /k/ /ae/ /p/
3. ex·plain (2+4) /e/ /x/ · /p/ /l/ /ae/ /n/
4. summ·er (3+1) /s/ /u/ /m/ · /er/
5. por·tray (2+3) /p/ /or/ · /t/ /r/ /ae/

Support

Point out that these words consist of two syllables by restarting with the thumb-forefinger tap for the first sound in the second syllable.

 TEKS 1.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words using sound-spelling patterns.

Lesson 7: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus: Students will use commas to separate single words in a series and will insert commas between words in printed sentences. TEKS 1.11.D

COMMAS IN A SERIES (20 MIN.)

- Draw handwriting lines on the board/chart paper and write a comma on the line.
- Remind students that this punctuation mark is called a comma. They have been using commas to write the date. Commas let us know to take a pause when reading a sentence.
- Tell students that commas are also used to separate words in a sentence, especially when there are three or more words together in a list.
- Lists of words in a sentence are called a series of words.
- Model for students how to insert commas in a series of words. Point to the first sentence you prepared in advance: Carl likes to jump run and hop. Tell students that one clue they can use to find the series or list of words is to locate the word and, and then look at the words on either side of it.
- Demonstrate for students that when there are at least three words in a series, commas are inserted after each word in the list that appears before the word and. The sentence should be punctuated as follows: Carl likes to jump, run, and hop. Commas signal that we should pause and take a breath as we are reading.
- Repeat with the remaining sentences.

Challenge

Ask students to create their own lists and read them to a peer. Their peer should identify where commas are needed.

TEKS 1.11.D Edit drafts using conventions of standard English.

➤ Digital Component 7.1

1. Carl likes to jump run and hop.
2. Track soccer and golf are sports.
3. I like cats and dogs.
4. Pants jackets and blouses are clothing.
5. Winter can be freezing dark and long.
6. In the port are ships tugboats and barges.
7. Cheese and chips are snacks.

Check for Understanding

Write a simple decodable sentence on the board/chart paper (e.g., “I like to run.”). Tell students you will add details to the sentence and they should put their hand up when commas become necessary (e.g., Bob and I like to run. Bob and I like to run a lot. Bob, Kate, and I like to run a lot.).

- Have students turn to Activity Page 7.1.
- Explain to students that the activity page contains sentences that are missing commas.
- Read each sentence with students and have them add the missing commas. Be sure to model the first few sentences on the board/chart paper.

Activity Page 7.1: Commas in a Series

Collect Activity Page 7.1 and review. Ensure that students have identified when there are only two items in the list, and have not placed commas. Also review for comma placement (including physical placement: for example, is the comma too close to the wrong word?).

Support

After you read the second sentence, stop to ask students if you paused to take a breath. If students still seem uncertain, ask them to count the number of items in the list. Repeat the same process after the seventh sentence.

Support

Point out that the fourth sentence uses or instead of and. Ensure that students understand that this indicates a choice, however the same rule applies.

Lesson 7: “In the Mail”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will identify the information that different parts of a book provide. TEKS 1.2.D

Students will read “In the Mail” with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about key details in the story.

TEKS 1.4; TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.7.B

INTRODUCE THE STORY (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that today’s story is called “In the Mail.” Discuss with students what the purpose of mail is and how it helps people communicate with one another.

Preview Spellings

- Refer to the chart you prepared in advance to preview the sound/spellings before reading the story.
- Discuss the Tricky Word talk before reading the story. Write the word on the board/chart paper and underline the ‘al’. Tell students that the ‘al’ is tricky and pronounced /aw/ or /o/ depending on the region of the United States.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students to read the story carefully with their partners to find out what Kay receives in the mail.

READ “IN THE MAIL” (20 MIN.)

Partner Reading

- Review with students the various parts of the book, calling attention to the cover, title, table of contents, and the glossary. Direct students to characteristics in the text, such as the first and last letters in a word, punctuation in a sentence, and dialogue.
- When they are finished reading, students should complete Activity Page 7.2 together. Encourage students to look back at the story to find the answers in the text.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

Circulate to listen to as many partner pairs as possible. As you listen to each student read “In the Mail,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record. Assess whether students know how to find the cover of the book, back of the book, the table of contents, title, where the story begins, page numbers, and glossary. In the text, have students identify the first and last letters in a word, punctuation in a sentence, and dialogue.

Reading

Reading Closely

Beginning

As students read, pause to help identify clues in the text about how Kay feels. Discuss Kay's actions, what she says, and how she says it.

Intermediate

Prompt students with simple questions: "What does Kay do?" "What does she say?" "How does she say it?" "What does the exclamation point at the end of the sentence tell us?"

Advanced/Advanced High

Ask students to contrast their answers to what their answers would be if certain words or details were changed (e.g., if Kay stomps on the card or if she whispers instead of shouts).

ELPS 4.G

Activity Page 7.2: Story Questions

Collect Activity Page 7.2 and review. Pay particular attention to the answer to the last question and whether students have accurately identified clues in the text of "In the Mail" for Kay's feelings.

Wrap-Up

Discussion Questions for "In the Mail"

1. Literal. What did Martez send to Kay in the mail?
 - » Martez sent a card to Kay in the mail.
2. Inferential. Why can't Kay read all of the words that are written on the card?
 - » Kay can't read all of the words because some of them are written in Spanish.
3. Literal. How does Kay figure out what the Spanish words on the card mean in English? What do they mean? You may refer to the text to find the answer.
 - » Kay's mom reads the Spanish words because she took a Spanish class. They mean, "You are my best pal. See you soon!"
4. Inferential. How does Kay feel when she receives the card from Martez? Give specific examples from the text.
 - » Kay is happy. She hugs the card and shouts, "Martez is the best!"
5. Evaluative. Think-Pair-Share. Ask your partner another what question about the story.
 - » Answers may vary, but should cite evidence from the text.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question. Note student performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, noting whether the question answered was literal, inferential, or evaluative, and whether the student answered in a complete sentence and/or cited evidence from the text.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Language (Grammar)

➤ Digital Component 8.1

- Create the Root Word Flower (Digital Component 8.1) found in Root Words and Endings -ed, -ing, or use the digital version. Label the root of the flower with a root word (e.g., stop) and the petals and leaves with derivations (e.g., stopped, stopping).

Reading

➤ Digital Component 8.2

- Create the Preview Spellings chart (Digital Component 8.2) for Introduce the Story on the board/chart paper, or use the digital version.

Universal Access

- Make copies of the Preview Spellings chart for Lesson 8 located in Teacher Resources.
- Prepare a number of sentences using familiar language that can be expanded using simple conjunctions. You may want to use examples from the text.
- Prepare lists of actions for students to combine using conjunctions.

Lesson 8: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus

Students will revise and expand oral sentences using the decodable conjunctions and, but, or, and so. TEKS 1.11.D

Students will add the inflectional endings -ed and -ing to root words and will learn to double the final consonant in words with short vowel sounds when adding inflectional endings. TEKS 1.2.B.v

BUILDING SENTENCES WITH CONJUNCTIONS (15 MIN.)

- Remind students that when they speak or write, they should strive to make their speaking or writing interesting. Remind students that one way they can do this is by adding words called conjunctions to join phrases and sentences.
- Conjunctions are tiny words that connect phrases and sentences together.
- Tell students that this is an example of a sentence: “My mom drinks coffee.”
- Ask students how they might expand this sentence and make it longer.
- Explain that one way to expand sentences and make them longer is to use conjunctions to connect one sentence to another. Common conjunctions are and, but, so, and or.
- Write and, but, so, and or on the board/chart paper.
- Demonstrate aloud how to expand sentences using each of the targeted conjunctions: “My mom drinks coffee and munches on a muffin. My mom drinks coffee, but not at night. My mom puts sugar in her coffee so it tastes sweeter. My mom drinks coffee or sips tea in the morning.”
- Ask students to create other revised sentences aloud using the conjunctions and, but, so, and or. Note to students that the conjunction and joins like phrases or sentences, the conjunction but joins a phrase that changes the direction of the sentence, so indicates cause, and or offers choices.
- Work with students to expand sentences of their choosing.

TEKS 1.11.D Edit drafts using conventions of standard English; TEKS 1.2.B.v Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with inflectional endings including -ed, -s, and -es.

Connecting Ideas
Beginning

Provide students with two sentences: “Kay takes a bite from the red dish.” “The red peppers are too hot.” Help students determine whether the sentences combine like things, offer choices, indicate cause, or change direction to select an appropriate conjunction.

Intermediate

Provide students with multiple choices and ask them to choose the appropriate conjunction: “The peppers in the red dish are hot (and/but) the peppers in the green dish are not.”

Advanced/Advanced High

Prompt students to combine two sentences using appropriate conjunctions independently.

ELPS 3.C; ELPS 5.F

Check for Understanding

Have students create an oral story using conjunctions to build on each other's ideas. Start the story with a statement. For example, if you say "I am going on a camping trip and . . ." the first student might say "I am packing my raincoat or . . ." The next student might say "I am bringing my umbrella but . . ." As students participate, observe their ability to use conjunctions properly.

ROOT WORDS AND ENDINGS -ED, -ING (20 MIN.)

- Using the illustration of the flower you prepared in advance, review with students that the base of a word is called the root word.

➤ Digital Component 8.1

- Remind them that you can add a suffix to the end of a root word to make a different form of the word.
- Point out that sometimes, when you add a suffix to a one-syllable root word, you need to double the consonant before adding the suffix. Explain that this is the case with root words that have a short vowel sound and end in a single consonant.
- Write the word stop on the board/chart paper and underline it. Ask a student to use the word in a sentence.
- Ask students how many syllables are in the root word stop. You may clap to show it is one syllable. Next, ask students whether stop has a short vowel sound. Circle the 'o' and say the /o/ sound to show it is a short vowel sound. Ask if stop ends in a single consonant.

Foundational Skills

Foundational Literacy Skills

Help students to segment sounds and identify the root word by underlining the sounds in stepp, s, t, e, pp, and circling the suffixes -ed and -ing in each word. Have students complete this process for Activity Page 8.1

ELPS 4.A

Activity Page 8.1

- Tell students that because stop is a one-syllable word with a short vowel sound and a single consonant ending, the final consonant is doubled when adding a suffix.
- Write the word stopped on the board/chart paper and underline stop in the word. Point out that the word stopped is in past tense. Ask a student to use stopped in a sentence.
- Explain that stop is the main part of the word (the root) and that the past tense marker -ed changed the tense of the verb.
- Write the word stopping on the board/chart paper, underlining stop. Follow the same procedure as above.
- Write the word peep on the board/chart paper. Using the same steps as you used with stop, tell students that because peep has a long vowel sound, the ending consonant is not doubled when adding a suffix.
- Write peeping on the board/chart paper to demonstrate that the consonant is not doubled.
- Repeat the process with the words tag, tagged, and tagging, writing the words below stop, stopped, and stopping. Ask students if they see a pattern.
- If students do not see the pattern, underline the doubled consonants and explain that the final consonant spelling in the root word was doubled when an ending was added.
- Have students turn to Activity Page 8.1 and complete it with a partner.

Activity Page 8.1: Root Words and Endings -ed and -ing

Collect Activity Page 8.1 and review, paying particular attention to the use of double consonants. This is also a good opportunity to check noun-verb agreement.

Lesson 8: “The Holiday”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Holiday” with purpose and understanding; will answer oral literal and inferential questions about key details in the story; and will work together in small groups to summarize the story.

TEKS 1.4; TEKS 1.6.G; TEKS 1.7.D

INTRODUCE THE STORY (5 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to the table of contents and locate the story that comes after “In the Mail.” Ask students to tell you the page number on which “The Holiday” starts. (page 26)

PREVIEW SPELLINGS

- Refer to the chart you prepared in advance to preview the sound/spellings before reading the story.
- Discuss the Tricky Words Hidalgo and Britain with students before reading the story. Write Hidalgo on the board/chart paper and underline the ‘o’. Explain that the final ‘o’ in Hidalgo is not pronounced /o/, as they might expect. It instead is pronounced /oe/. Write the word Britain on the board/chart paper and underline the ‘ai.’ Explain that the ‘ai’ in Britain is not pronounced /ae/, as students might expect. Instead, it is pronounced more like a very short /i/ sound, almost as if there is no vowel between the /t/ and the /n/ sounds at all.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students to read today’s story to find out about an important holiday in Mexico.

READ “THE HOLIDAY” (10 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 2: Have students read “The Holiday,” either with a partner or by themselves, and complete Activity Page 8.2.

Group 1: Meet with students needing additional support. Read “The Holiday” and complete Activity Page 8.2 together.

Activity Page 8.2

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “The Holiday,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

RETELL THE STORY (10 MIN.)

Summarizing

- Ask students to share responses to the final question on Activity Page 8.2 (“Who was Hidalgo?”).
- Now ask students to refer back to the text, as well as using the shared answers for the last question on Activity Page 8.2, to summarize this story, specifically identifying why there is a holiday on September 16th. Scaffold students’ responses by asking:
 - Before Hidalgo, who was in charge of Mexico?
 - Why did the Mexicans want to be free from the Spanish?
 - What did Hidalgo do first?
 - What happened next, even though it took a long time?
 - Why do Mexicans celebrate September 16th as a holiday?
- On the board/chart paper, write student points as key details. In each case, help students understand that you have picked key words and phrases, rather than copying the whole story:

1. The government of Spain was in charge of Mexico.
2. Tired of being told what to do
3. Made speech—Mexicans should have their own government
4. In the end Mexico set free
5. Holiday in tribute to him

- Tell students you have summarized the text—that is, provided the key details.
- Ask students to work with a partner and to take turns orally resummarizing the story, using the key details notes on the board/chart paper. One student might retell items 1 and 2, while other student retells items 3–5.
- Encourage students to use words like before, after, first, next, and finally, as appropriate in their retelling. Circulate among students, providing support as needed.

Challenge

Encourage students to use conjunctions (and, so, but, or) to join shorter sentences as well as more complex conjunctions (because, before, after, therefore) to link events.

Support

Work with students to turn one of your notes into complete sentences. Ensure that students understand why the notes are not complete sentences.

MORE HELP WITH ROOT WORDS AND ENDINGS -ED AND -ING

- Write the root words in the box on index cards and give a card to each student.

1. fish	5. dip	9. flip
2. step	6. rub	10. flop
3. play	7. rain	11. hatch
4. sway	8. hail	12. wait

- Have students read the word on the card and tell them that all of these words are called root words. Explain that when you add a suffix to the end of a root word, it makes a different form of the word.
- Ask students what suffixes they have learned about (-ed, -ing). Remind students if necessary.
- Ask students if they remember when to double the consonant at the end of a root word before adding the suffix. (Support students in identifying that when adding a suffix to a root word that is one syllable, has a short-vowel sound, and ends in a single consonant, you double the consonant at the end of the root word before adding the suffix.) Point out that a root word must meet all three of these criteria to get a double letter when you add a suffix: that is, the root word must be one syllable, it must have a short vowel sound, and it must end in a single consonant.
- Tell students that they are going to practice adding suffixes to root words to make a different form of the word.

- Have students take turns reading the words on their cards again. Write each word on the board/chart paper (e.g., fish).
- For each word, ask students how many syllables are in the root word. (one) You may clap to help show that it is one syllable.
- Next, ask students whether the root word has a short vowel sound. Circle the 'i' and say the /i/ sound to show it is a short vowel sound.
- Last, ask students if fish ends in a single consonant. Tell students that fish is a one-syllable word with a short vowel sound, but it does not have a single consonant ending. Circle the /sh/ at the end of the word. Therefore, you would not have a double letter consonant before adding a suffix.
- Add the suffix -ed to the word on the board/chart paper to make fished and underline fish in the word.
- Ask students to use the new word in a sentence.

Phonics Flowers

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 8.1 for each student. Cut apart the two flower templates and give each student one half of an activity page.
- Next give each student an index card from the previous activity. (Select words with endings that the student needs to practice.)
- Remind students that each word is a root word. Have students write the root word on the line at the base of the flower on the activity page.
- On the lines near the petals, have students write the word with the inflectional endings -ed and -ing. (Remind students to double the end consonant when appropriate.)
- Repeat with another index card and the other flower template.

MORE HELP READING AND WRITING SENTENCES

Sentence Strips

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 8.2 and cut apart each sentence strip.
- Have students practice reading each sentence aloud.
- Have students rewrite one of the sentences on a separate piece of paper and use a red marker to circle the nouns and a green marker to underline the verbs with a squiggly line.

TRICKY WORD STORY (15 MIN.)

TEKS 1.2.B.vi

- Show students the index cards you prepared in advance, one at a time, and have them read the Tricky Words aloud.
- Give at least one index card to each student.
- Tell students they are going to make up a silly story as a class. Each student will say one sentence that adds to the story, using the Tricky Word they receive.
- To get students started, choose one of the Tricky Words and make a starting sentence for the story (e.g., "Once there was a dragon.").
- Choose a student to give the next sentence. Make sure the sentence includes their Tricky Word. Then choose another student to add the next sentence to the story, using their Tricky Word.
- Continue this process until all students have had a turn.
- If time allows, collect the index cards, shuffle them, and redistribute them to students to start a new story. You can also replace some of the cards with other cards you did not use for the first story.

Primary Focus

Students will read sentences that are missing end punctuation; will determine the appropriate punctuation mark (period, question mark, or exclamation point); and will capitalize words at the beginning of sentences. TEKS 1.11.D.viii; TEKS 1.11.D.ix

Students will read sentences containing a series of words and will separate the words in the series with commas. TEKS 1.11.D

PUNCTUATION REVIEW (20 MIN.)

- Remind students that they have learned several punctuation marks that are used at the end of sentences.
- Read the first sentence you prepared in advance, then ask students what is missing from this sentence. (a period)
- Write a period at the end of the sentence.
- Remind students that a period is used at the end of a sentence that makes a statement (or tells us something). When the students see a period at the end of a sentence, they need to pause and take a breath.
- Read the second sentence you prepared in advance, then ask students what is missing from this sentence. (a question mark)
- Write a question mark at the end of the sentence.
- Read the third sentence with an excited expression, then ask students what is missing from this sentence. (an exclamation point)
- Write an exclamation point at the end of the sentence.
- Remind students that an exclamation point is used at the end of a sentence that expresses excitement. When students see an exclamation point at the end of a sentence, they should read the sentence with excitement.
- Explain that if we did not have these punctuation marks, all the sentences would run together and we would probably not be able to read them correctly.

Support

Reread the sentences using different end punctuation to emphasize the different inflection for each.

TEKS 1.11.D Edit drafts using conventions of standard English, including: (viii) capitalization for the beginning of sentences and the pronoun "I"; (ix) punctuation marks at the end of declarative, exclamatory, and interrogative sentences.

- Read the fourth sentence you prepared in advance and have students read it aloud.
- Ask students how many sentences these words represent. Then ask students what is wrong with the way the words are written. (There is no capitalization or punctuation.)
- Have students tell you what words to capitalize and where to add punctuation so the two sentences are written correctly. Make the changes on the board/chart paper.
- Have students read the two sentences, making sure that they pause at the period.
- Tell students that sometimes pauses are needed within sentences, not just at the end. This type of pause is indicated with another punctuation mark they have learned—a comma. Draw a comma on the board/chart paper.
- Read the next sentence and have students read it aloud.
- Ask students to read the series of items in that sentence. (grapes, ham, and chips)
- Remind students that commas are also used to separate three or more items in a series.
- Put commas in the correct places as you read the sentence again, pointing out that there is a comma directly after each item but that there is no comma after the word and.
- Repeat this process with the remaining sentences.

➤ Digital Component 9.1

1. I can sit and wait
2. Can you go on the trip
3. I am so glad to go to the zoo
4. gail had a bike where is it

6. david scraped his knee hand and chin when he fell.
7. Slush is gray wet and freezing.
8. The park has a slide and swings.
9. Mom made a cake a tart and ice pops for us.
10. I like to draw pictures with pencils crayons and paint.
11. Do not forget to bring your hat scarf and mittens!

- Call on students to write in the commas as the class reads each sentence aloud.

READ “BETTER THAN THE BEST” (20 MIN.)

Partner Reading

- Review with students the various parts of the book, calling attention to the cover, title, table of contents, and the glossary. Direct students to characteristics in the text, such as the first and last letters in a word, punctuation in a sentence, and dialogue.
- When they are finished reading, have students complete Activity Page 9.1. Encourage them to look back at the story to find their answers.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

Circulate to listen to as many partner pairs as possible. As you listen to each student read “Better than the Best,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record. Assess whether students know how to find the cover of the book, back of the book, the table of contents, title, where the story begins, page numbers, and glossary. In the text, have students identify the first and last letters in a word, punctuation in a sentence, and dialogue.

Kay hugs the card and shouts, "Martez is the best!"

- Underline the words hugs, shouts, and the statement "Martez is the best!"
- Tell students each of these is a clue about Kay's feelings. Discuss each word/phrase (e.g., Why would you hug a card? What does that tell us about Kay's feelings?).
- Tell students that in this sentence, we are not told how Kay feels. It does not say, "Kay felt happy," but we are still given words and phrases (and punctuation) as clues that allow us to figure out how Kay feels.
- Now, ask students to refer back to the Reader. Read the fourth paragraph on page 34 aloud. Ask students to read along with you.

Kay's jaw drops. "If Martez in on the trip, that would be better than the best!" she says.

- Ask students to Turn and Talk and explain to their partner what we learn about Kay's feelings by what she does, what she says, and how she says it.
- Read the last paragraph on page 34 aloud. Ask students to read along with you.

Kay jumps up and shouts, "I can't wait to tell Martez!"

- Ask students to Turn and Talk and explain to their partner what we learn about Kay's feelings by what she does, what she says, and how she says it.

Observation: Discussion Questions

As students Turn and Talk, note student performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, paying particular attention to each student's ability to use textual clues to describe a character's feelings.

- Cut the sentences into their individual words and place them into envelopes (one sentence per envelope).
- Have students reconstruct the sentences. Point out that some of the words can be rearranged in different configurations and still be correct.
- Have students copy the sentences on paper, including correct punctuation.
- Ask students to underline the tricky part of the tricky words.

1. Should we invite Martez to visit us for dinner?
2. Can Kay have dinner at our house tomorrow?
3. Martez takes a trip to Mexico with his mom and dad.
4. Martez sends Kay a card with a picture of Mexico on it.
5. Martez's mom and dad are from Mexico.
6. Today is a big holiday in Mexico.
7. Martez's mom and dad are from Mexico.

Read

- Plan how you will group students for Reading. Students who need additional support should read with you in Group 1 today. You will work with the other group during the next lesson.

➤ Digital Component 10.1

- Create the Preview Spellings chart (Digital Component 10.1) for Introduce the Story on the board/chart paper, or use the digital version.
- Write the following sentences (without serial commas or end punctuation) on the board/chart paper. You may want to include the instructions: “Fix the sentences by adding ? . ! ,”

1. There are deserts rainforests and wetlands in Mexico
2. Kay sees a soccer game an Aztec shrine and a place for shopping

Universal Access

- Make copies of the Preview Spellings chart for Lesson 10 located in Teacher Resources.
- Bring in postcards or images of plains, deserts, rainforests, and wetlands to help students identify the words during Reading.

Students will fix sentences with missing punctuation by adding periods, exclamation points, question marks, and commas in the appropriate places.

✦ TEKS 1.11.D.ix

SPELLING ASSESSMENT (15 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Page 10.1. As a class, write the date on the activity page under the name line.
- Read the first spelling word aloud, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students time to write down the word.

- | | |
|-----------|------------|
| 1. stay | 5. explain |
| 2. escape | 6. hair |
| 3. your | 7. stray |
| 4. rain | 8. display |

- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words.
- At the end, go back through the list and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students you will now dictate a sentence that uses a spelling word. They will write the entire sentence on the back of Activity Page 10.1. Say, "A stray dog is in your yard."
- Tell students that you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so that they can correct their own work.
- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, and writing the correct spelling next to it.

✦ TEKS 1.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by: (i) spelling words with closed syllables, open syllables, VCe syllables, vowel teams, and r-controlled syllables; (ii) spelling words with initial consonant digraphs; (iii) spelling words using sound-spelling patterns; (iv) spelling high-frequency words from a research-based list; TEKS 1.11.D.ix Edit drafts using conventions of standard English, including punctuation marks at the end of declarative, exclamatory, and interrogative sentences.

Connecting Ideas

Beginning

Ask questions to help students identify the appropriate punctuation:

“Is there a list?”

“How many items are in that list?” “Does the sentence use question words how, why, should, would, or what?”

Intermediate

Reread sentences without inflection and ask students to say the sentence back as they believe it should sound. Help them identify pauses in the sentence.

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to read each sentence aloud to themselves to complete the activity page independently.

Activity Page 10.1: Spelling Test

At a later time today, use the template provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you to understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

PUNCTUATION PRACTICE (20 MIN.)

- Quickly review what students have learned about periods, question marks, and exclamation points.
- Explain that periods, question marks, and exclamation points are end punctuations that help us to read and better understand a sentence.
- Remind students that a period is used at the end of a sentence that makes a statement (or tells us something). When students see a period at the end of a sentence, they should pause and take a breath.
- Remind students that a question mark is used at the end of a sentence that asks a question.
- Remind students that an exclamation point is used at the end of a sentence that expresses excitement. When students see an exclamation point at the end of a sentence, they should read the sentence with excitement.
- Tell students that sometimes pauses are needed within sentences. This type of pause is indicated with a comma. Draw a comma on the board/chart paper. Explain that commas are used to separate items in a series of three or more things.
- Explain to students that if we did not have these punctuation marks, all of the sentences in writing would run together and we would probably not say them correctly.
- Have students turn to Activity Page 10.2.
- Have students read the sentences and determine where to add punctuation so that the two sentences are written correctly.

Activity Page 10.2: Punctuation Practice

Collect and review Activity Page 10.2, paying particular attention to whether students accurately place end punctuation and commas in a series.

Lesson 10: “The Long Cab Ride”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Long Cab Ride” with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal and inferential questions about key details in the story. TEKS 1.2.D; TEKS 1.4; TEKS 1.7.C

INTRODUCE THE STORY (5 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to the table of contents and locate the story that comes after “Better than the Best.” Ask students to tell you the page number on which “The Long Cab Ride” starts. (page 36)

Preview Spellings

- Refer to the chart you prepared in advance to preview the sound/spellings before reading the story.
- Carlos is a Spanish name, and is pronounced /k/ /ar/ /l/ /oe/ /s/. Write the word on the board/chart paper and underline the ‘o’. Explain that the ‘o’ represents the /oe/ sound, not /o/.

Reading

Reading Closely

Beginning

Use yes/no or simple questions to prompt students: “Are Kay and her family in Mexico?” “Does Kay’s dad want to see the sites or go to the inn?”

Intermediate

Use sentence frames to prompt student responses: “Kay’s dad wants the driver to take them to the _____.” “Carlos shows them a soccer _____ and an Aztec _____.”

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to build on other student responses: “Where else does Carlos take them?”

Discussion Questions on “The Long Cab Ride”

1. Literal. Where are Kay, Martez, and Kay’s mom and dad?
 - » Kay, Martez, and Kay’s mom and dad are in a cab in Mexico on the way to the inn from the airport.
2. Literal. Where does Kay’s dad want the cab driver to take them?
 - » Kay’s dad wants the cab driver to take them directly to the inn.
3. Literal. What are some things that Carlos points out?
 - » Carlos points out a soccer game, an Aztec shrine, a good place for shopping, and his mom’s house.
4. Inferential. Why is Kay’s dad upset when he hears the price of the cab ride?
 - » Answers may vary, but should cite specific examples from the text, such as “it was a long cab ride,” “he must pay a lot,” or they were “tired from the trip.”
5. Evaluative. Think-Pair-Share. Why do you think Carlos takes Kay, Martez, and Kay’s parents to see some sites on the way to the inn?
 - » Answers may vary, but should include evidence from the text or illustrations.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Ask different students to respond to each question. Note student performance in the Discussion Questions Record, including whether the question is literal, inferential, or evaluative.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Review the following spelling patterns:

- 'o' is rare in one-syllable words (some exceptions include no, so, go, and most)
- At the beginning of a word, 'o' and 'oa' are the most likely spellings (old, obey, oak, and oat); 'ow' is rarely used in that position (own).
- In the middle of a word, with consonant spellings on either side, 'o', 'oa', and 'o_e' are all used (fold, groan, and hope); 'ow' is rare (grown); and 'oe' is rarely, if ever, used.
- At the end of a word, 'o', 'ow', and 'oe' are all used (hippo, snow, and toe); 'oa' is very rare (cocoa).
- Many 'o_e' words change to 'o' when a suffix is added (e.g., hope > hoping and joke > joking, joker).

Spellings for the Sound /oe/

Foundational Skills

- Prepare to display the Vowel Code Flip Book within view of all students; also have the Spelling Cards listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and green markers readily available.
- Create a Spelling Tree for the /oe/ sound using the template provided in Teacher Resources. You should make the tree at least 18" x 24", but even larger would be preferable. Make the branch at the bottom the longest and the branch at the top the smallest. Make one other branch in between.
- Label the trunk /oe/. Label the bottom branch 'o_e', the middle branch 'oa', and the top branch 'odd ducks'.
- On green paper, make multiple copies of the leaf template found in Teacher Resources. Write /oe/ words such as home, rope, note, quote, coat, float, coach, soap, boat, and toast on the leaves.

- On yellow paper, make multiple copies of the odd duck template. You do not need to write words in advance on the odd ducks; just have these available during the lesson in the event a student offers a word with the /oe/ sound that doesn't fall into one of the other spelling patterns.
- A completed tree is shown here:

Reading

- Plan to read with students who were in Group 2 during the previous lesson.

Universal Access

- Bring in a mirror for students to observe their articulation of sounds.
- Gather pictures for depictable words listed on the Spelling Tree.
Give prior thought to any words that can be demonstrated with actions.

Foundational Skills

Foundational Literacy Skills

Direct students to the shape of your mouth when you form the /oe/ sound.

Have students look at themselves in a mirror to see what their mouth looks like when they make the sound. Have them compare this to the shape their mouth makes when they make the /o/ sound. If mirrors are not available, have student pairs face each other, first making the /oe/ sound, then /o/.

ELPS 1.B; ELPS 2.A;
ELPS 3.A

- Have students say the /oe/ sound several times, stretching it out.
- Turn to the Vowel Code Flip Book page 9.
- Point to the 'o_e' spelling, read the sample word (home), and discuss the power bar.
- Write 'o_e' on the board/chart paper, along with the sample word. (home)
- Have students turn to Individual Code Chart page 3.
- Have them locate and trace the green outline of the card and the code information for 'o_e' > /oe/ with a finger.
- Tell students they will now learn another spelling for the /oe/ sound.
- Show students the Spelling Card for 'oa' (boat). Discuss the power bar and have a student read the example word. Attach the Spelling Card to the appropriate place.
- Have students outline the 'oa' vowel spelling in green marker in their Individual Code Charts.
- The spellings can be found on the following pages in the Vowel Code Flip Book and in the student Individual Code Chart.

Vowel Code Flip Book	Individual Code Chart
1. 'o_e' > /oe/ (home) page 9	1. 'o_e' > /oe/ (home) page 3
2. 'oa' > /oe/ (boat) page 9	2. 'oa' > /oe/ (boat) page 3

- Tell students that whenever the spelling 'oa' appears on an activity page or in a story for the next few lessons, it will be printed in bold type to remind them that this is a spelling they learned recently.

TEKS 1.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables.

Check for Understanding

Write the words toad, coast, hop, roast, home, road, cost on the board/chart paper and read them aloud, pointing to the individual sounds as you segment the word. Ask students to raise their hand if the word has the /oe/ sound.

SPELLING TREE FOR /OE/ (10 MIN.)

- Show students the Spelling Tree and explain that you are going to use it to help them keep track of the spellings for the /oe/ sound.
- Point to the trunk labeled /oe/.
- Point to the three branches: 'o_e', 'oa', and odd ducks. Explain that the 'o_e' branch is the longest and on the bottom and the 'oa' branch is in the middle. It is shorter because this sound/spelling is less frequent. Remind students that the smallest branch (or the one with the least open space around it) is for odd ducks.
- Shuffle the leaves and then show each leaf.
- Ask a student to read the leaf and then place it on the correct branch of the Spelling Tree.

Observation: Spelling Alternatives

Ask as many students as possible to read a word and place the leaf on the Spelling Tree. Make note of their individual ability to decode words with 'o_e' and 'oa' for /oe/ in the Spelling Alternatives Observation Record.

- Give each student a piece of paper. Tell them they will be writing a short opinion piece.
- Explain that an opinion piece should state their opinion, give one or more reasons for their opinion, and provide a conclusion for their thoughts.
- Tell students they should write what they think is the main reason Kay's dad is upset at the end of the cab ride. They may refer to the text and their responses to Activity Page 11.1 as they write.
- Remind students that it is important to use details from the text to support their opinion. Encourage students to use at least one reference from the text in their response.

- Tell students that this week's spelling words use the spellings for /ae/ that they learned in previous lessons.
- Read and write each spelling word, underlining and reviewing the spelling for /ae/ in each word. Have students repeat each word after you. Remind students that the last word is a Tricky Word. Tricky Words do not follow the rules, so their spellings must be memorized.

TEKS 1.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by: (iii) decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables; (vi) identifying and reading at least 100 high-frequency words from a research-based list; TEKS 1.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by: (i) spelling words with closed syllables, open syllables, VCe syllables, vowel teams, and r-controlled syllables; (ii) spelling words with initial consonant digraphs; (iii) spelling words using sound-spelling patterns; (iv) spelling high frequency words from a research-based list.

- Ask one or more students to use each word in a sentence, being sure to explain vocabulary for any words they may not know.
- The words for the week are:

/ae/ > 'a_e'	/ae/ > 'ai'	/ae/ > 'ay'	Tricky Words
classmate	gain	layer	who brainstorm airplane		playground railway

- Explain that you will say a sentence that uses one of this week's spelling words and students will write the entire sentence in their Dictation Journal.
- Say, "Who is your classmate?"

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average between 642 and 798 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average between 645 and 802 of those words would be completely decodable.

- Make copies of the Preview Spellings chart for Lesson 12 located in Teacher Resources.

Lesson 12: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus: Students will revise and expand oral sentences using the decodable conjunctions and, but, so, and or. TEKS 1.11.D

USE CONJUNCTIONS IN SENTENCES (15 MIN.)

- Remind students that when they speak or write, they should strive to make their speaking or writing interesting. Remind students that one way they can do this is by adding words called conjunctions to join phrases and sentences.
- Conjunctions are tiny words that connect phrases and sentences.
- Say, “Kay can take a cab.” Point out that Kay can take a cab. is a sentence.
- Ask students how they might expand this sentence and make it longer.
- One way we can expand sentences and make them longer is to use tiny words called conjunctions to connect one sentence to another. Common conjunctions are and, but, so, and or. Write and, but, so, and or on the board/chart paper.
- Demonstrate aloud how to expand sentences using each of the above conjunctions. For example, you could say, “Kay can take a cab and get to the airport in a flash. Kay can take a cab or wait for the bus. Kay takes a cab so she can get to the airport. Kay can take a cab, but there is a traffic jam.”
- Ask students to create other sentences aloud using the conjunctions and, but, so, and or. Note that and joins like phrases or sentences, but joins a phrase that changes the direction of the sentence, so indicates cause, and or offers choices.
- Work with students to expand sentences of their choosing.

Connecting Ideas

Beginning

Provide students with multiple choice options and ask them to choose appropriate conjunctions: “Kay’s dad paid for the cab (so/and/but) he did not want to.”

Intermediate

Give students word pairs and ask them to join the words in sentences using a variety of conjunctions: “wetlands—desert” could become “You can visit wetlands or the desert.” “You can visit wetlands and the desert.” or “You can visit the wetlands but you can’t visit the desert.” Discuss the difference in meaning that each conjunction conveys.

Advanced/Advanced High

Offer students a list of actions and encourage them to combine them using a variety of conjunctions.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview the following vocabulary before reading today’s story. Allow students to ask questions to clarify the meaning of these words and phrases as necessary:

hire—v., to pay someone to do a job (46)

Example: We will have to hire a plumber to fix our sink.

boasts—v., brags; speaks proudly (48)

Example: Our coach boasts about how well we played.

Sayings and Phrases

out of date—old; not current or recent (48)

Example: That phone number is out of date.

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to expand and/or build on other students' responses.

ELPS 4.G

- If students cannot remember a spelling pattern, write an example word containing that pattern on the board/chart paper. Have the student read it, then ask which letters stand for /ae/ in the word. Add the spelling to the list and write the example word on the list.
- Ask students to provide additional example words for each spelling (at least one per spelling).
- Repeat with the spellings for /oe/.

/ae/	/oe/
1. a_e: fade, trade	4. o_e: hope, hole
2. ai: wait, rain	5. oa: soap, road
3. ay: lay, day

Teacher Chaining

- Write say on the board.
- Ask a student to read the word.
- Remove 's' and add 'p' to create pay.
- As you make this change, ask students, "If that is say, what is this?"
- Ask students what change you made to the word say to get the word pay. Ask them whether you changed the first, middle, or last sound/spelling.
- Continue this process with the remaining words.
- When you come to the end of the first chain, erase the board and begin the next chain.

Lesson 13: “Mister Gomez”

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell words with vowel teams, VCe syllables, and r-controlled syllables. TEKS 1.2.C.i

SPELLING PRACTICE (15 MIN.)

- Explain to students that they are going to practice spelling words with vowel teams, VCe syllables, and r-controlled syllables along with some of the words from this week’s spelling list.
- Say, “R-controlled vowel sounds are made by combining a vowel and the letter r. In this combination, the r changes the vowel so it makes the /er/ sound in combinations such as ir, er, and ur. In bird, the ir makes the /er/ sound. I also see the single consonant b and the single consonant d. Say this word with me: /b/ /er/ /d/.”
- Say, “Vowel digraphs are two vowels that make one vowel sound, such as the long o spelled ‘oa’ in boat. In eat, I see the vowel digraph ‘ea,’ which makes the /ee/ sound. I also see the single consonant t. Say this word with me: /ee/ /t/.”
- Say, “I see the pattern vowel-consonant-silent e in lake. This pattern creates a long vowel sound. Say this word with me: /l/ /ay/ /k/.”
- Read aloud the words from the box below. Have students use their Dictation Journal to spell the words gain	beast	brainstorm

groan	playground	airplane
coach	germ	cake
float	layer	classmate railway	first	side
beak	burn	stone

- Point out that their spelling words (not including the Tricky Word) are included in the list. After they write the words, have them circle vowel teams (ai, oa, ay, ea, ou), underline r-controlled vowels (er, ur, or, ir, ar), and draw a box around words with VCe syllables (airplane, cake, classmate, side, stone). Circulate to offer corrective feedback as needed. Note: You may need to point out that some words, such as railway, layer, airplane, brainstorm, and playground contain more than one pattern.

Lesson 13: Instructional Writing
Writing

Primary Focus: Students will be introduced to the elements of clear instructional writing by listening to example instructions for drawing two pictures, and by identifying which examples are clear instructions. TEKS 1.1.B

INTRODUCE INSTRUCTIONAL WRITING (25 MIN.)

Example 1: Drawing a Picture

- Tell students that in today’s lesson, and in the next several lessons, they will work on creating and writing instructions.
- Ask students what instructions are and what they might be used for. (a set of steps that tell you how to do or make something)

TEKS 1.1.B Follow, restate, and give oral instructions that involve a short, related sequence of actions.

- Explain that you will read a set of instructions that you will follow on the board/chart paper.
- Read aloud the instructions from the box, then complete each step of the instructions as you read them.

Note: This first set of instructions is deliberately confusing. You may want to exaggerate your confusion by interpreting each step literally to help illustrate the point.

Example 1: Drawing a Picture

Instructions

- Go to the board.
- Pick up a marker.
- Draw two squares.
- Draw a triangle.
- Draw a rectangle.
- Draw a box around the squares and the rectangle.

- Ask students to guess what the picture is supposed to be. (It should not be recognizable as a house at this point.)

Revised Instructions

- Explain that you will read new instructions for the same process and will follow these instructions on the board/chart paper.
- Read aloud the instructions from the next box. Complete each step of the instructions, or ask a student to do so, as you read them. Be sure to read the title “Drawing a House” aloud, as well as the number preceding each step.

Example 1: Revised

Instructions: Drawing a House

1. Go to the board.
2. Pick up a marker.
3. Draw a large box on the board.
4. Draw a triangle-shaped roof on top of the box.
5. Draw a rectangle for a door inside the box.
6. Draw two squares for windows on each side of the door inside the box.

Challenge

Ask a student to execute the instructions as you read them aloud.

- Ask students which set of instructions was more helpful for drawing a house and why. (The steps in the revised instructions had a title, were complete and clear, and they were given in a logical order and numbered.)
- Emphasize that a very important part in writing instructions is to make sure that the steps are complete, clear, and in logical order.
- Discuss what happens if the steps in a set of instructions are not complete or in a logical order.

Example 2: Drawing a Picture

- Distribute blank paper and tell students to take out a pencil.
- Explain that you are going to read a set of instructions for a different process, and this time you want everyone to follow the instructions on a piece of paper.
- Read the instructions from the box. Have students complete each step of the instructions as you read.

Note: This first set of instructions is deliberately confusing. Do not read the title aloud. Also, do not introduce the steps with numbers.

Example 2: Drawing a Picture

Instructions

Pick up your pencil.

Make two dots on the paper.

Draw a curved line.

Draw a circle.

- After you have read the instructions, have students hold up their pictures and tell them to look around the room to see if the pictures look the same. (They probably will not look the same at this point.)
- Ask students to guess what the picture is supposed to be. (It may or may not be recognizable as a smiley face at this point.)
- Ask students why their pictures look different from one another. (The instructions were not very clear or detailed.)

Revised Instructions

- Explain that you will read new instructions for the same process and that you want students to turn over their papers and follow the instructions.
- Read the instructions from the next box. Have students complete each step of the instructions as you are reading them. This time you should read the title “Drawing a Smiley Face” aloud, as well as the number preceding each step. (You may introduce the steps with numbers or with the words first, second, etc.)

Example 2: Revised

Instructions: Drawing a Smiley Face

1. Pick up your pencil.
2. Draw a large circle.
3. Make two dots for eyes inside the circle.
4. Draw a smile below the eyes.

- After you have read the instructions, have students hold up their pictures and tell them to look around the room to see if the pictures look the same. (Now the pictures should look very similar.)
- Ask students why the pictures now look very similar. (The instructions were clear and were given in logical order so that all students had a good idea of what they needed to draw.)
- Ask students which set of instructions was more helpful for drawing a smiley face and why. (The steps in the revised instructions had a title, were complete and clear, and they were given in a logical order and numbered.)
- Discuss what happens if the steps in a set of instructions are not complete or in a logical order.
- Summarize by explaining that good instructions have several characteristics:
 1. The instructions have a title.
 2. The steps are numbered in a logical order.
 3. All steps are complete.

End Lesson

Support

Ensure that students can map each characteristic to the instructions. Ask them to identify the title, what makes a given step complete, and why the steps are in logical order. You may want to explain that logical means to make sense. Pause after each set of instructions and ask: “Does that make more sense?”

- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 13.1 for each student.
- On the front of the activity page have students add commas to the sentences.
- On the back of the activity page, have students make a list of three related items (e.g., dogs, cats, pigs; red, green, blue).
- Confirm that students have listed three related items, then on a separate piece of paper have them write a sentence that includes the three items in a series, using commas to separate the items.

Reconstructing Sentences

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 13.2 or write the sentences from the box onto a piece of paper.

1. The oak tree has thick branches.
2. You use your brain when you think.
3. The sink would not drain yesterday.
4. The soap makes a lot of foam!
5. Explain the rules of the game to us.
6. Can we play today if there is no rain?

- Cut the sentences into their individual words and place them into envelopes (one sentence per envelope).
- Have students reconstruct the sentences. Point out that some of the words can be rearranged in different configurations and still be correct.
- Have students copy the sentences on paper, including correct end punctuation.
- Have students choose a sentence to copy and illustrate.

Purpose for Reading

- Tell students to read today’s story to find out what Kay and Martez mean by saying they have a house in the clouds.

READ “A HOUSE IN THE CLOUDS” (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Meet with students needing more direct support. Listen as students take turns reading “A House in the Clouds” aloud.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “A House in the Clouds,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Group 2: Tell students to take turns reading “A House in the Clouds.”

Tell them that if they finish early, they can illustrate one of the words or phrases on the board/chart paper, or reread a previous story in the Reader.

Reading

Evaluating Language Choices

Beginning

Ask students yes/no or simple questions: “Are the piles of stone very high?” “Can they touch the clouds?” “Are Kay and Martez in a real house?”

Intermediate

Prompt students to evaluate phrases by asking questions: “What do you think it means to scrape the clouds?” “What is a house in the clouds?”

Advanced/Advanced High

Ask students to evaluate the phrases scrape the clouds and house in the clouds. Ask students why they think the author may have chosen those phrases. Encourage students to expand on other students’ responses.

ELPS 1.H; ELPS 4.G

Wrap-Up

- Use the following discussion questions to guide conversation about the story. Remember to encourage students to answer in complete sentences. When answering a question, ask students to cite the part of the story that guided their answer.

Discussion Questions on “A House in the Clouds”

1. Literal. What are the vast piles of stone Mister Gomez takes Martez, Kay, and Kay’s mom and dad to see?
 - » Aztec shrines
2. Inferential. What does it mean that the piles of stone seem to “scrape the clouds”?
 - » Answers may vary, but should cite evidence from the text.
3. Inferential. Why do Kay and Martez have to tilt their necks to see the tops of the piles of stone?
 - » They have to tilt their necks because the tops are so high up.
4. Literal. What do Kay and Martez want to do?
 - » Kay and Martez want to go to the top of one of the shrines.
5. Evaluative. What does Martez mean by “a house in the clouds”?
 - » Answers may vary, but should cite evidence from the text.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question. Note student performance in the Discussion Questions Record, noting whether the question answered was literal, inferential, or evaluative, and whether the student answered in a complete sentence and/or cited evidence from the text.

Compare and Contrast

- Refer to the chart you prepared in advance.
- Working with different students in turn, ask them to first answer the literal question (what they did) and then find evidence in the text for different experiences. You could also ask different small groups to do this on a piece of paper. If doing this on the board/chart paper, fill in as follows.

➤ Digital Component 14.2

	Kay's Mom and Dad	Kay and Martez

Their Experience	Stayed on the ground [Couldn't see for miles and miles] [Didn't feel like they had a house in the clouds]	Could see for miles and miles Felt like they had a house in the clouds Thought Kay's parents looked like bugs

Check for Understanding

Ask students to summarize aloud the differences between Kay and Martez's experience and Kay's mom and dad's experience.

Lesson 14: Instructional Writing

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will be introduced to the principle of sequencing in instructional writing by examining examples of poor instructional sequencing and then revising the instructions, giving oral instructions that involve a short, related sequence of actions. TEKS 1.1.B; TEKS 1.9.D.iii; TEKS 1.12.B

SEQUENCING STEPS (35 MIN.) TEKS 1.1.B

Note: The goal of today's lesson is for students to realize how important it is that instructional steps are in logical order.

Fix Sequence of Poor Instructions

- Remind students that in the previous lesson they learned about instructions. Ask students what instructions are and what they are used for. (They are a set of steps that tell you how to do or make something.)
- Tell students that a very important part in writing instructions is to make sure that the steps are complete, clear, and in logical order.

TEKS 1.1.B Follow, restate, and give oral instructions that involve a short, related sequence of actions; TEKS 1.9.D.iii Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including organizational patterns such as chronological order and description with adult assistance; TEKS 1.12.B Dictate or compose informational texts, including procedural texts.

- Ask students what happened in the previous lesson when the instructions for drawing a house and drawing a smiley face were not complete, clear, and in logical order. (The instructions were difficult to follow and the results differed.)
- Tell students that they will be working with instructions again today, focusing specifically on the importance of putting steps in a logical order.
- Read the instructions for Example 1 from the following box and let all or some students complete the steps as you are reading them.
- The focus of this activity is on the sequencing of the instructional steps. Read the title out loud but do not introduce the steps with numbers. Be sure to pause and give students time to complete each step.

Example 1: Taking Shoes and Socks Off and Putting Them Back On

Take your shoes off.

Take your socks off.

Put your shoes back on.

Put your socks back on.

- Discuss what the problem was with these instructions. (The steps were out of order.)
- Prompt students to correct the instructions. (Students need to correct the order of the last two steps so that they put their socks on before their shoes.)
- Ask students how their new instructions were different from the first set of instructions for putting on shoes. (The steps were in logical order.)

Students Fix Sequence of Poor Instructions

- Read the instructions for Example 2 from the following box and let all or some students complete the steps as you are reading them.
- The focus of this activity is on the sequencing of the instructional steps. Read the title out loud but do not introduce the steps with numbers. Be sure to pause and give students time to complete each step.

Example 2: Reading with a Partner

Take out your Readers.

Take turns reading with your partner.

Turn to “A House in the Clouds” in your Readers.

Sit with a partner.

- Discuss with students what the problem was with these instructions. (The steps were out of order.)
- Prompt students to correct the instructions. Students need to correct the order of the last three steps so that they sit with a partner first, then find the story to read, and then take turns reading.
- Ask students how their new instructions were different from the first set of instructions for reading with a partner. (The steps were in logical order.)
- Summarize by saying that good instructions have complete and clear steps that are given in logical order.

Class Creates Logical Sequence

- Distribute Activity Pages 14.1 and 14.2.

➤ Digital Component 14.3

- Display the copy of Activity Page 14.1 which you prepared prior to this lesson.
- Tell students that in the first two activities they worked on putting instructional steps in logical order aloud. For this next activity they will cut out pictures and sentences and paste them in the proper order to create clear written instructions for planting seeds.
- Point to the display copy of Activity Page 14.1 and ask students to refer to their individual activity pages.
- Explain that, once complete, this activity page will give students an idea of what good written instructions look like.
- Remind students that they were asked to follow different sets of directions—good and bad—in the previous lesson and today’s lesson. Ask them to name the characteristics of good instructions. (There is a title and steps are complete and numbered in a logical order.)
- Begin by pointing to and reading aloud the title “Planting Seeds.” Tell students that this is the title and it tells what the instructions are about. Good instructions have a title.

Activity Pages
14.1, 14.2

- Tell students good written instructions also usually include a starting sentence that summarizes what the instructions are about.
- Read the sentence, “The steps tell you how to plant seeds.” Explain that this sentence is an example of a good starting sentence.
- Next, point to the numbers one through five on the activity page and remind students that another characteristic of good instructions is that there are numbered steps in logical order. Explain that the written steps for planting seeds will go in these numbered spots on the activity page.

➤ Digital Component 14.4

- Now ask students to look at Activity Page 14.2. Explain that these pictures and sentences describe the steps needed to plant seeds, but right now the steps are not in the correct order. Read the sentences with students and explain that the picture next to each sentence illustrates what the sentence describes.
- Have students cut out the boxes on Activity Page 14.2.
- Tell students to put the boxes in the order they think is correct on Activity Page 14.1. As students complete this, have them paste the boxes to the paper.

Challenge

Ask students to come up with their own simple instructions and present them out of order to another student. Ask the other student to offer the instructions back in a logical sequence. This could also be done as a game with a scoreboard.

GIVING GOOD SPOKEN INSTRUCTIONS (20 MIN.) TEKS 1.1.B

Example 1: Students Give Instructions

- Tell students that so far you have been providing instructions.
- Today the whole class is going to work together to come up with instructions for something they do all the time—washing their hands.
- Remind students that good instructions include a title that tells what the instructions are about. Tell students the title of these instructions is “Washing Hands.”
- Remind students that good instructions also usually include a starting sentence that summarizes what the instructions are about.
- Tell them an example of a good starting sentence for these instructions: “These steps tell you how to wash your hands.”
- Ask one student to come to the front of the class and act out how to wash their hands. Tell the student just to pantomime, not to talk.
- Ask the student to act out one step at a time. As soon as the student finishes a single step or action, ask them to stop. Then say, “So the first step in hand washing is . . .” and describe what the student did.
- Ask the student to act out the next step.
- Now encourage the other students to describe or put into words the next

TEKS 1.1.B Follow, restate, and give oral instructions that involve a short, related sequence of actions; TEKS 1.1.D Work collaboratively with others by following agreed-upon rules for discussion, including listening to others, speaking when recognized, and making appropriate contributions.

step/set of actions the first student is pantomiming. Be sure to guide and restate students' verbalizations so they are clear and accurate, including words and phrases like "step 2 . . ." or "the second step . . ."

- Continue in this manner until the remaining hand-washing steps have been pantomimed and described.
- Remind students that good instructions also usually include a result sentence that states the outcome of the instructions if the steps are followed correctly.
- Ask students to think about why people wash their hands. Ask them, "What do we want to end up with when we finish?" (clean hands)
- Tell them a good example of a result sentence for these instructions: "If you do all the steps, you will have clean hands."
- Summarize by saying that they worked together to create good instructions for washing hands. The instructions had a title, a starting sentence, complete and clear steps that were given in the correct order, and a result sentence.

Example 2: Students Give Instructions

- Choose two students and ask the second student to leave the room for a few minutes.
- While the student is outside, explain to the first student and the rest of the class that they will work on giving good spoken instructions.
- Show a simple picture (e.g., a flower) to the class. Explain that you want the first student to give the second student instructions for drawing the flower when the second student is back in the room.
- Quickly review the characteristics of good instructions: title, starting sentence, numbered steps in a logical order, and a result sentence.
- Give the picture of the flower to the first student. Remind them not to show this picture to the second student.
- Call the second student back into the room and explain that the first student is going to give instructions for how to draw something and that they should try to draw the picture on the board/chart paper.
- Have the first student give the instructions. As needed, prompt the student to begin with a title for the instructions and a starting sentence.
- If the first student gets off target in giving the steps, recap what has been done so far. Involve the class in helping the student give better instructions.
- Encourage the student to begin each step with a phrase like

Challenge

Ask students who are ready to give oral instructions more independently to complete the activity with a partner rather than as a whole class.

“The first step is . . .” and end the instructions with a result sentence.

- As time allows, repeat this activity with other simple pictures.
- Remind students that good instructions consist of a title, a starting sentence, complete and clear steps that are numbered and given in a logical order, and a result sentence.
- Tell students that today they have been working on giving good instructions aloud. Next they will learn about a process that will help them when writing instructions.

Review the Writing Process

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Display The Writing Process graphic that you prepared in advance. Keep this chart on display in the classroom for students to refer to anytime they are writing.
- Briefly review the three steps that good writers use when they want to write.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Foundational Skills

- Write the following words on index cards: mask, cold, neck, tarp, dash, mark, mush, trash, child, dark for alphabetizing.

Reading

- Plan to assign student pairs for partner reading.

➤ Digital Component 16.1

- Create the Preview Spellings chart (Digital Component 16.1) for Introduce the Story on the board/chart paper, or use the digital version.

Writing

➤ Digital Components 16.2, 16.3

- Create enlarged versions of Activity Pages 16.2 and 16.3 (Digital Components 16.2, 16.3) to display for Planning and Drafting, or use the digital versions. You will also need to display The Writing Process graphic from Lesson 15.

➤ Digital Components 16.4, 16.5

- Plan to write the decodable steps and sentences from the Instructional Writing charts for Planning and Drafting (Digital Components 16.4 and 16.5), or use the digital versions.

Universal Access

- Make copies of the Preview Spellings chart for Lesson 16 located in Teacher Resources

Lesson 16: “The Market”

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will alphabetize a series of words to the second letter and use a dictionary to find words. TEKS 1.2.E

ALPHABETIZE WORDS AND USE A DICTIONARY (10 MIN.)

Alphabetizing Words

- Use the following strategies and routines to teach and reinforce how to alphabetize a series of words to the second letter.
- Write these words in a line on the board: start, your, thank, year, wrap. Say, “Let’s look at and say some words we have been learning and then list them in alphabetical order. Remember we start by looking at the first letter. The letter s comes before the letters t, w, and y in the alphabet, so I will write start first in our list. The letter t comes after s and before w and y, so the next word in our list is thank.” Ask students which word should come next in your list. (wrap) Say, “Yes. The letter w comes after s and t in the alphabet, and I will write wrap under thank.”
- Then ask students what letter the remaining two words begin with. (y) Tell students that to figure out the correct order of these words, they will have to look at the second letter of each word. Ask students which letter comes first: o or e. (e) Say, “Because e comes before o, we know that year comes before your.” Write year and your in order.
- Use the index cards prepared in advance with the words: mask, cold, neck, tarp, dash, mark, mush, trash, child, dark. Distribute them to ten students who then stand randomly at the front of the class. Have another volunteer name which word comes first in alphabetical order. The student with that word should move to the left to start a line of words in alphabetical order. Continue having students name words until all of the cards are in order.

TEKS 1.2.E Alphabetize a series of words to the first or second letter and use a dictionary to find words.

Using a Dictionary

- Explain to students that sometimes we hear or read words that are unfamiliar. We can use certain strategies to clarify the meaning of these words. To clarify the meaning of words:
 - Identify the word.
 - Ask yourself: What other words surround this word? Where have you heard this word before?
 - Finally, identify which resource materials you can use to define the word, such as a simple dictionary or glossary.
- Choose a book from the classroom library that uses words that students may not know. Read a few pages aloud.
- Say, “I am not sure I know the word _____. Point to the word. I will think about the other words that are around this word. I will also think about where I have heard this word before. What words are around the word I have chosen? Let’s brainstorm where we may have heard this word before.”
- If the book has a glossary, say, “This book has a glossary. I can go to the back of the book and use the alphabetized list of words to find my word. When I find the word, I can confirm what it means.
- If the book does not have a glossary, say, “This book does not have a glossary, but I can use a simple dictionary, find the first letter of the word, and use the alphabetized list of words to find my word. When I find the word, I can confirm the meaning.”
- Display a Read-Aloud or other classroom text. Read the text for the class, and circle a word that students may be unfamiliar with. Have students use the strategy from the model to clarify the meaning of the word you circled.

Lesson 16: “The Market” Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Market” with purpose and understanding; will answer oral literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about key events in the story; and will write an opinion citing evidence from the story. TEKS 1.4; TEKS 1.7.C

INTRODUCE THE STORY (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that today’s story is called “The Market.” Discuss with students what markets are, and what people might buy and sell at them.

TEKS 1.4 Use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 1.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Wrap-Up

- Use the following discussion questions to guide conversation about the story. Remember to encourage students to answer in complete sentences. When answering a question, ask students to cite the part of the story that guided their answer.

Discussion Questions on “The Market”

1. Literal. Where did Kay, Martez, and Kay’s mom and dad go?
 - » They went to a market.
2. Literal. What does the mask that Kay’s mom likes look like?
 - » The mask is red with glitter.
3. Literal. Why did the man make the red mask with glitter?
 - » The man made the red mask with glitter to use for dancing on holidays.
4. Inferential. How does Kay’s mom feel about buying the mask? Give an example from the story that helps you know.
 - » Answers may vary, but should indicate Kay’s mom was feeling happy, excited, joyful, etc. Examples might include that Kay’s mom says, “that is fun”; she thinks the man worked hard to make the mask; she puts on her new mask.
5. Evaluative Think-Pair-Share Would you have bought the mask for the price the man was asking? Why or why not?
 - » Answers may vary.

Lesson 16: Instructional Writing Writing

Primary Focus

Students will dictate or compose informational texts, including procedural texts.

TEKS 1.12.B

Students will review the steps for writing instructions in logical order and will use a template to draft a set of instructions for brushing teeth.

PLANNING AND DRAFTING (30 MIN.)

TEKS 1.12.B

Planning

➤ Digital Component 16.2

- Display the blank planning template (Digital Component 16.2) that you prepared in advance.
- Referring to The Writing Process graphic, quickly review the three steps of the writing process—plan, draft, and edit.
- Point to the first step on The Writing Process graphic and explain that students are going to begin with the first step in the writing process. They are going to think about and plan instructions for how to brush teeth.
- Remind students that they have talked about a number of characteristics of good instructions. Encourage them to review any of the characteristics they remember.
- Emphasize how important clarity and order of the steps are in any set of instructions and ask students what happened in previous lessons when the instructions were poor. (The instructions were difficult to follow.)
- Remind students that complete steps in a logical order are important for instructions. During this planning part of the process for writing instructions, you will focus on planning complete and logical steps.

TEKS 1.11.A Plan a first draft by generating ideas for writing such as by drawing and brainstorming; TEKS 1.11.B.i Develop drafts in oral, pictorial, or written form by organizing with structure; TEKS 1.12.B Dictate or compose informational texts, including procedural texts.

Activity Pages
16.2, 16.3

- Tell students the first thing you will do is complete the statement that begins: “The steps tell you how to: . . .”
- Prompt students to help you, then write the phrase: “brush your teeth” in the box.
- Explain that you are going to act out the steps for brushing teeth and that students should describe what it is that you do in each step. Tell students that you will use the template to jot down their ideas.
- Act out the first step, wetting your toothbrush, then pause and ask students to describe the step aloud: (e.g., “The first step is to get the toothbrush wet.”). Write the words wet toothbrush in the first box.
- Remind students that when we plan, it is OK to just write down words and phrases so we do not forget our ideas.
- Continue in this manner through the remaining steps. Be sure to pause after you act out each additional step and ask students to describe it.
- After you have acted out a step and the class has described it aloud, have students join you in acting out the entire series of steps.
- Tell students the last thing you will do is complete the result statement. Tell students that the result statement should say what happens when you follow all of these steps.
- Prompt students to help you, then write the phrases: clean mouth and fresh smile.
- When all the steps have been acted out and described, tell students that they just completed the first part of the writing process. They planned five instructional steps for brushing teeth. Good writers plan ahead to organize their ideas.

➤ Digital Component 16.4

1. wet toothbrush
2. toothpaste on toothbrush
3. brush teeth
4. rinse mouth
5. rinse toothbrush

Drafting

➤ Digital Component 16.3

- Display the blank drafting template (Digital Component 16.3) that you prepared in advance.
- Point to the second step on the writing process chart and explain that they will now work on drafting the instructions for brushing teeth.
- Point to the top line and explain that when writing instructions, students first have to write the title or the name of the instructions. The title is what the instructions are about.
- Remind students that these instructions are about brushing teeth. On the template, write the title “How to Brush Teeth.”
- Explain that the next thing they need to write is a starting sentence. The starting sentence for instructions summarizes what the instructions are about. It starts with “The steps tell you how to . . .”
- Refer to your planning template and ask a student to read the completed statement: “The steps tell you how to brush your teeth.” Complete the starting sentence on the draft template and have students read the sentence aloud.
- Point to the numbered lines on the draft and ask students what might go next to each number. (each individual step)
- Explain that the starting sentence is followed by the steps of the instructions.
- Remind students of the steps they came up with during the planning phase, acting out each step again if needed.
- Ask students to describe the individual steps as complete sentences and then write them on the template. Be sure to write all of your steps in decodable sentences or display the digital version.
- Have students read the sentences after you are finished.
- When all five steps have been written, explain that the last thing they need to write in a draft is the result sentence.
- Explain that a result sentence includes the words if and then. It starts with “If you do all of the steps, then . . .”
- Write the result sentence on the template and have students read it aloud. (e.g., “If you do all of the steps, then you will have clean teeth.”)
- Point out that the starting sentence, each step sentence, and the result sentence all start with a capital letter and end with correct punctuation.

➤ Digital Component 16.5

How to Brush Teeth

The steps tell you how to brush your teeth.

1. Wet your toothbrush.
2. Place toothpaste on your toothbrush.
3. Brush your teeth.
4. Rinse your mouth.
5. Rinse your toothbrush.

If you follow all of the steps, then you will have clean teeth.

- Tell students they just completed the second step in the writing process.

Review: Planning and Drafting

- With the draft of the instructions for brushing teeth still displayed, point to The Writing Process graphic and remind students of the first two steps that are involved in writing instructions (plan and draft).
- Explain that they can draft instructions using the draft template, which students can find on Activity Page 16.2.
- Explain that this time they did not do the last step in the writing process (edit). Tell students they will edit in later lessons.
- Summarize by saying that good instructions have a title, a starting sentence, complete and clear steps that are numbered and given in correct order, and a result sentence.
- Have students write a set of instructions on their own, using Activity Pages 16.2 and 16.3. Possible topics are “How to Draw the Sun” and “Feeding a Pet.” You may wish to list decodable topics on the board/chart paper or assign topics to students.

GRAMMAR REVIEW

Conjunctions and Punctuation

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Language

Students will revise and expand oral sentences using the decodable conjunctions

- ✚ and, but, so, and or. TEKS 1.11.C

Students will punctuate sentences, adding periods, exclamation points, question

- ✚ marks, and commas in the appropriate places. TEKS 1.11.D.ix

Reading

- ✚ Students will decode multisyllable words with /ae/ > 'ai' and 'ay'. TEKS 1.2.B.iii

Students will read "A Rainforest Ride" with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal questions about key events in the story.

Connecting and Condensing Ideas

Beginning

Read a sentence you prepared in advance and ask students to identify the conjunction in the sentence: “Kay’s Mom likes a mask but she does not have a lot of cash.” “The red dish has hot peppers so Kay did not like it.”

Intermediate

Read a simple sentence you prepared in advance and provide students with an appropriate conjunction for them to expand/connect ideas: “Martez splashes in the pool and Kay . . .” “Carlos drives the cab but Kay’s dad . . .”

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to expand and create more complex sentences using conjunctions.

ELPS 3.C

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Language (Grammar)

- Prepare several sentences that can be expanded upon using and, but, so, and or. Create sentences that reference the Reader content (e.g., “Martez splashes in the pool.” “The red dish has hot peppers.” “Kay’s mom likes a mask.” “Carlos drives the cab.”)

Reading

- Prepare to read with students who were in Group 2 in the previous lesson. Students in Group 1 should partner read.

Universal Access

- Gather the Knowledge Strand Domain 8 Animals and Habitats Flip Book and Image Cards to review before reading “A Rainforest Ride.”

Lesson 18: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus

Students will revise and expand oral sentences using the decodable conjunctions and, but, so, and or. TEKS 1.11.C

Students will punctuate sentences, adding periods, exclamation points, question marks, and commas in the appropriate places. TEKS 1.11.D.ix

CONJUNCTIONS IN SENTENCES (15 MIN.)

- Remind students that when they speak or write, they should strive to make their speaking or writing interesting. Remind students that one way they can do this is by adding words called conjunctions to join phrases and sentences.
- Conjunctions are words that connect phrases and sentences together.
- Write the following on the board/chart paper: Kay will visit the market. Explain that this is a sentence. Ask students how they can tell it is a sentence. (It begins with a capital letter and ends with a period.)
- Point out that this is a simple sentence, that is, it only tells us one thing: that Kay will go to the market.
- Ask students how they might expand this sentence and make it longer.

TEKS 1.11.C Revise drafts by adding details in pictures or words; TEKS 1.11.D.ix Edit drafts using conventions of standard English, including punctuation marks at the end of declarative, exclamatory, and interrogative sentences.

- One way we can expand sentences and make them longer is to use words called conjunctions to connect one sentence to another. Common conjunctions are and, but, so, and or. Write and, but, so, and or on the board/chart paper.
- Demonstrate aloud how to expand sentences using each of the above conjunctions: “Kay will visit the market and get a gift for Martez. Kay will visit the market, but cannot tell Martez. Kay will visit the market so she can buy a gift for Martez. Kay will visit the market or make a gift for Martez herself.”
- Ask students to create other sentences aloud using and, but, so, and or. Have students share their sentences with a partner. Explain that and joins like phrases or sentences, but joins a phrase that changes the direction of the sentence, so indicates cause, and or offers choices.
- Work with students to expand sentences of their choosing. Invite a few students to write their sentences on the board/chart paper and discuss the use of conjunctions with the class.

PUNCTUATION PRACTICE (20 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Page 18.1 to practice placing commas in a series. They should also include the correct punctuation at the end of each sentence.

Activity Page 18.1: Punctuation Practice

Collect Activity Page 18.1 and review for correct comma placement within a series and correct end punctuation.

Activity Page 18.1

Reading Closely*Beginning

Ask yes/no or simple questions: "What did Kay and Martez see in the rainforest?" "Did Kay's mom and dad think the zip line was safe?" "Do Kay and Martez have fun on the zip line?"

Intermediate

Provide students with a specific sentence frame: "Kay and Martez saw . . ." "Kay's mom and dad think . . ." "Kay and Martez have . . ."

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to expand and/or build from other students' responses.

Lesson 18: "A Rainforest Ride"Reading*Primary Focus

- Students will decode multisyllable words with /ae/ > 'ai' and 'ay'. TEKS 1.2.B.iii

Students will read "A Rainforest Ride" with purpose and understanding and will answer oral literal questions about key events in the story.

- TEKS 1.4; TEKS 1.7.B; TEKS 1.7.C

REREAD "A RAINFOREST RIDE" (25 MIN.)Small Group

Group 2: Meet with students who read with a partner during the previous lesson. Listen as students take turns reading aloud "A Rainforest Ride." Work with students to complete Activity Page 18.2, referring back to the story to help them answer the questions.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read "A Rainforest Ride," make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Group 1: Have students take turns reading "A Rainforest Ride."

They should then complete Activity Page 18.2, referring back to the story to help them answer the questions. Tell them if they finish early, they can reread a previous story in the Reader.

Activity Page 18.2: Story Questions

Collect Activity Page 18.2 and review student responses for accuracy regarding key details.

- TEKS 1.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables; TEKS 1.4 Use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 1.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts; TEKS 1.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Reconstructing Sentences

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 18.1 or write the sentences from the box onto a piece of paper.
- Cut the sentences into their individual words and place them into envelopes (one sentence per envelope).
- Have students reconstruct the sentences. Point out that some of the words can be rearranged in different configurations and still be correct.
- Have students copy the sentences on paper, including correct punctuation.

1. You need a hat mittens and a coat in the winter
2. They took a train an airplane and a boat on their trip
3. I would like a cat a goat or a toad for a pet
4. I took my letter to the mailbox yesterday
5. Kay's dress is green blue and pink
6. I like toast with jam cheese and chips for lunch

SILENT READING COMPREHENSION

End-of-Year
Assessment

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will be assessed on their ability to read a text and comprehend

- ✚ what they are reading. TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.6.G

Students will silently read the story “Shark and Wee Fish” and answer multiple-choice literal, inferential, and evaluative questions concerning

- ✚ key events in the story. TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.6.G

Students will read “The Dive” with purpose and understanding; will answer written literal questions about key events in the story; and will write an opinion based on

- ✚ events in the story. TEKS 1.7.B

✚ TEKS 1.6.F Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding with adult assistance; TEKS 1.6.G Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance; TEKS 1.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

The Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment should be given to the whole class in one sitting. Ask students to tear out Activity Pages 19.1 and 19.2. Allow students 30 minutes to silently read the story on Activity Page 19.1 and to answer the multiple-choice comprehension questions on Activity Page 19.2. Students should be allowed (and encouraged) to look back at the story as they answer the questions. Collect the activity pages after 30 minutes. (Ability to read the story and answer the questions in a fixed length of time is part of the assessment.)

You may find the use of file folder study carrels a useful tool for student assessment.

Reading

- Write the following decodable sentences on cards or sentence strips large enough for students to be able to easily read them.

- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1. Rub your hair. | 5. Soak in a tub. |
| 2. Croak like a toad. | 6. Bite your toast. |
| 3. Moan and groan. | 7. Wash your hands with soap. |
| 4. Dump it in the drain. | 8. Pat your throat. |

Lesson 19: End-of-Year Assessment

Reading

Primary Focus

Students will be assessed on their ability to read a text and comprehend what they are reading. TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.6.G

Students will silently read the story “Shark and Wee Fish” and answer multiple-choice literal, inferential, and evaluative questions concerning key events in the story. TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.6.G

Students will read “The Dive” with purpose and understanding; will answer written literal questions about key events in the story; and will write an opinion based on events in the story. TEKS 1.7.B

SILENT READING COMPREHENSION ASSESSMENT (30 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Pages 19.1 and 19.2.
- Tell students to silently read the story on Activity Page 19.1 then answer the questions on Activity Page 19.2.
- Tell students they should look back to the story if they can't remember an answer.
- Tell students that if they feel tired, it's a good idea to take a short personal break. Explain that they need to respect others in the classroom and stay seated, while quietly looking up to the ceiling, stretching their shoulders, and taking a deep breath or two.
- Encourage students to do their best.
- Once students finish the assessment, encourage them to review their papers, rereading and looking over their answers carefully.
- Again, explain the necessity of respecting that not all classmates will finish at the same time. If they finish and have checked their papers, they should remain quiet for others to finish.

Answer Key for “Shark and Wee Fish”
1. B	3. B	5. B	7. C
2. B	4. B	6. A

- Guidelines for analyzing student scores on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment are found on the next page.
- Record students’ scores on the End-of-Year Summary Sheet (Activity Page 19.3) for each student.
- Once you have scored and sorted student responses on the comprehension section, administer the Fluency Assessment to students who get more than two answers wrong on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment. While you are administering the individual assessments, other students should complete their reports and engage in other independent activities, which may include reading stories in Readers and completing Pausing Point activity pages.

Silent Reading Comprehension Analysis

- The number of questions answered correctly indicates the following:
 - Students who score 4 or fewer questions correctly appear to have poor preparation for Grade 2. Administer the Fluency Assessment and Word Reading in Isolation Assessment.
 - Students who score 5 out of 7 questions correctly appear to have adequate preparation for Grade 2. Administer the Fluency Assessment and Word Reading in Isolation Assessment.
 - Students who score 6 or 7 out of 7 questions correctly have good to outstanding preparation for Grade 2. They need no further testing.
- Also consider whether a student missed literal, inferential, and/or evaluative questions.
 - Literal questions assess students’ recall of key details from the story. These questions are text-dependent, requiring students to paraphrase and/or refer back to the portion of the story in which the specific answer to the question is provided. Literal questions: 1, 2, 4, 5, 6
 - Inferential questions ask students to infer information from the text and think critically. These questions are also text-dependent, but require students to paraphrase and/or refer back to the different portions of the text that provide information leading to and supporting the inference they are making. Inferential question: 3

- Evaluative questions ask students to build upon what they have learned from the text using analytical and application skills. These questions are also text-dependent, but require students to paraphrase and/or refer back to the portion(s) of the story that substantiate the argument they are making or the opinion they are offering. Evaluative question: 7

WIGGLE CARDS (10 MIN.)

- Show students a Wiggle Card that you prepared in advance, have them read it, and let them perform the action on the card.
- Continue with the remaining cards.

READ “THE DIVE” (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Work closely with students in this group to read “The Dive” and complete Activity Page 19.4, providing scaffolding and support as necessary.

Group 2: Have students in this group, who need less support, read “The Dive” independently and complete Activity Page 19.4. If students finish early, they can reread stories from the Kay and Martez Reader. Ask them to choose one story to summarize and retell to a partner.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

The Fluency Assessment provides a more focused, one-on-one assessment for students who incorrectly answered two or more of the seven questions in the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment. To administer this section of the assessment, you will pull students aside individually and ask each to read “Shark and Wee Fish” aloud to you. You should keep a running record during this reading and calculate a Words Correct Per Minute (W.C.P.M.) score using the guidelines that follow. This will provide an indication of fluency. Record students’ scores (in both Oral Reading Comprehension and Fluency) on the End-of-Year Summary Sheet (Activity Page 19.3) for each student.

You may find the use of file folder study carrels a useful tool for student assessment.

Reading

- While you are administering the one-on-one Fluency Assessment, the other students may be rereading stories from their Reader, writing instructional paragraphs, or completing activities and activity pages from the Pausing Point.

Lesson 20: End-of-Year Assessment

Reading

Primary Focus

Students will read “Shark and Wee Fish” aloud with accuracy, appropriate rate, and expression, and will answer literal, inferential, and evaluative questions about the story. TEKS 1.4; TEKS 1.6.F; TEKS 1.6.G

Students will read “At the Airport” with purpose and understanding and will answer multiple-choice and short-answer questions about key events in the story.

TEKS 1.6.G

FLUENCY ASSESSMENT (30 MIN.)

- Have one student at a time come to a quiet assessment area to read “Shark and Wee Fish” with you.

Instructions

- Place a copy of “Shark and Wee Fish” in front of the student. Ask the student to tear out Activity Page 20.1 (a clean copy of “Shark and Wee Fish”) and Activity Page 20.2, the W.C.P.M. Calculation Activity Page from the Activity Book. You will use Activity Page 20.1 to mark as a running record as you listen to the student read aloud.
- Tell the student that you are going to ask them to read the story aloud, including the title.
- Explain that you are going to use a watch to see how long it takes them to read the story. Tell the student that this is not a race; the student should read at their regular pace and not rush.
- Begin timing when the student reads the first word of the title. If you are using a watch, write the exact Start Time, in minutes and seconds, on your record page.
- If you are using a stopwatch, you do not need to write down the start time since the stopwatch will calculate Elapsed Time.

Activity Pages
20.1, 20.2

TEKS 1.4 Use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 1.6.F Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding with adult assistance; TEKS 1.6.G Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

- As the student reads the story, make a running record on the copy with the student's name using the following guidelines:

Words Read Correctly	No mark is required.
Omissions	Draw a long dash above the word omitted.
Insertions	Write a caret (^) at the point where the insertion was made. If you have time, write down the word that was inserted.
Words Read Incorrectly	Write an 'X' above the word.
Substitutions	Write the substitution above the word.
Self-Corrected Errors	Replace original error mark with an 'SC.'
Teacher-Supplied Words	Write a 'T' above the word (counts as an error).

- When the student finishes reading the story, write the exact Finish Time in minutes and seconds on the record sheet.
- Alternatively, if you are using a stopwatch, simply write down the Elapsed Time in minutes and seconds.
- If the student reads very slowly, you may need to stop the reading before the student gets to the end of the story. (Five minutes should be enough time to get a measurement.) If the student does not read to the end, draw a vertical line on the record sheet to indicate how far the student read. Also write down either the Finish Time or the Elapsed Time.
- After the student finishes reading, ask the following comprehension questions to see how much of the story the student understood on the second reading.

Comprehension Questions on “Shark and Wee Fish”

1. Inferential. Why did the fish swim into the cave?
 - » The fish swam into the cave because they were scared Shark would eat them.
2. Literal. Which fish came face to face with Shark?
 - » Wee Fish came face to face with Shark.
3. Literal. What did Wee Fish tell Shark to keep him from eating him?
 - » Wee Fish told Shark that he is king of the reef and that all of the fish are scared of him.
4. Literal. How do the other fish react when they see Wee Fish and Shark?
 - » The other fish are scared of Shark and swim away.
5. Inferential. Who does Shark think the fish are scared of? Who are they really scared of?
 - » Shark thinks the fish are scared of Wee Fish, but the fish are really scared of Shark.
6. Evaluative. Did Shark trick Wee Fish or did Wee Fish trick Shark?
 - » Wee Fish tricked Shark into thinking that Shark should be scared of Wee Fish

- Repeat this process for additional students.
- Scoring can be done later, provided you have kept running records and jotted down either the Elapsed Time or the Start Time and the Finish Time. Record students’ scores in the Oral Reading Comprehension Assessment section on the End-of-Year Summary Sheet (Activity Page 19.3) for each student.

Scoring

- Students who answer 5 or 6 questions correctly may have good to outstanding* preparation for Grade 2.
- Students who answer 4 questions correctly may have adequate* preparation for Grade 2.
- Students who answer 3 or fewer questions correctly may have poor* preparation for Grade 2.

*Reading comprehension accuracy must be considered in conjunction with fluency performance in evaluating overall preparation for Grade 2.

Activity Page 19.3

Guidelines for Calculating W.C.P.M. Scores

- If the reading was fairly accurate (< 10 uncorrected errors), you can get a rough (and easy) estimate of a student's W.C.P.M. score simply by noting the time and looking at the chart on the bottom of Activity Page 20.2.
- To calculate a student's exact W.C.P.M. score, use the information you wrote down on the record sheet and follow the steps described below. The steps are also shown in graphic form on the W.C.P.M. Calculation Activity Page. You will probably find it helpful to have a calculator available.
 - First, complete the Words section of the W.C.P.M. Calculation Activity Page.
 - Count Words Read. This is the total number of words the student read or attempted to read, up to the point where they stopped. It includes words the student read correctly as well as words the student read incorrectly or skipped over. If the student attempted to read the whole story, including the title, use 341 as your total. If the student did not finish the story, you will need to count the number of words the student actually attempted to read. Write the count for Words Read in the matching box on the W.C.P.M. Calculation Activity Page.
 - Count the Uncorrected Mistakes noted in your running record. This includes words read incorrectly, omissions, substitutions, and words you had to supply. Write the total in the box labeled Uncorrected Mistakes. (A mistake that is corrected by the student is not counted as a mistake; the student is penalized for the time he or she lost making the correction, but not for the initial mistake.)
 - Subtract Uncorrected Mistakes from Words Read to get Words Correct.
 - Next, complete the Time section of the activity page.
 - Calculate Elapsed Time in minutes and seconds. (If you used a stopwatch, this should already be done for you. Skip to the next step.)
 - If you used a watch and recorded start and stop times, you will need to subtract the Start Time from the Finish Time to calculate the Elapsed Time. Subtract seconds from seconds and then minutes from minutes.
 - Calculate Time in Seconds. Multiply the number of minutes by 60 to convert minutes to seconds, then add the number of seconds.
 - Next, complete the W.C.P.M. section of the activity page.
 - Divide Words Correct by Time in Seconds. Then multiply by 60 to get Words Correct Per Minute (W.C.P.M.).

- As you evaluate W.C.P.M. scores, here are some factors to consider:
 - It is normal for students to show a wide range in fluency and in W.C.P.M. scores. However, a major goal for students in Grade 1 is to read with sufficient fluency to ensure comprehension and independent reading of school assignments in subsequent grades. The national mean calculated by Hasbrouck and Tindal in 2006 for Spring of Grade 1 is 53 W.C.P.M.
 - A student's W.C.P.M. score can be compared with the score of other students in the classroom (or grade level) and also with the national fluency norms for Spring of Grade 1 obtained by Hasbrouck and Tindal. Students whose scores are below the 25th percentile (28 W.C.P.M.) are experiencing serious problems in reading fluently.
 - After you have entered all student scores into the W.C.P.M. Calculation Activity Page (Activity Page 20.2), record them on the End-of-Year Summary (Activity Page 19.3) in the Fluency Assessment section for each student.

WIGGLE CARDS (10 MIN.)

- Show students a Wiggle Card, have them read it, and let them perform the action on the card.
- Continue with the remaining cards.

READ “AT THE AIRPORT” (20 MIN.)

Small Group

Group 1: Have students read “At the Airport.” They can complete Activity Page 20.3 when they have finished reading the story. If students finish early, they can reread stories from the Kay and Martez Reader. Ask them to choose one story to summarize and retell to a partner.

WORD READING IN ISOLATION

End-of-Year Assessment

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSONFoundational Skills

Students will read individual words in isolation that feature closed syllables, magic 'e' syllables, vowel digraph syllables, and r-controlled syllables.

✦ TEKS 1.2.B.i; TEKS 1.2.B.ii; TEKS 1.2.B.iii

✦ TEKS 1.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by: (i) decoding words in isolation and in context by applying common letter-sound correspondences; (ii) decoding words with initial and final consonant blends, digraphs, and trigraphs; (iii) decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables.

Foundational Skills
Word Reading in Isolation Assessment	One-on-One	50 min.	☐ Activity Pages 21.1, 21.2
Wiggle Cards	Whole Group	10 min.	☐ prepared cards from Lesson 19

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

The Word Reading in Isolation Assessment is designed to assess a student's ability to read words containing the spellings that were taught and reviewed in Grade 1. The emphasis in this assessment is solely on decoding accuracy.

It would be ideal to give all students the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment, but if there is a time restriction, assess those students who scored less than 50 W.C.P.M. on the Fluency Assessment.

The assessment sheet with words for students to read is at the end of this lesson and reprinted on Activity Page 21.1. Ask students to tear out Activity Page 21.2 for you to use as a running record and scoring sheet.

Keep in mind that a single word will target multiple letter-sound correspondences. For example, the word write assesses the 'wr' spelling for /r/ and the 'i_e' spelling for /ie/.

You may find the use of file folder study carrels a useful tool for student assessment.

Foundational Skills

- While you are administering the one-on-one assessment, students may be rereading stories from their Readers, writing instructional paragraphs (or other types of writing genres they have learned this year), or completing activities and activity pages from the Pausing Point. If they have been keeping a writing portfolio, they can read their work from the year and select their favorite pieces.

Lesson 21: End-of-Year Assessment

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read individual words in isolation that feature closed syllables, magic 'e' syllables, vowel digraph syllables, and r-controlled syllables.

TEKS 1.2.B.i; TEKS 1.2.B.ii; TEKS 1.2.B.iii

WORD READING IN ISOLATION ASSESSMENT (50 MIN.)

- Have one student at a time come to a quiet assessment area to read the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment with you. Have that student bring Activity Pages 21.1 and 21.2 with them.

Instructions

- Find a quiet place to sit with the student. Place the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment (Activity Page 21.1) in front of the student and ask them to read the words on the sheet aloud.
- If a student misreads a word, circle the part of the word that the student gets wrong or fails to read on Activity Page 21.2. Do not coach or correct the student. If the student is unable to read a word in five seconds, ask the student to move to the next word. If the student says a different word, write down the word they say. If the student self-corrects, do not mark the word wrong.
- Guidelines for analyzing student scores on the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment are included here.
- After you have tallied all students' scores from the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment Scoring Sheet (Activity Page 21.2), record them on the End-of-Year Summary (Activity Page 19.3) for each student.

Word Reading in Isolation Analysis

- The more words a student is able to read and the farther the student is able to progress in the assessment, the stronger their preparation is for Grade 2.
- The number of words read correctly indicates the following:
 - Students who score 40 or fewer words out of 60 correctly have poor preparation for Grade 2.
 - Students who score 41–49 out of 60 words correctly have adequate preparation for Grade 2.
 - Students who score 50 out of 60 words correctly have good to outstanding preparation for Grade 2.

TEKS 1.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by: (i) decoding words in isolation and in context by applying common letter-sound correspondences; (ii) decoding words with initial and final consonant blends, digraphs, and trigraphs; (iii) decoding words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including vowel digraphs and diphthongs; and r-controlled syllables.

- After scoring the assessment, you might find it helpful to determine which phonemes students missed that caused them to score below the benchmark for word reading.

Score required to meet benchmark of 80%
Phonemes
Consonants /b/ /j/ /p/ /w/ /sh/ /d/ /f/ /k/ /l/ /r/ /s/ /x/ /y/ /th/ /th/ /g/ /h/ /m/ /n/ /t/ /v/ /z/ /ch/ /ng/ /qu/	148/185
Vowels /a/ /e/ /i/ /o/ /u/ /ae/ /ee/ /ie/ /oe/ /ue/ /oo/ /oo/ /ou/ /oi/ /aw/ /er/ /or/ /ar/	72/90

- See the Word Reading in Isolation Remediation Guide provided in Teacher Resources for use in directing remediation. Make a copy of each page.
- Write the names of students who missed particular sounds under the appropriate header(s) on the Word Reading in Isolation Remediation Guide. This will help you determine what kind of remediation is needed.

WIGGLE CARDS (10 MIN.)

- Show students a Wiggle Card, have them read it, and let them perform the action on the card.
- Continue with the remaining cards.

Pausing Point

This is the end of Unit 7. You should pause here and spend additional time reviewing the material taught in Unit 7. Students may do any combination of the exercises listed below, in any order. The exercises are listed by unit objectives. Exercises that were part of the lessons are listed here only by name with reference to their respective lessons. All other exercises have full descriptions.

You may find that different students need extra practice with different objectives. It can be helpful to have students focus on specific exercises in small groups.

RECOGNIZE AND/OR WRITE THE SPELLINGS TAUGHT IN UNIT 7

Consonant Blends

- Use this routine when teaching one-syllable spoken words.
- Say, “You are going to practice blending and segmenting words with consonant blends.”
- Say the word explain. Follow the routine above to blend and segment the word. Point out that two sounds in the middle of the word, /p/ and /l/, blend together to make ‘pl’. Have students say ‘pl’ and notice how it feels on their tongues.
- Say the following words: plane, planet, split, apply. Have students identify the blends and whether they are at the beginning or middle of the words. Then have them blend and segment the phonemes using motions from the program. TEKS 1.2.A.v; TEKS 1.2.A.vii

Line Race

- Divide the class into two groups and line them up in front of the board/chart paper.
- Tell students that you will call out a sound and that you want the two students at the front of the lines to write a spelling for that sound.
- The student who writes a correct answer goes to the end of their line. The other student sits down and watches for the rest of the game.
- If both students write the same correct answer, the one who wrote it faster continues the game and goes to the back of the line.
- If both students write a correct answer but they are not the same (because of spelling alternatives), the student who wrote it down faster goes to the end of the line.
- Continue until only one student is left standing in line.
- Modification: If you have a helper in your classroom, play this game in smaller groups.

Build the List

- Tell students that you want to review the spellings for the sounds /ae/ and /oe/ that they learned/reviewed in Unit 7.
- Tell students that they now know three spellings for the /ae/ sound.

 TEKS 1.2.A Demonstrate phonological awareness by (v) blending spoken phonemes to form one-syllable words, including initial and/or final consonant blends; (vii) segmenting spoken one-syllable words of three to five phonemes into individual phonemes, including words with initial and/or final consonant blends.

- Ask students to name those spellings. Then ask students for example words.
- Work with students to complete a list like the one shown below, in which each spelling is listed with at least one example word.
- If students cannot remember a spelling pattern, write a word containing that pattern on the board/chart paper. Have the students read it. Then ask which letters stand for /ae/ in the word. Add the spelling and the example word to the list.
- Repeat with the spellings for /oe/.

/ae/	/oe/
1. 'a_e': fade, trade 2. 'ai': wait, rain 3. 'ay': lay, day	1. 'o_e': hope, hole 2. 'oa': soap, road

Spelling Alternatives Board Game

Note: This game can be played for all sounds that have spelling alternatives.

- Create a game board with twenty-five to forty spaces and several crossing paths so students can move in several different directions.
- Write a decodable /ae/ word on each square, making sure to include several examples of each of the spelling patterns taught.
- Give each student a scorecard that lists the spellings for /ae/ they have learned ('a_e', 'ai', 'ay') with spaces to collect a word exemplifying each spelling.
- Teach students to play the game by rolling a die (or spinning a spinner) and moving their game piece the correct number of spaces.
- When students land on a space, they should read the word and copy it onto their spelling scorecard according to the spelling used for the /ae/ sound. For example, the word chain would be copied into the space for 'ai' words.
- The first student to get one example of each spelling pattern wins.

Word Sort

- Distribute Activity Pages PP.1 (for /ae/) or PP.2 (for /oe/).
- Explain that the chart printed at the top of the activity page includes a number of words that contain the /ae/ sound (or /oe/ sound).

- Have students read the chart, mark the words that contain the /ae/ sound (or /oe/ sound), and sort those words according to which spelling is used to stand for the /ae/ sound (or /oe/ sound).

Complete the Sentence

- Remind students that they recently learned some spelling alternatives for the /ae/ sound.
- Ask students if they can remember the spellings they have learned.
- Write the headings 'a_e', 'ai', and 'ay' on the board/chart paper in a row.
- Tell students that you are going to say some incomplete sentences, each of which is missing its last word.
- Explain that the missing words will contain the /ae/ sound.
- Read the first sentence.
- Have students raise their hands and wait to be called on if they think they know the missing word.
- Once students have guessed the answer, write cake on the board/chart paper under the 'a_e' heading.
- Repeat this process with the remaining sentences, writing each word under its respective heading.

1. On my birthday, I eat birthday _____. (cake—'a_e')
2. Drops of water that fall from the sky are called _____. (raindrops—'ai')
3. If something is not ready for you, you may have to _____. (wait—'ai')
4. Superman wears a long, flowing _____. (cape—'a_e')
5. The opposite of night is _____. (day—'ay')
6. When we think, we use our _____. (brains—'ai')
7. Triangles, squares, and circles are examples of _____. (shapes—'a')
8. The Fourth of July is a _____. (holiday—'ay')

Sound Dictation

Note: This exercise can be done for any of the sound/spellings taught so far.

- Distribute whiteboards and dry-erase markers (or clipboards, paper, and pencils) to students.

- Tell students that they will practice writing the spellings for vowel sounds they studied in Unit 7.
- Say the sounds listed below and have students write the spellings for each sound on their whiteboards. Tell students how many spellings to write for each sound.
- Periodically, have students show you what they have written on their whiteboards.

Spellings Taught/Reviewed in Unit 7

1. /ae/: 'a_e', 'ai', 'ay'
2. /oe/: 'o_e', 'oa'

Highlight the Spelling

Note: This game is best played in small groups or in centers.

- Write a number of decodable words that contain the vowel spellings taught in this unit on a sheet of paper.
- Ask students to read the words and highlight the letters of each new spelling.

Possible Words

- | | | | |
|------------|--------------|--------------|---------------|
| 1. Monday | 7. rode | 13. weekday | 19. floating |
| 2. player | 8. trains | 14. jokes | 20. cape |
| 3. weekday | 9. player | 15. stovetop | 21. raindrops |
| 4. staying | 10. haystack | 16. raisins | 22. waiting |
| 5. nails | 11. explode | 17. day | 23. cake |
| 6. smoke | 12. road | 18. toads | |

Spelling Bingo

- Make Bingo cards with the spellings taught or reviewed in Unit 7 and the other spellings that have been taught so far.
- Write the same spellings on paper slips and put them in a box.

- Give each student a Bingo card and playing pieces.
- Explain that you will pull spellings from the box and that you want students to put a playing piece on top of that spelling if it is on their Bingo card. Explain that when all spellings are covered on a student's card, the student should say, "Bingo!"

Word Sort

- Write the following words containing the new spellings for /ae/ on index cards: rain, wait, brain, paid, may, pay, saying, played.
- Write headers on the board/chart paper for both of the new spellings the students have learned for /ae/—'ai' and 'ay'.
- Ask students to sort the words by taping them under the proper headers.

'ai'	'ay'
rain wait brain paid	may pay saying played

Word Sort with Boxes

Note: This exercise can be done for any of the sound/spellings taught or reviewed in this unit.

- Write a number of decodable words that contain either of two target spellings (e.g., 'ai' and 'ay') on cards.
- Label two boxes with the target spellings (e.g., 'ai' and 'ay').
- Have students read the words on the word cards and ask them which target spelling they contain.
- Have students place the cards in the appropriate boxes.

Word Sort with Students

Note: This exercise can be done for any of the sounds/spellings taught or reviewed in this unit.

- Write a number of decodable words with the three spellings for /ae/ on word cards, one word per card. You can also use whiteboards.

- Pass the cards/whiteboards out to students.
- Explain that you want students to form groups: one group for words with /ae/ spelled 'a_e', one for /ae/ spelled 'ai', and one for /ae/ spelled 'ay'.
- Once students have formed their groups, ask them to check each other's words.

Cut-and-Place Word Sort

- Distribute Activity Pages PP.3 and PP.4.
- Have students read the words on Activity Page PP.3 and cut them out.
- Have students sort the words by their spellings for /ae/ and place them in the table on Activity Page PP.4 under the right heading.
- Extension: Have students use highlighters to mark the spelling 'ai' or 'ay' in each word pasted on their page.
- Activity Pages PP.5 and PP.6 are for the spellings of the sound /oe/.

Word Sort Activity Pages

- Have students complete Activity Page PP.7 for 'ai' and 'ay' > /ae/.
- Have students complete Activity Page PP.8 for 'o_e' and 'oa' > /oe/.

Sort and Color

- Distribute Activity Pages PP.9 and PP.10.
- Provide each student with two different-colored pencils or highlighters.
- For Activity Page PP.9, have students read the words in the boxes and shade the boxes in one color if the letter 'a' is pronounced /a/ as in hat and in another color if it is pronounced /ae/ as in cake.
- For Activity Page PP.10, have students read the words in the boxes and shade the boxes in one color if the letter 'o' is pronounced /o/ as in hot and in another color if it is pronounced /oe/ as in home.

READ, WRITE, OR SPELL WORDS WITH SPELLING ALTERNATIVES

Teacher Chaining

- Write say on the board.
- Ask a student to read the word.

- Remove 's' and add 'p' to create pay.
- As you make this change, say to students, "If that is say, what is this?"
- Ask students what change you made to the word say to get the word pay. Ask them whether you changed the first, middle, or last sound/spelling.
- Continue this process with the remaining words.
- When you come to the end of the first chain, erase the board and begin the next chain.

1. say > pay > day > lay > play > plate > plane > plain
2. ran > rain > pain > paid > pad > lad > tad > toad > load > road > raid
3. brain > rain > rail > sail > tail > mail > pail > pain > paint > faint
4. clay > lay > ray > may > day > say > stay > stays

Eraser Man

- Draw a stick figure on the board.
- Tell the class that you are thinking of a word.
- Write one box on the board for each spelling in the word. The height of each box should approximate the height and width of the spelling it represents (i.e., high-rising boxes for spellings that have ascenders, low-dipping boxes for spellings that have descenders, and wide boxes for digraph spellings).
- Ask a student to guess a sound.
- If the student guesses a sound that is in the word, ask for the spelling.
- If the student guesses a sound or spelling that is not in the word, erase one of the stick figure's body parts.
- Repeat until the stick figure has been completely erased (you win) or until the boxes are filled in (students win), whichever comes first.
- Repeat with a second word, if there is time.

Guess My Word

- Write the following vowel spellings on index cards and lay them out on a table: 'a_e', 'ai', 'ay', 'o_e', 'oa'.
- Write the following consonant spellings on index cards and lay them out on a table: 'n', 't' (2), 'd', 's', 'p', 'b', 'l', 'w'.

- Think of a decodable word that you can build using the spellings shown, but do not tell the class your word. (See the following box for possible words.)
- Tell students how many sounds are in your word.
- Invite students to guess the word by asking whether or not it contains specific sounds and/or spellings.
- If students identify a spelling that is in the word, move the cards on that table.
- Continue until the word has been spelled.
- Repeat with one or two additional words.

1. late	10. pay	19. pole
2. wade	11. lay	20. nope
3. date	12. day	21. boat
4. pane	13. way	22. load
5. sane	14. bay	23. toad
6. pain	15. say	24. boast
7. paint	16. bone	25. toast
8. bait	17. tone
9. wait	18. note

Fishing Pond

Note: This game is best played in small groups or in centers.

- Copy the template provided on Activity Page TR 3.1 on cardstock or construction paper.
- Write a decodable word on each fish. (See the following box for possible words.)
- Attach a paper clip to the top of each fish.
- Make a fishing pole from a pole or stick, a string, and a magnet.
- Have students take turns fishing.
- When a student catches a fish, they should read the word written on the fish and then copy it onto a piece of paper.

- Variation: Stock a fish pond with decodable words containing /ae/ (or /oe/). Have students catch several fish and sort the words by the spellings for /ae/ (or /oe/).

- | | |
|---------|----------|
| 1. boat | 6. road |
| 2. way | 7. day |
| 3. make | 8. rain |
| 4. take | 9. same |
| 5. main | 10. rope |

Choose the Right Word

- Write the words rain, raisins, and rope on the board/chart paper and have students read them.
- Tell students that you are going to ask them some questions. They can find the answers on the board/chart paper.
- Ask students, “Which word names something that falls from the sky?”
- Have students find the answer (rain) on the board/chart paper and then copy it onto a sheet of paper or whiteboard.
- Continue this process with the remaining sets of questions.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1a. Which word names something that falls from the sky? (rain) | |
| 1b. Which word names something that is like a very thick string? (rope) | |
| 1c. Which word names something that is a snack you can eat? (raisins) | |
| ----- | |
| 2a. Which word names something you can walk on? (path) | |
| 2b. Which word names the opposite of night? (day) | |
| 2c. Which word names an animal that looks a lot like a frog? (toad) | |
| ----- | |
| 3a. Which word is something you wear on a very cold day? (coat) | |
| 3b. Which word describes something that you can fly in? (airplane) | |
| 3c. Which word is something the mailman/mailwoman brings to you? (mail) | |

- 4a. Which word names a sweet treat? (cake)
- 4b. Which word describes how you move to music? (dance)
- 4c. Which word is a type of tree? (oak)

Word Recognition

- Distribute Activity Page PP.11.
- Tell students that you are going to say a number of words.
- Explain that for each word that you say, there are two words printed on the activity page: your word and another word.
- Tell students to circle each word that you say.
- Extension: Have students copy the circled words on the lines.

- | | | |
|----------|----------|---------|
| 1. goat | 4. toned | 7. boat |
| 2. chain | 5. pair | 8. rain |
| 3. plain | 6. play | 9. stay |

Yes or No?

- Have students complete Activity Page PP.12.

Word Box

- Have students complete Activity Page PP.13.

Label the Picture

- Have students complete Activity Page PP.14.

Dictation with Words

- Tell students to take out a pencil and a piece of paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of words. These words will contain the alternative spellings for /ae/ and /oe/ taught in this unit.
- Write the spellings 'ai', 'ay', 'o_e', and 'oa' on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students to write each word that you say.
- For each word that you say, hold up one finger for each sound.
- Ask students to count the sounds and then draw a line on their paper for each sound that they hear. For example, for the word may, two lines would be drawn on the paper: .

- Once students have drawn one line for each sound, remind them that the sound /ae/ in the word may is spelled with the letters 'ay'.
- Have students write the spellings on their respective lines: m ay .
- Finally, ask students to read the word back to you.
- Write the word on the board/chart paper and have students self-correct.
- Repeat with additional words.

- | | | |
|------------|---------------|--------------|
| 1. may (2) | 6. change (4) | 11. stay (3) |
| 2. way (2) | 7. play (3) | 12. road (3) |
| 3. day (2) | 8. places (6) | 13. pay (2) |
| 4. air (2) | 9. main (3) | 14. rain (3) |
| 5. say (2) | 10. hair (3) | |

READ AND/OR WRITE PHRASES

Wiggle Cards

- Make a set of cards with decodable sentences written on them. Each word or phrase should describe a motion or activity that students can act out.
- Show students a Wiggle Card, have them read it, and let them perform the action.
- Use the Wiggle Cards between activities and to fill odd moments in the day.

- | | |
|-----------------------|----------------------------|
| 1. Rub your hair. | 4. Pinch your nose. |
| 2. Get your coat. | 5. Sway from side to side. |
| 3. Croak like a toad. | 6. Moan and groan. |

Phrase Flip Book

Note: This activity is best done in small groups or in centers.

- Cut out slips of paper.
- Write the following decodable adjectives on six of the slips of paper, one adjective per slip: gray, faded, hot, large, black.
- Write the following decodable nouns on slips of paper, one noun per slip: chair, train, vases, toaster.

- Stack the adjective slips of paper and staple their top edge to a sheet of card stock.
- Stack the noun slips of paper and staple their top edge to the sheet of cardstock to the right of the adjectives.
- By turning the slips of paper, students can make up and read decodable (and often silly) phrases.

Dictation with Phrases

- Tell students to take out a pencil and a piece of paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of phrases. They contain words with the spellings students have learned for /ae/ and /oe/.
- Remind students of the spellings and write 'a_e', 'ai', 'ay', 'o_e', and 'oa' on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students to write each phrase that you say.
- For each phrase that you say, hold up one finger for each word.
- Ask students to count the words and then draw a line on their paper for each word that they hear with a finger space between the lines.
- Once students have drawn the lines, ask them to write each word, sound by sound. Finally, ask students to read the phrase back to you.
- Write the phrase on the board/chart paper and have students self-correct.
- Repeat with additional phrases.

- | | |
|------------------|----------------|
| 1. sweet raisins | 9. clay pot |
| 2. red train | 10. black coal |
| 3. large chair | 11. red face |
| 4. black mole | 12. bike lane |
| 5. white crayon | 13. deep hole |
| 6. nice day | 14. long road |
| 7. gray rud | 15. white coat |
| 8. fast runner | 16. fast boat |

READ AND/OR WRITE SENTENCES

Sentence Strips

Note: This activity is best done in small groups or in centers.

- Choose sentences from the Kay and Martez Reader that can be illustrated and copy them onto long slips of paper. Display the slips of paper for students to see.
- Have students choose a sentence to copy and illustrate.

Reconstructing Sentences

- Copy sentences that contain commas from the Reader Kay and Martez on paper.
- Cut the sentences into their individual words and place them in envelopes. Keep the commas with the words that they follow.
- Have students reconstruct the sentences.
- Have students copy the sentences on paper.
- Extension: Ask students to identify the adjectives and to connect them with arrows to the nouns they define.

Sentence Pasting

Note: This activity is best done in small groups or in centers.

- Write a number of decodable statements, questions, and exclamations on paper and cut them into individual words. Keep the period, question mark, or exclamation mark on the same slip with the final word in each sentence. Keep commas on the same slip with the words that they follow. Keep quotation marks with the word that they precede/follow.
- Have students form sentences and paste them on paper.

Dictation with Sentences

- Tell students to take out a pencil and a piece of paper.
- Explain that you are going to say a number of sentences. There will be statements, questions, and exclamations. Be sure to use the proper intonation when reading the sentences.
- Tell students to write each sentence that you say.

- For each sentence that you say, hold up one finger for each word.
- Ask students to count the words and then draw a line on their paper for each word that they hear, leaving a finger space between the lines.
- Once students have drawn the lines, ask them to write each word, sound by sound. Finally, ask students to read the sentence back to you.
- Write the sentence on the board/chart paper and have students self-correct.
- Repeat with additional sentences.

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1. An oak tree has thick branches. | 6. Can you explain the book to me? |
| 2. You think with your brain. | 7. The river runs past our house. |
| 3. Seeds turn into seedlings. | 8. This soap makes a lot of foam! |
| 4. Our sink did not drain yesterday. | 9. Is today a gray day? |
| 5. The roads are packed with cars. | 10. The dog is playing with the cat. |

USE COMMAS

Adding Commas

- Distribute Activity Page PP.15.
- On the front of the activity page have students add commas to the sentences.
- On the back of the activity page have students write two sentences that contain a series of items, using commas to separate the items.

ENRICHMENT PASSAGES

The following enrichment passages may be used as additional practice and extension opportunities for students who are progressing in the core instruction, successfully learning the sound-spelling patterns, and able to read the decodable text accurately.

The content of these enrichment passages is blended, consisting of approximately 50% decodable words. The passages introduce students to applying foundational (word recognition) skills in more complex, content-area text.

Students who are successfully mastering the code can often generalize these skills to multisyllabic words and sound-spelling patterns that have not yet been taught.

You may wish to preview text vocabulary and/or support some students by using partner reading, choral reading, or small group reading.

The American Flag

The U.S. flag is a powerful symbol of our country. It is red, white, and blue and has fifty bright stars, each one standing for a different state. There are also thirteen stripes representing the first colonies that became part of the United States. When people see the flag, it reminds them to be proud and love their country. We show the flag at schools and during important events to remember how important America is to us all.

Comprehension Questions:

1. Why does the flag have fifty stars? (It has one for each state.)
2. What do the thirteen stripes represent? (the thirteen original colonies)
3. How does the flag help us show love for our country? (When we see it we remember how important America is to us all.)

Johnson Space Center

The Martinez family went to visit the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. They were excited to see huge rockets and learn about space. When they arrived, they saw a giant rocket.

At the Center, the Martinez family found out why Texas is so important for space travel. They learned that the Johnson Space Center is where astronauts train before they go into space. It is also the place where experts talk to astronauts and guide their spaceships. This helps keep the astronauts safe while they explore space.

The best part of the visit was meeting a real astronaut who had been to space. The astronaut told them about floating around and doing experiments. The family felt happy and excited about what they learned. They talked about what it would be like to go to space themselves. They felt proud that Texas helps make space travel possible.

Comprehension Questions

1. What did the Martinez family learn at Johnson Space Center? (They learned that it is where astronauts train before they go to space and what it is like to go into space.)
2. How has Texas helped make space travel possible? (It has Johnson Space Center, which helps train astronauts and talks to them and guides them while they are in space.)
3. What kinds of things do astronauts do? (go to space, conduct experiments)
4. What do you think it would be like to go to space? (Answers may vary, but students should express an opinion or perspective about going to space.)

Businesses

Have you ever heard of a business? It is something people create to sell things or provide services. Imagine opening a store to sell your drawings. When people shop or buy things, they are helping businesses. Businesses let people share their ideas and make things we enjoy.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is a business? (a place where people sell things or provide services)
2. What can you sell if you started a business? (a thing, like a drawing, or a service, such as mowing a lawn)
3. Why are businesses important for people? (They let people share their ideas and things we enjoy.)

The Pledge of Allegiance

Do you know the Pledge of Allegiance? Maybe you say it each morning in your classroom. It is also said before some meetings, particularly meetings of government officials. The Pledge of Allegiance is like a kind of speech. People usually stand and recite it, or say it aloud together. It was written a very long time ago, in the 1800s. We say the pledge to show love for the United States.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Pledge of Allegiance? (kind of a speech people say before meetings or school)
2. What is one place where people say the Pledge of Allegiance? (meetings, schools)

3. Why do people say the Pledge of Allegiance? (to show love for the United States)
4. When was the Pledge of Allegiance written? (in the 1800s)

The U.S. Constitution

Do you know about the Constitution? It is an important document that has rules for our country. It was written over two hundred years ago. Just like you have rules in your classroom, the Constitution has rules for everyone in the United States to follow. These rules help us live together peacefully and keep us safe.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Constitution? (an important document)
2. Why do we have the Constitution? (to have rules for our country)
3. When was the Constitution written? (over two hundred years ago)
4. What do the rules in the Constitution help us do? (help us live together peacefully and keep us safe)

The Declaration of Independence

Do you know about the Declaration of Independence? It is an important document that was written over two hundred years ago. The people who wrote it wanted to tell everyone that our country was going to be free from another country. They wanted us to have the chance to make our own choices and be happy.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Declaration of Independence? (a document)
2. Why was it written? (to tell everyone the United States was going to be a free country)
3. What did the people want when they wrote it? (to have the chance to make our own choices and be happy)
4. How long ago was it written? (over two hundred years ago)

The American Flag

The U.S. flag is a powerful symbol of our country. It is red, white, and blue and has fifty bright stars, each one standing for a different state. There are also thirteen stripes representing the first colonies that became part of the United States. When people see the flag, it reminds them to be proud and love their country. We show the flag at schools and during important events to remember how important America is to us all.

Johnson Space Center

The Martinez family went to visit the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. They were excited to see huge rockets and learn about space. When they arrived, they saw a giant rocket.

At the Center, the Martinez family found out why Texas is so important for space travel. They learned that the Johnson Space Center is where astronauts train before they go into space. It is also the place where experts talk to astronauts and guide their spaceships. This helps keep the astronauts safe while they explore space.

The best part of the visit was meeting a real astronaut who had been to space. The astronaut told them about floating around and doing experiments. The family felt happy and excited about what they learned. They talked about what it would be like to go to space themselves. They felt proud that Texas helps make space travel possible.

Businesses

Have you ever heard of a business? It is something people create to sell things or provide services. Imagine opening a store to sell your drawings. When people shop or buy things, they are helping businesses. Businesses let people share their ideas and make things we enjoy.

LESSON 5: SPELLING ANALYSIS DIRECTIONS

Write students' names in the column provided. The words on today's spelling assessment are grouped according to spelling patterns on the Analysis of Student Errors chart. Place an X in the column of any word that the student did not spell correctly. Examine errors for patterns using the information provided below. If a pattern is identified, speak with the student and ask them to explain their thinking to you. This may help you to understand the student's confusion and allow you to clear up the misunderstanding. You may also use previous Pausing Points to address errors with today's spelling words.

The words on this week's spelling assessment can be analyzed in many different ways. The following are analyses that focus on errors in encoding consonant doublings in these words. Some of these words are also two-syllable words, and you should take note of any difficulty students have in encoding both syllables of two-syllable words. Please refer to the Unit 4 Appendix, "Using Chunking to Decode Multisyllable Words," for more information on assisting students who have difficulty with multisyllable words.

Column 1

What an error in this column means: The spelling 'a' for the /a/ sound is the basic code spelling. The influx of new spellings might have caused some confusion with basic code spellings.

What you should do: Please refer to the Pausing Point for additional activities. Students may need more practice regarding segmenting and blending in order to isolate vowel sounds.

Column 2

What an error in this column means: The spelling 'tch' for the /ch/ sound is a spelling alternative. Students need practice encoding words with this spelling alternative to know when to use the basic code spelling and when to use the spelling alternative.

Column 3

What an error in this column means: The spelling 'kn' for the /n/ sound is a spelling alternative. Students need practice encoding words with this spelling alternative to know when to use the basic code spelling and when to use the spelling alternative.

What you should do: Please refer to the Pausing Point for additional activities. Word sorts and exposure to words with spelling alternatives will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for each sound.

Column 4

What an error in this column means: The spelling 'wr' for the /r/ sound is a spelling alternative. Students need practice encoding words with this spelling alternative to know when to use the basic code spelling and when to use the spelling alternative.

What you should do: Please refer to the Pausing Point for additional activities. Word sorts and exposure to words with spelling alternatives will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for each sound.

Column 5

What an error in this column means: The spelling 'a_e' for the /ae/ sound is the basic code spelling. The influx of new spellings might have caused some confusion with basic code spellings.

What you should do: Please refer to the Pausing Point for additional activities. Students may need more practice regarding segmenting and blending in order to isolate vowel sounds.

Column 6

What an error in this column means: The spelling 'n' for the /ng/ sound is a spelling alternative. Students need practice encoding words with this spelling alternative to know when to use the basic code spelling and when to use the spelling alternative.

What you should do: Please refer to the Pausing Point for additional activities. Word sorts and exposure to words with spelling alternatives will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for each sound.

Column 7

What an error in this column means: The word by is a Tricky Word. Tricky Words do not follow the rules for encoding that students have learned thus far.

What you should do: For now, students should memorize how to spell Tricky Words. Additional practice reading and writing Tricky Words can be found in the Pausing Points.

Column 8

In the last column, specifically note any other confusion evidenced by individual student errors. For example, students may have had difficulty with certain encoding vowel sounds. Please also consider the influence of students' home language on encoding. Analyze any patterns and provide targeted remediation using the Pausing Point.

Shark and Wee Fish

Shark swam by the reef. Sharp teeth glittered in his mouth. He shouted to the fish, “I will have a hundred of you for my lunch!”

The fish were scared. They went and hid in a cave.

“Shark will not get us in here!” one of the fish said. “He is too big to swim in.”

After a while, one of the fish went out to check and see if Shark had left. His name was Wee Fish.

Wee Fish swam out of the cave. He soon found himself face to face with Shark.

Shark snarled, “Here’s a nice fish for my lunch!”

Wee Fish had to think fast.

“Stop!” he shouted in his loudest voice. “I am the king of this reef! All of the fish here are scared of me, and you should be, too!”

Shark smiled. Wee Fish was just three inches long. Shark was ten feet long. He had teeth in his mouth that were bigger than Wee Fish.

“Is this some sort of joke?” Shark said. “Why would fish be scared of you?”

“Swim next to me and you will see,” Wee Fish said.

Shark swam with Wee Fish. They came upon some spotted fish. When the spotted fish saw Shark, they got scared and swam off.

Shark and Wee Fish swam up to some striped fish. When the striped fish saw Shark, they got scared and swam off.

“Well, well,” said Shark to himself. “It’s odd, but it looks like the fish are scared of Wee Fish, just as he said.” (Shark did not see that the fish were scared of him.)

Shark and Wee Fish swam up to some silver fish. When the silver fish saw Shark, they got scared and swam off.

Then Shark started to think. “All of the fish are scared of Wee Fish,” he said to himself. “Perhaps I should be scared of him, too.”

All of a sudden, Shark felt scared. He swam off. And from then on, he never went back to that reef.

Appendix: Using Chunking to Decode Multisyllable Words

Mastering the various letter-sound correspondences taught will enable students to read one-syllable words with ease. However, knowing these individual letter-sound correspondences is no guarantee that students will be able to apply this knowledge in reading multisyllable words. To this end, most students will benefit from additional instruction in learning to recognize, chunk, and read parts of words—syllables—as a way to decode longer words.

When students first encounter two-syllable words in Grade 1 materials, a small dot is used as a visual prompt or cue between the syllables (e.g., sun·set). This is done in both the Activity Books and Readers. The dot is intended to visually break the word into two chunks, each of which can then be sounded out separately. As Grade 1 progresses, the dot is eliminated and students are expected to begin visually chunking parts of longer words on their own.

Starting in Grade 1, this program introduces the decoding of two-syllable words by having students work first with two-syllable compound words (e.g., cat·fish, cup·cake, pea·nut, drive·way). For compound words, the dot is placed between the two component words. These are among the easiest two-syllable words to chunk and decode because each syllable of a compound word is already a familiar spelling pattern students have encountered in reading one-syllable words. In addition, each syllable or chunk is also frequently recognizable as a word part that has semantic familiarity.

In addition to learning to decode two-syllable compound words, Grade 1 students also tackle two-syllable words that consist of a root word with a simple suffix (e.g., yawn·ing, hunt·er, bust·ed). The dot is typically placed immediately before the suffix. However, for words that contain double-letter spellings for consonants, in this program, the divider is typically placed after the double-letter spelling rather than between the two consonants (e.g., batt·ed, bigg·er, bunn·y). Teachers familiar with other ways to chunk or divide syllables may initially find this odd. This is done, however, because the double-letter spellings have been taught as single-spelling units since Kindergarten ('nn' > /n/, 'mm' > /m/, 'tt' > /t/, etc.). This program strives to be consistent in representing these spellings in the way that the students have been taught to process them (e.g., as whole entities for a sound). (Ultimately, as students become more proficient at decoding and chunking syllables through subsequent grade levels, it really does not matter whether they visually chunk and decode these words as batt·ed or bat·ted.) Most students find chunking and decoding these two-syllable words consisting of root words and suffixes relatively easy.

A greater challenge is encountered when chunking and decoding other types of multisyllable words. To be successful in decoding these longer words, it is helpful if teachers and students recognize certain syllable types. Most reading specialists identify six different syllable types:

Note: Syllables exemplifying each type are underlined.

- Closed Syllables (CVC, VC, CCVCC, etc.)—always associated with a “short” vowel sound (e.g., /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/, /u/): let, pad, rod, tin, fun, pic·nic, un·til
- Magic ‘E’ Syllables (V-C-E)—always associated with a “long” vowel sound (e.g., /ae/, /ee/, /ie/, /oe/, /ue/): cake, home, like, mule, Pete, mis·take, stam·pede
- Vowel Digraph Syllables: joint, speak, proud, play, dis·may, be·low, coun·sel
- R-Controlled Syllables: art, curb, girl, fort, clerk, tur·nip, ar·tist, fe·ver
- Open Syllables (V or CV)—always associated with a “long” vowel sound (e.g., /ae/, /ee/, /ie/, /oe/, /ue/): go, me, hi, a·pron, fi·nal, com·pre·hend
- Consonant–LE Syllables (C–LE): sim·ple, puz·zle, raf·fle, ca·ble, ri·fle

In addition, it is also helpful to designate one additional syllable type:

- Schwa Syllables: ben·e·fit, ap·pe·tite, a·bout, hos·pit·al, e·mo·tion

Note: The Consonant–LE Syllable is also a schwa syllable, but it is distinguished separately because of the way this spelling is chunked when dividing words into syllables.

To be clear, in order to decode words, students do not need to identify syllables by these names. The names of the syllable types are provided here only to establish a common vocabulary for teachers as they use the materials. What is necessary, however, for students to become fluent readers of longer words in increasingly complex text is that they be able to visually parse certain spelling patterns as syllable chunks so they can quickly and easily decode each syllable.

The first type of two-syllable word pattern to which students are introduced is the closed syllable pattern in two-syllable words. These two-syllable words are also relatively easy for students to chunk and recognize as an example of the familiar CVC, VC, CCVCC, etc., spelling pattern they encountered in one-syllable words in Kindergarten.

Two closed syllables in a word are divided as follows:

- When two different consonants stand between two vowels, the syllables are divided between the consonants, creating one or more closed syllables.

ad · mit

nap · kin

trum · pet

- For words that contain double-letter spellings for consonants, the divider is typically placed after the double-letter spelling rather than between the consonants. As noted earlier, this is done because the double-letter spellings have been taught as single spelling units since Kindergarten ('nn' > /n/, 'mm' > /m/, 'tt' > /t/, etc.).

traff · ic

muff · in

happ · en

- When there are three consonants between two vowels, in general, the word is divided so the first consonant goes with the first vowel and the other two consonants with the second vowel.

mon · ster

con · tract

pil · grim

When students have difficulty reading a two-syllable word, you may find it useful to use your finger to cover the second syllable, revealing only the first syllable for them to read. Once students read the first syllable, the second syllable can be uncovered and read. If necessary, you can then model for students how to blend the two syllables aloud:

In Grade 1, students will encounter other two-syllable words with various combinations of the magic 'E' syllable, the vowel digraph syllable, the r-controlled vowel syllable, and the closed syllable.

- Chunking these syllable types follows the same patterns for division as noted above for closed syllables:

tar · get for · get es · cape ig · loo scoun · drel char · coal

In Grade 2, students are introduced to more challenging multisyllable words.

Two-syllable words with only one consonant between the vowels are especially difficult to chunk because they may be divided either before or after the single consonant. Students are taught to use a flexible approach in chunking syllables with a single consonant between the vowels, trying each possibility when they encounter an unfamiliar word.

- When only one consonant stands between two vowels, first divide the word in front of the consonant and sound it out as an open syllable:

pu · pil

vi · rus

mo · ment

However, sometimes the word may divide after the consonant, creating a closed syllable. There is no definitive rule for when to divide before or after the consonant. Students will need to be flexible and try dividing and sounding the word each way—before and/or after the consonant—to determine whether they recognize a familiar word as they sound out each possibility. In order to recognize whether a word is familiar when sounded either way, the word must be one that the student has heard before (i.e., the word must be in the student’s oral vocabulary). Obviously, this will represent an additional challenge for students who have a limited vocabulary and/or for whom English is a second language.

- If the word divides after the consonant, a closed syllable is created:

cam · el

mel · on

pun · ish

In Grade 2, students are also introduced to Consonant–LE Syllables. Chunking these words into syllables is fairly straightforward.

- When a word ends in Consonant–LE, the word is divided in front of the consonant, creating a first syllable that may be an open, closed or even r-controlled syllable, depending on the other spellings in the words ban · gle

twin · kle

sta · ble

cra · dle

tur · tle

In the later part of Grade 2, students are introduced to syllables in which various spellings represent the schwa sound. English words with more than one syllable usually include a combination of stressed and unstressed syllables. When a syllable in a spoken word is unstressed or weakly stressed, its vowel sound is often reduced to a flat, rather nondescript vowel sound that linguists call a schwa. This happens in many English words. Spellings for the schwa sound include 'a', 'e', 'al', 'il', 'el', and 'tion'. Chunking and decoding words that include the schwa sound can be quite challenging for many students.

- Syllables with a schwa sound are divided in different ways, recognizing that the syllable with the schwa sound has a particular spelling:

a · bout de · pos · it med · al e · vil nick · el lo · tion

As noted earlier, the Consonant–LE Syllable is actually a schwa syllable, but it is identified separately because of the way this spelling is chunked when dividing words into syllables.

- Finally, while students encountered some simple root words and affixes in Grade 1, they study prefixes, suffixes, and root words in much greater depth and are taught to chunk syllables accordingly throughout the entire year of Grade 3 instruction.

pre · tend non · sense tri · cycle re · peat self · ish sad · ness help · less

By combining the specific code knowledge of letter-sound spellings taught in Kindergarten—Grade 3, with the ability to chunk multisyllable words into smaller decodable parts, students will have the tools they need to independently decode just about any word they encounter.

TEKS 1.7.A	describe personal connections to a variety of sources
TEKS 1.7.B	write brief comments on literary or informational texts	U7: p. 57, U7: p. 61, U7: p. 64, U7: p. 70, U7: p. 174, U7: p. 178, U7: p. 180, U7: p. 183
TEKS 1.7.C	use text evidence to support an appropriate response	U7: p. 17, U7: p. 21, U7: p. 36, U7: p. 41, U7: p. 46, U7: p. 51, U7: p. 57, U7: p. 61, U7: p. 85, U7: p. 92, U7: p. 96, U7: p. 101, U7: p. 106, U7: p. 112, U7: p. 116, U7: p. 120, U7: p. 125, U7: p. 128, U7: p. 135, U7: p. 138, U7: p. 146, U7: p. 150, U7: p. 154, U7: p. 157, U7: p. 165, U7: p. 168, U7: p. 174, U7: p. 178, U7: p. 189
TEKS 1.7.D	retell texts in ways that maintain meaning	U7: p. 74, U7: p. 80
TEKS 1.7.E	interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing	U7: p. 106, U7: p. 112
TEKS 1.7.F	respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate
(8) Multiple genres: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking using multiple texts—literary elements. The student recognizes and analyzes literary elements within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical, and diverse literary texts. The student is expected to:
TEKS 1.8.A	discuss topics and determine theme using text evidence with adult assistance
TEKS 1.8.B	describe the main character(s) and the reason(s) for their actions	U7: p. 46, U7: p. 51, U7: p. 85, U7: p. 92, U7: p. 116, U7: p. 120, U7: p. 135, U7: p. 138
TEKS 1.8.C	describe plot elements including the main events, the problem, and the resolution, for texts read aloud and independently
TEKS 1.8.D	describe the setting
(9) Multiple genres: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking using multiple texts—genres. The student recognizes and analyzes genre-specific characteristics, structures, and purposes within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical, and diverse texts. The student is expected to:

TEXAS ESSENTIAL KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS - GRADE 1

Skills 7		Correlation—Teacher’s Guide
TEKS 1.9.A	demonstrate knowledge of distinguishing characteristics of well-known children’s literature such as folktales, fables, fairy tales, and nursery rhymes;
TEKS 1.9.B	discuss rhyme, rhythm, repetition, and alliteration in a variety of poems
TEKS 1.9.C	discuss elements of drama such as characters and setting
(D) recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including:
TEKS 1.9.D.i	the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance
TEKS 1.9.D.ii	features and simple graphics to locate or gain information
TEKS 1.9.D.iii	organizational patterns such as chronological order and description with adult assistance	U7: p. 135, U7: p. 141
TEKS 1.9.E	recognize characteristics of persuasive text with adult assistance and state what the author is trying to persuade the reader to think or do
TEKS 1.9.F	recognize characteristics of multimodal and digital texts
(10) Author’s purpose and craft: listening, speaking, reading, writing, and thinking using multiple texts. The student uses critical inquiry to analyze the authors’ choices and how they influence and communicate meaning within a variety of texts. The student analyzes and applies author’s craft purposefully in order to develop his or her own products and performances. The student is expected to:
TEKS 1.10.A	discuss the author’s purpose for writing text
TEKS 1.10.B	discuss how the use of text structure contributes to the author’s purpose
TEKS 1.10.C	discuss with adult assistance the author’s use of print and graphic features to achieve specific purposes

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY STANDARDS - GRADE 1

Skills 7

Correlation—Teacher’s Guide

(1) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/learning strategies. The ELL uses language learning strategies to develop an awareness of his or her own learning processes in all content areas. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. The student is expected to:

ELPS 1.A	use prior knowledge and experiences to understand meanings in English
ELPS 1.B	monitor oral and written language production and employ self-corrective techniques or other resources	U7: p. 12, U7: p. 20, U7: p. 88, U7: p. 110
ELPS 1.C	use strategic learning techniques such as concept mapping, drawing, memorizing, comparing, contrasting, and reviewing to acquire basic and grade-level vocabulary
ELPS 1.D	speak using learning strategies such as requesting assistance, employing non-verbal cues, and using synonyms and circumlocution (conveying ideas by defining or describing when exact English words are not known)
ELPS 1.E	internalize new basic and academic language by using and reusing it in meaningful ways in speaking and writing activities that build concept and language attainment	U7: p. 103
ELPS 1.F	use accessible language and learn new and essential language in the process
ELPS 1.G	demonstrate an increasing ability to distinguish between formal and informal English and an increasing knowledge of when to use each one commensurate with grade-level learning expectations
ELPS 1.H	develop and expand repertoire of learning strategies such as reasoning inductively or deductively, looking for patterns in language, and analyzing sayings and expressions commensurate with grade-level learning expectations	U7: p. 140

(2) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/listening. The ELL listens to a variety of speakers including teachers, peers, and electronic media to gain an increasing level of comprehension of newly acquired language in all content areas. ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in listening. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. The student is expected to:

ELPS 2.A	distinguish sounds and intonation patterns of English with increasing ease	U7: p. 12, U7: p. 20, U7: p. 100, U7: p. 110
ELPS 2.B	recognize elements of the English sound system in newly acquired vocabulary such as long and short vowels, silent letters, and consonant clusters
ELPS 2.C	learn new language structures, expressions, and basic and academic vocabulary heard during classroom instruction and interactions	U7: p. 31, U7: p. 33, U7: p. 77, U7: p. 100, U7: p. 119
ELPS 2.D	monitor understanding of spoken language during classroom instruction and interactions and seek clarification as needed
ELPS 2.E	use visual, contextual, and linguistic support to enhance and confirm understanding of increasingly complex and elaborated spoken language

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY STANDARDS - GRADE 1

Skills 7		Correlation—Teacher’s Guide
ELPS 2.F	listen to and derive meaning from a variety of media such as audio tape, video, DVD, and CD ROM to build and reinforce concept and language attainment
ELPS 2.G	understand the general meaning, main point, and important details of spoken language ranging from situations in which topics, language, and contexts are familiar to unfamiliar
ELPS 2.H	understand implicit ideas and information in increasingly complex spoken language commensurate with grade-level learning expectations
ELPS 2.I	demonstrate listening comprehension of increasingly complex spoken English by following directions, retelling or summarizing spoken messages, responding to questions and requests, collaborating with peers, and taking notes commensurate with content and grade-level needs
(3) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/speaking. The ELL speaks in a variety of modes for a variety of purposes with an awareness of different language registers (formal/informal) using vocabulary with increasing fluency and accuracy in language arts and all content areas. ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in speaking. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. The student is expected to:
ELPS 3.A	practice producing sounds of newly acquired vocabulary such as long and short vowels, silent letters, and consonant clusters to pronounce English words in a manner that is increasingly comprehensible	U7: p. 12, U7: p. 20, U7: p. 110
ELPS 3.B	expand and internalize initial English vocabulary by learning and using high-frequency English words necessary for identifying and describing people, places, and objects, by retelling simple stories and basic information represented or supported by pictures, and by learning and using routine language needed for classroom communication
ELPS 3.C	speak using a variety of grammatical structures, sentence lengths, sentence types, and connecting words with increasing accuracy and ease as more English is acquired	U7: p. 39, U7: p. 77, U7: p. 88, U7: p. 176
ELPS 3.D	speak using grade-level content area vocabulary in context to internalize new English words and build academic language proficiency
ELPS 3.E	share information in cooperative learning interactions
ELPS 3.F	ask and give information ranging from using a very limited bank of high-frequency, high-need, concrete vocabulary, including key words and expressions needed for basic communication in academic and social contexts, to using abstract and content-based vocabulary during extended speaking assignments
ELPS 3.G	express opinions, ideas, and feelings ranging from communicating single words and short phrases to participating in extended discussions on a variety of social and grade-appropriate academic topics
ELPS 3.H	narrate, describe, and explain with increasing specificity and detail as more English is acquired	U7: p. 23

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY STANDARDS - GRADE 1

Skills 7		Correlation—Teacher’s Guide
ELPS 3.I	adapt spoken language appropriately for formal and informal purposes
ELPS 3.J	respond orally to information presented in a wide variety of print, electronic, audio, and visual media to build and reinforce concept and language attainment
(4) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/reading. The ELL reads a variety of texts for a variety of purposes with an increasing level of comprehension in all content areas. ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in reading. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. For kindergarten and grade 1, certain of these student expectations apply to text read aloud for students not yet at the stage of decoding written text. The student is expected to:
ELPS 4.A	learn relationships between sounds and letters of the English language and decode (sound out) words using a combination of skills such as recognizing sound-letter relationships and identifying cognates, affixes, roots, and base words	U7: p. 79
ELPS 4.C	develop basic sight vocabulary, derive meaning of environmental print, and comprehend English vocabulary and language structures used routinely in written classroom materials	U7: p. 88
ELPS 4.D	use prereading supports such as graphic organizers, illustrations, and pretaught topic-related vocabulary and other prereading activities to enhance comprehension of written text	U7: p. 103
ELPS 4.E	read linguistically accommodated content area material with a decreasing need for linguistic accommodations as more English is learned
ELPS 4.F	use visual and contextual support and support from peers and teachers to read grade-appropriate content area text, enhance and confirm understanding, and develop vocabulary, grasp of language structures, and background knowledge needed to comprehend increasingly challenging language	U7: p. 53
ELPS 4.G	demonstrate comprehension of increasingly complex English by participating in shared reading, retelling or summarizing material, responding to questions, and taking notes commensurate with content area and grade level needs	U7: p. 23, U7: p. 34, U7: p. 72, U7: p. 93, U7: p. 94, U7: p. 104, U7: p. 123, U7: p. 130, U7: p. 140, U7: p. 170, U7: p. 178
ELPS 4.H	read silently with increasing ease and comprehension for longer periods
ELPS 4.I	demonstrate English comprehension and expand reading skills by employing basic reading skills such as demonstrating understanding of supporting ideas and details in text and graphic sources, summarizing text, and distinguishing main ideas from details commensurate with content area needs

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY STANDARDS - GRADE 1

Skills 7		Correlation—Teacher’s Guide
ELPS 4.J	demonstrate English comprehension and expand reading skills by employing inferential skills such as predicting, making connections between ideas, drawing inferences and conclusions from text and graphic sources, and finding supporting text evidence commensurate with content area needs	U7: p. 23, U7: p. 34, U7: p. 61, U7: p. 93, U7: p. 94, U7: p. 104, U7: p. 113, U7: p. 130
ELPS 4.K	demonstrate English comprehension and expand reading skills by employing analytical skills such as evaluating written information and performing critical analyses commensurate with content area and grade-level needs
(5) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/writing. The ELL writes in a variety of forms with increasing accuracy to effectively address a specific purpose and audience in all content areas. ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in writing. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. For kindergarten and grade 1, certain of these student expectations do not apply until the student has reached the stage of generating original written text using a standard writing system. The student is expected to:
ELPS 5.A	learn relationships between sounds and letters of the English language to represent sounds when writing in English
ELPS 5.B	write using newly acquired basic vocabulary and content-based grade-level vocabulary	U7: p. 113, U7: p. 163, U7: p. 171
ELPS 5.C	spell familiar English words with increasing accuracy, and employ English spelling patterns and rules with increasing accuracy as more English is acquired
ELPS 5.D	edit writing for standard grammar and usage, including subject-verb agreement, pronoun agreement, and appropriate verb tenses commensurate with grade-level expectations as more English is acquired	U7: p. 171
ELPS 5.E	employ increasingly complex grammatical structures in content area writing commensurate with grade level expectations such as (i) using correct verbs, tenses, and pronouns/antecedents; (ii) using possessive case (apostrophe -s) correctly; and, (iii) using negatives and contractions correctly
ELPS 5.F	write using a variety of grade-appropriate sentence lengths, patterns, and connecting words to combine phrases, clauses, and sentences in increasingly accurate ways as more English is acquired	U7: p. 77
ELPS 5.G	narrate, describe, and explain with increasing specificity and detail to fulfill content area writing needs as more English is acquired	U7: p. 61, U7: p. 151

Introduction

UNIT 6 OVERVIEW

This unit is devoted to introducing several new spelling alternatives for vowel and consonant sounds.

In this unit you will introduce the following:

Spelling Alternatives for Vowel Sounds

- /er/ > 'ar' (dollar)
- /er/ > 'or' (work)

Tricky Spellings for Vowel Sounds

- 'ea' > /e/ (head)
- 'i' > /ee/ (ski)
- 'a' > /o/ (lava)

Spelling Alternatives for Consonant Sounds

- /f/ > 'ph' (phone)
- /k/ > 'ch' (school)

Tricky Spellings

The tricky spellings 'ea,' 'ar,' 'or,' 'i,' and 'a' are explicitly addressed in this unit. Remember that as more and more tricky spellings are introduced, it increases the challenge that students face when reading. Remind them to use their puzzling skills, such as chunking words into syllables, trying alternative sounds for specific spellings, referring to the Individual Code Chart and Spelling Trees, and using context when they encounter challenging words. If you find that students still need additional practice decoding these tricky spellings, you can choose among tricky spelling activities listed in the Additional Support activities at the end of the lessons and in the Pausing Point.

Code Knowledge

Students who have mastered the letter-sound correspondences taught in this program up to this point have learned most of the important letter-sound correspondences they need to read English writing. The ones they have not explicitly studied are relatively rare letter-sound correspondences that come up perhaps once in every 2,000–3,000 words. Most students will be able to decode the occasional unusual spelling by using the puzzling strategies that you have taught them. For this reason, we will continue to encourage you to ask students to use the Individual Code Chart, syllable chunking, and context to puzzle out unfamiliar words. At this point in Grade 2, many students are already reading trade books and other publications that are not controlled for decodability.

Any student who has done well with the program up to this point can be encouraged—or, if you like, required—to read trade books and textbooks written at an appropriate level. Students should be strongly encouraged to self-select reading material. It is important to move students toward taking responsibility for their own learning.

Tricky Words

Tricky Words are introduced in this unit on an as-needed basis in the context of the different selections included in the Reader. Tricky Words should be taught in the lessons before the reading selections are assigned. When introducing Tricky Words, be sure to draw attention to the parts that are read (and spelled) just as students would expect based on what they have learned so far, and also point out the tricky parts of each word.

The Tricky Words taught in this unit are:

Lesson 5—Great Britain, Europe, native, Americans, war, signature

Lesson 11—imagine, soldier, Washington

Lesson 13—iron

Lesson 15—special

Lesson 17—shoe

Lesson 19—Fort McHenry

Lesson 21—early, whose, broad, bomb

Lesson 23—Andrew, new

As you introduce new spelling patterns, you will notice that some words previously introduced as Tricky Words can be seen as part of spelling patterns. For example, after you have taught 'ph' as a spelling alternative for /f/, the words paragraph and elephant no longer need to be treated as Tricky Words. They can be described as members of a larger spelling pattern that includes words like phone and graph. As spelling patterns are introduced, the corresponding words should be removed from the Tricky Word Wall.

Decodable Reader: The War of 1812

The Reader for this unit is The War of 1812. The War of 1812 is important historically as it was the first foreign conflict that the United States faced as a young nation.

Students have already been introduced to the topic of the War of 1812 earlier this year in the Knowledge Strand. However, although students have been listening to nonfiction selections in the Knowledge Strand since Kindergarten, this is the first complex, nonfiction text students will read as part of the program.

Reading nonfiction presents different challenges for students than reading fiction. As you know from your experience with the Knowledge domains, it is imperative that students possess the necessary background knowledge to fully understand the text they will be reading. Multiple tools for introducing the unit are included to ensure that students activate prior knowledge. A brief review of early American history using selected images is included at the beginning of the Reader. Materials for the creation of a timeline have also been included. Using the timeline, students will be able to contextualize the events of the War of 1812 as they read the various chapters of the Reader.

Another challenge of nonfiction text is the inclusion of domain-specific vocabulary. For this reason, the Reader also includes a new feature—a glossary—that students will be taught to use to better understand the text they are reading. A copy of the glossary is included at the end of the Activity Book, so students can take it home to use when reading take-home copies of the chapters from the Reader. In addition, there are opportunities for students to use a digital dictionary and a digital glossary, building on their skills in using the glossary in the Reader.

Significant scaffolding is also provided for the lessons in the Reader. Additionally, teacher modeling of note-taking opportunities is included in the lessons. As students progress through the Reader, it may be useful to have them periodically read through the notes that you will leave on display.

In this unit, Reading will occur first in each lesson where it appears. This is a shift from previous units and is done to help prepare students for reading in Grade 3, which also occurs first in every lesson.

Timeline Image Cards

Included in the unit materials are Image Cards for you to arrange in a timeline. These materials will be powerful tools for you to present to students. Find space in your room to display the entire timeline during this unit. You will display specific Timeline Image Cards at various times throughout the unit. At this point in the year, you may find that you can easily take down materials that students no longer reference in order to make a space for these Timeline Image Cards to be displayed. You will likely need to extend the timeline on more than one wall.

Close Reading

With the adoption of the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills Standards, increasing attention has been focused on the practice of close reading. At the Grade 2 reading level, text-dependent questions continue to be the focus. Once again in this unit, direction is included for teachers to utilize a close-reading approach with several chapters from the Reader. These lessons are carefully crafted to focus the student on the text itself and the meanings that can be derived from a close examination of that text. For your convenience, portions of the student Reader text are reproduced within the lessons of this Teacher Guide. However, student referral to the text in front of them is a critical element of close reading.

Additionally, you will note that wherever these lessons occur (Lessons 12, 14, 16, 22, 24, and 26 of this unit), the commitment to using decodable text in the Reader and Activity Book does not waiver. This is the first and only unit in Grade 2 with close reading lessons for nonfiction text.

Grammar

In Unit 6, students will continue to review grammar skills introduced in previous units. In addition to the parts of speech that they already know—common and proper nouns; present-, past-, and future-tense verbs; and adjectives—students will learn to identify and use adverbs. The focus of the remaining grammar lessons is on the sentence as a unit. Building on their knowledge of subjects and predicates, students will learn to identify complete versus incomplete sentences. They will also learn to identify run-on sentences, as well as ways to correct these sentences. Finally, they will begin to work on writing increasingly detailed sentences.

- Throughout the unit, students may also practice decoding and spelling abbreviations used in titles, addresses, and dates.
- Tell students that using the word mister or missus before a person's name is usually a way of showing respect. Explain that when we abbreviate these words to go before a person's name, we write it Mr. and Mrs. Write these on the board and have students say mister and missus with you.
- Explain that Mrs. is used before the name of a married woman, and Ms. (an abbreviation for miss) is used before the name of a girl or an unmarried woman. Tell students that Ms. can also be used if they aren't sure whether a woman is married or not.
- On their own paper, have students write the title and name of an adult they respect.
- Explain that we also use abbreviations for parts of addresses, such as United States, and District of Columbia. Write the abbreviation for each on the board.

- Finally, explain that abbreviations can also be used for months of the year and days of the week. Write Monday, Mon., January, and Jan. on the board.
- Have students write today’s date, including the day of the week, on their own paper.

📌 (e.g., Fri., Nov. 11, 2022) TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii

Spelling

Weekly spelling lists and assessments continue in this unit. The spelling lists in Lessons 1, 6, and 11 continue to be made up of words with letter-sound correspondences that students have already been taught. The spelling lists in Lessons 16, 21, and 26 consist solely of content-based words students have encountered in the Reader.

During writing activities, students will have an opportunity to practice correctly spelling high-frequency words and words with sound-spellings they have learned. Refer to the scope and sequence as needed to determine if the sound-spelling has been previously taught, and focus on those words when reviewing their writing. Many writing assignments also use an editing checklist, so students should be checking their spelling before submitting their assignment.

Students will also create a Dictation Journal that focuses on spelling words in isolation as well as in sentences. Spelling assessments will also incorporate a phrase or sentence that students must spell correctly.

- For the dictation journal, you can either have students use a journal they use for other writing activities or you may wish to create a small dictation journal for each student. Stapling five pieces of 📌 paper together is all you will need for each journal. (1) TEKS 2.2.C.i; TEKS 2.2.C.iv

In Grade 2, students have thus far practiced writing personal narratives, as well as writing new story endings and story summaries. They have also practiced persuasive writing in the context of a friendly letter. At the end of this unit, they will be introduced to expository or report writing. This form of writing is well suited to the nonfiction text they are reading.

Report writing is focused on organizing information into paragraphs, each with a topic sentence and supporting details. The lessons have been written to build upon what students have learned about the War of 1812.

At this point, students have learned at least one way to write nearly every sound in English, with the exception of the very rare /zh/ as in treasure. You should continue to expect, however, that students’ drafts will contain some incorrect spellings. At a minimum, the spellings students write in their drafts should be phonemically plausible; that is, students should write a plausible spelling for each sound in the word. Students can be asked to correct misspellings in drafts using the Individual Code Chart, Spelling Trees, and word walls as references. You may want to have more advanced students use a dictionary, both print and digital, to verify spellings. Editing for spelling is incorporated in the writing lessons in this unit and can also be incorporated into supplemental writing assignments. Students will edit their drafts for capitalization, end punctuation, commas in a series and in dates, and prepositions. If students have access to computers for writing assignments, you are strongly encouraged to teach them how to use the available spell-check feature.

UNIT 6 ASSESSMENT

Formative Assessments and Additional Support

Throughout this unit, formative assessments are clearly marked for monitoring individual student performance and progress in key skills. Quick “Checks for Understanding” to evaluate classroom performance as a whole are also designated in various lessons.

You will be prompted to assess students’ oral reading with the Anecdotal Reading Record, as well to make notes regarding student responses to discussion questions about the chapters they are reading. As in earlier units, specific directions for analyzing errors on weekly spelling assessments are included. You will also be prompted to collect and review activity book pages on the new spelling alternatives and tricky spellings taught in this unit.

Careful attention to this information, collected on a daily basis, will enable you to quickly determine which students may benefit from reteaching and/or more practice in particular skills, using the Additional Support activities found at the end of each lesson.

Student Performance Assessment

In Lesson 27, you will be prompted to administer a multipart end-of-unit assessment. Students will be asked to answer written comprehension questions about the information they learned from reading The War of 1812.

End-of-Year Assessment

An End-of-Year Assessment for students using the program for Grade 2 is provided, starting in Lesson 33. You should administer this year-end assessment even if students have not fully completed all units of the Grade 2 program.

Administer the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment to all students. The story used will be completely decodable for students who have completed Unit 6.

This assessment allows you to gauge students’ independent reading proficiency and comprehension. It also allows you to do additional follow-up assessment for students who may be struggling. You will ask students in the class to silently read a story called “The Young Mouse” and to then answer a set of multiple-choice questions about the story.

The Fluency Assessment makes use of the same story, “The Young Mouse,” for assessment of reading accuracy and fluency. As you listen to individual students read the story aloud, you will make a running record and take a measurement of fluency. This section should at least be administered to all students who miss two or more of the eight questions on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment.

The Word Reading in Isolation Assessment is a word-reading assessment designed to assess students’ ability to read the specific spellings taught or reviewed in Grade 2. Ideally, you should administer this assessment to all students. However, if time is limited, you may choose to administer this section only to those students to whom you administered the Fluency Assessment, or to those students in your classroom who are most at risk.

You are strongly encouraged to share the results of this assessment with students’ Grade 3 teachers. A summary sheet (Activity Page 33.3) is provided that can be passed on to Grade 3 teachers with students’ assessment information.

PAUSING POINT

An extensive listing of additional activities to teach and practice the Unit 6 skills can be found in the Pausing Point section included after the last lesson. It is strongly recommended that you pause for 4 or 5 days to provide targeted remediation for individual or groups of students in any areas in which they performed poorly on the end-of-unit assessment. In addition, a partner reading lesson for Chapter 13, “Dolley Madison,” is included.

THE FLUENCY PACKET

See the directions in The Fluency Packet for further guidance.

TEACHER RESOURCES

In the Teacher Resources section at the end of the Teacher’s Guide, you will find forms and charts which may be useful, including the following:

- Discussion Questions Observation Record—Unit 6
- Anecdotal Reading Record—Unit 6
- Glossary for The War of 1812
- Spelling Analysis Directions and Analysis of Student Errors for Spelling Assessments (Lessons 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, and 30)

ADDITIONAL MATERIALS NEEDED IN UNIT 6

Some additional materials (most typically available in Grade 2 classrooms) are needed for specific lessons of Unit 6. These materials are always listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart at the beginning of each lesson. For your convenience, a complete list of these additional materials is included here. The number in parentheses indicates the first lesson in which the materials are used:

- unruled 4" x 6" or 5" x 7" white index cards (1)
- paper clips (1)
- thin-tipped red markers, one per student (1)
- examples of nonfiction books, including one about cats (2)
- brown, green, and yellow paper; marker; and tape for Spelling Trees (3)
- thin-tipped green markers, one per student (3)
- thin-tipped blue markers, one per student (3)
- chart paper (5)
- digital components: Throughout this unit and others, whenever the lesson suggests the teacher model the completion of an activity page or prepare a chart to display, you may use the digital version provided in the digital components for this unit. (1)

Note to Teacher Spelling Trees needed for this unit have been made in previous units.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

In this lesson, you will teach a spelling alternative for the /f/ sound: 'ph' as in phone. Students should already know the basic code spelling 'f' as in fit and the spelling alternative 'ff' as in stuff. The following chart shows which of these spellings is most common for the /f/ sound.

Here are some patterns for you to be aware of:

- 'f' is the most common spelling for the /f/ sound. It is used in initial position (fun, fig), in final position (leaf, deaf), in the initial consonant clusters fl- and fr- (flop, fresh), in the final consonant clusters -ft, -fth, and -lf (lift, fifth, elf), and with separated digraphs (safe, life).
- Only 'f' and 'ph' are used at the beginning of words and syllables.
- 'f,' 'ff,' and 'ph' are used at the end of words and syllables.
- 'ff' is commonly found after "short" vowels written with single-letter spellings; thus we write stiff but beef.
- 'ph' is used mainly to spell words borrowed from Greek; it is used in the consonant cluster -mph (lymph).
- Words with final /f/ tend to keep the spelling they have in the root form, even when suffixes beginning with a vowel sound are added: leaf > leafy; oaf > oafish; stuff > stuffy.
- Note that there is one spelling for the /f/ sound that appears on the code chart but is not taught here: 'gh' as in tough.

Foundational Skills

- You may wish to tab Consonant Code Flip Book page 9 for Introduce /f/ > 'ph'. Also have the Spelling Card listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and red markers readily available.

- Write each of the following words on an index card for Introduce /f/ > 'ph': phone, graph, phantom, phase, phonics, Joseph, elephant, dolphin, phrase, trophy, photo, alphabet, pharmacy, orphan, Philip, autograph, sphere. You will use these cards again in the next lesson.

➤ Digital Component 1.1

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 1.1 (Digital Component 1.1) to display for Introduce /f/ > 'ph,' or use the digital version.

Language

- Write the alphabet vertically on the board/chart paper as a reference for students, as needed; most students have internalized the alphabet sequence so they are able to alphabetize words on their own. You will not be “matching” words to the alphabet as you did in the early lessons of Unit 5.
- Write this week’s spelling words on index cards for Introduce Spelling Words, underlining the targeted spelling alternative. Have paper clips handy for folding over the cards to display partial words for the alphabetizing activity.

Universal Access

- Gather pictures, or the actual objects, for the following words for Introduce /f/ > 'ph': phone, graph, elephant, dolphin, trophy, pharmacy, autograph, and sphere.

Lesson 1: Spelling Alternatives

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

Students will identify the following spelling alternatives: /n/ > 'n' and 'kn,' /r/ > 'wr' and 'r,' /w/ > 'w' and 'wh,' /j/ > 'g' and 'j,' and /f/ > 'f,' 'ff,' and 'ph.' TEKS 2.2.B.ii

Students will decode words with /f/ > 'f,' 'ff,' and 'ph' and fill in blanks in sentences with words that have /f/ > 'ph.' TEKS 2.2.B.i

SPEEDY SOUND HUNT (10 MIN.)

Individual Code Chart

1. 'n' and 'kn' > /n/ (page 4)
2. 'wr' and 'r' > /r/ (page 5)
3. 'w' and 'wh' > /w/ (page 5)
4. 'g' and 'j' > /j/ (page 2)
5. 'f' and 'ff' > /f/ (page 3)

- Review each spelling with the Speedy Sound Hunt game, saying the following instructions:
 - Say, "You will begin with the Individual Code Chart closed on your desk. I will tell you a sound. All of the sounds will be consonant sounds. When I say 'go,' I want to see who can raise their hand first to tell me the page number where I will find that sound. I will call on that student. Then, I will call on others to tell me all of the spellings for the sound."
 - Then say, "I am thinking of the sound (insert sound from the box). Ready? Go!"
 - Call on one student to give you the page number from the Individual Code Chart for the sound.
 - Then, call on other students to tell you the different spellings for each sound. The page numbers for the Individual Code Chart have been included in the box.
 - When reviewing the spellings for /f/, point out that there are two /f/ spellings that they have not yet learned. Note that students will learn one of those spellings today: 'ph' can be used to represent /f/.

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (ii) decoding words with silent letters such as knife and gnat; (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends.

Code Materials

INTRODUCE /F/ > 'PH' (20 MIN.)

- Tell students that today's letter-sound correspondence can be found on the following page of the Consonant Code Flip Book:

Consonant Code Flip Book	Individual Code Chart
1. /f/ > 'ph' (phone) page 9	1. /f/ > 'ph' (phone) page 3

- Tell students that they are going to practice /f/ > 'ph'.
- Remind students that they have learned /f/ as 'f' in fit, and /f/ as 'ff' in stuff.
- Show students the Spelling Card for /f/ > 'ph' (phone). Have students read the sample word. Discuss the power bar. Add the Spelling Card to the Consonant Code Flip Book.
- Tell students that today's letter-sound correspondence can be found on page 3 of the Individual Code Chart.

Note: The Tricky Words paragraph, elephant, alphabet, and humph can now be understood by students as part of a larger spelling pattern. They should now be removed from the Tricky Word Wall if you have one.

- Hand out the red markers. Have students turn to page 3 of the Individual Code Chart. Guide students in outlining the appropriate card on the chart.
- Have students look at the Individual Code Chart. Ask students which of the spellings they have learned for /f/ has the longest power bar. ('f')
- Tape the prepared cards on the board/chart paper, one at a time, circling the spellings that stand for /f/: phone, graph, phantom, phase, phonics, Joseph, elephant, dolphin, phrase, trophy, photo, alphabet, pharmacy, orphan, Philip, autograph, sphere.
- Read each word aloud as a class. Point out that the 'ph' spelling for /f/ can occur at the beginning, middle, or end of a word.

Foundational Literacy Skills

Before reading words with 'ph', tell students you will show them pictures or objects that represent some of the words they will hear. You may want to select fewer words to read, focusing on those that are more familiar and easily depictable.

ELPS 2.B; ELPS 4.D

➤ Digital Component 1.1

- Have students turn to Activity Page 1.1 while you display the digital version.
- Have the class read the 'ph' words on the activity page aloud.
- Ask students to circle the spelling for /f/ in each word. Point out that the 'ph' spelling can occur at the beginning, middle, or end of words.
- Briefly discuss the meaning of any words that students may not know.
- Read the words a second time.
- Now, tell students to silently read the words in the box on the back of the activity page.
- Have students fill in the blanks in the sentences using the words in the box, either independently or as a teacher-guided activity.

Activity Page 1.1: Practice /f/ > 'ph'

Collect and review Activity Page 1.1. Students who did not correctly identify letters that stand for /f/ may benefit from additional practice. See the Additional Support activities at the end of the lesson.

Activity Page 1.1

Challenge

Ask students to identify other spellings for the /f/ sound. ('gh' > /f/) Write the words enough, laugh, cough, and tough on the board. Have students write these words on the bottom of Activity Page 1.1 and circle the letter(s) that make the /f/ sound.

Lesson 1: Grammar, Spelling

Language

Primary Focus

Students will identify common nouns, proper nouns, adjectives, and verbs in written sentences, will distinguish between the past, present, and future tense in written sentences, and will identify the correct use of apostrophes.

✦ TEKS 2.11.D.ii; TEKS 2.11.D.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.iv; TEKS 2.11.D.x

Students will spell multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns.

✦ TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.C.i; TEKS 2.2.C.iv

Students will read and alphabetize words with /n/ > 'n' and 'kn', /r/ > 'wr', 'r', and 'rr', /w/ > 'w' and 'wh', /j/ > 'g' and 'j', and /f/ > 'f', 'ff', and 'ph', and the Tricky Word

✦ Britain. TEKS 2.2.B.ii; TEKS 2.2.D

REVIEW NOUNS, ADJECTIVES, VERBS, AND APOSTROPHES (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that today you will review several parts of speech.
- Begin by asking students to define noun. (A noun is a word that names a person, place, or thing.)
- Ask students to tell you the difference between a common noun and a proper noun. (A common noun names anything in general; a proper noun names a specific person or place, and begins with a capital letter.)
- Ask students for examples of common and proper nouns. (Examples might include boy, park, Ted, Washington Park, etc.)
- Next, ask students to define adjective. (An adjective is a word that describes a noun.)
- Ask students for examples of adjective-noun pairs. (Examples might include tall tree, blue sky, etc.)
- Ask students to define verb. (A verb is a word that shows action.) Ask them to give several examples of verbs. (Examples might include run, swim, think, sing, etc.)

✦ TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (ii) past, present, and future verb tense; (iii) singular, plural, common, and proper nouns; (iv) adjectives, including articles; (x) end punctuation, apostrophes in contractions, and commas with items in a series and in dates; TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; TEKS 2.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by (i) spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (iv) spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns; TEKS 2.2.B.ii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with silent letters such as knife and gnat; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

Support

Prompt students to identify examples of parts of speech in the following manner:
Nouns: ask students to identify a person, a place, and a thing. Adjectives: provide several nouns and ask students to use an adjective to describe each.
Verbs: ask students to say a word that shows an action they do.

- Ask students to explain what an apostrophe in a word means. (It can indicate a contraction, taking the place of letters to combine two words into one, such as in can't; -'s at the end of a word can show ownership; the person, or owner, owns something.)
- Ask students for examples of words with an apostrophe as part of a contraction. (Examples might include shouldn't, didn't, wasn't, etc.)
- Ask students for examples of word pairs showing ownership. (Examples might include Jayden's book, Eva's backpack, Mrs. Carter's chair, etc.)
- Have students turn to Activity Page 1.2 and do the first item as an example. Note that a "key" is provided for each item so students will know how many parts of speech to identify in each sentence (box around Sisters Forever; wiggly line under is; arrow from good to film; circle around film).
- Ask students to complete only the front of the activity page independently as you circulate through the room.
- When students have finished, have them turn to the back of the activity page.
- Review past, present, and future tense by completing the back of the activity page as a teacher-guided activity.
- At the bottom of the page, have students complete the section on apostrophes independently.

Activity Page 1.2: Parts of Speech and Apostrophes

Collect and review Activity Page 1.2. Students who did not correctly identify parts of speech, verb tenses, and/or use of apostrophes may benefit from additional practice.

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS (20 MIN.)

TEKS 2.2.C.iv

- Write the following headers in columns on the board/chart paper: /n/, /r/, /w/, /j/, /f/.
- Introduce each spelling word, except the Tricky Word.

TEKS 2.2.C.iv Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns.

1. noise
2. night
3. kneel
4. wrinkle
5. ripple
6. ferret
7. whistle
8. window
9. western
10. jungle

11. jolly
12. ginger
13. gentle
14. margin
15. photo
16. dolphin
17. graph
18. finish
19. traffic

Tricky Word: Britain

Note: Pay special attention to words with the 'ph' spelling for /f/ as this is a new spelling.

- Point out that the spelling words this week target consonant sounds with spelling alternatives (underlined on the index cards you prepared in advance).
- Ask students to guide you in sorting the words into the proper column as indicated in the following chart.
- Ask students to use each word orally in a sentence to make sure they understand the meaning of each word.

/n/	/r/	/w/	/j/	/f/
noise	wrinkle	whistle	jungle	photo
night	ripple	window	jolly	dolphin
kneel	ferret	western	ginger	graph
			gentle	finish
			margin	traffic

- Introduce the Tricky Word Britain, explaining that this is the name of an island located in Europe. Tape the word on the board/chart paper next to the sorted chart.
- Remind students that they can use what they have learned about closed syllables to read and spell the words. Point out the /i/ sound in rip•ple and the /e/ sound in west•ern.

- Tell students that you will now put the words in alphabetical order on another part of the board/chart paper. Fold over the cards as you did in Unit 5, and paper clip them so that just the first letter shows.
- Ask: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? No ... ‘b’? Yes, Britain begins with ‘b.’” (Tape the card for Britain to the board/chart paper some distance away from the alphabet.) “‘c’? No. ‘d’? Yes, I have a ‘d’ card. So I will tape the card with the word that starts with ‘d’ under the word Dolphin. Any words with ‘e’? No. ‘f’? Yes, I have two cards that begin with ‘f’. I wonder how we know which one to put first? Let me fold over the card to show one more letter.” (Fold the cards so the ‘fe’ and ‘fi’ are visible.) “Oh, I see. ‘e’ comes before ‘i’ in the alphabet, so I will put ‘fe’ card under the ‘d’ card and before the ‘fi’ card.”
- Continue in this way through the cards.
- Unfold the cards and read the words aloud with students.
- Tell students that the words are now in alphabetical order.

| 10. kneel | 20. wrinkle |

- If possible, leave the words on display until the assessment, so students can refer to them during the week.
- Tell students that it’s important to be able to spell words in sentences. Explain that they will write an entire sentence that you dictate during the Spelling Assessment, and they will practice now. Students may use their Dictation Journal.
- Dictate the sentence: The dolphin swam all the way to Britain.
- Tell students that they will take home Activity Page 1.3 with this week’s spelling words to share with a family member.

Additional Support

DECODABLE WORDS, SENTENCES, AND PHRASES

- Use the following lists of words, sentences, and phrases to extend your lessons.

Decodable Words

- | | | |
|---------------|---------------|---------------|
| 1. physical | 7. philosophy | 13. sphere |
| 2. telephone | 8. phrase | 14. triumph |
| 3. paragraph | 9. photograph | 15. geography |
| 4. atmosphere | 10. emphasis | 16. dolphin |
| 5. phase | 11. alphabet | 17. homophone |
| 6. hemisphere | 12. graph | 18. gopher |

Sentences and Phrases

1. Sophie is singing into the microphone.
2. Ralph is speaking to Joseph on the telephone.
3. In geography class, we learned that Earth is a sphere.
4. This is a photo of Philip.
5. The dolphin swam right up to Phyllis.
6. The class is reciting the alphabet.
7. This story has five paragraphs.
8. A frog is an amphibian.

Wiggle Cards

1. Pretend to talk on the phone.
2. Pretend to sing into a microphone.
3. Pretend to snap a photo.
4. Say the alphabet.
5. Act triumphant.
6. Name an amphibian.
7. Pretend to be a dolphin.

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING ALTERNATIVES

Word Sort

- Using a pocket chart or chart paper, create a column for each spelling of /f/: 'f', 'ff', and 'ph'.
- Write the following words on index cards.

- | | | |
|------------|-----------|-------------|
| 1. scuff | 7. proof | 13. photo |
| 2. graph | 8. lift | 14. phonics |
| 3. friend | 9. phrase | 15. rift |
| 4. stuff | 10. taffy | 16. forest |
| 5. phone | 11. fast | |
| 6. dolphin | 12. puffy | |

- Give students the word cards. Have them read their words and place them under the correct spelling column.
- Then, read all the sorted words in each column.
- To provide students with more practice spelling words in sentences, have them use their own paper to write a new sentence with one of the words in the box.

Moon Shot

- Copy one game board (Activity Page TR 1.1) for each pair of students.

- Create three sets of cards for each pair of students using the templates:
 - word cards using Spelling Alternatives (Activity Page TR 1.2)
 - Good to Go Cards (Activity Page TR 1.3)
 - Problem Cards (Activity Page TR 1.4)
- Provide some small tokens as playing pieces.
- Have students take turns drawing word cards. If a student reads the word card correctly, then they can draw a Good to Go card and follow the directions on the card. If a student does not read the word correctly, then they will draw a card from the Problem Cards pile and follow the instructions on that card.
- The first student to make it to the “moon” is the winner.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 856 to 926 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 860 to 927 of those words would be completely decodable.

The spelling pattern 'ph' is usually pronounced /f/ as in phone. However, the letters can also stand for two separate sounds, as in uphold.

READING

Text Features in Informational Text

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will learn about the difference between fiction and nonfiction books, will be introduced to various genres of nonfiction texts and their organizational structures, and will display an understanding of nonfiction texts by correctly identifying features of nonfiction genres. TEKS 2.9.D.ii; TEKS 2.9.D.iii

Foundational Skills

Students will read words with the following spelling alternatives: /n/ > 'n' and 'kn', /r/ > 'wr' and 'r', /w/ > 'w' and 'wh', /j/ > 'g' and 'j', and /f/ > 'f', 'ff', and 'ph'.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

In this lesson, you will introduce students to various genres and formats of nonfiction. You will need to have a copy of The Cat Bandit as well as a nonfiction trade book about cats. Additionally, you will need to collect examples of the following genres and formats of nonfiction: history, biography, science, atlas, newspaper, magazine, and (if feasible) a website. Try to pick examples that you think may be of interest to students. For biography, you may wish to display a mix of book-length biographies and shorter articles, such as a biographical profile from a magazine.

Create displays around the room, grouping and numbering similar genres together. For example, a group of history books might be numbered '1', a group of science books might be numbered '2', and so on. Be sure to include a copy of the Unit 6 Reader The War of 1812 in the group of history books. Students will need to access these materials as they do the scavenger hunt activity in the lesson.

This would be a good time to arrange a presentation by a school librarian who can show students how to find books, including nonfiction books, in your school library.

You will notice that Reading comes first in this lesson. Throughout this unit, Reading will be taught first in the lessons, rather than Foundational Skills. This is the first and only unit in Grade 2 during which students will read a nonfiction Reader. Having the Reading segment of the lesson first will help students focus their attention on reading the more challenging nonfiction text in the Reader. In addition, having the Reading segment first will prepare students for Grade 3 instruction in which Reading comes first in each lesson.

Reading

- Gather a copy of The Cat Bandit as well as a nonfiction trade book about cats.
- Collect and display examples of nonfiction genres as described above.

➤ Digital Component 2.1

- Create a T-chart on the board/chart paper as follows or prepare to use the digital version (Digital Component 2.1).

The Cat Bandit	Cats

- Prepare to pair students for the scavenger hunt.

Foundational Skills

- Gather the spelling word index cards and the 'ph' word cards that you prepared for the previous lesson; these will be used in the Baseball Game.
- Prepare the following additional word cards for the Baseball Game:

1. knead	13. wrath	25. while
2. knee	14. wrist	26. white
3. knife	15. wreath	27. whine
4. know	16. wreck	28. wheeze
5. knight	17. write	29. biography
6. knit	18. wren	30. microphone
7. knock	19. wrench	31. paragraph
8. knot	20. whack	32. philosophy
9. knob	21. whim	33. physical
10. wrap	22. whale	34. triumph
11. wrestle	23. wheat	35. asphalt
12. wrapping	24. wheel

- Draw a baseball diamond on the board/chart paper.

Universal Access

- You may wish to prepare to record student responses about the definitions of fiction and nonfiction somewhere in the room on a poster or the board/chart paper for future reference by students.

Lesson 2: Informational Text

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will learn about the difference between fiction and nonfiction books, will be introduced to various genres of nonfiction texts and their organizational structures, and will display an understanding of nonfiction texts by correctly identifying features of nonfiction genres. TEKS 2.9.D.ii; TEKS 2.9.D.iii

INTRODUCE NONFICTION TEKS 2.9.D.ii; TEKS 2.9.D.iii

- Tell students that books and texts that we read can be grouped into two different categories or genres. The genres are called fiction and nonfiction.
- Tell students that fiction is an invented or “made-up” story (i.e., an author creates fiction stories and books from his or her imagination). They are not stories that actually happened. Remind students of the Reader The Cat Bandit. Ask if anyone remembers what The Cat Bandit was about. (It was about a mischievous cat that loved to eat different kinds of food.)

➤ Digital Component 2.1

- Direct students’ attention to the T-chart you prepared in advance.
- Ask students for some characteristics of the book The Cat Bandit. Record students’ answers on the T-chart. You may want to remind students of the various terms you have used throughout the year in talking about stories (e.g., characters, setting, and plot). Responses may include:
 - fiction or “made-up” story about a pet cat created by the author
 - based on the author’s imagination
 - All of the cat bandit’s adventures are highly unlikely (i.e., it is unlikely that an actual cat would have all of these adventures, be so clever, and eat all the things the cat bandit ate).
 - Pictures were drawn by an illustrator based on his or her imagination to accompany the events in the stories.
- Next, show students the nonfiction book about cats that you have available.
- Tell students that nonfiction books are true and contain facts that provide information about the subject.

TEKS 2.9.D Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including (ii) features and graphics to locate and gain information; (iii) organizational patterns such as chronological order and cause and effect stated explicitly.

- Ask students to help you record some characteristics of the nonfiction book about cats. Some responses might include:
 - There are no stories with invented characters, settings, or plots.
 - It is about real cats.
 - It contains facts and information about cats.
 - The pictures may include actual photographs, though there may be illustrations as well.
- Tell students that fiction books are made up of stories with characters, settings, and plots that have been created by authors. Fiction books do often incorporate elements that could be real (e.g., families can have pet cats that get into lots of things).
- State that nonfiction books include facts and information about real-life things. People read nonfiction books when they want to learn about a specific topic or person.

Note: You may consider recording these two definitions in the manner in which you prepared for in advance.

- Tell students that in the Knowledge strand, they have listened to both fiction and nonfiction Read-Alouds. Ask students to identify several examples of each. (Responses for fiction domains might include Fairy Tales and Tall Tales, Stories from Mount Olympus, or any of the individual stories they have heard. Nonfiction domain examples might include The Ancient Greek Civilization, The U.S. Civil War, Cycles of Nature: Clouds to Raindrops, Insects: All Around, and so on.)
- Explain that there are many specific kinds of nonfiction and that you have prepared some displays of different books around the room.

History

- Explain that one type of nonfiction book that tells about events that happened in the past is a history book.
- Ask students what history is. (History is a record of things that happened in the past.)
- Explain that history books are often told in chronological order, or in the order in which events happened. Show students the display of history books. Show students a copy of the Reader for Unit 6, pointing out that it is a history book as well. Although students have listened to many nonfiction selections during the Knowledge strand, this is the first nonfiction Reader that students will encounter during the Skills part of Grade 2.
- Ask students if any of them has ever read any nonfiction history books. If so, ask what the book was about and how was the information organized. (Students may also wish to discuss history selections they have heard read aloud in the Knowledge lessons.)

Reader

- Ask students if any of them has ever read any nonfiction history books. If so, ask what the book was about. (Students may also wish to discuss history selections they have heard read aloud in the Knowledge lessons.)
- Ask students if there are any parts of history that they are interested in and about which they would like to learn more. Encourage them to use the word history in their responses: “I would like to learn more about the history of . . .”

Biography

- Explain that biography is another genre of nonfiction. Explain that a biography is a particular type of history book. Like all history books, biographies tell about the past, but biographies focus specifically on a person’s life. A biography may be about a person who is still alive today.
- Explain that like history books, biographies usually have a chronological structure, or in the order in which events happened. Show students the display of biographies.
- Ask students if any of them has ever read (or listened to) a biography. If so, ask who it was about. (Answers may vary.)
- Ask students if there are people they are interested in and would like read a biography about. Encourage them to use the word biography in their responses: “I would like to read a biography about . . .”

Science

- Repeat the same steps for science books, introducing several titles on display. Talk with students about the science nonfiction books they have read or heard read aloud, and about the science topics they would like to learn about.
- Tell students that science books often have a cause-and-effect structure. The author explains why something happens and the effects of it. Show students a science nonfiction book with a cause and effect structure.
- Ask students if any of them has ever read a science nonfiction book. If so, ask what the book was about and whether the author provided reasons to why something happened. (Answers may vary.)

Atlas

- Introduce an atlas, and explain that this is a special kind of nonfiction book called a reference book. This particular type of reference book is called an atlas and is filled with maps.
- Show students one or two of the maps in the atlas.
- Explain that an atlas can also appear in other formats besides books, such as online.

Newspapers

- Hold up a newspaper, and tell students what you are holding.
- Explain that newspapers generally have articles about things that are currently taking place, are about to happen, or have already happened. These kinds of articles are nonfiction.

Activity Page 2.1

Support

Reduce the number of questions to be answered from the scavenger hunt, or specify which ones in particular you want the students to complete.

ENGLISH
LANGUAGE LEARNERS

Reading

Understanding Text Structure

Beginning

Work with a small group of students and rephrase the statements on Activity

Page 2.1 to be yes/no questions about genre features (e.g., “Does an atlas include maps?”).

Intermediate

Have students work in a small group to complete Activity Page 2.1 with guidance as needed.

Advanced/ Advanced High

Have students complete Activity Page 2.1 with minimal guidance.

ELPS 1.E; ELPS 4.G

- Explain to students that the structure of a newspaper article depends on the topic of the article.
- Ask students if they have ever looked at a newspaper. (Answers may vary.)
- Leaf through different parts of the paper, pointing out different sections, such as news and sports articles, as well as weather coverage, all of which are forms of nonfiction. Locate the comics if included in the paper, and ask students whether they think the comics are nonfiction or fiction. (fiction)

Magazines

- Hold up a news magazine or another magazine with mostly nonfiction content.
- Explain that many magazines print news and other nonfiction content. Others may print fictional stories.

Websites

- Point out that some websites on the Internet also focus on nonfiction topics.
- If possible, show students an example or a printout from one or more nonfiction websites.

Scavenger Hunt

- Tell students that they will now go on a scavenger hunt to help them remember the kinds of nonfiction they learned about in this lesson.
- Pair students. Emphasize that students must work together but should keep their answers hidden from the other teams as they will be in competition with the other teams. Suggest that they keep their papers covered as they move about the room.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 2.1. Each team should use only one activity page and write both team members' names on the Name: line.
- Provide students with any rules that you feel may be necessary for moving about the room (e.g., no running, only three teams at a time at any one display). Tell students that when you say, “Go!” each team should read an item on the activity page and then decide which display of books is the correct answer for that item and write the number of the display on the blank line. The point is not to be the fastest, but to try to answer all of the items correctly.
- Tell students that when they think they have completed the scavenger hunt, they are to be seated on the floor (or some other appropriate area in your classroom) to wait for everyone else.
- After all teams have finished, review the answers with the class.

Activity Page 2.1: Scavenger Hunt

Collect and review Activity Page 2.1. Students who had difficulty identifying nonfiction genres may benefit from additional time reviewing texts from different genres.

Lesson 2: Sound Comparison

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

Students will read words with the following spelling alternatives: /n/ > 'n' and 'kn', /r/ > 'wr' and 'r', /w/ > 'w' and 'wh', /j/ > 'g' and 'j', and /f/ > 'f', 'ff', and 'ph'.

✚ TEKS 2.2.B.ii; TEKS 2.2.B.v

Students will read word pairs with n/ > 'n' and 'kn', /r/ > 'wr' and 'r', /w/ > 'w' and 'wh', /j/ > 'g' and 'j', and /f/ > 'f', 'ff', and 'ph' and will answer yes/no questions on whether

✚ bolded spellings in the word pairs stand for identical sounds. TEKS 2.2.B.ii

BASEBALL GAME (15 MIN.)

- Shuffle all the cards you prepared in advance.
- Point out that students can use what they know about syllable types, such as VCV, VCCV, and VCCCV, and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words.
- Use wrapping as an example.
- Say, "In wrapping, I see two vowel sounds on either side of two consonants."
- Underline the vowel sounds.
- Say, "When two consonants come between two vowels, I divide the word between the two consonants: wr•ap•ing."
- Divide the class into two teams, having one team at a time come to the front of the room and line up in front of the board/chart paper. (You may choose to have students stay seated and divide the class into teams by the formation in which they are seated.)
- Each team takes a "turn at bat" as follows:

✚ TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (ii) decoding words with silent letters such as knife and gnat; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

- Set a timer for ten minutes, and tell students that whichever team has the most runs when the timer rings is the winning team. Point out that accuracy is important, but so is speed in reading words quickly. The more turns that players have to read words, the more likely their team is to score runs.
- Pick a card from the pile and ask the first person on the team to read it aloud. If the word is read correctly, draw a line from home plate to first base, signifying a “hit.” This player then goes to the back of his team’s line, while the next player comes forward to read the next card. If they read the word correctly, draw a line from first to second base. Play continues this way.
- If the fourth player reads the word correctly, draw a line from third base to home plate and mark “1 run” for the team.
- Play continues for this team so long as no words are misread; when a word is misread, the next team takes its turn at bat.
- Collect the word cards for use in Lesson 5.

SOUND COMPARISON (15 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 2.2.
- Read through each word pair as a class. Ask students to check yes or no in the box beside each word pair depending on whether or not the bolded letters stand for the same sound. Complete the front side of the activity page as a teacher-guided activity.
- Ask students to turn over the activity page and read the words in the box as a class.
- Depending on students’ abilities, have students complete the back of the activity page independently or as a teacher-guided activity.

Activity Page 2.2: Sound Comparison

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING ALTERNATIVES

Practice /f/ > 'ph'

- Provide each student with a copy of Activity Page TR 2.1.
- Read each word together. Discuss which letters make the /f/ sound and have students circle them.
- Have students select at least two words to write in sentences at the bottom of the page.

Swim to the Finish

- Make one copy of the Game Board Template (Activity Page TR 2.2) for each group of up to four students, or create a similar game board on poster board.
- Gather the word cards from the Baseball Game, earlier in this lesson.
- Have each student write his or her name at the top of a column or "swim lane."
- Shuffle the word cards from the lesson and place them in a pile. Have each student pick a card.
- If the student reads the word correctly, then they may place a check mark in one of the squares of their "swimming lane." If a student does not read the word correctly, they may not check a square.
- Each student gets only one chance to read a word during his or her turn. Regardless of whether the student reads his or her word correctly, play then moves to the next student.
- The first person to reach the end of the pool wins.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

The Unit 6 Skills components include a set of twenty Timeline Cards depicting events in early American history that you will use to create a visual timeline to help students contextualize the time period during which the War of 1812 took place.

Prior to the lesson, survey the wall space in your classroom to determine an appropriate place to create a timeline. It is important that the timeline be readily accessible to students. If possible, place the timeline on one or more classroom walls at students' eye level.

You may want to cut out a strip of bulletin board paper long enough to eventually accommodate all twenty of the Timeline Cards, and tape it to the classroom wall(s). You may also want to identify the start of the timeline by writing the date 1492 at the top or bottom of the timeline. [This is where Timeline Card 1 (Christopher Columbus) will be placed during the lesson.] At the end of the timeline, you may want to write the date 1865 at the top or bottom. [This is where Card 20 (Lee surrenders to Grant) will be placed.] It is fine if the timeline wraps around a corner and continues on a second wall.

Today you will teach a spelling alternative for the /e/ sound: 'ea' as in head. The following chart shows you that 'e' is, by far, the most common spelling for this sound. However, there are more than 200 words that have /e/ spelled 'ea', so it is important that students learn this spelling alternative. Students should already know the basic code spelling 'e' as in pet. The 'ea' spelling is likely to be unfamiliar to many students, although some may have learned to decode this spelling during independent reading.

Here are some patterns for you to be aware of:

- The sound /e/ is very rarely used at the end of a word (eh, yeh).
- The /e/ sound is usually spelled with an 'e' at the beginning of a word (exit, elephant, end).
- The 'ea' spelling for /e/ appears most often in the middle of a word, with a consonant spelling on either side (head, bread).
- Note that there is one spelling for the /e/ sound that is not taught: 'ai' as in said, captain, and again. Words with this pattern will continue to be introduced as Tricky Words.

Reading

- Prepare space for a timeline as previously described.
- Gather previously prepared Wiggle Cards to use during the Reading lesson if students need a break while reviewing the "Introduction to The War of 1812."
- Prepare to group students into small groups to discuss the Timeline Cards.

Foundational Skills

- You may wish to tab Vowel Code Flip Book page 3 for Introduce /e/ > 'ea'. Also have the Spelling Card listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and green markers readily available.
- Prepare a new branch for the /e/ Spelling Tree (from Unit 4).
- Prepare the following new leaves for the Spelling Tree: head, bread, dead, dread, thread, spread, tread, sweater, breath, and health.

➤ Digital Component 3.1

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 3.1 (Digital Component 3.1) to display for Introduce /e/ > 'ea', or use the digital version.

Lesson 3: “Introduction to The War of 1812”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will recognize characteristics and structures of informational text in The War of 1812, will learn how these text features are organized, will review the introduction to the Reader with the guidance of the teacher, and will demonstrate understanding of the chronology of events by arranging timeline cards in the correct sequence. TEKS 2.9.D.ii; TEKS 2.9.D.iii

INTRODUCE THE READER (20 MIN.)*TEKS 2.9.D.ii; TEKS 2.9.D.iii

- Show students the front cover of the Reader, The War of 1812. Explain that this is their first nonfiction Reader.

Reader

Page 2

Check for Understanding

Ask students to explain the genre of nonfiction. (Nonfiction is about true events, people, places, or things in the real world.) Ask students to identify some organizational patterns that nonfiction texts use. (chronological, cause and effect)

- Tell students that this Reader describes a war that happened a long, long time ago, beginning in the year of 1812. Our young country, the United States, battled against Great Britain.
- Remind students that earlier in Grade 2, they completed a domain in the Knowledge strand on the War of 1812, so the information they will learn in this unit should be familiar to them.
- Now, ask students to look back at the cover and tell you what they see.
 - Based on the way the men are dressed, the illustration seems to depict a time period long ago.
 - They should observe that there are men on two different boats, and that the expressions on the men’s faces show that they are upset. Point out the two men dressed in uniforms. Guide students in understanding that these men are from the country Great Britain and are dressed in British uniforms, so the men must be British officers and this boat probably belongs to Great Britain. They should observe in the illustration that a man has been taken by the British officers.

TEKS 2.9.D Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including (ii) features and graphics to locate and gain information; (iii) organizational patterns such as chronological order and cause and effect stated explicitly.

- Ask students to turn to the table of contents and identify how many chapters there are in this Reader. (13) Also point out that the Reader has an introduction. Remind students that the table of contents is helpful in finding the starting pages of each chapter so they can quickly find their place when reading.
- Share with students that this Reader has a new feature that they have not seen in a Reader before. It is called a glossary. Tell students that a glossary is placed at the end of a book. Guide students in finding the glossary in their own Reader. Tell students that the glossary contains definitions of important vocabulary words that occur in the Reader. Ask students why they think a glossary might be helpful. (It provides explanations and information for words a person might not know a lot about.)

Note: A copy of the glossary is provided in Teacher Resources for your reference.

- Read the first six words aloud in the glossary; then point out the first letter of each word: anthem, army, branch, British, Capitol, charge. Ask students if they notice a pattern in how the words are arranged. (Students should see that the words are organized in alphabetical order.) Ask students why they think a glossary would be organized in alphabetical order. (It organizes information in a logical way and helps make information easy to locate.)
- Point out that there is information provided after each word. Read the definition for British as an example of the kind of definition they will find for words in the glossary.
- Now ask students to turn to page 12, while holding their place within the glossary. Point out the bolded word British and explain that whenever a word is bolded in the text, it means that it is included in the glossary. Have students verify that British is in the glossary. Explain that when they are reading, if they come to a bolded word that they do not understand, they can always look it up in the glossary.
- Ask students to look back at the table of contents and find the page on which the introduction begins. Have them turn to that page. (page 2)
- Note that the pages of the introduction include images and simple captions. Remind students that a caption provides basic information that lets us know what the image is about. During this lesson, you will discuss only the first six pages of the introduction as a way to activate students' background knowledge.

- Using the following suggestions, discuss the images on pages 2–7 in order to provide context for learning about the War of 1812. You can start by having students read each caption and share their first impressions and what they already know about each image. If students provide only partial information, elicit more comprehensive background information by asking leading questions and/or elaborating upon students' responses.

Note: Students who completed the Grade 1 sequence should be familiar with these topics as they were covered in the Knowledge domain A New Nation: American Independence.

A New Nation: American Independence

- Read the title of this section, and remind students that the United States as we know it today did not always exist.
 - The United States, Great Britain, and France—This image shows the continents of North America and Europe, with the countries of the United States, Great Britain, and France labeled. Remind students that a long time ago, the country where they live today, the United States, was not divided into fifty separate states. Native Americans lived throughout North America, but it was not as populated (not as many people living in one area) as it is today. Point out that the Atlantic Ocean divides the United States from Great Britain and France. Even though these two countries are far away from the United States, they both played an important role in early American history.
 - Christopher Columbus—(Note for students that the letters 'Ch' in Christopher in the caption sound like /k/.) In 1492, an explorer named Christopher Columbus sailed from Spain to look for a quicker route to India and China, places where there were desirable goods such as gold and spices. Columbus thought he had reached India, so he called the people he encountered "Indians." He actually had landed in and explored North America. Columbus made four voyages altogether.
 - When people heard about Columbus and his travels, other explorers set off to travel across the ocean to the New World. There were many explorers from European countries, including France and England.
 - The Pilgrims—The Pilgrims were a group of people from England (what later became Great Britain) who sailed to America on a ship called The Mayflower to start a new life. The Pilgrims came to North America so they could have the freedom to practice their own religion. Their first winter in New England was very hard as the Pilgrims were not used to the weather and did not know how to grow food in the new land. They depended on the help of Native Americans for their survival. The first Thanksgiving celebrated their first successful harvest.

- The Revolutionary War—The Revolutionary War took place when America’s thirteen colonies fought for their independence from Great Britain. To be independent means to be free from the control of others; the colonies wanted to form their own rules and no longer pay taxes to Great Britain. The United States won the war.

The American Government

- Read the title of this section and tell students that the early colonists were determined to govern their new nation differently than how Great Britain was governed.
- The Declaration of Independence—This document was signed on July 4, 1776. The United States declared, or stated, their independence from Great Britain. The signing of the Declaration of Independence is celebrated each summer on the Fourth of July. The document lists the natural rights that the Founding Fathers believed all people have. The Declaration of Independence includes the famous line, “all men are created equal” and that they have the right to “Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness.”
- The Constitution—This is another important document of the United States. The Constitution is the highest law in the United States, and it shapes the laws that affect many aspects of American life. It details how the country should be governed. A man named James Madison (he was later elected to be the fourth president) created a plan that shaped the Constitution. For this reason, he is called the “Father of the Constitution.” The Constitution starts with the phrase We the People. This means that the Constitution is meant to represent the people of the United States. The content of the Constitution can only be changed by the people or their representatives.
- The Founding Fathers—(Note for students that the letter ‘a’ in Fathers in the caption sounds like /o/.) George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, and James Madison were the first four presidents after the United States won its independence from Great Britain. A person becomes a president by being elected by the people of the United States. Washington, Adams, Jefferson, and Madison were each elected by the people to lead the United States as its president. They did not have the power that a king has, but had to work with others to make big decisions and pass laws. These four men were also part of a larger group of men called the Founding Fathers. The Founding Fathers created and signed the Declaration of Independence and then later the Constitution.

The British Government

- Read the title of this section, and tell students that Great Britain had a very different form of government than the United States.

- King George III—The king of Great Britain was not elected into this position by the people he ruled. Instead, he became king because he was a son of a king. The British people did not have a choice. King George III ruled in Great Britain during the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. King George III could make his own rules and did not have to get other people to agree with his decisions.
- Where Parliament meets—(Note for students that the letters ‘ia’ in Parliament in the caption sound like /ə/.) This is the part of the British government responsible for making laws. The reigning British king or queen is the head of Parliament. During the 1700–1800s, the king (or queen) made the final decision regarding any laws and did not need the support of Parliament.

Note: This is a long time for Grade 2 students to sit and listen. Feel free to take a break using the Wiggle Cards.

Early Colonial Life

- Read the title of this section and remind students that when the United States was a young country, life was very different than today.
 - The 13 original colonies—Point out that in the beginning, the United States was not as large a country as it is now. Remind students that people came to live in the thirteen colonies for different reasons, such as to have religious freedom or to look for riches.
 - Colonial farmers—(Note for students that the letter ‘i’ in Colonial in the caption sounds like /ee/.) Point out that people living in the new country survived through agriculture (living off the land through farming).
 - American port—Ask students to look back at the map of France and Great Britain on page 2. Explain that the United States sold goods such as cotton and tobacco to these countries. Ships carried goods from the United States across the Atlantic Ocean to Great Britain and France. French and British ships also brought other goods back to the United States. Transatlantic trade was therefore important for both making money and for receiving goods.
 - Westward expansion—Over time, people began to move west and explore the land of North America. Pioneers were people who went to explore or live in a place that they didn’t know very much about. There were people, referred to as Native Americans, already living in these areas. Native Americans had been living on the land for a long time before the pioneers came to explore and claim land for the United States. Sometimes the meetings and interactions between the pioneers and Native Americans were peaceful, and sometimes they were not.

- Stop here in your review of the introduction. Tell students that they now have an idea of the history and events leading up to the War of 1812. They will review and discuss the remaining images in the introduction once they start reading about the War of 1812.

INTRODUCE THE TIMELINE (10 MIN.)

- Introduce the concept of a timeline. Point out the timeline wherever you have decided to display it in the room. Explain that this is a way to organize and visually represent historical events in the order in which the events took place. (Students should already be familiar with the concept of timelines through their work in the Knowledge lessons.)
- Tell students that you are going to use images to represent the early history of the United States and that they will help you place them on the timeline.

Note: At this time, you will only display Timeline Cards 1–10, 19, and 20 on the timeline. The remaining cards will be placed on the timeline during subsequent lessons as students read about the events of the War of 1812.

- Tell students that you will be showing them images that depict the same period in history and the historical events that they just discussed while examining the introduction in the Reader.
- Shuffle Timeline Cards 1–10 and pass them out to groups of students. Ask students to study the cards and be prepared to describe the image on the card and come forward to place their card in the correct chronological order on the timeline.
- Point out the starting point on the timeline and the date 1492 and ask if anyone remembers what important event took place on this date. Ask whoever has the image card of Christopher Columbus to come forward and place the card on the timeline.
- Encourage students to refer to the order that the images in the introduction are arranged to determine which images come next.
- Call on each group to place their card on the timeline. Lightly tape each card to the timeline, as you may need to go back and rearrange the cards as more cards are placed on the timeline. Once all cards have been placed and are correct, tape the cards more securely to the timeline.

Note: Here is a list of the timeline cards used in this lesson, numbered in chronological order, with a description of each included for your reference:

- Timeline Card 1 (An image from a painting of Christopher Columbus landing in the New World)

- Timeline Card 9 (James Madison)
- Timeline Card 10 (Pioneers moving west)

Note: Timeline Cards 11–17 are described in the lessons in which they are addressed.

- Now show Timeline Cards 19 and 20. Explain that these images show another period of American history that students have studied earlier this year in Knowledge. If students do not immediately recognize the images, point out that these men were involved in the Civil War: Abraham Lincoln, the president during the Civil War; Robert. E. Lee, a military leader for the Confederacy (the South); and Ulysses S. Grant, a military leader for the Union (the North).
- Tell students that you are going to place these cards at the end of this particular timeline, and then tape the cards to the timeline.
 - Timeline Card 19 (Abraham Lincoln)
 - Timeline Card 20 (Grant and Lee sign documents to end the U.S. Civil War)
- Close the lesson by pointing out that the timeline shows a series of events in early American history. Point to the blank area of the timeline in which no cards are taped, and ask if students can guess what events will be placed here. (War of 1812 events)
- Note that the War of 1812 occurred before the Civil War. Explain that as students read each chapter about the War of 1812, they will add more cards to this blank space in the timeline.

Lesson 3: Spelling Alternatives

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read words with /e/ > 'ea' and will complete fill-in-the-blank sentences with words featuring /e/ > 'ea'.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.C.i; TEKS 2.2.C.iv

INTRODUCE /E/ > 'EA' (30 MIN.)

- Turn to page 3 of the Vowel Code Flip Book.

Vowel Code Flip Book	Individual Code Chart
1. 'ea' > /e/ (head) page 3	1. 'ea' > /e/ (head) page 7

- Tell students that today they will work with words that include the spelling 'ea'.
- Point to the /ee/ Spelling Tree and remind students that they have already learned that the 'ea' spelling can stand for /ee/, as in eagle, beast, mean, easy, scream, and Easter. Have students read existing 'ea' words on the /ee/ Spelling Tree and/or suggest new words with 'ea' spelling sounded /ee/. (Answers may vary.)
- Explain that today students will learn a new sound that 'ea' can represent: the 'ea' spelling for /e/.
- Remind students that they have already learned many words in which the spelling 'e' is /e/, as in pet, get, and set.
- Turn to page 3 of the Vowel Code Flip Book, and put the Spelling Card on the appropriate space. Discuss the power bar.

Challenge

Have students think of a word that uses the 'ea' spelling for /e/ and use it in a sentence.

- Tell students that today’s letter-sound correspondence can be found on page 7 of the Individual Code Chart.
- Hand out the green markers. Have students turn to page 7 of the Individual Code Chart.
- Guide students in outlining the appropriate card on the chart.
- Shuffle the prepared leaves with the ‘ea’ spellings.
- Hold up a leaf you prepared, and call on a student to read the word and identify the spelling for /e/. Have the student tape the leaf to the appropriate branch.
- Have students look at the Individual Code Chart. Ask students which of the spellings they have learned for /e/ has the longest power bar. (‘e’) Explain that ‘e’ is used more than ‘ea’ as a spelling for /e/ in words.

MORE HELP WITH THE /E/ SOUND AND ITS SPELLINGS

Word Block

- Make one copy of the game board (Activity Page TR 3.1) for each pair of students.
- Make copies of the template word cards (Activity Page TR 3.2) and create two sets of cards with the following words written on one or both sides:

- | | | |
|--------------|-------------|-------------|
| 1. breakfast | 11. spread | 21. death |
| 2. bread | 12. sweat | 22. breath |

- Have students take turns drawing a card from the pile and then reading the word on the card. If the student correctly reads the card, they may place it in any square on the grid.

- The object of the game is to try to get five cards in a straight line (horizontally or vertically) before the other player. Students can use their cards to block an opponent from getting five in a row, as well as to try to get five of their own cards in a row.
- To provide more practice spelling words in sentences, have students use their own paper to write new sentences with some of the words from the box above.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 860–927 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 860–933 of those words would be completely decodable.

The spelling 'ea' can be pronounced /ee/ as in meat or /e/ as in head.

Note to Teacher

During the Knowledge portion of this program, you are helping students build a broad foundation of general knowledge. The nonfiction Read-Aloud in today's lesson is one that students heard earlier in Grade 2 during the domain The War of 1812. The Read-Aloud will be used to provide context for the unit Reader, The War of 1812, as well as provide another opportunity for you to model for students how to read nonfiction. It is also recommended that you use the Flip Book for The War of 1812 domain to show the images to students as you share the Read-Aloud.

Reading

- Make a copy of the blank Discussion Questions Observation Record provided in Teacher Resources. In lessons in which discussion questions are included about a particular chapter, be sure to call on a different student to answer each question. Make notes about each student's response in the Discussion Questions Observation Record.

Foundational Skills

- Gather word cards from Lesson 1 (i.e., spelling cards and cards with 'ph'), and prepare the following word cards for the Baseball Game:

- | | |
|------------|-------------|
| 1. head | 9. thread |
| 2. read | 10. bread |
| 3. instead | 11. dread |
| 4. death | 12. sweat |
| 5. dead | 13. breath |
| 6. weather | 14. wealth |
| 7. feat | 15. weather |
| 8. threat | 16. sweater |

- Draw a baseball diamond on the board/chart paper.

Lesson 4: “America in 1812, Part I”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will listen to the Read-Aloud “America in 1812, Part I,” will answer literal and inferential questions about key details in the text, and will identify details about the history of the United States after the Revolutionary War based on information in the Read-Aloud. TEKS 2.6.F; TEKS 2.7.C

INTRODUCE THE READ-ALOUD (5 MIN.)

- Direct students’ attention to the timeline that you created together in Lesson 3.
- Discuss the timeline events as a class. Point out that many events are missing in the middle of the timeline.
- Tell students that you will share a Read-Aloud that students heard earlier in Grade 2 Knowledge to help them remember what was happening in the United States before the War of 1812.
- Tell students that the Read-Aloud you are going to share is “America in 1812, Part I.”

READ ALOUD “AMERICA IN 1812, PART I” (35 MIN.)

- Read aloud the following excerpts from the Grade 2 Knowledge domain The War of 1812. Be sure to stop at the Checks for Understanding to gauge students’ comprehension of the text.

“America in 1812, Part I”

Show Image 1A-1: Colonists in the colonies

From 1775 to 1783 America fought Great Britain for independence. This conflict was called the Revolutionary War. Against all odds, America won! What had been the thirteen original colonies officially became the United States of America. After gaining independence, the American people did not want kings or queens governing them anymore. Americans wanted to create a new kind of government. They wanted to be able to elect individuals to represent the people and act with their best interests in mind. They wanted a government that was “by the people, for the people.”

TEKS 2.6.F Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding; TEKS 2.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Show Image 1A-2: The Constitutional Convention

To help create the new form of government, several elected leaders met in Philadelphia in May and June of 1787. Some leaders who could not attend, such as Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, wrote down their ideas. Together this group of leaders became known as “the Founding Fathers.” The Founding Fathers’ ideas all came together in a document called the U.S. Constitution.

Show Image 1A-3: The Constitution

The Constitution became the framework for the American government. A man named James Madison had a clear vision of how the United States should govern itself. James Madison is known as “the Father of the Constitution” because he put all of the ideas together by writing the Constitution with the help of George Washington and others. He also became the fourth president of the United States.

Check for Understanding

Literal. What’s the name of the document that became the framework for the American government?

- » the Constitution

Literal. Who is the Father of the Constitution?

- » James Madison

Show Image 1A-4: Map of America in 1805

For many years after the Revolutionary War, the United States grew larger and wealthier. New states, such as Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, and Louisiana, were added. New territories were also settled. In 1803, President Thomas Jefferson purchased the Louisiana Territory from France. This purchase more than doubled the size of the United States.

Check for Understanding

Literal. What was the name of the area of land the United States purchased from France?

- » the Louisiana Territory; the Louisiana Purchase

Show Image 1A-5: England and France fighting

Meanwhile, across the Atlantic, France and Britain went to war against each other.

This series of wars became known as the Napoleonic [/nəpoeleeonik/] Wars, named after the French leader at the time, Napoleon Bonaparte. Napoleon Bonaparte wanted to make France the most powerful nation in the world. Britain was determined to stop him. The United States considered both France and Great Britain to be its friends. It did not want to get involved in these costly and destructive wars. Even though the Napoleonic Wars were being fought all the way across the Atlantic Ocean, they greatly affected the United States.

Show Image 1A-6: Busy American port

Much of the United States' growth during this time depended upon trade with France and Great Britain. Britain and France had many merchant, or trading, ships. These ships sailed across the Atlantic to trade goods with the United States, Canada, and with many of the British- and French-owned islands in the Caribbean. For example, the United States sent flour and tobacco to France and Great Britain. Great Britain and France received sugar and coffee or cocoa from other countries.

Both countries wanted to stop the other from trading with the United States. They each also tried to prevent the other from getting money and supplies. They also did not want the United States to choose sides.

Show Image 1A-7: Map of shipping trade routes

To keep the French from trading with the United States, the British blockaded, or blocked, several U.S. ports. They also blocked several important ports in Europe. This seriously hurt U.S. trade. France and Britain both had large naval fleets positioned in the Atlantic Ocean to attack each other's ships. To make matters worse, the British and the French began to seize, or capture, American ships loaded with valuable cargo. It became almost impossible to safely transport goods from the United States to foreign ports. It was also more and more difficult for Americans to receive much-needed goods.

Show Image 1A-8: Impressment of sailors by the British navy

Merchant ships weren't the only ships in the sea! The United States and Great Britain also had naval ships. Life in the British navy was not easy. Conditions on their naval ships were terrible, and punishments were harsh. Because of this, the British navy had a hard time finding men who wanted to be sailors. To get more sailors, the British began to capture men from other countries' ships and force them to join the British navy. Sometimes these sailors were British deserters. However, more times than not, the sailors who were seized weren't even British. But that did not stop the British from doing it. They even seized many U.S. sailors. This practice of forcing men into the British navy was called impressment.

Show Image 1A-9: Naval ship USS President

The impressment of U.S. citizens upset the American people and the U.S. government. As time went on, the United States found that it was losing more and more valuable cargo, sailors, money, and even ships. They demanded that the British stop impressing American sailors. But the British refused.

Wrap-Up

- Tell students you will give them a Think-Pair-Share question. They should think about the question, and then turn to a neighbor and discuss the question.
- Tell them that you will then call on several students to share what was discussed.

Discussion Question for “America in 1812, Part I”

1. Inferential. Think-Pair-Share What did the British do that angered the United States? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.
 - » The British were stopping U.S. ships, stealing their cargo, and capturing, or impressing, U.S. sailors. They also blockaded U.S. ports.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question in the Checks for Understanding. Note students' names and performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, using the codes provided.

Lesson 4: /e/ > 'ea'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read words featuring /e/ > 'ea'.

 TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.B.v

BASEBALL GAME

- Shuffle all the cards that you have prepared (spelling word cards from Lesson 1, 'ph' word cards from Lesson 1, and cards from Advance Preparation in this lesson).
- Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types, such as VCV, VCCV, and VCCCV, and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words.
- Use instead as an example.
- Say, "In instead, I see two vowel sounds on either side of two consonants."
- Underline the vowel sounds.
- Say, "When two consonants come between two vowels, I divide the word up between the consonants: in•stead."
- Divide the class into two teams, having one team at a time come to the front of the room and line up in front of the board/chart paper. (You may choose to have students stay seated and divide the class into teams by the manner in which they are seated.)
- Each team takes a "turn at bat" as follows:
 - Set a timer for ten minutes, and tell students that whichever team has the most runs when the timer rings is the winning team. Point out that accuracy is important, but so is speed in reading words quickly. The more turns that players have to read words, the more likely their team is to score runs.
 - Pick a card from the pile, and ask the first person on the team to read it aloud. If the word is read correctly, draw a line from home plate to first base, signifying a "hit." This player then goes to the back of his team's line, while the next player comes forward to read the next card. If they read the word correctly, draw a line from first to second base. Play continues this way.
 - If the fourth player reads the word correctly, draw a line from third base to home plate and mark "1 run" for the team.
 - Play continues for this team so long as no words are misread; when a word is misread, the next team takes its turn at bat.

 TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

MORE HELP WITH THE /E/ SOUND AND ITS SPELLINGS

Practice Sentences for /e/ > 'ea'

- Give each student a copy of Activity Page TR 4.1.
- Read aloud the sentences with students. Together, identify the words with the /e/ sound. Have students underline those words.
- Then, have students identify and circle the letter(s) that make the /e/ sound in those words.
- Next, have students make a list of the all the words they underlined at the bottom of the page, or on another piece of paper. Have students read the words aloud.

Race to the Top

- Copy the following words onto individual index cards:

1. breakfast	11. spread	21. death
2. bread	12. sweat	22. breath
3. dead	13. sweater	23. heaven
4. lead	14. thread	24. read
5. head	15. instead	25. threat
6. health	16. tread	26. pencil
7. dread	17. steady	27. mention
8. deaf	18. leather	28. pebble
9. meant	19. feather	29. elbow
10. wealth	20. weather	30. lemon

- Make one copy of the game templates for each pair of players (Activity Pages TR 4.2, TR 4.3). Provide a small token for each student to use as a marker.
- Each student gets his or her own ladder and a set of word cards. Students flip over a card and if they read the word correctly, they can move their marker up a space; if they misread a word, they fall down a rung. First one who gets to the top of the ladder wins.

ASSESSMENT

Spelling
Assessment

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Language

Students will spell multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns featuring /n/ > 'n', /r/ > 'wr' and 'r', /w/ > 'w' and 'wh', /j/ > 'g' and 'j', and /f/ > 'f', 'ff', and 'ph' and will write three of the words in alphabetical order.

✦ TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

Reading

Students will read “Trouble with the British” with purpose and understanding, will recognize the central idea and supporting evidence, will utilize text features such as the table of contents to locate chapters and the glossary to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer multiple-choice questions about key details in the text.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Language

- Be sure to erase the spelling table from the board and/or turn the table over so students cannot refer to it during the assessment.

Reading

- Be prepared to take notes as students read the chapter, using the board/chart paper, or another appropriate medium.

Universal Access

- Identify which students may benefit from reading page spreads in the Reader with a partner or in a small group with you during the reading lesson.

Lesson 5: Spelling

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns featuring /n/ > 'n', /r/ > 'wr' and 'r', /w/ > 'w' and 'wh', /j/ > 'g' and 'j', and /f/ > 'f', 'ff', and 'ph' and will write three of the words in alphabetical order.

✦ TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

✦ SPELLING ASSESSMENT TEKS 2.2.C.iv

- Have students turn to Activity Page 5.1.
- Read the first spelling word aloud, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students time to write the word.
- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words.

- | | |
|------------|-------------|
| 1. traffic | 11. margin |
| 2. noise | 12. ferret |
| 3. finish | 13. gentle |

Tricky Word: Britain

- Direct students' attention to the lines on the back of the activity page. Tell students to write the sentence "The United States went to war against Great Britain." Slowly repeat this sentence twice.
- At the end, go back through the list and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so they may correct their own work.

✦ TEKS 2.2.C.iv Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

Activity Page 5.1

- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, then copying and writing the correct spelling next to it.
- Continue through all the words and then on to the sentence.
- Circle the following words on the board/chart paper. Ask students to write the words in alphabetical order on the back of the activity page.

1. window
2. whistle
3. western

- After students have finished, write the three words in alphabetical order for students to correct their papers.

1. western
2. whistle
3. window

Activity Page 5.1: Spelling Assessment

Collect Activity Page 5.1. At a later time, use the spelling analysis chart and directions provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Trouble with the British.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Tricky Words

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Words before reading the chapter:
 - Great Britain—Students might expect to pronounce Great as /g/ /r/ /ee/ /t/ or even /g/ /r/ /e/ /t/, but the ‘ea’ is pronounced /ae/: /g/ /r/ /ae/ /t/. They may think that Britain is pronounced /b/ /r/ /i/ /t/ /ae/ /n/. However, the correct pronunciation is /b/ /r/ /i/ /t/ /ə/ /n/.
 - Europe—Students might expect to pronounce Europe /e/ /er/ /oe/ /p/. However, the correct pronunciation is /y/ /er/ /ə/ /p/.
 - native—Students might expect to pronounce native as /n/ /a/ /t/ /ie/ /v/, but it is pronounced /n/ /ae/ /t/ /i/ /v/.
 - Americans—Students might expect to pronounce Americans as /a/ /m/ /er/ /i/ /k/ /a/ /n/ /s/, but it is pronounced /ə/ /m/ /ae/ /r/ /i/ /k/ /ə/ /n/ /z/.
 - war—Students might expect to pronounce war as /w/ /ar/ or /w/ /er/. However, the correct pronunciation is /w/ /or/.
 - signature—Students might expect to pronounce signature as /s/ /i/ /g/ /n/ /a/ /t/ /er/. However, the correct pronunciation is /s/ /i/ /g/ /n/ /ə/ /ch/ /er/.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where each word first appears in “Trouble with the British” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

British—n., people who are from Great Britain (12)

U.S. Congress—n., the people elected to make laws for the United States (12) declare war—v., to officially say that one country will start a war with another country (declaring war) (12) trader—n., someone who exchanges something to get something in return (traders, traded, trading, trade) (16)

army—n., a group of soldiers trained to fight on land (18)

navy—n., a group of soldiers trained to fight battles at sea on board ships (18)

impressment—n., the state of being forced to serve in the British Navy (impressed) (18)

Sayings and Phrases	declare war

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
 - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
 - Divide the word into syllables.
 - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand and segment the word.
 - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.

- Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

READ “TROUBLE WITH THE BRITISH” (20 MIN.)

TEKS 2.9.D.i

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so that the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

You will introduce a new practice with this chapter as you model taking notes on the board/chart paper after students read and discuss each set of pages. Point out that many people find it helpful to make notes of important information when they read nonfiction.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.
- Remind students that the glossary is at the end of the Reader. Point out that all of the vocabulary words for the entire Reader are listed here in one alphabetical list. To find the bolded vocabulary words for this chapter, students will need to look down the list and use their skills in alphabetizing. As an example, the first vocabulary word for this chapter is British.

TEKS 2.9.D.i Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance.

- Also point out that some words in the glossary have a word in parentheses at the end of the definition. Note for students that the word in parentheses is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the Reader. For example, the words declare war and another form of it, declaring war, appear in the same chapter together. In other cases, the word in parentheses appears in the chapter but the vocabulary word does not, so students will have to look closely to see which form of the word appears as they read.
- Have students look at the words in the glossary that begin with the letter ‘d’ and find the words declare war. The glossary can be used at any time to help remind students of the meanings of new words. Encourage them to refer to it when they are reading silently.

Pages 12 and 13

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “Trouble with the British.”
- Call students’ attention to the image of James Madison on page 13.
- Have students read the caption on page 13, and point out that it describes the image.
- Tell students to always read captions to gain information.
- Introduce the words British, U.S. Congress, and declare war as vocabulary words.
- Note for students that U.S. is an abbreviation for United States. They will see this abbreviation throughout the Reader. Write United States on the board and circle the U and the S. Point out that when we abbreviate U.S. we use periods after each letter. Explain that the abbreviation U.S. is used as an adjective, or when we are describing something using U.S. as the descriptor. Give a few examples, such as U.S. citizens, U.S. athletes, and so on. Encourage students to use the abbreviation correctly in their own writing.

Check for Understanding

Ask students, “Where in the Reader could we find the definition of British quickly?”
(the glossary)

- Ask students to turn to the glossary and locate words that begin with the letter ‘b’. Have them find the word British, and call on one student to read the definition.
- Redirect students’ attention to page 12. Have them locate the word British on page 12.

Support

Have students read with a partner or in a small group with you for each page spread.

- Have students look up the words U.S. Congress in the glossary and read the definition together as a class.
- Have students look up the words declare war in the glossary, and read the definition together as a class. Point out that the words declaring war are listed in parentheses at the end of the definition, indicating that students will come across this form of the expression in the same chapter as declare war.
- Read page 12 aloud as students follow along, asking them to listen for the answer to the question: “What did Madison have to do?”
- After reading aloud the page, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Madison had to decide what to do: ask the U.S. Congress to declare war, or try to keep the peace.) Make sure students support their answer with evidence from the text. Record the answer on the board/chart paper, pointing out that you are making notes to help you remember the important information in the chapter.

Pages 14 and 15

- Tell students to read the first paragraph on page 14 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What two countries in Europe were at war?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Britain and France) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students to read the second paragraph on page 14 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Who led the French and what was he like?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Napoleon led the French and he was a brave leader.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 15, and read the caption aloud as a class.

Pages 16 and 17

- Have students look in the glossary for the word trader, and read the definition together as a class. Note the plural form of the word at the end of the definition (traders), and tell students they will see this form of the word in the chapter instead of trader. Note for students that trader and traders are both nouns. Also note that students will see the verb forms of the word in this chapter: traded, trading, and trade.
- Call on one student to read aloud the first two paragraphs on page 16, asking students to listen for the answer to the question: “What did most Americans think about this big war at first?”

- After the student finishes reading aloud, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Most Americans did not care to get involved.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students to read the last two paragraphs on page 16 to themselves. Give students time to read.
- When students have finished reading, ask, “Who did the Americans have problems with?” (both the French and the British) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Direct students’ attention to the image and caption on page 17, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 18 and 19

- Have students look in the glossary for the words army and navy, and read the definitions together as a class.
- Have students look in the glossary for the word impressment, and read the definition aloud to them. Note for students that impressed is another form of the word that appears in this chapter.
- Tell students, “I wonder why the British needed all the men they could get. Let’s read the first two paragraphs on page 18 to find out.”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (They needed all the men they could get because some people quit the navy and others ran away. They needed men so they could defeat the French.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Call on one student to read aloud the last paragraph on page 18.
- Ask, “Why were Americans angry about what the British did?” (They were angry because sometimes the British weren’t careful and grabbed Americans.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Have students describe what the image on page 19 shows.

Pages 20 and 21

- Tell students to read the first two paragraphs on page 20 to find the answer to the question: “What did Americans do as the country grew?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Americans went west and set up farms.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Ask, “Why was this a problem?” (There were already people living there.)

- Say, “I wonder which people were already living there. Let’s read the rest of page 20 to find out.” Give students time to read the remaining two paragraphs.
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Native Americans were already living there.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Ask, “How did Native Americans respond to settlers moving onto land where they lived?” (Native Americans did not like this. There were many fights between settlers and Native Americans.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Have students discuss the image on page 21.

Pages 22 and 23

- Read aloud the first two paragraphs of page 22 as a class.
- Ask, “Why did people in the United States feel they needed to fight back?” (They said the British were helping Native Americans attack American settlers.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students to read the remaining paragraph on page 22 to find the answer to the question: “What were reasons for not declaring war?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (A war causes death, wrecks towns, and costs a lot of money. Plus, Americans felt that the British would not be easy to defeat.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 23, and have students describe what the image shows.

Wrap-Up

- Direct students’ attention to the notes you recorded while reading. Read the notes aloud as a class.
- Ask students if there is additional information that should be added to the notes.
- Tell students that even though Americans were angry with the British, there were good reasons not to go to war, which students read about.

Note: Keep the notes on display for use in the next lesson.

- Have students complete Activity Page 5.2 as a teacher-guided activity, or if you feel students are ready, have them complete it independently.

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING ALTERNATIVES

Practice Sentences for /f/ > 'ph'

- Make one copy of Activity Page TR 5.1 for each student.
- Read aloud the sentences one at a time.
- Tell students to underline the words that have the /f/ sound in them.
- When finished, allow students to work with a partner to identify the spellings that are making the /f/ sound, and then review the spellings together.

Crazy Eights

- Make word cards (Activity Page TR 5.2) for each student by copying the template several times on different colors of paper.
- Give each player five cards to start. Put the rest of the deck in the middle and flip the top card over next to the deck. This faceup card becomes the discard pile.
- Taking turns, each student can either play a card that is the same color or that starts with the same letter as the card at the top of the discard pile. To be able to play a card, a student must correctly read the card or they lose their turn.
- If a student does not have a card that is either the same color or that starts with the same letter as the top card of the discard pile, then they can draw from the deck. If there are no more cards left in the deck, shuffle the discard pile and that becomes the new deck.
- The first student to run out of cards is the winner.

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will reread "Trouble with the British" in pairs with purpose and understanding and will answer written multiple-choice questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that today they will reread Chapter 1, "Trouble with the British" with a partner.
- Direct students' attention to the notes you recorded during the previous lesson. Read through the notes with students to review what they read during the previous lesson.
- Take the time to answer any questions that students may have about the chapter.

REREAD "TROUBLE WITH THE BRITISH" (25 MIN.)

- Assign partners.
- Ask students to read the chapter with their partner, taking turns reading each page. Students may ask their partners questions about the chapter and discuss what they read.
- Tell students that when they finish reading, they should complete Activity Page 6.1.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

Lesson 6: ‘ea’ > /ee/ or /e/

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read and sort words with the tricky spelling ‘ea’ > /ee/ or /e/. TEKS 2.2.B.iii

REVIEW TRICKY SPELLING ‘EA’

- Remind students that earlier in this unit, they learned a new sound for the ‘ea’ spelling, /e/ as in head.
- Direct students’ attention to the chart you prepared advance. Note the two headers showing the different sounds for the spelling ‘ea’, a tricky spelling that can represent either the /ee/ or /e/ sound.

➤ Digital Component 6.1

- Shuffle and then flash the cards you prepared in advance one at a time to students, having them read the cards aloud as a group.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables.

Support

Have students work with a partner or in a small group to read each word card and tape it under the correct header.

Check for Understanding

Distribute the cards to students. Have each student or small group read the card(s) to the class and tape it under the correct header.

Lesson 6: Spelling Words Language

Primary Focus: Students will read and alphabetize words featuring r-controlled vowel patterns and will use the words in oral sentences, and will read and spell multisyllabic words with closed syllables. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.2.C.i

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS

- Tell students that this week's spelling words all include r-controlled vowels. Write the following spellings on the board/chart paper as columns and review the sound associated with each spelling: 'ar', 'er', 'or', 'ir', and 'ur'.
- Remind students that they can use what they have learned about closed syllables to spell the words. Point out the /a/ sound in af•ter and the /ir/ sound in birth•day.

| 7. thirteen | 17. informer |
| 8. chirping | 18. organize |
| 9. burden | 19. perform |
| 10. furnace | Tricky Word: war |

TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.2.C.i Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables.

- Using the cards you prepared in advance, introduce each spelling word by asking students to read the word on the index card, and to indicate the r-controlled spelling in the word and the sound it stands for and into which column it should be taped on the board/chart paper. (Some words apply to more than one r-controlled spelling, so you will need to write those words in their second columns. Those words are in parentheses in the sorted chart.)
- Ask students to use each word orally in a sentence to make sure they understand the meaning of each word.

'ar'	'er'	'or'	'ir'	'ur'
barber	after	(informer)	birthday	burden
marker	(barber)	organize	swirling	furnace
parcel	camera	(perform)	thirteen	(hamburger)
ramparts	difference		chirping	turtle
safari	hamburger
war	(marker)
	informer perform

- Introduce the Tricky Word war, explaining that this word has the spelling 'ar' but the letters 'ar' do not make the sound /ar/. Instead, they make the sound /or/. Tape the word in the column for 'ar'.
- Tell students that you will now rearrange the words and put them in alphabetical order. Fold over the cards and paper clip them so that just the first letter shows.
- Ask: "Do you see any words that begin with 'a'? Yes, I have two words that begin with 'a'. I will fold the cards over so I can see the second letter just like we did last week. Now I see that 'c' comes before 'f', so I will put acorn first, followed by after."
- Continue in this way through the cards.
- Unfold the cards and read the words aloud with students.
- Tell students that the words are now in alphabetical order.

Support

Provide students with a laminated sentence strip with the alphabet on it. Have them use a dry-erase marker to mark through the letters of the alphabet as they work through the list of spelling words.

Show Image 2A-1: George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson

After the Revolutionary War, each of the first three presidents of the United States wanted the United States and Great Britain to be friends again. Even before the Napoleonic Wars began, George Washington had tried to establish a peaceful relationship with the British. Under his leadership, the United States and Great Britain signed a treaty called Jay’s Treaty. In this treaty, the British promised not to get involved or interfere with the United States’ business or activities.

Show Image 2A-2: Map of shipping trade routes

During this time, one of the most common ways for two countries to maintain a good relationship was to trade with each other. The United States sent flour and tobacco and other goods to Great Britain. Great Britain sent tea and manufactured goods to America.

When the Napoleonic Wars began in Europe, France and Great Britain became enemies. The United States was caught in the middle. The U.S. government really did not want to have to get involved. Merchants in New England relied on trade with Britain to run their businesses. France had helped America during the Revolutionary War. The United States wanted to keep that friendship, too. However, when U.S. ships, cargo, and sailors were being threatened—especially by the British—the United States could not ignore it.

Check for Understanding

Inferential. Why do you think the United States wanted to have good relations with Britain and France?

- » Answers may vary, but could include that as a young nation, with a small army and navy, they did not want to go to war. They also wanted to trade with both Britain and France.

Show Image 2A-5: Map of United States/Canada/New Spain with flags

You might think that what was happening at sea was enough to drive the United States to war with Great Britain. But, there were even more problems on American land. Even though Britain had lost the thirteen colonies to America, it still had control of land in the northern Great Lakes region, and the northwestern territories. Britain also controlled part of what is now Canada. The British had forts and outposts along the U.S. and Canadian border.

Check for Understanding

Literal. What areas of land in North America did Britain still control?

- » The northern Great Lakes region, the northwestern territories, and part of what is now Canada.

Show Image 2A-6: Settlers in wagons

Most Americans during this time were farmers. Many, many settlers were moving west in search of land to farm. Although the wagons were on American land, the U.S. government began to suspect that the British were interfering with Americans who were settling in the northern territories, especially in the Ohio River Valley and the Indiana Territory. They believed that Britain was using its outposts in Canada to help Native Americans who were fighting to defend their land from the settlers.

Check for Understanding

Literal. In 1812, what job did most Americans have?

- » In 1812, most Americans were farmers.

Show Image 2A-7: The Battle of Tippecanoe

In 1811, many Native Americans fought to remove settlers from their land in the Battle of Tippecanoe. The U.S. Army fought back. The American soldiers had reason to believe Native Americans received weapons from the British. The British denied it. They insisted that they were only trading with Native Americans—nothing more.

Check for Understanding

Literal. What did the U.S. government suspect Britain of doing?

- » arming Native Americans

Inferential. Why do you think that Native Americans did not want settlers on their land?

- » Native Americans feared the settlers would take their land away from them.

Wrap-Up

- Tell students you will give them a Think-Pair-Share question. They should think about the question, and then turn to a neighbor and discuss the question.
- Tell them that you will then call on several students to share what was discussed.

Discussion Question for “America in 1812, Part II”

1. Evaluative Think-Pair-Share. Why do you think Native Americans and frontier settlers were in conflict with each other? Ask students to think about what Native Americans must have felt as they saw more and more settlers moving onto their land.
 - » Answers may vary.

adverbs, nouns, and verbs in oral sentences. TEKS 2.11.D.v

Students will identify the meaning of and use words with affix -ly. TEKS 2.3.C

INTRODUCE ADVERBS TEKS 2.3.C

- Remind students that they have learned three parts of speech: nouns, adjectives, and verbs. They have already learned that adjectives describe nouns. Explain that today they will learn about a new part of speech that describes or refers to verbs; it is called an adverb.
- Write the word adverb on the board/chart paper. Have students repeat the word.
- Explain that an adverb is a word that tells about the action of a verb or how something is done. It's a word that can be used to describe a verb. An adverb describes how the action of a verb takes place.
- Tell students that you are going to say some very short sentences. In each sentence, there will be one noun, one verb, and one adverb. For each sentence, have students identify the adverb, which is the word that describes the verb or how the action happens.
- Read the following sentence: "Jim ran quickly." Ask students which word tells more about the verb. (quickly; How did Jim run? quickly)
- Once the word has been identified, explain that this is the adverb in the sentence.
- Repeat these steps with the items in the following box.

1. Dad drove slowly. (slowly)
2. Snow melts fast. (fast)
3. Susan danced lightly. (lightly)
4. Daisies bloom brightly. (brightly)
5. Matt slept well. (well)
6. Chris whispered softly. (softly)
7. Coco shouted loudly. (loudly)

Foundational Skills

- You may wish to tab Vowel Code Flip Book page 19. Also have the Spelling Cards listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and blue markers readily available.
- Prepare two new branches for the /er/ Spelling Tree: 'ar' and 'or'.
- Write the following words on leaves to add to the /er/ Spelling Tree for Introduce /er/ > 'ar' and 'or': dollar, actor, color, history, major, doctor, labor, effort, factory, memory, mirror, author, collar, solar, polar, cellar, grammar, calendar, lizard, wizard, mustard, orchard, and standard.

Language

- Write the following sentence on the board/chart paper for Review Adverbs and cover it:

The squirrel rapidly climbed the tree to avoid the dog.

Lesson 8: “The War Hawks”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The War Hawks” with purpose and understanding, will recognize the central idea and supporting evidence, will utilize text features such as the table of contents to locate chapters and the glossary to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer oral questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.7.B; TEKS 2.9.D.i; TEKS 2.9.D.ii

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “The War Hawks.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the word oppose on the board/chart paper.
 - Circle the first letter ‘o’.
 - Tell students that this letter represents the sound /u/.
 - Ask students to turn to page 7 of the Individual Code Chart.
 - Ask students to find the /u/ row and follow it across.
 - Students will see that ‘o’ can sometimes represent the /u/ sound.
 - Write the word compose on the board/chart paper as an example of a word in which ‘o’ spells the sound /u/.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “The War Hawks” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

Sayings and Phrases

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
 - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
 - Divide the word into syllables.
 - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand and segment the word.
 - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
 - Point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

1. mer | chant
2. op | pose first ‘o’ > /u/ (compose)

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

TEKS 2.9.D.i Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance.

- Remind students that as they read, they should try to identify the central idea of the text as well as evidence that supports it.
- Be sure to call students' attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students' attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.
- Remind students that the glossary is at the end of the Reader. Point out that all of the vocabulary words for the entire Reader are listed here in one alphabetical list. To find the bolded vocabulary words for this chapter, students will need to look down the list and use their skills in alphabetizing. As an example, the first vocabulary word for this chapter is merchant.
- Also point out that some words in the glossary have a word in parentheses at the end of the definition. Note for students that the word in parentheses is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the Reader. Sometimes, the word in parentheses appears in the chapter but the vocabulary word does not, so students will have to look closely to see which form of the word appears as they read. For example, the word merchants appears in the chapter, but the word merchant does not.
- Have students look at the words in the glossary that begin with the letter 'o' and find the word oppose. The glossary can be used at any time to help remind students of the meanings of new words. Encourage them to refer to it when they are reading silently.

Pages 24 and 25

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, "The War Hawks."
- Call students' attention to the image of a busy town on page 25.
- Have students read the caption on page 25, and point out that it describes the image.
- Tell students to always read captions to gain information.
- Introduce the words merchant and oppose as vocabulary words.
- Ask, "Where in the Reader could we find the definition of merchant quickly?" (the glossary)
- Ask students to turn to the glossary and locate words that begin with the letter 'm'. Have them find the word merchant, and call on one student to read the definition. Note the plural form of the word (merchants) at the end of the definition, and tell students they will see this form of the word in the chapter instead of merchant.

- Have students look up the word oppose in the glossary, and read the definition together as a class. Note for students the past tense of the word (opposed) at the end of the definition tells students they will see this form of the word in the chapter instead of oppose.
- Read page 24 aloud as students follow along, asking them to listen for the answer to the question: “Why did some people not care to go to war?”
- After reading aloud the page, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Most merchants and traders did not care to go to war because they had homes in the cities along the East Coast and traded with Great Britain as well as other countries. A war would mean less trade between countries, sunken ships, and lost goods. A war would cost them money.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.

Pages 26 and 27

- Tell students to read the first paragraph on page 26 to themselves to find the answers to the questions: “What group of people were not opposed to war? Why?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the questions and ask students to answer. (People who did not oppose war lived in the states out west and were closer to Native American land. These settlers were afraid of Native Americans and were angry with the British.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Tell students to read the second paragraph on page 26 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What were these people called?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (They were called War Hawks.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 27, and have students describe what the image shows.

Pages 28 and 29

- Call on one student to read aloud page 28, asking students to listen for the answer to the question: “How did War Hawks tell Congress they should go to war?”
- After the student finishes reading aloud, restate the question and ask students to answer. (They made angry speeches before Congress.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.

- Direct students' attention to the image and caption on page 29, and call on one student to read the caption aloud. Note for students that this is an image of Henry Clay, who was a War Hawk.

Wrap-Up

- Direct students' attention to the notes you recorded while reading. Read the notes aloud as a class.
- Ask students if there is additional information that should be added to the notes.
- Tell students that even though some people were called War Hawks and felt Congress should declare war, there were others who felt war should not be declared.

Note: Keep the notes on display for use in the next lesson.

Lesson 8: /er/ > 'ar' or 'or'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read words with /er/ > 'ar' and /er/ > 'or' and will recognize and distinguish between words that use 'ar', 'or', or 'er' to represent the /er/ sound. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.B.v; TEKS 2.2.C.i; TEKS 2.2.C.iv

INTRODUCE /ER/ > 'AR' AND 'OR' (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that today's letter-sound correspondences can be found on the following page of the Vowel Code Flip Book:

Vowel Code Flip Book	Individual Code Chart
1. 'ar' > /er/ (dollar) page 19	1. 'ar' > /er/ (dollar) page 10
2. 'or' > /er/ (work) page 19	2. 'or' > /er/ (work) page 10

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV; TEKS 2.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by (i) spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (iv) spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns.

- Point to the /er/ Tree. Remind students that they have learned three different ways to spell /er/: 'er' as in her; 'ur' as in hurt; and 'ir' as in bird. Point to several leaves on the different branches, asking students to rapidly read the words.
- Explain that students will learn two new spellings today for /er/: 'ar' and 'or'. Turn to page 19 of the Vowel Code Flip Book, and put the Spelling Cards on the appropriate spaces. Discuss the power bars.
- Tell students that today's letter-sound correspondences can be found on page 10 of the Individual Code Chart.
- Hand out the blue markers. Have students turn to page 10 of the Individual Code Chart. Guide students in outlining the appropriate card on the chart as well as the spelling.
- Attach the two new branches to the /er/ Tree.
- Shuffle the leaves you prepared with the 'or' and 'ar' spellings.
- Hold up one of the leaves you prepared and call on a student to read the word and identify the spelling for /er/. Have the student tape the leaf to the appropriate branch.
- Have students look at the Individual Code Chart. Ask students which of the spellings they have learned for /er/ has the longer power bar. ('er') Explain that 'or' is used as a spelling for /er/ in more words than 'ar', but that 'er' is used as a spelling for /er/ in more words than the other spellings.
- Remind students that they have already encountered the spellings 'ar' and 'or' in association with other sounds, 'ar' as /ar/ and 'or' as /or/. Write the following words on the board/chart paper and ask students to read them. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use car•pet as an example of how to use the VCCV pattern to chunk and read a word.

- | | |
|-----------|-----------|
| 1. charm | 5. short |
| 2. carpet | 6. forest |
| 3. barber | 7. corner |
| 4. alarm | |

- Help students realize that when they see a word with an 'ar' or 'or' spelling, they may need to sound out the word with alternate sounds, 'ar' as /ar/ or /er/ and 'or' as /or/ or /er/, to see which sound makes sense in a given instance.

Note: The Tricky Word wizard can now be seen as part of a larger spelling pattern. It should be removed from your Tricky Word Wall if you have one.

BUBBLE THE SOUND (10 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Page 8.1.
- Tell students that they will read each word and indicate the pronunciation of the underlined spelling by filling in the bubble in one of the three pronunciation bubbles.
- Do the first several items collaboratively. Then, have students do the last several items on their own.
- To provide students with more practice spelling words in sentences, have them use the back of Activity Page 8.1 to write new sentences with the words in the activity.

Activity Page 8.1

Support

Pronounce words as needed in order for students to distinguish between /ar/, /or/, and /er/.

Activity Page 8.1: Bubble the Sound

Collect and review Activity Page 8.1.

Note: It is suggested that you be lenient when assessing student performance on this activity page. Some students may say that they hear the /or/ sound in favor or the /ar/ sound in beggar. That is okay. It is more important that students realize that the spellings 'or' and 'ar' can be pronounced different ways than to classify each word correctly. Students may need to try more than one pronunciation to successfully decode 'or' and 'ar' words. They will have additional opportunities to practice this in the Tricky Spelling exercises later in the unit.

Lesson 8: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus: Students will identify verbs and adverbs in oral sentences.

TEKS 2.11.D.v

REVIEW ADVERBS

- Remind students that they have learned that an adverb is a word that describes a verb. An adverb describes how or when the action of a verb takes place.
- Tell students that you will read some sentences aloud to them and will ask them to first identify the verb and then the adverb in each sentence.

TEKS 2.11.D.v Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including adverbs that convey time and adverbs that convey place.

Support

Ask students questions such as Who? Did what? How? to help guide them to the adverb.

1. They sang cheerfully. (verb = sang; adverb = cheerfully)
2. He snored loudly. (verb = snored; adverb = loudly)
3. The garbage truck rumbled slowly down the road. (verb = rumbled; adverb = slowly)
4. I waited patiently in line. (verb = waited; adverb = patiently)
5. The tiny kitten purred softly. (verb = purred; adverb = softly)
6. My dog barked loudly. (verb = barked; adverb = loudly)
7. Jamie quickly ate his dinner. (verb = ate; adverb = quickly)
8. The boys and girls ran swiftly. (verb = ran; adverb = swiftly)

Challenge

Have students write one or two sentences on their own, identifying the verb and adverb appropriately in each sentence.

Exit Pass: Verb and Adverb

Uncover the sentence you prepared in advance. Ask students to write down the verb and adverb in the sentence, labeling each appropriately.

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING ALTERNATIVES /ER/ > 'AR', 'OR'

Find the Words

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 8.1 for each student.
- Have students highlight or circle the r-controlled vowels in the sentence.
- Then have students read the sentences aloud with a partner.
- At the bottom of the activity page or on a separate piece of paper, have students write three column headers: 'or', 'er', and 'ar'. Have them list the words with r-controlled vowels that they circled under the appropriate header.

Checkers

- Provide each pair of students with a copy of the checkerboard (Activity Page TR 8.2), checker pieces (Activity Page TR 8.3), and a set of word cards (Activity Page TR 8.4).
- The rules are the same as regular checkers except that in order to make a move, the student must first draw and read a word card correctly. If the student reads the card correctly, then they may make a move. If the student misreads the word, the turn is lost.
- The first player to take all of the other player's pieces is the winner.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 860–933 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 877–935 of those words would be completely decodable.

The spelling 'ar' is fairly tricky. It can be pronounced /ar/ as in car, /ae/ + /r/ as in parents, /er/ as in dollar, or /or/ as in warm. The letters 'ar' can also be part of larger spelling units, as they are in heard and roar, or they can be parts of two separate spellings, as they are in stare and hear.

The spelling 'or' can be pronounced /or/ as in fort or /er/ as in work.

Students will complete written sentences by adding a predicate to each subject and will identify the subject and predicate in each sentence. TEKS 2.11.D.i

Differentiated Instruction

Students will practice working with a variety of letter-sound correspondences, will independently read “Trouble with the British,” and will identify various uses of common nouns, proper nouns, adjectives, and verbs in the text.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Language

- Be sure to erase the spelling table from the board and/or turn the chart paper over so students cannot refer to it during the assessment.
- Write the following on the board/chart paper and cover it:
 - Subject + Predicate = Complete Sentence
- Prepare to pair students to write a complete sentence.

Differentiated Instruction

- Using observational data from anecdotal reading records, the spelling analysis record forms, as well as performance on daily checks for understanding or formative assessments, identify those students who may benefit from additional targeted practice in letter-sound correspondences, spelling alternatives, or tricky spellings and select appropriate activities and materials from the Additional Support section at the end of lessons or from the Pausing Point. Other students may benefit from practice with parts of speech (Activity Page 10.3).

Lesson 10: Spelling, Grammar

Language

Primary Focus

Students will spell dictated words with r-controlled vowel patterns and the Tricky Word war and will write four of the words in alphabetical order.

✚ TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.D

Students will complete written sentences by adding a predicate to each subject and will identify the subject and predicate in each sentence. TEKS 2.11.D.i

SPELLING ASSESSMENT (20 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Page 10.1.
- Read the first spelling word, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students sufficient time to write the word.
- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words.

- | | |
|--------------|-------------------------|
| 1. perform | 11. turtle |
| 2. after | 12. difference |
| 3. chirping | 13. ramparts |
| 4. informer | 14. safari |
| 5. barber | 15. thirteen |
| 6. parcel | 16. birthday |
| 7. burden | 17. marker |
| 8. furnace | 18. swirling |
| 9. camera | 19. hamburger |
| 10. organize | Tricky Word: war |

- Direct students' attention to the lines on the back of the activity page. Tell students to write the sentence "The War Hawks wanted to go to war." Slowly repeat this sentence three times.
- At the end, go back through the list and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students that you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so they can correct their own work.

✚ TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.11.D.i Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including complete sentences with subject-verb agreement.

- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, then copying and writing the correct spelling next to it.
- Continue through all the words and then on to the sentence.
- Circle the following words on the board/chart paper. Ask students to write the words in alphabetical order on the back of the activity page:

- | | |
|-------------|-----------|
| 1. chirping | 3. camera |
| 2. turtle | 4. marker |

- After all students have finished, write the four words in alphabetical order for students to correct their papers.

- | | |
|-------------|-----------|
| 1. camera | 3. marker |
| 2. chirping | 4. turtle |

Activity Page 10.1: Spelling Assessment

At a later time, use the template provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

COMPLETE VS. INCOMPLETE SENTENCES (20 MIN.)

- Remind students that the subject of a sentence tells who or what the sentence is about. For example, in the sentence The little boy smiled happily., the subject is The little boy because that is who the sentence is about.
- Remind students that the predicate of a sentence describes what the subject is or does. In the previous sentence, the predicate is smiled happily because that is what the subject did.
- Tell students that every sentence needs to have a subject and a predicate. If either the subject or the predicate is missing, it is an incomplete sentence (also known as a sentence fragment).

Language

Modifying to Add Details

Beginning

Encourage students to complete the sentences with ideas about familiar activities (e.g., “I cleaned my room.”).

Intermediate

Encourage students to complete the sentences with more details (e.g., “I cleaned my room with a dust rag and a broom.”).

Advanced/ Advanced High

Encourage students to complete the sentences with a variety of details.

ELPS 3.H; ELPS 5.G

Support

As students are working, ask them the following questions to help them identify the subject/predicate: “Who?” (subject); “Did what?” (predicate).

Activity Page 10.2

- Write the following incomplete sentence on the board/chart paper: The crying babies. Explain that this is an incomplete sentence because it is missing a predicate (i.e., it does not say what the crying babies did).
- Now write the following incomplete sentence on the board/chart paper: wanted their bottles. Explain that this is an incomplete sentence because it is missing a subject (i.e., it does not say who wanted their bottles).
- Point out that you can combine these two incomplete sentences—one of which is a subject and the other a predicate—to make a complete sentence: The crying babies wanted their bottles. Write this sentence on the board/chart paper, prompting students to direct you to draw one line under the subject and two lines under the predicate to “prove” that the sentence is complete.
- Uncover what you wrote on the board/chart paper and direct students’ attention to it:
 - Subject + Predicate = Complete Sentence
- Explain that a complete sentence always has both a subject and a predicate.

Check for Understanding

Pair students to create their own sentence. Ask them to identify the subject and predicate.

- Have students turn to Activity Page 10.2.
- Work with students to complete the first sentence by adding a predicate.
- Have students complete the remaining sentences independently.
- When students are finished with the front of the activity page, have them turn to the back of the activity page.
- Work with students to complete the first sentence by adding a subject.
- Have students complete the remaining sentences independently.

Activity Page 10.2: Subject and Predicate

Collect and review Activity Page 10.2. Students who did not correctly fill in subjects and/or predicates may benefit from a review of sentence structure at a later time.

Lesson 10: Differentiated Instruction

Differentiated Instruction

Primary Focus: Students will practice working with a variety of letter-sound correspondences, will independently read “Trouble with the British,” and will identify various uses of common nouns, proper nouns, adjectives, and verbs in the text. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.iv; TEKS 2.11.D.v

LETTER-SOUND CORRESPONDENCES, PARTS OF SPEECH

- While working with students in small groups, please remember to choose activities that fit students’ needs at the time.

Group 1: Students needing extra help with any of the letter-sound correspondences in this unit should work with materials provided in the Additional Support lessons or in the Pausing Point.

Group 2: Have students use Chapter 1, “Trouble with the British” to complete Activity Page 10.3.

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH R-CONTROLLED VOWELSRace Against the Clock

- Copy and cut apart word cards (Activity Page TR 10.1) with r-controlled vowels. If you would like additional cards, copy and cut apart the words on Activity Page TR 8.4.
- Assign each word a point value based on the difficulty of the word; you may want to assign one point for one-syllable words, two points for two-syllable words, three points for three-syllable words, and so on.
- Each player gets a preset time limit to attempt to read as many words as possible within the time. Students get points for the words they read correctly and get no points for words they get wrong or skip.
- Remind students not to rush, but to take their time to correctly read the words.
- The student with the most points is the winner.

MORE HELP WITH SUBJECTS AND PREDICATESUse Images

- Gather images depicting someone or something in the process of doing something (e.g., a boy running, a lion growling).
- Share one of the images you prepared in advance with students.
- Ask students to determine “Who (subject) is doing what (predicate)?” in the image.
- Once they have answered, ask them to write a sentence including that information, and then go back and identify the subject and predicate appropriately.
- Repeat this with the other images. You may wish to have students work in pairs or independently, based on their needs.
- Have students share their sentences.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

In this lesson, you will teach a spelling alternative for the /k/ sound: 'ch' as in school. Students should already know the basic code spelling 'c' as in cat and the spelling alternatives 'k' as in kid, 'ck' as in black, and 'cc' as in hiccup. The spelling 'ch' is likely to be unfamiliar to many students, although some may have learned to decode this spelling during independent reading. The following chart shows you which of these spellings are most common for this sound.

Here are some patterns for you to be aware of:

- The spelling 'c' is found at the beginning, in the middle, or at the end of syllables (cat, act, attic).
- The spelling 'k' is found at the beginning, in the middle, or at the end of syllables (kite, skin, cook).
- The spelling 'ck' is found at the end of syllables, after short vowel sounds (back, slick, rocking).
- The spelling 'cc' is always found in the middle of words (raccoon, soccer).
- The spelling 'ch' is found at the beginning, in the middle, or at the end of syllables (chaos, scholar, stomach).

Reading

- Prepare to display the notes you took as a class on “The War Hawks.”

➤ Digital Component 11.1

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 11.1 (Digital Component 11.1) to display for Read “The War Starts,” or use the digital version.

Foundational Skills

- Make a blank copy of the chart for Introduce /k/ > ‘ch’ that shows the spelling alternatives for /k/.
- You may wish to tab Consonant Code Flip Book page 5 for Introduce /k/ > ‘ch’. Also have the Spelling Card listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and red markers readily available.

Language

- Write this week’s spelling words on cards and have paper clips handy for folding the cards.

Universal Access

- Prepare and shuffle the following word cards for sorting by the spelling of /k/: cannot, castle, critical, kernel, keepsake, kite, backpack, check, blockade, hiccup, accuse, moccasin.

Lesson 11: “The War Starts”

Reader

Page 30

Code Materials

- Tell students that the title of today's chapter is “The War Starts.”
- Review what students learned in the previous chapter about the War Hawks using the notes taken while reading.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the word monarchy on the board/chart paper.
- Circle the letters ‘ch’.
- Tell students that these letters represent the sound /k/.
- Ask students to turn to page 2 of the Individual Code Chart.
- Ask students to find the /k/ row and find the ‘ch’ (school).
- Ask students to summarize what the power bar means for ‘ch’.

Preview Tricky Words

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Words before reading the chapter:
 - imagine—The tricky part of this word is ‘i_e’. Students may try to pronounce it /i/ /m/ /a/ /j/ /ie/ /n/. However, it is pronounced /i/ /m/ /a/ /j/ /i/ /n/.
 - soldier—The tricky part of this word is ‘d’. Students may try to pronounce it /s/ /o/ /l/ /d/ /i/ /er/. However, it is pronounced /s/ /oe/ /l/ /j/ /er/.
 - Washington—The tricky parts of this word are ‘a’ and ‘o’. Students may try to pronounce it as /w/ /a/ /sh/ /i/ /ng/ /t/ /o/ /n/. However, it is pronounced /w/ /o/ /sh/ /i/ /ng/ /t/ /ə/ /n/.

TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.D Retell and paraphrase texts in ways that maintain meaning and logical order; TEKS 2.9.D.ii Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including features and graphics to locate and gain information.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “The War Starts” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

monarchy—n., a government ruled by a king or queen (monarchies) (32)

fort—n., a large building constructed to survive enemy attacks (forts) (34)

Core Vocabulary	monarchy fort
Multiple-Meaning Core Vocabulary Words
Sayings and Phrases

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
 - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
 - Divide the word into syllables.
 - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.
 - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
 - Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

1. mon | ar | chy ‘ch’ > /k/ (school)
2. fort

READ “THE WAR STARTS” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 30 and 31

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “The War Starts.”
- Tell students to read page 30 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Who did Madison end up siding with, and what did that mean?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the questions and ask students to answer. (In the end, Madison sided with the War Hawks and that meant he asked Congress to declare war.)
- Ask, “Why did Americans think they would have a better chance of winning?” (The British were already at war with France and could only send some of their troops to fight the United States.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 31.

Pages 32 and 33

- Have students find the word monarchy in the glossary, and call on one student to read the definition aloud.
- Tell students to read the first two paragraphs on page 32 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “How was the United States in 1812 different from how it is today?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (In 1812, the United States was not very old as a country. Today, it is a strong nation and has been around for many years.)
- Say, “I wonder how the United States was different from Great Britain in 1812. Let’s read the rest of page 32 to find out.”

- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The United States had a different kind of government. At the time, most nations in Europe were monarchies. A king or queen ruled until he or she died, and then the oldest son or daughter took over. The United States had a president chosen by voters instead. When voters picked a new president, the old one had to step down.)
- Direct students' attention to the image on page 33, and read the caption aloud as a class.

Pages 34 and 35

- Have students find the word fort in the glossary, and read the definition together as a class. Note for students that the plural form of the word listed after the definition, forts, appears in this chapter instead of the word fort.
- Tell students to read the first two paragraphs on page 34 to find the answer to the question: "How would you describe the U.S. Army and U.S. Navy in 1812?"
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The United States had an army and a navy that were tiny.)
- Say, "I wonder what President Madison did about the tiny army. Let's read the rest of page 34 to find out." Give students time to read.
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Madison found a way to make it bigger by getting farmers to join.)
- Ask, "What was the problem with the army?" (The soldiers were not well trained, and the army was not ready for war.)
- Have students read the caption on page 35 and look at the image.

Pages 36 and 37

- Tell students to read page 36 to themselves to find the answer to the question: "What happened with the navy?"
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Nobody expected much from the navy, but things went better with the navy than with the army. The navy beat the British in some naval battles.)
- Direct students' attention to the image on page 37.

Wrap-Up

- Display and discuss Timeline Card 11 (American soldiers at the time of the War of 1812), and tape it to the designated space on the timeline [after Timeline Card 10 (Pioneers Moving West).]

Lesson 11: /k/ > 'ch'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read words with /k/ > 'ch' and will complete fill-in-the-blank sentences with words featuring /k/ > 'ch'. TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.v

INTRODUCE /K/ > 'CH'

- Tell students that they will review spellings for /k/, as well as learn a new spelling today.
- Have students say the sound /k/. Remind students that they have already learned several spellings for the sound /k/. Tell students that you want them to think of as many words as they can that have the /k/ sound. Give students two minutes to put their heads down and think of words that have the /k/ sound.
- Direct students' attention to the blank chart with sounds for /k/ that you prepared in advance.
- Call on students to offer any words that include the /k/ sound.
- As you write the words on the board/chart paper, sort the words into columns according to the spelling used for /k/, circling the letter or letters that stand for the /k/ sound in each word. For example, if a student says cable, list the word under the heading 'c' and circle the 'c'. If a student says hiccup, list the word under the heading 'cc' and circle the letters 'cc'. Students should come up with examples of most of the major spelling patterns. If they do not, provide additional examples so there are words listed under each heading. The following is a sample chart of words sorted by the spelling for /k/.

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

Consonant Code Flip Book	Individual Code Chart
1. 'ch' > /k/ (school) page 5	1. 'ch' > /k/ (school) page 2

- Explain that they will learn a new spelling today, the 'ch' spelling for /k/.
- Turn to page 5 of the Consonant Code Flip Book, and put the Spelling Card on the appropriate space. Discuss the power bar.
- Tell students that today's letter-sound correspondence can be found on the following page of the Individual Code Chart.
- Hand out the red markers. Have students turn to page 2 of the Individual Code Chart. Guide students in outlining the appropriate card on the chart.
- Have students look at the Individual Code Chart. Ask students which of the spellings they have learned for /k/ has the longer power bar. Explain that 'c' is used as a spelling for /k/ more than any other spelling.

Note: Remind students that they have previously learned 'ch' for /ch/: chunk, church, munch, crunch, and chilly.

- Ask students to read the following words as you write them on the board/ chart paper. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use ech•o as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word. Point out that in this case, 'ch' makes one consonant sound, /ch/, rather than two separate sounds.

Code Materials

Activity Page 11.2

Support

Help students pronounce the words, allowing them to focus on where in the word they hear the /k/ sound.

Challenge

Challenge students to think of new words that have /k/ > 'ch', and make a list of the words at the bottom of the page.

- Ask students to direct you in circling the spellings of /k/ in each word.

Check for Understanding

Write the following on the board/chart paper: chomp, character. Ask students to identify which word has the /k/ sound by showing you either one or two fingers (in relation to word #1 or word #2).

- Have students turn to Activity Page 11.2 and complete the front side as a teacher-guided activity. Then have students turn to the back and read the words in the box aloud. Have students complete the remainder of the page, completing the sentences on their own.

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS

- Write the following spellings on the board/chart paper as columns and review the sound associated with each spelling, noting that they typically occur at the end of words: 'ge', 'dge', and 'tion'.
- Remind students that they can use what they have learned about open syllables (or syllables that end in long vowel sounds) to read and spell the words. Point out the /ae/ sound in na•tion and the /ee/ sound in re•venge.

Tricky Word: Europe

- Using the cards you prepared in advance, introduce each spelling word by asking students to read the word on the index card, and to indicate in which column the card should be taped. Use each word in a sentence to illustrate its meaning.

'ge'	'dge'	'tion'
revenge	judge	nation
large	fudge	attention
huge	nudge	direction
change		fraction
range		locomotion
cottage		stations option action addition caption

- Introduce the Tricky Word Europe, explaining that this is the name of a continent; France and Great Britain are part of Europe. Tape the word next to the sorted chart.
- Tell students that you will now put the words in alphabetical order. Fold over the cards and paper clip them so just the first letter shows as you did in Lessons 1 and 6.

- Ask: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? Yes, I have THREE words that begin with ‘a’. I wonder how we know which one to put first. Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘ad’, ‘ac’, and ‘at’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘c’ comes before ‘d’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘ac’—action before the word that starts with ‘ad’—addition, followed by the word that starts with ‘at’—attention. So I now have the first three words, all starting with the letter ‘a’ in the correct alphabetical order. Now, do you see any words starting with ‘b’? No. ‘c’? Yes, I have THREE cards again.” Proceed in this way until all cards have been alphabetized.
- Unfold the cards, and read the words aloud with students.
- Tell students that the words are now in alphabetical order.

DECODABLE WORDS AND SENTENCES

- Use the following lists of words, sentences, and phrases to extend your lessons. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use an•chor as an example of how to use the VCCV pattern to chunk and read a word. Point out that in this case, 'ch' makes one consonant sound, /ch/, rather than two separate sounds.

Decodable Words

- |              |               |               |            |

| 3. character | 7. chemistry  | 11. orchestra | 15. scheme |
| 4. stomach   | 8. scholar    | 12. architect | 16. aching |

Sentences

1. Chris is singing in the chorus.
2. Zach's stomach is aching.
3. Before snowstorms, the grocery store is chaotic.
4. Cinderella is the best fairy tale character.
5. An orchid is a flower.
6. She is playing her violin in the orchestra.
7. The sailor dropped the anchor into the sea.
8. The architect is drawing a house.

Wiggle Cards

1. Act like your head is aching.
2. Rub your stomach.
3. Say the name of your school.
4. Pretend to be directing an orchestra.

MORE HELP WITH TRICKY SPELLING 'CH'

Word Sort

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 11.1 for each student.
- Together, read the words in the box aloud.
- Then, have students write the following headers under the box or on a separate piece of paper: /ch/ and /k/.
- Have students work together to sort the words from the box under the appropriate header to show which sound 'ch' makes in each word.

Roll, Flip, Read

- Make several copies of the Word Card Template (Activity Page TR 11.2).
- Select words from Activity Page TR 11.1 and the Additional Support Decodable Words list. Create a set of cards for each player that has a word to be read on one side and a number on the other side.
- To play, have students place cards in front of them with the numbers facing up. Either call out a number or have the student roll a die (one or two) and then read the word that corresponds to the number rolled. If the student reads the word correctly, then have him or her "flip" the word (turn the card over).

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 877–935 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 879–937 of those words would be completely decodable.

The spelling 'ch' can be pronounced /ch/ as in chin, /k/ as in school, or /sh/ as in chef.

GRAMMAR

Adverbs, Adjectives, and Complete Sentences

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will partner read “The War Starts” and will closely read the text by answering text-dependent questions, discussing Tier 2 vocabulary and discussing challenging portions of the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

Language (Grammar)

Students will distinguish between complete and incomplete sentences, will correct run-on sentences by rewriting each as two sentences, adding correct capitalization and punctuation, and will combine the ideas of a run-on sentence to create one sentence. TEKS 2.11.D.i

Students will identify adjectives and adverbs in oral sentences.

Lesson 12: “The War Starts”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “The War Starts” and will closely read the text by answering text-dependent questions, discussing Tier 2 vocabulary and discussing challenging portions of the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Have students partner read “The War Starts.”

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “The War Starts,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

CLOSE READ “THE WAR STARTS” (20 MIN.)

- After students have finished reading “The War Starts” with their partners, lead students in a close reading of the text by doing the following:
  - asking text-dependent questions that require students to draw on evidence from the text;
  - identifying and discussing general academic (Tier 2) vocabulary;
  - discussing sections of the text that might pose difficulty due to complex syntax, dense information, challenging transitions, or that require inferences; and
  - engaging students in a culminating writing activity that is completed independently, if possible.
- There are many ways for students to respond to the questions you present, and you may want to change the way in which you ask for students’ responses in each lesson or even during the lesson to improve student engagement. For this lesson, have students work as partners. Following each question, direct students to consult with their partner about the correct response, before one student raises his or her hand to respond.

TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Teacher Overview

Key Idea and Key Details: The key idea of the chapter is that President James Madison decided to ask Congress to declare war on Great Britain. People throughout the world did not think the United States would last long as a country because, instead of a monarchy, it had a government in which the president was elected by voters. Plus, the U.S. Army and Navy were small and no one expected much from either of them.

Synopsis: The chapter “The War Starts” provides information about the beginning of the War of 1812 and perceptions about the United States as a young country.

Lesson

Text From Reader

Portions of the text of the Reader are reproduced here for your convenience. However, student referral to the text in front of them is a critical element of close reading.

Vocabulary Instruction

As the text is read aloud, stop after each sentence containing targeted vocabulary to explain meanings or to check student understanding.

Text-Dependent Questions

After any targeted vocabulary has been defined and/or discussed, ask the text-based questions.

Begin with a “winnable” question that will help orient students to the text.

The sequence of questions should build a gradual understanding of the key details of the text.

Questions should focus on a word, phrase, sentence, or paragraph.

Responses

Answers should reference the text.

Multiple responses may be provided using different pieces of evidence.

Inferences must be grounded logically in the text.

Page 30

James Madison had to decide whether to side with the War Hawks or with the merchants who hoped for peace. In the end, he sided with the War Hawks.

to side with—to agree with or support

Who did Madison side with in the end?

Madison sided with the War Hawks in the end.

The British had a huge army. They also had the world’s biggest navy.

Who had the world’s biggest navy? To whom does they refer, and how do you know?

The British had the world’s biggest navy. They refers to the British because also suggests the sentence refers back to a previous statement.

Exit Pass: Offer an Opinion

Have students answer the following question using evidence from the text: “How will the war proceed for the United States? Why do you think so?”

Lesson 12: Grammar

Language

ENGLISH
LANGUAGE LEARNERS

Language

Identifying Subject and Predicate

Beginning

Provide 1:1 support and prompting by asking guiding questions to identify the subject and predicate (e.g., “Who or what is the sentence about?” “What did the subject do?”).

Intermediate

Work with a partner to identify the subject and predicate in a sentence.

Advanced/Advanced High

Encourage students to independently identify the subject and predicate in a sentence.

ELPS 2.H; ELPS 3.E

Primary Focus

Students will distinguish between complete and incomplete sentences, will correct run-on sentences by rewriting each as two sentences, adding correct capitalization and punctuation, and will combine the ideas of a run-on sentence to create one

✚ sentence. TEKS 2.11.D.i

Students will identify adjectives and adverbs in oral sentences.

✚ TEKS 2.11.D.iv; TEKS 2.11.D.v

RUN-ON SENTENCES (20 MIN.)

- Remind students that they have been working on complete and incomplete sentences in their grammar lessons. Ask them to identify the two parts that are required for a sentence to be considered complete. (subject, predicate)
- Read the following sentences and phrases aloud, asking students to identify whether an item is a complete or incomplete sentence. If students hesitate or seem confused with an item, guide them in identifying both a subject and a predicate as the way to determine whether an item is a complete sentence.

1. The yellow flower (incomplete)
2. Ran quickly up the street (incomplete)
3. Tim ate a hamburger for lunch. (complete)
4. Ate chips and watched television (incomplete)
5. Susan and Joan went to the movies. (complete)
6. The baseball team (incomplete)

✚ TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (i) complete sentences with subject-verb agreement; (iv) adjectives, including articles; (v) adverbs that convey time and adverbs that convey place.

Support

Have students identify the subject and predicate of each sentence in order to determine where the sentence should be punctuated.

Challenge

Challenge students to correct the sentences without separating the run-on sentence into two separate thoughts.

Activity Page 12.1

- Tell students they are going to learn about run-on sentences. Explain that we call something a run-on sentence when two or more complete sentences are joined together, or run together, without appropriate punctuation.
- Uncover the first sentence you prepared in advance, leaving the second sentence covered, and direct students' attention to it.
  - The ducks quacked the chickens clucked.
- Point out that The ducks quacked is a complete sentence, as is the chickens clucked.
- Tell students that there are multiple strategies for fixing run-on sentences.
- Explain that one way of fixing a run-on sentence is to break the run-on sentence into two separate sentences by using appropriate punctuation and capitalization. The example could be rewritten as The ducks quacked. The chickens clucked.
- Point out that another way to correct a run-on sentence is to combine the thoughts of the two sentences to make just one sentence. The example could be rewritten as The ducks quacked, and the chickens clucked.

Check for Understanding

Uncover the second run-on sentence you prepared in advance. Ask students to work with a partner to change the run-on sentence into either two sentences or one simpler sentence.

➤ Digital Component 12.1

- Have students turn to Activity Page 12.1 while you display the digital version.
- Complete the activity page as a teacher-guided activity.

Activity Page 12.1: Run-On Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 12.1. Students who did not correctly complete the activity page may benefit from additional practice changing run-on sentences either into two complete sentences or one simpler sentence.

REVIEW ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS (10 MIN.)

- Review the definitions of adjective (a part of speech that describes a noun) and adverb (a part of speech that describes a verb), and provide examples of each.
- Read the following phrases and sentences orally, and have students identify the adjectives and/or adverbs in each. Read each item one time. Then tell students how many and what parts of speech to listen for as you repeat the phrase or sentence again.

1. Spin quickly. (adverb)
2. The red (adjective) balloon rose speedily. (adverb)
3. blue (adjective) shoes
4. The American (adjective) flag flapped wildly (adverb) in the breeze.
5. The panda (adjective) bears munched noisily (adverb) on bamboo (adjective) shoots.
6. Purple (adjective) cars drive along the busy (adjective) highway.
7. Ships sail the deep (adjective) blue (adjective) sea.
8. The big (adjective) tires were fully (adverb) inflated.
9. We clapped loudly (adverb) for the funny (adjective) clown.
10. The strong (adjective) men easily (adverb) lifted the heavy (adjective) logs.

MORE HELP WITH ADJECTIVES AND ADVERBS

Make a Movie

- Start by asking students to close their eyes so they can create a mind movie.
- Start the “movie” with a simple and basic sentence such as A dog ran.
- Ask them what they see.
- Allow them to add to the movie by sharing a detail (adjective or adverb).
- Continue until they have built a paragraph off the starter sentence A dog ran.
- At the end, ask students to compare the first image in their mind with A dog ran, and the image(s) they had at the end of the activity with a partner in a Think-Pair-Share.

Word Cards

- Write the following words on cards and distribute:
  - adjectives: hot, blue, smooth, slimy, dusty, heavy, small, funny
  - adverbs: excitedly, quickly, wildly, noisily, loudly, easily, slowly, quietly
- Tell students to read their word, decide first whether their card is an adjective or adverb, and then what that card could be describing. For example, if they had the adverb excitedly, they might come up with a word or phrase like jumped on the trampoline.
- Give them time to create a picture to go with their adjective/adverb phrase/word. This activity should reinforce the connection between adjectives and nouns, and adverbs and verbs.
- Allow students to share.

SPELLING ALTERNATIVES AND TRICKY SPELLING

Introduce /ee/ > 'i' and Tricky Spelling 'i'

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will read "A Famous Ship" with purpose and understanding, will utilize text features such as the table of contents to locate chapters and the glossary to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer written multiple-choice questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.6.E; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.9.D.ii

Foundational Skills

Students will read words with the tricky spelling 'i' > /ee/ and will place the words on the appropriate branch of the Spelling Tree. TEKS 2.2.B.i

Students will sort words with 'i' > /i/, /ie/, or /ee/ into the appropriate columns.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Students already know the basic code spelling 'ee' as in bee as well as the spelling alternatives 'ea' as in beach, 'ie' as in cookie, 'e_e' as in Pete, 'e' as in me, 'y' as in funny, and 'ey' as in key for the sound /ee/. Today they will learn 'i' as in ski. The following chart shows you which of these spellings are most common for this sound.

Here are some patterns for you to be aware of:

- /ee/ is one of the hardest sounds to spell because there are so many alternatives.
- Although 'ee' is not the most common spelling, it is used as the basic code spelling because it is the only common spelling that is almost always pronounced /ee/. Several of the other spellings can be pronounced several different ways and are tricky spellings.
- 'ee' and 'ea' are used in many one-syllable words, most often followed by a consonant spelling (jeep, peek, peak, heap).
- 'e_e' can be seen as a variation of the basic code spelling 'ee' in which the two 'e's are separated by a consonant spelling.
- 'ey' is found primarily at the end of a word or syllable.
- 'y' is generally used at the end of words; it is used in suffixes to mark adjectives (funny, silly) and adverbs (slowly, quickly).
- The 'y' ending in many words changes to 'i' when a suffix that begins with a vowel is added: funny > funnier, sunny > sunniest.

- The 'y' ending in many words changes to 'ie' when –s is added (either to mark a plural or show a change in person): puppy > puppies, lady > ladies, I carry > he carries.
- The 'y' spelling also changes when –ed is added: carry > carried, rally > rallied.
- There are two spellings for the /ee/ sound that will not be taught in Grade 2: 'ei' as in either and 'i_e' as in machine.
- There are five spellings for /ee/ that are used either exclusively or almost exclusively in multisyllable words: 'y' as in funny, 'i' as in radio, 'ey' as in monkey, 'i_e' as in machine, and 'e' as in prefix (with the exception of a handful of high-frequency words: be, she, we, he, me).
- The spelling 'i' is the only spelling that regularly appears before another vowel spelling: accordion, historian, funniest, interior, radio, piano.

Foundational Skills

- You may wish to tab Vowel Code Flip Book page 9 for Introduce /ee/ > 'i'. Also have the Spelling Card listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and green markers readily available.
- Create a new branch for the /ee/ Spelling Tree for the spelling 'i'.
- Create the following leaves for the /ee/ Spelling Tree: ski, taxi, pizza, radio, medium, piano, happiness, heavier, easier, and easiest.

➤ Digital Component 13.1

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 13.1 (Digital Component 13.1) to display for Tricky Spelling 'i', or use the digital version.

Lesson 13: “A Famous Ship”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “A Famous Ship” with purpose and understanding, will utilize text features such as the table of contents to locate chapters and the glossary to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer written multiple-choice questions about key details in the text.

TEKS 2.6.E; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.9.D.ii

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Ask students to briefly summarize “The War Starts.” Prompt students to recall that although both the U.S. Army and Navy were very small, the U.S. Navy had some success in beating the British in several naval battles.
- Ask students to turn to page 8 in their Reader.
- Remind students that they have already learned about some of the causes of the War of 1812. These include the British impressment of Americans to become sailors in the British Navy; the British Navy blocked American ships and prevented them from trading with the French; the United States had a desire for westward expansion, and there was conflict with Native Americans; the British were trading with Native Americans; etc.
- Tell students that the images on pages 8 and 9 of the introduction will help them gain a better understanding of what war in 1812 was like.
  - USS Constitution—This image shows the USS Constitution, an American warship. Many of the battles of the War of 1812 occurred at sea between the American and British navies. Point out the masts and sails. Ask students if they know the purpose of the sails. (to move the ship)
  - Modern battleship—Compare the image of the current battleship to the USS Constitution. Note the lack of sails, the difference of materials (metal vs. wood), and the antennae and radio equipment on the modern ship. Explain that ships in the U.S. Navy today are very different from the USS Constitution; modern warships can even have fighter jets land on them or go below the surface of the sea as submarines.
  - Cannon from the 1800s—This kind of weapon was used in the War of 1812 battles by both the army and navy. This cannon is on wheels, which allowed soldiers to move it around to battlefields. A cannon would be filled with gunpowder, and a cannonball would then be placed inside the cannon. The cannonball would then shoot out of the cannon toward the enemy.

TEKS 2.6.E Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.9.D.ii Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including features and graphics to locate and gain information.

- 19th-century soldiers—Discuss the uniforms and equipment of the 19th-century (1800s) soldiers. There are a few soldiers on horseback in the background. Remind students that soldiers in the army fought on land, either on foot or on horseback.
- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “A Famous Ship.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Tricky Word

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Word before reading the chapter.
  - iron—Students are likely to pronounce this word /ee/ /r/ /o/ /n/, given the recent instruction in the sound of the spelling ‘i’ as /ee/, or /er/ /o/ /n/. However, point out that the actual pronunciation is /ie/ /er/ /n/.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where each word first appears in “A Famous Ship” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

document—n., an official or important paper (40)

branch—n., one of three major parts of the government (40)

Supreme Court—n., the highest court of law in the United States (40)

string—n., a series (42)

mast—n., the tall pole on a ship to which the sails are attached (masts) (42)

plank—n., a long, thick board (planks) (42)

Vocabulary Chart for “A Famous Ship”

| Vocabulary Type                        | Tier 3 Domain-Specific Words | Tier 2 General Academic Words | Tier 1 Everyday Speech Words |

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
  - Write the vocabulary word on the board.
  - Divide the word into syllables.
  - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.
  - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
  - Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

1. doc | u | ment
2. branch
3. Su | preme Court

READ “A FAMOUS SHIP” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 38 and 39

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “A Famous Ship.”
- Call students’ attention to the image of a ship on page 39.
- Help students read the caption on page 39, and point out that it describes the image.

- Remind students to always read captions to gain information.
- Have students read page 38 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What do the letters ‘USS’ stand for?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and have students answer. (‘USS’ stands for United States Ship.)

Pages 40 and 41

- Introduce the words document, branch, and Supreme Court as vocabulary words.
- Ask students, “Where in the Reader could we find the definition of document quickly?” (the glossary)
- Ask students to turn to the glossary and locate words that begin with the letter ‘d’. Have them find the word document, and call on one student to read the definition.
- Redirect students’ attention to page 40. Have them locate the word document on page 40.
- Have students look up the words branch and Supreme Court in the glossary and read the definitions together as a class.
- Have students read the first paragraph on page 40 to themselves to find the answer to fill in the blank in the sentence: “The _____ is the document that lays out the laws of the land.”
- When students have finished reading, reread the sentence and have students fill in the blank. (The Constitution is the document that lays out the laws of the land.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Have students read the second paragraph of page 40 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why did the people of the United States name one of their fighting ships after the Constitution?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and have students answer. (The people of the United States were proud of the Constitution, so they named one of their fighting ships the USS Constitution.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 41.

Pages 42 and 43

- Have students look up string and mast in the glossary, and read the definitions together as a class. Note for students that the plural form of mast is used in this chapter, masts.

- Call on several students to read the six paragraphs on page 42 out loud while the class listens for the answer to the question: “Why did American sailors say that the USS Constitution’s sides were made of iron?”
- When students have finished reading the page, restate the question and ask students to answer. (During the battles, some cannonballs bounced off the thick walls of the USS Constitution.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Ask, “Did the same thing happen to the British ships?” (no)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 43.

Pages 44 and 45

- Call on several students to read the three paragraphs on page 44 out loud while the class listens for the answer to the question: “What nickname did the USS Constitution get because of its thick sides?”
- When students have finished reading the page, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The USS Constitution was nicknamed Old Ironsides.) Record the answer on the board/chart paper.
- Direct students’ attention to the image and caption on page 44, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Wrap-Up

- Display and discuss Timeline Card 12 (USS Constitution), and tape it to the designated space on the timeline [after Timeline Card 11 (American soldiers at the time of the War of 1812)].
- Direct students’ attention to the notes you recorded while reading. Read the notes aloud as a class.
- Ask students if there is additional information that should be added to the notes.

Exit Pass: Make Connections

Ask students to think about and respond to the following question: “What connections do the USS Constitution and the U.S. Constitution have?” This question will require inferencing and higher order thinking, and may be difficult for some students. There could be more than one answer.

ENGLISH
LANGUAGE LEARNERS

Reading

Reading/Viewing Closely

Beginning

Ask students yes/no questions about the USS Constitution and the U.S. Constitution (e.g., “Was the U.S. Constitution a ship in the War of 1812?”).

Intermediate

Ask students to complete the sentence frame, “The USS Constitution was a ship named after _____.”

Advanced/ Advanced High

Ask students to think about the importance of the U.S. Constitution and the success of the USS Constitution. Then ask them to describe how the two are connected.

Lesson 13: Spelling Alternatives and Tricky Spelling

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

Students will read words with the tricky spelling 'i' > /ee/ and will place the words on the appropriate branch of the Spelling Tree. TEKS 2.2.B.i

Students will sort words with 'i' > /i/, /ie/, or /ee/ into the appropriate columns. TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.C.i; TEKS 2.2.C.iv

INTRODUCE /EE/ > 'I' (15 MIN.)

- Tell students that today's letter-sound correspondence can be found on the following page of the Vowel Code Flip Book and Individual Code Chart.

| Vowel Code Flip Book                       | Individual Code Chart                      |
|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| 1. 'i' > /ee/ ( ski ) page 9 | 1. 'i' > /ee/ ( ski ) page 8 |

- Point to the /ee/ Spelling Tree. Tell students that they already know many different spellings that stand for /ee/. Review these spellings by having students read existing /ee/ words from different branches on the tree, pointing out these specific spellings: 'ee', 'ea', 'e_e', 'e', 'ey', 'y', and 'ie'.
- Explain that they will learn a new spelling today, the 'i' spelling for /ee/.
- Turn to page 9 of the Vowel Code Flip Book, and put the Spelling Card on the appropriate space. Discuss the power bar.
- Hand out the green markers. Have students turn to page 8 of the Individual Code Chart.
- Guide students in outlining the appropriate card on the chart.
- Shuffle the leaves you prepared for the 'i' spelling for /ee/.
- Hold up one of the leaves you prepared, and call on a student to read the word and identify the spelling for /ee/. Have the student tape the leaf to the appropriate branch.

Code Materials

Support

Remind students that 'i' is also a tricky spelling as students have previously learned 'i' as /i/ and as /ie/.

TEKS 2.2.B.i Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; TEKS 2.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by (i) spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (iv) spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns.

- Have students look at the Individual Code Chart. Ask students which of the spellings they have learned for /ee/ has the longest power bar. ('y') Explain that 'y' is the more frequently used spelling for /ee/ and usually occurs at the end of words, such as funny, happy, etc.; 'i' is less frequently used as a spelling for /ee/ than 'y', but still occurs in many English words.

TRICKY SPELLING 'I' (15 MIN.)

➤ Digital Component 13.1

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 13.1 while you display the digital version.
- Review the directions and sample words in which 'i' represents different sounds.
- Complete the activity page as a teacher-guided activity.
- To provide students with practice spelling words in sentences, have them write new sentences using the words from the activity on the second page of Activity Page 13.1.

Activity Page 13.1

DECODABLE WORDS, SENTENCES, AND PHRASES

- Use the following lists of words, sentences, and phrases to extend your lessons.

Decodable Words

- |               |              |               |
|---------------|--------------|---------------|
| 1. experience | 5. happiness | 9. taxi       |

| 3. easier     | 7. heavier   | 11. gymnasium |
| 4. audience   | 8. piano     |               |

Sentences and Phrases

1. happy medium
2. The radio is blaring.
3. Jay is playing the piano.
4. Miami Beach
5. an alien in the attic
6. We hopped in the yellow taxi.

Wiggle Cards

2. Pretend to ski.

MORE HELP WITH TRICKY SPELLING 'I'

Match Maker

- Make one set of word cards (Activity Page 13.1) for each student or pair of students.
- Have students turn all cards facedown on the table or floor in front of them. Students will take turns turning over two cards.
- Students must match the sound the tricky spelling 'i' represents in the words. Remind students to first pronounce the 'i' as /i/. If that doesn't sound right, they should try /ie/ and then /ee/. If the sound of 'i' is the same in each word, and the student correctly says each word, the student keeps the pair of cards. If not, the student puts them back facedown and it is the next player's turn.
- Students continue play until all matches have been found.

Sort by Sound of 'i'

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 13.2 for each student.
- Review the sounds of 'i' in the chart at the top of the page.
- Have students read the first sentence. Then, have students say the word with 'i' underlined.
- Ask students which sound 'i' makes in that word. Have them write the word in the appropriate column to match the sound 'i' makes.

- Then have students work with a partner to complete the activity page.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 879–937 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 885–938 of those words would be completely decodable.

The spelling 'i' can be pronounced /i/ as in sit, /ie/ as in biker, and /ee/ as in piano.

As you listen to students read “A Famous Ship,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

CLOSE READ “A FAMOUS SHIP” (20 MIN.)

- After students have finished reading “A Famous Ship” with their partners, lead students in a close reading of the text by doing the following:
  - asking text-dependent questions that require students to draw on evidence from the text;
  - identifying and discussing general academic (Tier 2) vocabulary;
  - discussing sections of the text that might pose difficulty due to complex syntax, dense information, challenging transitions, or that require inferences; and
  - engaging students in a culminating writing activity that is completed independently, if possible.
- There are many ways for students to respond to the questions you present, and you may want to change the way in which you ask for students’ responses in each lesson or even during the lesson to improve student engagement. For this lesson, following a question, ask all students to write their answers before asking an individual student to respond orally.

TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts that demonstrate an understanding of the text.

Teacher Overview

Key Idea and Key Details: The key idea of the chapter is that the USS Constitution was a ship named for the Constitution of the United States. It fought in battles during the War of 1812 and did not have much damage, earning it the nickname “Old Ironsides.” The ship can be seen today in Boston harbor.

Synopsis: The chapter “A Famous Ship” provides information about the role of the USS Constitution in the War of 1812 and how it survived the war.

Lesson 14: Tricky Spelling 'i'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read words with the tricky spelling 'i' and will complete fill-in-the-blank sentences with words featuring the tricky spelling 'i'.

TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.v; TEKS 2.2.C.i; TEKS 2.2.C.iv

REVIEW TRICKY SPELLING 'I' (20 MIN.)

- Remind students that in a previous lesson they learned a new way to spell the /ee/ sound as 'i'. Have students read all of the words on the /ee/ Tree that are spelled with 'i'.
- Shuffle the new leaves that you prepared for the /ee/ Tree. Have students read all the words aloud as a class.
- Call on an individual student to tell you the spelling of the /ee/ sound in each word. Have another student circle the letter and a third student tape the word to the Spelling Tree.
- Now, remind students that they also know two other sounds for 'i', /i/ and /ie/, so 'i' is a tricky spelling.
- Direct students' attention to the graphic for tricky spelling 'i' that you prepared in advance. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use pizz•a as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word. Point out that in this case, 'zz' makes one consonant sound, /z/, rather than two separate sounds.

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV; TEKS 2.2.C Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by (i) spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (iv) spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns.

MORE HELP WITH TRICKY SPELLING 'I'

Read the Sentences

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 14.1 for each student.
- Review the various sounds which the spelling 'i' may represent: 'i' > /i/, /ie/, or /ee/.
- Ask students to read each sentence to themselves, reminding them that the spelling 'i' can be tricky and they may need to try different sounds when they encounter it in an unfamiliar word.
- Call students' attention to the words in each sentence that include the 'i' spelling, asking students to sound out the word(s), trying different sounds as necessary.
- Finally, ask one student to read the entire sentence aloud. Do the same for the remaining sentences.

Roll, Flip, Read

- Make several copies of the Word Card Template (Activity Page TR 11.2).
- Select words from the box to create a set of cards for each player. Each card should have a word on one side and a number on the other.

|              |             |              |

| 9. visitor   | 18. indeed  | 27. diner    |

- Follow the procedure for Roll, Flip, Read in Additional Support Lesson 11.

ASSESSMENT

Spelling Assessment

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Language (Spelling)

Students will spell dictated words featuring the spellings 'ge', 'dge', and 'tion', and the Tricky Word Europe and will write three of the words in alphabetical order.

✚ TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

Reading

Students will read "The Attack on Washington, D.C." with purpose and understanding, will recognize characteristics of multimodal and digital texts by using digital dictionaries and digital/print glossaries to clarify the meaning and pronunciation of unknown words, and will arrange written sentences describing key events from the text in correct sequential order.

✚ TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.7.D; TEKS 2.9.F

Language (Grammar)

Students will correct run-on sentences by rewriting each as two sentences, or combining the ideas of the run-on sentence to create one sentence, and will

✚ identify the correct use of apostrophes. TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.i; TEKS 2.11.D.x

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

During this lesson, you will introduce students to using a digital dictionary and digital glossary. Students have practiced using a print dictionary and print glossary up to this point. Now it is time for students to translate those skills to using the same resources as digital versions. Be sure to explicitly model how to use a digital dictionary and digital glossary in this lesson, as this is the first time you are introducing these resources to students.

Language

- Be sure to erase the spelling table from the board and/or turn the chart paper over.

Reading

- Select an online digital dictionary to model with and teach students to use. Wordsmyth, Merriam-Webster Learner's Dictionary, and Your Dictionary are online dictionaries that have been specifically written and designed for use by younger students.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the digital glossary (Digital Component 15.1) for students to navigate and use while reading the chapter.
- Plan to pair students to complete Activity Page 15.2.

Language

- Write the following run-on sentence on the board/chart paper for Run-On Sentences and cover it:
  - We went to lunch Tuesday we will go again Friday.

Lesson 15: Spelling Assessment

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell dictated words featuring the spellings 'ge', 'dge', and 'tion', and the Tricky Word Europe and will write four of the words in alphabetical order. TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

SPELLING ASSESSMENT

- Have students turn to Activity Page 15.1.
- Read the first spelling word, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students time to write the word.
- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words.

- |               |               |
|---------------|---------------|
| 1. caption    | 11. fudge     |
| 2. revenge    | 12. addition  |
| 3. locomotion | 13. nudge     |
| 4. nation     | 14. option    |
| 5. cottage    | 15. judge     |
| 6. attention  | 16. action    |
| 7. huge       | 17. large     |
| 8. range      | 18. change    |
| 9. stations   | 19. direction |
| 10. fraction  |               |

Tricky Word: Europe

- Direct students' attention to the lines on the back of the activity page. Tell students to write the sentence "Great Britain is located in Europe." Slowly repeat this sentence three times.
- At the end, go back through the list, and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students that you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so they can correct their own work.
- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, then copying and writing the correct spelling next to it.

TEKS 2.2.C.iv Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

Activity Page 15.1

- Continue through all the words and then on to the sentence.
- Circle the following words on the board/chart paper. Ask students to write the words in alphabetical order on the back of the activity page:

1. change

2. cottage

3. caption

- After all students have finished, write the three words in alphabetical order for students to correct their papers.

1. caption

2. change

3. cottage

Activity Page 15.1: Spelling Assessment

Collect Activity Page 15.1. At a later time, use the template provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

Lesson 15: "The Attack on Washington, D.C."

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read "The Attack on Washington, D.C." with purpose and understanding, will recognize characteristics of multimodal and digital texts by using digital dictionaries and digital/print glossaries to clarify the meaning and pronunciation of unknown words, and will arrange written sentences describing key events from the text in correct sequential order. TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.7.D; TEKS 2.9.F

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today's chapter is "The Attack on Washington, D.C."
- Tell students that D.C. in the name Washington, D.C., is an abbreviation for District of Columbia. The full name of the city is Washington, District of Columbia. Washington, D.C., is a city, not a state. The city is the capital of the United States, where many important buildings and people connected to the U.S. government are found. Encourage students to use the abbreviation correctly in their own writing.

TEKS 2.2.B.iv Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words; TEKS 2.7.D Retell and paraphrase texts in ways that maintain meaning and logical order; TEKS 2.9.F Recognize characteristics of multimodal and digital texts.

Reader

- Review what students have learned so far about the War of 1812.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the word Capitol on the board/chart paper.
  - Circle the letter ‘o’.
  - Tell students that the letter ‘o’ represents the schwa sound /u/.
  - Write the word symbol on the board/chart paper as another example of a word in which ‘o’ spells the sound /u/.
  - Ask students to refer to page 7 of the Individual Code Chart to locate the spelling ‘o’ representing the /u/ sound.

Preview Tricky Word

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Word before reading the chapter:
  - special—Students are likely to pronounce it /s/ /p/ /e/ /k/ /i/ /a/ /l/. However, the word is pronounced /s/ /p/ /e/ /sh/ /ə/ /l/.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “The Attack on Washington, D.C.” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

Capitol—n., the building in Washington, D.C., where Congress meets (46) support the troops—v., to provide encouragement and sometimes food and supplies to soldiers (48)

defeat—n., loss in a contest or battle (48)

panic—v., to suddenly become very scared (panicked) (48)

flee—v., to run away from danger (50)

trunk—n., a large box or crate used to carry things (52)

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
  - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
  - Divide the word into syllables.
  - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.
  - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
  - Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted:

1. Cap | i | tol 'o' > /ə/ (symbol)
2. supp | ort the troops
3. de | feat
4. pan | ic
5. flee
6. trunk

READ “THE ATTACK ON WASHINGTON, D.C.” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 46 and 47

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “The Attack on Washington, D.C.”
- ✚ • Preview the vocabulary word Capitol, and discuss its definition. TEKS 2.9.F
- Model how to use a digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up the word Capitol in the following manner:
  - Navigate to your chosen digital dictionary.
  - Explain that you are first typing the word into the search box on the website.
  - Next, discuss the search results that came up and the various meanings of the word. Note whether the meanings are similar to or different from the meaning in the Reader glossary. Also note information provided in addition to the meaning that is similar to or different from information provided in the Reader glossary.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Next, search the digital glossary for the word Capitol. Please note that this is a PDF of the Reader glossary, so the definitions will be identical.
- Explain how you are searching for it, whether scrolling through pages or using the Find feature in the program displaying the glossary.
- Tell students to read page 46 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why was President Madison upset?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (President Madison was upset because two years had passed, and the war was still going on. The U.S. Army had won some battles and lost some battles. The British army was marching toward Washington, D.C.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 47, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 48 and 49

- Preview the vocabulary words support the troops, panic, and defeat, and discuss their definitions. Note for students that the past tense of the word panic is used in this chapter, panicked.
- Model locating the vocabulary words in the dictionary and digital glossary. Note any differences in meaning found and/or whether all the words could be
- ✚ located in both resources. TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.3.A
- Tell students to read the first two paragraphs on page 48 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What did President Madison plan to do?”

✚ TEKS 2.9.F Recognize characteristics of multimodal and digital texts; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words.

- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (President Madison planned to go support the troops in a big battle outside the city.)
- Say, “I wonder how the battle went. Let’s read the rest of page 48 to find out.”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The battle did not go well. The U.S. Army was beaten. People panicked.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 49, and read the caption aloud as a class.

Pages 50 and 51

- Preview the vocabulary word flee, and discuss its definition.
- Call on a student to use the digital dictionary to find the definition of flee. Have a different student use the digital glossary to find the definition of flee.
- Point out that Mrs. is an abbreviation for missus and is used as a title for a married woman.
- Tell students to read page 50 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What did Mrs. Madison have to do, and why?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the questions and ask students to answer. (Mrs. Madison had to flee because the British were coming.)
- Ask, “What did Mrs. Madison hope to do?” (She hoped to take as much with her as she could.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 51.

Pages 52 and 53

- Preview the vocabulary word trunk, and discuss its definition.
- Say, “I wonder what Mrs. Madison was able to take with her. Let’s read page 52 to find out.”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Mrs. Madison grabbed things that were important to the American people like papers and letters. She ordered her servants to take a painting of George Washington from its frame.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 53.

Wrap-Up

- Display and discuss Timeline Card 13 (Dolley Madison), and tape it to the designated spot on the timeline [after Timeline Card 12 (USS Constitution)].
- Have students complete Activity Page 15.2 with a partner.

Activity Page 15.2: Sequence Key Events

Collect and review Activity Page 15.2. Students who did not correctly sequence the events and/or who did not use appropriate information from the text to describe how they could have helped Dolley Madison may benefit from rereading the text and from practicing looking back in the text to locate information to support their answers.

Lesson 15: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus: Students will correct run-on sentences by rewriting each as two sentences, or combining the ideas of the run-on sentence to create one sentence, and will identify the correct use of apostrophes. TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.i; TEKS 2.11.D.x

RUN-ON SENTENCES

- Remind students that you have previously discussed how to fix run-on sentences.
- Uncover the run-on sentence you prepared in advance and direct students' attention to it.
  - We went to lunch Tuesday we will go again Friday.

Check for Understanding

Ask students to work with a partner to correct the run-on sentence. Have students share their ideas. They should come up with the following possibilities:

- We went to lunch Tuesday. We will go to lunch again Friday.
- We went to lunch Tuesday and will go again Friday.

- Next, remind students that an apostrophe in a word can indicate a contraction, taking the place of letters to combine two words into one, such as in can't. It can also be apostrophe 's' at the end of a word that shows ownership; the person, or owner, owns something.

TEKS 2.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (i) complete sentences with subject-verb agreement; (x) end punctuation, apostrophes in contractions, and commas with items in a series and in dates.

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 15.3.
- Complete the first item as an example, and then have students complete as many items independently as time permits.

Activity Page 15.3: Run-On Sentences and Apostrophes

Collect and review Activity Page 15.3. Students who did not correct the run-on sentences appropriately may benefit from additional practice at a later time. Students who did not correctly identify the appropriate way to write apostrophes would benefit from a review and additional practice.

MORE HELP WITH ALPHABETIZING WORDS

Race to the Top

- Make one copy of the game board templates (Activity Pages TR 4.2, TR 4.3) for each pair of players.
- Copy the word card template for each player (Activity Page TR 15.1).
- Each student gets his or her own ladder and a set of word cards.
- Students flip over two cards to begin. They must read the words correctly, then decide which word comes first alphabetically. They will place the cards on the first two steps of the ladder. If they misread a word, they lose a turn. As additional words are added, students should review the words and move cards into alphabetical order. The first one to fill the steps of the ladder with their words in alphabetical order wins.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

This week the spelling words are all domain-specific words instead of words with a particular spelling feature.

Foundational Skills

➤ Digital Component 16.1

- Copy the graphic for Practice Tricky Spelling 'i' (Digital Component 16.1) on the board/chart paper or display the digital version.
- Copy the following words onto individual index cards for Practice Tricky Spelling 'i'.

Language

- Write this week's spelling words on cards, and have paper clips handy for folding the cards.

Lesson 16: “The Attack on Washington, D.C.”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “The Attack on Washington, D.C.” and will closely read the text by answering text-dependent questions, discussing Tier 2 vocabulary and discussing challenging portions of the text.

TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Have students partner read “The Attack on Washington, D.C.”

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “The Attack on Washington, D.C.,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

CLOSE READ “THE ATTACK ON WASHINGTON, D.C.” (20 MIN.)

- After students have finished reading “The Attack on Washington, D.C.” with their partners, lead students in a close reading of the text by doing the following:
  - asking text-dependent questions that require students to draw on evidence from the text;
  - identifying and discussing general academic (Tier 2) vocabulary;
  - discussing sections of the text that might pose difficulty due to complex syntax, dense information, challenging transitions, or that require inferences; and
  - engaging students in a culminating writing activity that is completed independently, if possible.
- There are many ways for students to respond to the questions you present, and you may want to change the way in which you ask for students’ responses in each lesson or even during the lesson to improve student engagement. For this lesson, have students work as partners. Following each question, direct students to consult with their partner about the correct response, before one student raises his or her hand to respond.

TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Teacher Overview

Key Idea and Key Details: The key idea of the chapter is that the British attacked Washington, D.C., which was a young town at the time. When people found out that the U.S. Army had been beaten by the British in a battle outside the city, they panicked and fled. Dolley Madison saved valuable documents and a painting from the President’s House.

Synopsis: The chapter “The Attack on Washington, D.C.” provides information about the British march to and attack on Washington, D.C.

Lesson

Text from Reader

Portions of the text of the Reader are reproduced here for your convenience. However, student referral to the text in front of them is a critical element of close reading.

Vocabulary Instruction

As the text is read aloud, stop after each sentence containing targeted vocabulary to explain meanings or to check student understanding.

Text-Dependent Questions

After targeted vocabulary has been defined and/or discussed, ask the text-based questions.

Begin with a “winnable” question that will help orient students to the text.

The sequence of questions should build a gradual understanding of the key details of the text.

Questions should focus on a word, phrase, sentence or paragraph.

Responses

Answers should reference the text.

Multiple responses may be provided using different pieces of evidence.

Inferences must be grounded logically in the text.

Page 46

In August of 1814, President Madison was upset. Two years had passed. The war was still going on. The U.S. Army had won some battles, and it had lost some battles.

At the time, Washington, D.C., was a young town. Some buildings had just been finished. Others were not finished yet.

young (town)—a town started or established not too long ago

Reread the third paragraph on page 46. Describe Washington, D.C., as a town at the time.

Washington, D.C., was a young town. Some buildings had just been finished. Others were not finished yet.

Exit Pass: Offer an Opinion

Have students respond to the following question, using evidence from the text in their responses:

- Do you think the actions of Dolley Madison were important? Why or why not?

ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS

Reading

Offering Opinions

Beginning

Provide students with sentence frames using a small set of learned phrases (e.g., “I think the actions of Dolley Madison were important.”).

Intermediate

Provide students with sentence frames using an expanded set of learned phrases (e.g., “I think the actions of Dolley Madison were important because . . .”).

Advanced/ Advanced High

Provide minimal support and guidance for open responses.

ELPS 4.G

Support

Read the words on the cards aloud to help students listen for the sound ‘i’ makes.

Challenge

Encourage students to think of additional words to sort by the sounds of ‘i’ on the chart.

Lesson 16: Spelling ‘i’ > /i/, /ie/, /ee/

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read and sort words featuring the tricky spelling ‘i’ > /i/, /ie/ or /ee/. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.B.v

PRACTICE TRICKY SPELLING ‘I’

- Remind students that earlier in this unit, they learned a new sound for the ‘i’ spelling, /ee/ as in ski.
- Direct students’ attention to the graphic you prepared in advance for tricky spelling ‘i’. Review the sounds for tricky spelling ‘i’.

Digital Component 16.1

- Shuffle and then flash the prepared cards one at a time to students, having them read the cards aloud as a group. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use Brit•ish as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Distribute the cards to either individual students or to small groups.
- Have each student or small group read the card(s) to the class and then tape each card under the correct header on the board/chart paper.

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

Exit Pass: Identify Sound of 'i'

Write the following words on the board: 1. exercise; 2. media; 3. fist. Have students write which sound 'i' makes in each word.

Lesson 16: Spelling Language

Primary Focus: Students will read and alphabetize one-, two-, and three-syllable words from The War of 1812, and will read and spell one-syllable and multisyllabic words with VCe syllables. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.2.C.i

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS

- Prior to introducing the specific spelling words, tell students that this week all of the words are related to the Reader, The War of 1812.
- Remind students that they can use what they have learned about VCe syllables to read and spell the words. Point out the /ae/ sound in paved.

- Tricky Word: Ironsides

- Using the cards you prepared in advance, show students one word at a time, asking them to first read the word. Ask students to use each word in a sentence illustrating its meaning.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words. TEKS 2.2.C.i Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables.

Support

Have students use the glossary in the Reader to help remind them of the word meanings. Alternately, have students use the digital glossary and digital dictionary.

- Tell students that you will now put the words in alphabetical order. Fold over the cards and paper clip them so just the first letter shows as you did in previous lessons. Randomly tape the cards to the board/chart paper.
- Ask: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? No. ‘b’? Yes, I have two words that begin with ‘b’. I wonder how we know which one to put first. Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘ba’ and ‘Br’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘a’ comes before ‘r’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘ba’—battle—before the word that starts with ‘Br’—British. ‘c’? Yes, I have two words that begin with ‘c’. I wonder how we know which one to put first. Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘ca’, ‘Co’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘a’ comes before ‘o’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘ca’—cannon—before the word that starts with ‘Co’—Congress.” Proceed in this way until all cards have been alphabetized.
- Unfold the cards, and read the words aloud with students.
- Tell students that the words are now in alphabetical order.

Lesson 16: Foundational Skills Remediation

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH TRICKY SPELLING ‘I’

Match Maker

- Using the word cards from the board sort in today’s lesson, allow students to play a game of Match Maker.
- Students should turn all cards facedown. Students will alternate taking turns turning over two cards.
- Students must match the sound the tricky spelling ‘i’ represents in the words. If the sound of ‘i’ is the same in each word, and the student correctly says each word, the student keeps the pair of cards. If not, the student puts them back facedown and it is the next player’s turn.
- The first student to find the most matches wins.
- Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use bit•ing as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word.

GRAMMAR

Building Sentences

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will read “The Burning of Washington, D.C.” with purpose and understanding, will use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words, and will answer literal questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.D

Language (Grammar)

Students will add details to create more complex sentences. TEKS 2.11.D.i

Differentiated Instruction

Students will identify different parts of speech in “The Burning of Washington, D.C.,” will read word pairs and determine whether targeted letters in each word make the same sound, and will identify verbs and adverbs in sentences.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.ii; TEKS 2.11.D.iii; 2.11.D.v

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Reading

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the online dictionary of your choice and the digital glossary (Digital Component 15.1).

Language

- Write the following sentence on the board/chart paper for Build Sentences:
  - They went on Tuesday.

Differentiated Instruction

- Using observational data from anecdotal reading records, spelling analysis records, and performance on daily checks for understanding or formative assessments, identify students who may benefit from additional targeted practice in letter-sound correspondences, spelling alternatives, or tricky spellings and assign Activity Page 17.2. Other students may benefit from additional practice with parts of speech (Activity Page 17.1) and/or identification of verbs and adverbs (Activity Page 17.3).

Universal Access

- Gather images to represent the following core vocabulary words: toast, ransack, torch, drape, “heavy blow,” soot.

Lesson 17: “The Burning of Washington, D.C.”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Burning of Washington, D.C.” with purpose and understanding, will use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words, and will answer literal questions about key

✦ details in the text. TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.D

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

Reader

Page 54

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “The Burning of Washington, D.C.” Remind students of what they learned about reading and spelling abbreviations, such as using D.C. for District of Columbia and Mrs. for missus.
- Engage students in a brief discussion about what they learned about the attack on Washington, D.C., from reading the previous chapter.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the words “heavy blow” on the board/chart paper.
- Circle the letters ‘ea’.
- Tell students that these letters represent the sound /e/.
- Ask students to turn to page 7 of the Individual Code Chart.
- Ask students to find the /e/ row and follow it across to ‘ea’ (head).
- Ask students to summarize what the power bar means for ‘ea’.

Preview Tricky Word

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Word before reading the chapter:
  - shoe—Students are likely to pronounce it /sh/ /oe/. However, the word is pronounced /sh/ /oo/.

Code Materials

✦ TEKS 2.2.B.iv Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.D Retell and paraphrase texts in ways that maintain meaning and logical order.

Selecting Language Resources

Share the images you prepared in advance.

Beginning

Have students repeat and write the vocabulary words with the accompanying image.

Intermediate

Have students create oral sentences using the words.

Advanced/

Advanced High

Have students create and write sentences using the words.

ELPS 3.J; ELPS 4.C

Preview Core Vocabulary TEKS 2.3.A

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “The Burning of Washington, D.C.” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

Digital Component 15.1

- Have students use the digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up vocabulary words as you preview them.

charge—v., to rush into (charged) (54)

toast—v., to raise a glass and drink in honor of someone or something (toasted) (56)

ransack—v., to search in order to steal and cause damage (ransacked) (56) torch—n., a piece of wood that burns at one end (torches) (56)

drape—n., curtain (drapes) (56)

heavy blow—n., a difficult loss to deal with (58)

soot—n., the black powder left behind when something burns (58)

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
  - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
  - Divide the word into syllables.
  - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.

TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words.

- Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
- Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any usual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

1. charge
2. toast
3. ran | sack
4. torch
5. drape
6. heav | y blow      'ea' > /e/ (head)
7. soot

- After previewing the vocabulary, remind students that as they are reading, if they do not recall the meaning or pronunciation of a word, they can always look it up in the glossary, digital dictionary, or digital glossary.
- Also, note for students that torch, toast, and “heavy blow” have multiple meanings. Torch can also mean to burn something. Toast can also mean a grilled piece of bread. “Heavy blow” can also mean a hard hit using an object or part of the body.

Support

Note for students the two words Capitol and capital. Tell students that the word Capitol, with a capital letter ‘C’ and the letters ‘tol’ refers to the Capitol building, where Congress meets or where a state government meets. The word capital with a lower-case ‘c’ and the letters ‘tal’ refers to the capital city, which is where the main government offices are located.

READ “THE BURNING OF WASHINGTON, D.C.” (20 MIN.)

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “The Burning of Washington, D.C.”
- Take a few moments to go through the chapter, looking at the images and reading the captions.

Pages 54–59

- Tell students to read pages 54–59 to themselves to find out what happened to Washington, D.C., when the British arrived.
- As students read silently, you should circulate throughout the room, lending assistance as needed.

- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The British Army marched into Washington, D.C. They burned the Capitol building. They broke down the doors of the President’s House and marched inside. They ate dinner inside and then started smashing things. They stole things. Then, they set the house on fire. Then, the British soldiers marched away.)

Wrap-Up

- Display and discuss Timeline Card 14 (The Capitol building after the British burned it during the attack on Washington, D.C.), and tape it to the designated spot on the timeline [after Timeline Card 13 (Dolley Madison)].
- Use the following questions to promote discussion:

Discussion Questions for “The Burning of Washington, DC”

1. Literal. Why did British soldiers burn Washington, D.C.?
  - » They were angry because the U.S. Army had burned the capital city of Canada, so they wanted to get back at the Americans by burning the U.S. capital.
2. Literal. How were the fires set by the British soldiers put out?
  - » Rain from a storm stopped most of the fires.
3. Literal. Why did the Madisons feel they would never call the President’s House home again?
  - » They came back and found it was a mess. The walls were black with soot, the windows were broken, and all of their things had been stolen or burned.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question. Note students’ names and performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, using the codes provided.

Lesson 17: Build Sentences

Language

Primary Focus: Students will add details to create more complex sentences.

TEKS 2.11.D.i

BUILD SENTENCES

- Remind students that they have been talking about complete and incomplete sentences; they have learned that a complete sentence must always have a subject and a predicate.
- Tell students that today they are going to learn how to build or write interesting sentences.
- Direct students' attention to the sentence you prepared in advance.
  - They went on Tuesday.
- Ask students whether this is a complete or incomplete sentence. Then ask them to help "prove" that the sentence is complete by identifying the subject and the predicate. Underline the subject with a single line and the predicate with a double line.
- Point out that although this is a complete sentence, it is a very simple sentence that does not provide very much information and is not very interesting.
- Write the following column headings on the board/chart paper: "Who?," "Where?," "Why?".
- Pointing to the subject They, ask, "Who is meant by They?" Record any possible answers under the heading "Who?".
- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded and use it to write a revised sentence (e.g., Joyce and Mark went on Tuesday.).
- Ask students to again identify the subject. Point out that in rewriting the sentence, you added information to the subject.
- Now ask students, "Where did they go?" and record students' responses under the heading "Where?".

TEKS 2.11.D.i Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including complete sentences with subject-verb agreement.

Language

Modifying to Add Details

Beginning

Encourage students to suggest details related to familiar activities (e.g., "Joyce and Mark went to the playground.").

Intermediate

Encourage students to suggest more interesting details (e.g., "Joyce and Mark went to the playground at the park a few blocks away.").

Advanced/ Advanced High

Encourage students to complete the sentences with a variety of details (e.g., "Joyce and Mark went to the new playground at the nearby park to try out the new climbing wall.").

ELPS 5.G

- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded and use it to write another revised sentence, (e.g., Joyce and Mark went to an amusement park on Tuesday.). Point out that you added something to the predicate of the sentence.
- Now ask, “Why did they go?” and record students’ responses under the heading “Why?”.
- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded and use it to write another revised sentence on the board/chart paper (e.g., Joyce and Mark went to an amusement park on Tuesday to ride roller coasters.). Point out that you again added something to the predicate of the sentence.
- If time permits, repeat these steps for the sentence “It grew.” Ask the following questions: “What grew? Where did it grow? How did it grow?”
- Sum up by telling students that you will continue to practice building sentences in the lessons to come.

Lesson 17: Differentiated Instruction

Differentiated Instruction

Primary Focus: Students will identify different parts of speech in “The Burning of Washington, D.C.,” will read word pairs and determine whether targeted letters in each word make the same sound, and will identify verbs and adverbs in sentences.

 TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.ii; TEKS 2.11.D.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.v

PARTS OF SPEECH, SAME OR DIFFERENT SOUNDS, VERBS AND ADVERBS

Small Group

- While working with students in small groups, please remember to choose activities that fit students’ needs.

Group 1: Have students who are able to work independently complete Activity Page 17.1 to review parts of speech and reading skills.

Reader

Page 54

 TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions including (ii) past, present, and future verb tense; (iii) singular, plural, common, and proper nouns; (v) adverbs that convey time and adverbs that convey place.

Activity Page 17.1: Parts of Speech

Collect and review Activity Page 17.1 from Group 1. Students who did not correctly identify appropriate parts of speech and/or who did not use the identified words appropriately in sentences about the War of 1812 or the burning of Washington, D.C., may benefit from additional practice with parts of speech and rereading of the text.

Group 2: Work with students needing extra help with either grammar or the spellings from Unit 6. Work with students to complete either Activity Page 17.2 or Activity Page 17.3, depending on which skills they need to practice.

Activity Page 17.2: Same or Different?

Collect and review Activity Page 17.2 from Group 2. Students who did not correctly identify whether the targeted letters made the same sound or not may benefit from additional practice with tricky spellings.

Activity Page 17.3: Verbs and Adverbs

Collect and review Activity Page 17.3 from Group 2. Students who did not correctly identify verbs and adverbs may benefit from additional practice with parts of speech.

Lesson 17: Foundational Skills Remediation

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH BUILDING SENTENCES

Write About It

- Gather a variety of images that may prompt students in writing detailed, complete sentences.
- Using the board/chart paper, write three columns labeled: “Who?”, “Where?”, and “Why?”. Alternatively you could use three separate sheets of chart paper, labeling each one.
- Share with students one of the images you gathered in advance.
- Ask students to determine who (subject), is doing what (predicate). Record the answer to “Who?” on the chart.
- Then, have students add details by answering the questions “Where?” and “Why?” related the image.
- Once they have answered, ask them to write a sentence including that information, and then go back and code the subject and predicate.
- This could be repeated as partners or independently.

MORE HELP WITH SPELLING ALTERNATIVES /ER/ › ‘AR’, ‘OR’

Race Against the Clock

- Using word cards you have created (Activity Page TR 10.1), assign each word a point value based on the difficulty of the word; you may want to assign one point for one-syllable words, two points for two-syllable words, three points for three-syllable words, and so on.
- Each player gets a preset time limit to attempt to read as many words as possible within the time. Students get points for the words they read correctly and get no points for words they get wrong or skip.
- The student with the most points is the winner.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Reading

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the digital dictionary of your choice and the digital glossary (Digital Component 15.1).
- Plan which students you will listen to in Group 1 and which students will read independently in Group 2.

Language

- Write the following sentence on the board/chart paper for Build Sentences:
  - The snake slithered.

Lesson 18: “The Burning of Washington, D.C.”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will reread “The Burning of Washington, D.C.,” will use digital dictionaries and print/digital glossaries to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer multiple-choice questions about key details in the text.

✚ TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that today they will reread “The Burning of Washington, D.C.” in small groups.

Review Core Vocabulary

- You may wish to review the vocabulary before rereading this chapter; see Preview Core Vocabulary in Lesson 17.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Have students use the digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up vocabulary words as you review them.

RERead “THE BURNING OF WASHINGTON, D.C.” (25 MIN.)

Purpose for Reading

Group 1: Ask these students to come to the reading table and read the chapter with you. This is an excellent time for you to make notes in your anecdotal records. When students have finished reading, have them complete Activity Page 18.1 as a group, using the Reader as a guide.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to Group 1 students read “The Burning of Washington, D.C.,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

✚ TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words; TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas.

Group 2: Ask these students to read the chapter independently and complete Activity Page 18.1 as they read. Remind students that the bolded words in the chapter are found in the glossary and match the words you reviewed. Some words may appear in different forms in the chapter.

Wrap-Up

- Call students back together as a class, and go over the correct answers for Activity Page 18.1.

Activity Page 18.1: Chapter Questions

Collect and review Activity Page 18.1 from Group 2. Students who did not correctly answer the questions may benefit from additional practice looking back in the text for answers.

Lesson 18: Build Sentences

Language

Primary Focus: Students will expand complete simple and compound sentences orally and will rewrite a simple sentence four times, adding more details each time.

✚ TEKS 2.11.C; TEKS 2.11.D.iv; TEKS 2.11.D.v

BUILD SENTENCES

- Remind students that when they write, they should strive to make their writing interesting. Tell students that one way that they can do this is by adding words to simple sentences.
- Direct students' attention to the sentence you prepared in advance: The snake slithered. Point out that The snake slithered. is a very simple sentence.
- Ask students to identify the subject and the predicate in this sentence; underline the subject (snake) with a single line and the predicate (slithered) with a double line.
- Write the following column headings on the board/chart paper: "What?", "Where?", "How?".
- Ask, "What did the snake look like?" Record students' answers under the heading "What?".

✚ TEKS 2.11.C Revise drafts by adding, deleting, or rearranging words, phrases or sentences; TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (iv) adjectives, including articles; (v) adverbs that convey time and adverbs that convey place.

Language

Modifying to Add Details

Beginning

Ask students yes/no questions about how the dog ran to help them add to their sentence (e.g., “Did the dog run in a fast or slow way?”).

Intermediate

Brainstorm interesting adverbs around how the dog ran with students and have them choose one to add to their sentence.

Advanced/

Advanced High

Encourage students to use more complex details, including adverbs and locations, to add to their sentence.

ELPS 5.G

- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded. Use it to write a revised sentence (e.g., The fat, blue snake slithered.). Point out that you added something to the subject of this sentence.
- Ask, “Where was the snake going?” Record students’ answers under the heading “Where?”.
- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded. Use it to write a revised sentence (e.g., The fat, blue snake slithered home.). Point out that you added something to the predicate of this sentence.
- Ask, “How did the snake slither?” Record students’ answers under the heading “How?”.
- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded. Use it to write a revised sentence (e.g., The fat, blue snake slowly slithered home.). Point out that you added something to the predicate of this sentence.
- Have students choose one of the responses you recorded. Use it to write a revised sentence (e.g., The fat, blue snake slowly slithered home to get some rest.). Point out that you added something to the predicate of this sentence.
- Have students turn to Activity Page 18.2.
- Have a student read the sentence on the activity page. Tell students to expand the sentence by following the questions on the activity page.

Activity Page 18.2: Build Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 18.2. Students who had difficulty expanding the sentence may benefit from additional practice and more work answering questions to help add details.

Lesson 18: Foundational Skills Remediation

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH BUILDING SENTENCES

Create Sentences

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 18.1 for each student. Have them cut out the cards.

- Have students work to decide which cards are subjects and which cards are predicates. Tell students to sort them into categories.
- Next, have students pair a subject and predicate to make a sentence. Note that correct capitalization and punctuation is not included on the cards.
- Then, have students discuss how they could add to the sentences by answering the questions “Who?”, “Where?”, “Why?”, and “How?”.
- Finally, have students write the sentences they created, using appropriate capitalization and punctuation, and including the details discussed.

- Draw a baseball diamond on the board/chart paper.

Lesson 19: “The Attack on Baltimore”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Attack on Baltimore” with purpose and understanding, will use online dictionaries and print/digital dictionaries to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer literal and inferential questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.6.E; TEKS 2.6.G

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

Reader

Page 60

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “The Attack on Baltimore.”
- Review with students what they learned about the attack on Washington, D.C.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the words pitch in and stitching on the board/chart paper.
  - Circle the letters ‘tch’ in each word.
  - Tell students that these letters represent the sound /ch/.
  - Ask students to turn to page 2 of the Individual Code Chart.
  - Ask students to find the /ch/ row and follow it across to ‘tch’ (itch).
  - Ask students to summarize what the power bar means for ‘tch’.
- Write the word niece on the board/chart paper.
  - Circle the letters ‘ie’ in this word.
  - Tell students that these letters represent the sound /ee/.
  - Ask students to turn to page 8 of the Individual Code Chart.
  - Ask students to find the /ee/ row and follow it across to ‘ie’ (cookie).
  - Ask students to summarize what the power bar means for ‘ie’.

Preview Tricky Word

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Word before reading the chapter:
  - Fort McHenry—Students are likely to be unfamiliar with how to pronounce ‘Mc’. Students may think McHenry is pronounced /m/ /k/ /h/ /e/ /n/ /r/ /y/. The word is pronounced /m/ /i/ /k/ /h/ /e/ /n/ /r/ /ee/.

TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.6.E Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas.

Code Materials

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “The Attack on Baltimore” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Have students use the digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up vocabulary words as you preview them.

port—n., a place on the water near land, where ships load and unload cargo (60)

pile up—v., to collect (piled up) (62)

harbor—n., an area of calm, deep water near land, where ships can safely put down their anchors (62)

pitch in—v., to help with (pitched in) (62)

stitching—v., sewing (stitched) (66)

niece—n., the daughter of your brother or sister (nieces) (66)

commander—n., a high-ranking officer in the military (68)

READ “THE ATTACK ON BALTIMORE” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students' attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students' attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 60 and 61

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “The Attack on Baltimore.”
- Preview the vocabulary word port for students, and discuss its definition.
- Tell students to read page 60 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why was Baltimore an important city?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (It was the third largest city in the United States, and it was also a key port.)

- Direct students' attention to the image on page 61, and read the caption aloud as a class.

Pages 62 and 63

- Preview the vocabulary words harbor and pitch in, and discuss their definitions. Note for students that pitched in is a form of the word pitch in that appears in this chapter.
- Tell students to read page 62 to themselves to find the answer to the question: "How did the British plan to take about Baltimore?"
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The British hoped that if they could take Fort McHenry, they could take the city.)
- Ask, "How did the people of Baltimore prepare for the attack?" (They piled up supplies, they set up walls, and they sank ships in the harbor to keep British ships from getting too close to the fort.)
- Point out that the image on page 63 is what Fort McHenry looks like today. Call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 64 and 65

- Tell students to read page 64 to themselves to find the answer to the question: "Who was asked to make a flag to fly over Fort McHenry?"
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Mary Pickersgill)
- Ask, "What does the U.S. flag look like today?" (It has fifty stars and thirteen stripes.)
- Direct students' attention to the image on page 64, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 66 and 67

- Have students find the words stitching and niece in the glossary, and discuss their definitions. Note for students that the words stitched and nieces both appear in this chapter.
- Have students read page 66 to themselves to find the answer to the question: "Who helped Mrs. Pickersgill stitch the flag?"
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Her daughter, her servants, and two of her nieces helped her stitch the flag.)

- Ask, “Why did Mrs. Pickersgill need so much help stitching the flag?”
(The flag was huge, so Mrs. Pickersgill could not stitch it by herself.)

Pages 68 and 69

- Preview the vocabulary word commander, and discuss its definition.
- Say, “I wonder what happened during the attack on Baltimore. Let’s read page 68 to find out.”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The U.S. soldiers were ready and stopped the British Army. The British commander was killed and the British went back to their ships to make a different plan.)

Wrap-Up

- Use the following questions to promote a discussion.

Discussion Questions for “The Attack on Baltimore”

1. Literal. How did the British plan to attack Baltimore?
  - » by land and by sea
2. Literal. How is the current U.S. flag the same as or different from the flag made by Mary Pickersgill?
  - » The current flag has fifty stars and thirteen stripes. The flag made by Mary Pickersgill had fifteen stars and fifteen stripes.
3. Inferential. How was the attack on Baltimore different from the attack on Washington, D.C.?
  - » U.S. soldiers and the people of Baltimore were aware of plans for the attack on Baltimore. They were ready. The soldiers defeated the British Army. People were not ready for the attack on Washington, D.C., and the British burned many buildings and beat the U.S. Army.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question. Note students' names and performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, using the codes provided.

Lesson 19: Schwa Spellings

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will sort and read words featuring /ə/ > 'a' and 'e', and two-syllable words featuring /ə/ + /l/ and /sh/ + /ə/ + /n/. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.B.v

WORD SORT (15 MIN.)

- Direct students' attention to the headers you prepared in advance. Read each one aloud.
- Pass out the prepared word cards. Have students determine under which header each card goes. Tape the card under the appropriate header.
- Sort the rest of the words as students read them during the Baseball Game.

BASEBALL GAME (15 MIN.)

- Tell students that today they will review the different schwa spellings they studied in Unit 5.
- Thoroughly shuffle the cards that you have prepared.
- Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use nos•tril as an example of how to use the VCCCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Divide the class into two teams, having one team at a time come to the front of the room and line up in front of the board/chart paper. (You may choose to have students stay seated and divide the class into teams by the manner in which they are seated.) Each team takes a "turn at bat" as follows:
  - Pick a card from the pile, and ask the first person on the team to read it aloud, while you tape it in the correct column on the board/chart paper. If the word is read correctly, draw a line from home plate to first base,

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

signifying a “hit.” This player then goes to the back of his team’s line, while the next player comes forward to read the next card. If they read the word correctly, draw a line from first to second base.

- Play continues this way. If the fourth player reads the word correctly, draw a line from third base to home plate, and mark “1 run” for the team. Play continues for this team so long as no words are misread; when a word is misread, the next team takes its turn at bat.
- Set a timer for 10 minutes, and tell students that whichever team has the most runs when the timer rings is the winning team. Point out that accuracy is important, but so is speed in reading words quickly. The more turns that players have to read words, the more likely their team is to score runs.

MORE HELP WITH /ə/ SPELLINGS

Practice /ə/ /l/ > ‘ul’, ‘al’, and ‘il’

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 19.1 for each student.
- Call on different students to read the words in the box.
- Then, have students sort the words by the spelling for /ə/ /l/.
- After sorting, have students read the words in each column.

Practice /sh/ /ə/ /n/ > ‘tion’

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 19.2 for each student.
- Read the paragraph aloud as a group.
- Then, have students circle the words with ‘tion’.
- Have students list the circled words under the paragraph. Then, have students come up with additional words with ‘tion’. Have students list those words at the bottom of the page.

ASSESSMENT

Spelling Assessment

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Language (Spelling)

Students will spell one-, two-, and three-syllable dictated words and the Tricky Word Ironsides and will write four of the words in alphabetical order.

✦ TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

Reading

Students will partner read “The Attack on Baltimore” and will answer multiple-choice questions and a short answer question about the chapter.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Language

- Be sure to erase the spelling table from the board and/or turn the chart paper over so students cannot refer to it during the assessment.

Reading

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the online dictionary of your choice and the digital glossary (Digital Component 15.1).
- Plan to assign partners for reading the chapter.

Lesson 20: Spelling Assessment

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell one-, two-, and three-syllable dictated words and the Tricky Word Ironsides and will write four of the words in alphabetical order.

TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

SPELLING ASSESSMENT

Activity Page 20.1

- Have students turn to Activity Page 20.1.
- Read the first spelling word, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students time to write the word.
- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words.

- |                |               |
|----------------|---------------|
| 1. painting    | 11. president |
| 2. navy        | 12. march     |
| 3. Madison     | 13. merchants |
| 4. troops      | 14. Dolley    |
| 5. hawks       | 15. battle    |
| 6. impressment | 16. Congress  |
| 7. Washington  | 17. death     |
| 8. support     | 18. cannon    |
| 9. paved       | 19. British   |
| 10. monarchy   |               |

Tricky Word: Ironsides

- Direct students' attention to the lines on the back of the activity page. Tell students to write the sentence "Old Ironsides was the nickname for a U.S. ship." Repeat this sentence three times.
- At the end, go back through the list and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students that you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so they can correct their own work.

TEKS 2.2.C.iv Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, then copying and writing the correct spelling next to it.
- Continue through all the words and then on to the sentence.
- Circle the following words on the board/chart paper. Ask students to write the words in alphabetical order on the back of the activity page.

1. monarchy
2. merchants
3. Congress
4. cannon

- After all students have finished, write the four words in alphabetical order for students to correct on their papers.

1. cannon
2. Congress
3. merchants
4. monarchy

Activity Page 20.1: Spelling Assessment

At a later time, use the template provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

Lesson 20: “The Attack on Baltimore”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “The Attack on Baltimore” and will answer multiple-choice questions and a short answer question about the chapter.

✦ TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that today they will reread Chapter 7, “The Attack on Baltimore,” with a partner.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.
- Review the images and captions in the chapter with students before they read.
- Remind students what they have learned about reading and spelling the abbreviation Mrs. for missus. Explain that they will encounter the abbreviation again in this passage.

Review Core Vocabulary

- You may wish to review the vocabulary before rereading this chapter.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Have students use the digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up vocabulary words as you review them.

REREAD “THE ATTACK ON BALTIMORE” (20 MIN.)

- Assign partners.
- Ask students to read the chapter with their partner, taking turns reading each page. Students may ask their partners questions about the chapter and discuss what they read.
- Tell students that when they finish reading, they should complete Activity Page 20.2.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “The Attack on Baltimore,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

✦ TEKS 2.2.B.iv Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.3.A The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. ### MORE HELP WITH ALPHABETIZING

Alphabetize Words

- Copy the word cards (Activity Page TR 20.1) for each student pair.
- Model how to begin alphabetizing the word cards in the same way you do so in the spelling lessons:
  - Ask: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? No. ‘b’? Yes, I have two words that begin with ‘b’. I wonder how we know which one to put first. Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘ba’ and ‘Br’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘a’ comes before ‘r’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘ba’—battle—before the word that starts with ‘Br’—British. ‘c’? Yes, I have two words that begin with ‘c’. I wonder how we know which one to put first. Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘ca’, ‘Co’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘a’ comes before ‘o’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘ca’—cannon—before the word that starts with ‘Co’—Congress.”
- Read the sorted words aloud with students.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

This week's spelling words are all domain-specific words instead of words with a particular spelling feature.

Reading

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the online dictionary of your choice and the digital glossary (Digital Component 15.1).

Language

- Write this week's spelling words on index cards, and have paper clips handy for folding the cards.

Lesson 21: “Francis Scott Key and The National Anthem”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” with purpose and understanding, will use digital dictionaries and digital/print glossaries to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer true/false questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.2.B.vii; TEKS 2.6.G

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem.”
- Review with students what they have learned so far about the War of 1812.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the word national on the board/chart paper.
  - Circle the letters ‘tion’.
  - Tell students that these letters represent three different sounds, /sh/ + /ə/ + /n/.
  - Because ‘tion’ is made up of three different sounds, it is not listed on the Individual Code Chart.
  - Write the word fiction on the board/chart paper as another example of a word in which ‘tion’ spells the sounds /sh/ + /ə/ + /n/.
  - Circle the letters ‘al’.
  - Tell students that these letters represent two different sounds, /ə/ + /l/.
  - Write the word animal on the board/chart paper as another example of a word in which ‘al’ spells the sounds /ə/ + /l/.
  - Ask students to find the ‘al’ spelling for /ə/ + /l/ on page 8 of the Individual Code Chart and trace the outline.
- Write the word perilous on the board/chart paper.
  - Circle the letters ‘er’.
  - Tell students that these letters represent the sound /eɪ/ /r/.

Code Materials

TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words; TEKS 2.2.B.vii Identifying and reading high-frequency words from a research-based list; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas.

- Tell students that this letter-sound correspondence is very rare and not on the Individual Code Chart.
- Write the word ceremony on the board/chart paper as another example of a word in which 'er' spells the sound /ae/ /r/.

Preview Tricky Words

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Words before reading the chapter:
  - early—Students are likely to pronounce it /ee/ /r/ /l/ /ee/. However, the word is pronounced /er/ /l/ /ee/.
  - whose—Students are likely to pronounce it /w/ /oe/ /s/. However, the word is pronounced /h/ /oo/ /z/.
  - broad—Students are likely to pronounce it /b/ /r/ /oe/ /d/. However, the word is pronounced /b/ /r/ /aw/ /d/.
  - bomb—Students are likely to pronounce it /b/ /o/ /m/ /b/. However, the word is pronounced /b/ /o/ /m/.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Have students use the digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up vocabulary words as you preview them.

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
  - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
  - Divide the word into syllables.
  - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.
  - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
  - Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same letter-sound spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

READ “FRANCIS SCOTT KEY AND THE NATIONAL ANTHEM” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 70 and 71

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem.”
- Preview the vocabulary words national, anthem, open fire, rocket, and mortar and discuss the definition of each. Note for students that opened fire, rockets, and mortars appear in the chapter.
- Tell students to read page 70 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why didn’t the soldiers in Fort McHenry fire back at the British?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The guns in the fort were old and could not hit the British ships.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 71.

Pages 72 and 73

- Tell students to read page 72 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What did an American named Francis Scott Key think it meant if he could still see the flag flying?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (He thought that it meant that the United States was still in battle and the troops at Fort McHenry had not given up.)
- Ask, “Could Key see the flag when the sun set?” (yes)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 73.

Pages 74 and 75

- Preview the vocabulary word streak, and discuss its definition. Note for students that the word streaking appears in the chapter.
- Say, “I wonder what happened after the sun set. Let’s read page 74 to find out.”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (It was harder for Key to see, but there were some flashes of light through the night that allowed him to see the flag.)
- Ask, “What happened when the sun came up?” (Key could finally see that the flag was still flying after all the firing had stopped.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 75, and ask students to read the caption to themselves.

Pages 76 and 77

- Preview the vocabulary words inspired, hail, perilous, rampart, gallantly, and proof and discuss their definitions. Note for students that the words hailed and ramparts appear in this chapter.
- Tell students to read page 76 to themselves to find the answer to the questions: “How did Key feel when he saw that the flag was still flying and what did he want to do?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Key felt inspired and hoped to share what he had seen with others, so he wrote a poem about it.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 77.

Lesson 21: Spelling

Language

Primary Focus: Students will read and alphabetize one-, two-, and three-syllable words from The War of 1812, and will read and spell one-syllable and multisyllabic words with VCe syllables and closed syllables. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.2.C.i

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS

- Tell students that this week all of the words are unit-specific words. That means that all of the words have something to do with the Reader The War of 1812.
- Remind students that they can use what they have learned about VCe syllables to read and spell the words. Point out the /ie/ sound in stripes and the /ae/ sound in brave. They can also use what they have learned about closed syllables to help them read the multisyllabic words ran•sacked, con•struct, and rock•ets.

- Using the cards you prepared in advance, show students one word at a time, asking them to first read the word. Ask students to use each word in a sentence illustrating its meaning. Randomly tape the words to the board/chart paper.
- Tell students that you will now put the words in alphabetical order. Fold over the cards and paper clip them so that just the first letter shows as you did in previous lessons.
- Ask: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? Yes—anthem—so this will be the first word alphabetically in our list. ‘b’? Yes, I have three words that begin with ‘b’—burned, brave, and bomb. I wonder how we know which one to Then I’ll put the word that starts with ‘bu’.” Proceed in this way until all cards have been alphabetized.

- Unfold the cards, and read the words aloud with students.
- Explicitly tell students that the words are now in alphabetical order.

MORE HELP WITH ALPHABETIZING

Alphabetize Words

- Write the following words on index cards.

- |             |            |            |
|-------------|------------|------------|
| 1. alphabet | 8. color   | 15. fossil |

| 5. polar    | 12. school | 19. China  |
| 6. dollar   | 13. animal | 20. nation |
| 7. harbor   | 14. April  |            |

- Have students read each word as a review of sound/spellings they have learned.
- Divide the word cards into three sets of cards.
- Help students alphabetize the words in each set separately in the same way you alphabetize spelling words.
  - Ask students: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? Yes—alphabet—so this will be the first word alphabetically in our list. ‘b’? Yes—bread. ‘c’? No.” Proceed in this way until all cards in the set have been alphabetized. Then move on to the other sets.
- Next, alphabetize all the words together at once in the same manner.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Writing

➤ Digital Component 22.1

- Prepare a poster or sentence strips with the following definitions, or prepare to display the digital version (Digital Component 22.1) to add to the grammar definitions that you have displayed around the room.
  - A paragraph is a group of sentences on the same topic.
  - A topic sentence is one sentence, usually the first, that tells what the paragraph is mostly about.

Differentiated Instruction

- Plan which students will work independently in Group 1 and which students you will work with in Group 2.
- Preview Activity Pages 22.2 and 22.3 to determine which activity page will best meet the needs of each student. If neither of these pages are good choices for students' needs, select an activity or activity page from the Pausing Point.

Universal Access

- Bring in a recording of the “Star-Spangled Banner” to play during or after the reading activity.

Lesson 22: “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” and will closely read the text by answering text-dependent questions, discussing Tier 2 vocabulary and discussing challenging portions of the text.

✚ TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Have students partner read “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem.”
- Remind students what they have learned about reading and spelling abbreviated words. Explain that months of the year can be abbreviated.

✚ TEKS 2.2.B.iv Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas.

For example, students will read the word September in the text. Have them use their own paper to write the abbreviation Sept. Have them make a list of the abbreviations for the months and then write today’s date using an abbreviation.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

CLOSE READ “FRANCIS SCOTT KEY AND THE NATIONAL ANTHEM” (20 MIN.)

- After students have finished reading “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” with their partners, lead students in a close reading of the text by doing the following:
  - asking text-dependent questions that require students to draw on evidence from the text;
  - identifying and discussing general academic (Tier 2) vocabulary;
  - discussing sections of the text that might pose a difficulty due to complex syntax, dense information, challenging transitions, or that require inferences; and
  - engaging students in a culminating writing activity that is completed independently, if possible.
- There are many ways for students to respond to the questions you present, and you may want to change the way in which you ask for students’ responses in each lesson or even during the lesson to improve student engagement. For this lesson, following a question, ask all students to jot some written notes, before asking an individual student to respond orally.

Play the music for the “Star Spangled Banner.” Ask students to discuss how hearing the words put to music compares to reading the words.

Teacher Overview

Key Idea and Key Details: The key idea of the chapter is that Francis Scott Key watched the attack on Baltimore from a boat in the harbor. He knew if he could see the U.S. flag flying at Fort McHenry, the Americans had not been defeated or had not given up. Before dawn the next morning, everything was quiet, but Key couldn't see in the dark so he didn't know what the quiet meant. When the sun rose, he saw the flag flying. He felt such joy that he wrote a poem describing what he had seen. The first part of the poem became the national anthem of the United States.

Synopsis: The chapter “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” provides information about the attack on Baltimore and how “The Star-Spangled Banner” came to be.

Lesson

Text from Reader

Portions of the text from the Reader are reproduced here for your convenience. However, student referral to the text in front of them is a critical element of close reading.

Vocabulary Instruction

As the text is read aloud, stop after each sentence containing targeted vocabulary to explain meanings or to check student understanding.

Text-Dependent Questions

After targeted vocabulary has been defined and/or discussed, ask the text-based questions.

Begin with a “winnable” question that will help orient students to the text.

The sequence of questions should build a gradual understanding of the key details of the text.

Questions should focus on a word, phrase, sentence or paragraph.

Responses

Answers should reference the text.

Multiple responses may be provided using different pieces of evidence.

Inferences must be grounded logically in the text.

Page 70

The British ships kept firing for a long time. They fired all day. They fired on into the night.

fire—the shooting of weapons. Note for students the multiple meanings of this word. Fire can also mean the flame produced by burning or an occurrence when something burns.

Did the British ships fire on Fort McHenry for a short time or a long time?

The British ships fired for a long time: they fired all day, and they fired into the night.

Lesson 22: Writing

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will learn that a topic sentence informs the reader about the subject of a paragraph and will identify the topic sentences in three paragraphs. TEKS 2.9.D.i

IDENTIFY A TOPIC SENTENCE

- Tell students that today they are going to learn about paragraphs.

➤ Digital Component 22.1

- Direct students' attention to the poster you prepared in advance, or display the digital version.
- Have a student read the first sentence, the definition of a paragraph.
- Have students open their Reader to page 60 (start of Chapter 7, "The Attack on Baltimore").
- Explain that the beginning of a paragraph is indented and that every new paragraph begins on a new line.
- Ask students to notice that there are two indented spaces on that page.
- Point out that those indented spaces signal the beginning of a paragraph.
- Ask students to count how many paragraphs are on that page. (2)
- Ask students to turn to page 62 and count how many paragraphs are on that page. (3)
- Repeat this exercise with the other pages in Chapter 7.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 22.1.
- Ask students how many paragraphs are on that page. (3)
- Now tell students that all paragraphs have one main or topic sentence. Direct students' attention to the poster again. Call on a student to read the second sentence, explaining a topic sentence.
- Ask students to read along as you read the first paragraph aloud to them on Activity Page 22.1.

TEKS 2.9.D.i Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance.

Writing

Understanding Text Structure

Beginning

Ask students yes/no questions about paragraph structure (e.g., "Is the topic sentence about a different topic than the other sentences?").

Intermediate

Have students explain paragraph structure using a sentence frame (e.g., "A topic sentence is . . .").

Advanced/

Advanced High

Provide minimal support as students examine the paragraphs.

ELPS 3.H; ELPS 5.G

Activity Page 22.1

Support

Have students put a check mark next to each sentence that relates to the topic sentence in each paragraph.

Challenge

Have students provide an example of a sentence that would not be appropriate for one or all of the paragraphs.

- After reading the paragraph aloud, tell students that you are now going to test to see if the first sentence is the topic sentence.
- Ask students to draw a line under the sentence: Cookies are the best treat.
- Now read the next sentence aloud to the class: They are very sweet and very tasty. Ask, "Is that sentence about what a good treat cookies are?" (Yes)
- Read the next sentence aloud: Also, there are lots of different yummy flavors of cookies. Ask, "Is that sentence about what a good treat cookies are?" (Yes)
- Say, "So far, are all of the sentences in this paragraph all about what a good treat cookies are?" (Yes)
- Read the next sentence aloud: If you get tired of one kind of cookie, you can always try another kind. Ask, "Is that sentence about what a good treat cookies are?" (Yes)
- Read the next sentence aloud: I can't think of one thing that's bad about cookies. Ask, "Is that sentence about what a good treat cookies are?" (Yes)
- Point out that all of the sentences in the paragraph relate back to the first sentence, Cookies are the best treat. This sentence lets readers know what the rest of the paragraph will be about.
- Tell students that the first sentence is the topic sentence. Ask students to draw a box around the sentence that they previously underlined.
- Repeat these steps for the second and third paragraphs. If you feel students are ready, have them work independently to examine the remaining paragraphs.

Activity Page 22.1: Topic Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 22.1 to monitor students' understanding of how sentences in a paragraph relate to the topic sentence.

Lesson 22: Differentiated Instruction

Differentiated Instruction

Primary Focus: Students will read multisyllable words featuring /ee/ > 'i', will use the words to complete fill-in-the-blank sentences, and will add details to create more complex sentences. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.11.C

BUILD SENTENCES: /EE/ > 'I'

Small Group

Group 1: Have students able to work independently complete Activity Page 22.2 to build and expand a sentence.

Group 2: Work with Group 2, which should include students needing extra help, using Activity Page 22.3, or any activity page from the Pausing Point that addresses a skill for which they need additional instruction. Remember to first explicitly review the letter-sound correspondences in question and to practice reading words with these combinations before asking students to complete the activity page.

Activity Pages
22.2, 22.3

Activity Page 22.2: Build Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 22.2 from Group 1. Students who did not correctly add to the sentence may benefit from additional practice with different parts of speech and adding details to sentences at a later time.

Activity Page 22.3: Find the Secret Message

Collect and review Activity Page 22.3 from Group 2. Students who did not correctly spell words with /ee/ > 'i' may benefit from additional practice with the spellings of /ee/ at a later time.

End Lesson

TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables;
TEKS 2.11.C Revise drafts by adding, deleting, or rearranging words, phrases or sentences.

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH TRICKY SPELLING 'I'

Circle the Spelling

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 22.1 for each student.
- Explain that for each row, there is a word. Students must decide which sound 'i' makes in the word, /i/, /ie/, or /ee/.
- Read the word for number 1. Ask students which sound 'i' makes. Have them circle the example in the appropriate column.
- Continue through the rest of the words in this manner.
- Have students go back and read all the words with 'i' > /i/. Then have students read all the words with 'i' > /ie/. Finally, have them read all the words with 'i' > /ee/.
- At the bottom of the page, have students write one more word for each sound that 'i' makes.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Reading

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the online dictionary of your choice and/or the digital glossary.

Universal Access

- Gather images of different scenes in the seasons of summer and spring for Create a Paragraph.
- Write the words from Activity Page 23.3 on index cards, and have paper clips handy for folding the cards.

Lesson 23: “Andrew Jackson”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “Andrew Jackson” with purpose and understanding, will use digital dictionaries and digital/print glossaries to clarify the meaning of words, and will write answers to questions about key details in the text in complete sentences. TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.B

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Andrew Jackson.”
- Review with students how the attack on Baltimore was different than the attack on Washington, D.C.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Tricky Words

- You may wish to preview the following Tricky Words before reading the chapter:
  - Andrew—Students are likely to not know how to pronounce ‘ew’. The word is pronounced /A/ /n/ /d/ /r/ /oo/.
  - new—Students are likely to not know how to pronounce the word. The word is pronounced /n/ /oo/.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where the word first appears in “Andrew Jackson” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Have students use the digital dictionary and digital glossary to look up vocabulary words as you preview them.

peace—n., a state of no war or fighting (78)

treaty—n., a formal agreement between countries (78)

mouth—n., the place where a river enters the ocean (80)

TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts that demonstrate an understanding of the text.

Reader

general—n., a high-ranking officer in the military (82)

orphan—n., a child whose parents are no longer alive (84)

knotty—adj., having many dark marks on wood where branches once grew (84)

hickory—n., a tree with very hard wood (84)

ragtag—adj., disorganized and made up of many different types (84)

Vocabulary Chart for “Andrew Jackson”

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
  - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
  - Divide the word into syllables.
  - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.
  - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
  - Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same letter-sound spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

READ “ANDREW JACKSON” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so that the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 78 and 79

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “Andrew Jackson.”
- Preview the vocabulary words peace and treaty, and discuss the definition of each.
- Tell students to read page 78 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What was happening after the attack on Baltimore?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Both sides wanted peace but the war went on. The British sent troops to attack New Orleans.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 79.

Pages 80 and 81

- Preview the vocabulary word mouth, and discuss its definition. Note for students that this word can also mean the opening in the face through which food passes into the body.
- Say, “I wonder why the British wanted to attack New Orleans. Let’s read page 80 to find out.”

- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (If the British took New Orleans, they could control trade along the Mississippi River. New Orleans was an important, big port for farmers and traders.)
- Ask, “Who led the U.S. Army?” (Andrew Jackson)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 81, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 82 and 83

- Preview the vocabulary word general, and discuss its definition.
- Tell students to read page 82 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why did Andrew Jackson dislike the British?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (When he was a prisoner during the American Revolution, a British officer had ordered Jackson to clean his boots. Jackson refused and the officer struck Jackson with his weapon, leaving a scar on his face.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 83, and ask students to read the caption to themselves.

Pages 84 and 85

- Preview the vocabulary words orphan, knotty, hickory, and ragtag and discuss their definitions.
- Tell students to read page 84 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why did Jackson’s men call him ‘Old Hickory’?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (He was as strong as a knotty, old piece of hickory wood.)
- Ask, “Who made up Jackson’s ragtag army?” (Farmers, free African Americans, Native Americans, and pirates)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 85, and read the caption aloud as a class.

Wrap-Up

- Have students complete Activity Page 23.1 independently.

Collect and review Activity Page 23.1. Students who did not correctly answer the questions may benefit from rereading the chapter and orally answering the questions in addition to practicing looking back in the text to find answers.

Lesson 23: Write a Paragraph

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will create a paragraph by writing three sentences to follow a short topic sentence. TEKS 2.12.A

CREATE A PARAGRAPH

- Remind students that in the previous lesson you worked on finding the topic sentence for a paragraph.

Check for Understanding

Ask students to explain what a paragraph and a topic sentence are.

- Tell students that today you will work on creating a paragraph when a topic sentence has been provided.
- Write the following sentence on the board/chart paper: I like summer.
- Remind students that all of the sentences in the paragraph must be about summer.
- Take a few minutes to generate possible sentences about summer with the students.
- Record these sentences on the board/chart paper.
- After you have about five or six sentences to choose from, write the sentences in paragraph form either on the board/chart paper. As you write, point out when you are indenting, using capital letters and correct punctuation, etc.

TEKS 2.12.A Compose literary texts, including personal narratives and poetry.

- Summarize after completing the paragraph by noting that all the sentences are about the topic sentence (i.e., liking summer).
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 23.2.
- At the top of their page is the following sentence: I like spring. Point out that the sentence is indented, indicating that it is the start of a paragraph.
- Ask students to write three sentences of their own that tell about the topic sentence.

Activity Page 23.2: Create a Paragraph

Collect and review Activity Page 23.2. Students who did not correctly create a paragraph about spring may benefit from additional practice with identifying ideas related to a topic sentence and writing sentences using those ideas at a later time.

Lesson 23: Alphabetize

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will alphabetize one- and two-syllable words.

TEKS 2.2.D

ALPHABETIZE TO THE SECOND LETTER

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 23.3 and alphabetize words to the second letter independently.
- When students have completed the activity page, go over the correct answers as a class.
- Ask students to make any corrections on their own activity page.

Activity Page 23.3: Alphabetize Words

Collect and review Activity Page 23.3. Students who did not correctly alphabetize the words may benefit from additional practice with alphabetizing to the first and second letters at a later time.

Activity Page 23.3

Support

Use the index cards you prepared in advance, with words from the activity page, to help students alphabetize the words. Fold the cards over so only the first two letters can be seen.

TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

Take-Home Material

“ANDREW JACKSON”; CROSSWORD PUZZLE

- Have students take home Activity Page 23.4 to read to a family member and Activity Page 23.5 to complete.

Activity Pages
23.4, 23.5

Lesson 23: Foundational Skills Remediation

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH CREATING A PARAGRAPH

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 23.1 for each student.

➤ Digital Component 22.1

- Review the definitions of paragraph and topic sentence on display.
- Explain the directions. Students read what the topic sentence will be for a paragraph. Then, they must decide which of the sentences under it do not relate to the topic sentence. Students should cross those sentences out.
- Model completing the first one by reading the topic sentence, then reading each additional sentence and thinking aloud to decide if it relates to the topic sentence or not. If it does not, cross it out.
- Have students work in pairs to complete the other two paragraphs.

MORE HELP WITH ALPHABETIZING

- Give each student an index card.
- Ask them to write a word on the card. You may wish to write words on several cards as well.
- Collect the cards and fold them over so only the first letter appears. Have students help you alphabetize the cards in the same manner you have done in previous lessons.
- When the words are alphabetized, read them aloud with students.

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “Andrew Jackson” and will closely read the text by answering text-dependent questions, discussing Tier 2 vocabulary and discussing challenging portions of the text. TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Have students partner read “Andrew Jackson.”

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “Andrew Jackson,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

CLOSE READ “ANDREW JACKSON” (20 MIN.)

- After students have finished reading “Andrew Jackson” with their partners, lead students in a close reading of the text by doing the following:
  - asking text-dependent questions that require students to draw on evidence from the text;
  - identifying and discussing general academic (Tier 2) vocabulary;
  - discussing sections of the text that might pose a difficulty due to complex syntax, dense information, challenging transitions, or that require inferences; and
  - engaging students in a culminating writing activity that is completed independently, if possible.
- There are many ways for students to respond to the questions you present, and you may want to change the way in which you ask for students’ responses in each lesson or even during the lesson to improve student engagement. For this lesson, have students work as partners. Following each question, direct students to consult with their partner about the correct response, before one student then raises his or her hand to respond.

Lesson 24: Grammar

Language

Primary Focus: Students will rewrite sentences with correct capitalization and punctuation, will change singular nouns to plural nouns, will identify the verb tense of written sentences, will distinguish between complete and incomplete sentences, and will rewrite run-on sentences as single sentences.

TEKS 2.11.D.i; TEKS 2.11.D.ii; TEKS 2.11.D.iii; TEKS 2.11.D.x

MIXED PRACTICE

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 24.1 and complete it independently.

Activity Page 24.1: Practice Grammar

Collect and review Activity Page 24.1. Take note of particular grammar skills that students struggle with and plan to provide additional support for targeted skills at a later time.

Lesson 24: Foundational Skills Remediation

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH GRAMMAR

Plural Nouns

- Write the following headers on the board/chart paper: –s, –es.
- Write the following words on index cards: book, box, house, dish, brush, lash, pencil, witch, latch, shoe, paper, ditch, lock.
- Pass out one card to each student or pair of students.
- Have students decide whether the noun written on the card needs –s or –es added to make it plural. Have students write their choice on the card.
- Then have students come to the board/chart paper and sort their plural nouns by endings. Read the sorted words.

TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (i) complete sentences with subject-verb agreement; (ii) past, present, and future verb tense; (iii) singular, plural, common, and proper nouns; (x) end punctuation, apostrophes in contractions, and commas with items in a series and in dates.

Modifying to Add Details

Beginning

Work with a small group of students to orally discuss the correct answers in each section of the activity page.

Intermediate

Have students work in pairs to complete each section of the activity page.

Advanced/ Advanced High

Provide minimal support as students complete each section of the activity page.

ELPS 1.E; ELPS 5.D

Complete vs. Incomplete Sentences

- Write the following on the board/chart paper: Red leaves.
- Ask students to identify if it is a complete or incomplete sentence and why. (incomplete; only has a subject)
- Then have students help change it to a complete sentence by adding a predicate. Write their ideas on the board/chart paper.
- Work with the following complete and incomplete sentences in the same manner. If students identify a complete sentence, have them help you add details to make it more interesting.
  - I like action movies.
  - Cold weather.
  - Colorful flowers.

ASSESSMENT

Spelling Assessment

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Language (Spelling)

Students will spell dictated one-, two-, and three-syllable words from The War of 1812 and will write four of the words in alphabetical order. TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

Reading

Students will read “The End of the War” with purpose and understanding and will answer multiple-choice questions and a short answer question about key details in the text. TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

Foundational Skills

Students will read one- and two-syllable words with /o/ > ‘a’ and ‘wa’ and will use these words to complete fill-in-the-blank sentences. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.B.v

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Language

- Be sure to erase the spelling table from the board and/or turn the table over so students cannot refer to it during the assessment.

Foundational Skills

- Prepare the following words on leaves to be used after you read the story “Watkins and Wanda”: Watkins, Wanda, water, watercolor, wand, and waffle.
- Prepare two more branches, one for the spelling ‘wa’ and one for the spelling ‘a’. Also prepare the following leaves for the /o/ Spelling Tree: wash, want, swamp, swallowing, watch, wander, swab, swap, wat, and swan.
- You may wish to tab Vowel Code Flip Book page 5. Also have the Spelling Cards listed in the Lesson at a Glance chart, student Individual Code Charts, and green markers readily available.

Lesson 25: Spelling Assessment

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell dictated one-, two-, and three-syllable words from The War of 1812 and will write four of the words in alphabetical order.

TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

SPELLING ASSESSMENT

Activity Page 25.1

- Have students turn to Activity Page 25.1.
- Read the first spelling word, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students time to write the word.
- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words

|                |               |                          |
|----------------|---------------|--------------------------|
| 1. rockets     | 8. commander  | 15. stripes              |
| 2. fifteen     | 9. harbor     | 16. ship                 |
| 3. White House | 10. construct | 17. stitching            |
| 4. poem        | 11. anthem    | 18. ransacked            |
| 5. port        | 12. McHenry   | 19. giant                |
| 6. flag        | 13. brave     | Tricky Word: bomb |
| 7. dawn        | 14. burned    |                          |

- Direct students' attention to the lines on the back of the activity page.
- Tell students to write the sentence "Bombs burst in the sky over Fort McHenry." Slowly repeat this sentence three times.
- At the end, go back through the list, and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students that you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so they can correct their own work.
- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, then copying and writing the correct spelling next to it.

TEKS 2.2.C.iv Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

- Continue through all the words and then on to the sentence.
- Ask students to write the following words in alphabetical order on the back of the activity page:

1. burned
2. brave
3. rockets
4. ransacked

- After all students have finished, write the four words in alphabetical order for students to correct their papers.

1. brave
2. burned
3. ransacked
4. rockets

Activity Page 25.1: Spelling Assessment

At a later time, use the template provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

Lesson 25: “The End of the War”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The End of the War” with purpose and understanding and will answer multiple-choice questions and a short answer question about key details in the text. TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “The End of the War.”
- Review with students details about Andrew Jackson and how he prepared for the British attack on New Orleans.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- There is no vocabulary to preview for this chapter.

READ “THE END OF THE WAR” (15 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.

Pages 86 and 87

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “The End of the War.”
- Tell students to read page 86 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What happened when the British attacked New Orleans?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Andrew Jackson and his men crouched behind their walls and fired. They kept firing, and the British gave up their attack.)

TEKS 2.3.A Use print or digital resources to determine meaning and pronunciation of unknown words; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Reader

- Direct students' attention to the image on page 87.

Pages 88 and 89

- Say, "I wonder what happened after the battle. Let's read page 88 to find out."
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (After time passed, a letter arrived saying that the war was already over. This was two weeks before the Battle of New Orleans, but Jackson and his men did not know that.)
- Ask, "Why didn't Jackson and his men know the war had ended?" (News traveled slowly, so it took a couple of weeks for news of the treaty to get to the United States.)
- Direct students' attention to the image on page 89.

Pages 90 and 91

- Tell students to read page 90 to themselves to find the answer to the question: "What changed as a result of the War of 1812?"
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Americans had battled together as a nation, and they had done it well.)
- Ask, "What did the end of the war mean for the United States?" (The end of the war marked the start of a new age in U.S. history, an age of national pride.)
- Direct students' attention to the image on page 91, and ask students to read the caption to themselves.

Wrap-Up

- Display and discuss Timeline Card 17 (The Battle of New Orleans) and Timeline Card 18 (Andrew Jackson) and tape them to the designated spots on the timeline [after Timeline Card 16 (Frances Scott Key)]. Review with students that the treaty ending the war was actually signed before the Battle of New Orleans, but people in the United States did not know that.
- Tell students that the timeline is now complete. Review the images on the timeline, and engage students in a discussion of what they have learned related to the images.
- Have students complete Activity Page 25.2 independently.

Reading

Reading/Viewing Closely

Beginning

Rephrase the questions to be yes/no questions as students read the text (e.g., "Did Jackson and his men know the war was already over?").

Intermediate

Provide students with sentence frames for answering questions as you read the text (e.g., "After the battle, Jackson and his men . . .").

Advanced/ Advanced High

Encourage students to answer in complete sentence, using details from the text in their answers.

Lesson 25: /o/ > 'a' and 'wa'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read one- and two-syllable words with /o/ > 'a' and 'wa' and will use these words to complete fill-in-the-blank sentences.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.B.v

INTRODUCE /O/ > 'A' AND 'WA' (10 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 25.3.
- Tell students that they are going to learn about a new spelling alternative. Explain that you are going to read a story to them as they follow along with the pictures in their Activity Book, much as they did in the lesson where they learned about the schwa sound and heard the story about the Spelling Spoilers.
- Ask students to point to the first picture on the page. Tell students that this is a picture of Watkins Llama and that he is going to tell them about some new sound-spellings.
- As students point to the picture, read the following:
  - "Hi, Second Graders, my name is Watkins Llama. I like to wear green pajamas. I am a very special llama because my name will help you remember the spelling of a special sound: /o/. (Ask students to point to the next picture beside Watkins.) My friend, Wanda Swan, will help you remember this sound as well. (Ask students to point to the picture below Watkins.) Wanda and I both like to paint with watercolors. (Ask students to point to the picture below Wanda.) Sometimes we like to pretend we can take a magic wand and make waffles appear for breakfast."
- Tell students that they will learn two new spelling alternatives for the sound /o/. Remind students that the basic code spelling that they learned in Kindergarten for the sound /o/ is 'o'. Encourage students to offer examples of several words with this spelling and write them on the board/chart paper (e.g., hop, stop, sock).

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

Activity Page 25.3

- Now write the name of the first character in the story, Watkins Llama, on the board/chart paper, as students refer to his name on Activity Page 25.3. Point out that the pronunciation of the first part of his name is /wɒtkɪns/ and underline the spelling 'wa' asking students to do the same on Activity Page 25.3. The 'wa' spelling represents the /o/ sound in this word.
- Now point out that the pronunciation of the second part of his name is /lɒmə/ and underline the spelling 'a' asking students to do the same on Activity Page 25.3. In this word, the spelling 'a' represents the /o/ sound.
- Write the name of the other character in the story, Wanda Swan, and use the same steps as above to discuss the use of the spelling 'wa' to represent the /o/ sound in each part of this character's name.

| Vowel Code Flip Book                         | Individual Code Chart                        |
|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| 1. /o/ > 'wa' ( water ) page 5 | 1. /o/ > 'wa' ( water ) page 7 |
| 2. /o/ > 'a' ( lava ) page 5   | 2. /o/ > 'a' ( lava ) page 7   |

- Turn to page 5 of the Vowel Flip Book and put the Spelling Cards for /o/ > 'wa' (water) and /o/ > 'a' on the appropriate spaces and discuss the respective power bars.
- Tell students to turn to page 7 of the Individual Code Chart to locate both sound spellings. Direct students to outline both cards with their green markers.
- Show students the spelling leaves that you prepared: Watkins, Wanda, water, watercolor, wand, and waffle.
- Read the words aloud as a class. Then display the other set of leaves that you created. Read those leaves aloud as a class. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use wan•der as an example of how to use the VCCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Tell students that when the sound /w/ is followed by the letter 'a' the sound is /o/ rather than /a/ as they might expect.
- Pass out leaves, and ask students to circle the letters that stand for the /o/ sound on each leaf. Have student pairs read the word aloud to the class and tape it to the appropriate new branch. As students are affixing the leaves to the branch, other students may color Watkins's pajamas green.
- Collect Activity Page 25.3 for use during the next lesson.

Code Materials

Activity Page 25.4

Support

Have students write the words from the activity page to practice spelling /o/ with 'wa'. Then have students discuss other words that follow this pattern. Write those words on the board/chart paper (e.g., watch, want, swamp, washing).

PRACTICE /O/ > 'A' AND 'WA' (10 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 25.4 and complete it as a teacher-guided activity.

Activity Page 25.4: Fill in the Blank

Collect and review Activity Page 25.4. Students who struggled to correctly spell words with /o/ > 'a' may benefit from additional practice at a later time.

Lesson 25: Foundational Skills Remediation

Additional Support

MORE HELP WITH /O/ > 'WA'

Word Sort

- Make a copy of the word cards (Activity Page TR 25.1) for each pair of students.
- Have students sort the words by the spelling of /o/, 'wa' and 'o'. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use wa•ter as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Review the sorted words in each category.
- Then have students write sentences using the words with /o/ > 'wa'.

Code Knowledge

Before today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 885–938 of those words would be completely decodable.

After today's lesson: If students read 1,000 words in a trade book, on average 926–975 of those words would be completely decodable.

The spelling 'a' is very tricky; it can be pronounced as /a/ as in dad, /æ/ as in baby, ə as in about, or /o/ as in water.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

This week the spelling words are all domain-specific words instead of words with a particular spelling feature.

Foundational Skills

- Prepare the following new leaves for the /o/ Spelling Tree: squash, squad, squat, father, grandma, grandpa, lava, pajamas, drama, and llama.

Language

- Write this week's spelling words on index cards, and have paper clips handy for folding the cards.

Lesson 26: “The End of the War”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “The End of the War” and will closely read the text by answering text-dependent questions, discussing Tier 2 vocabulary and discussing challenging portions of the text.

TEKS 2.2.B.iv; TEKS 2.2.C.iii; TEKS 2.4;

TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.C

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Have students partner read “The End of the War.”
- Remind students what they have learned about abbreviating months of the year. Explain that they will encounter months in the passage (December, January) and should use their own paper to write the abbreviations for the dates (e.g., Dec. 24, 1814).

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “The End of the War,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

CLOSE READ “THE END OF THE WAR” (10 MIN.)

- After students have finished reading “The End of the War” with their partners, lead students in a close reading of the text by doing the following:
  - asking text-dependent questions that require students to draw on evidence from the text;
  - identifying and discussing general academic (Tier 2) vocabulary;
  - discussing sections of the text that might pose a difficulty due to complex syntax, dense information, challenging transitions, or that require inferences; and
  - engaging students in a culminating writing activity that is completed independently, if possible.
- There are many ways for students to respond to the questions you present, and you may want to change the way in which you ask for students’ responses in each lesson or even during the lesson to improve student engagement. For today’s lesson, following a question, ask all students to jot some written notes before asking an individual student to respond orally.

TEKS 2.2.B.iv Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.2.C.iii Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling compound words, contractions, and common abbreviations; TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Teacher Overview

Key Idea and Key Details: The key idea of the chapter is that a treaty was signed to end the War of 1812, but people in the United States did not get word of the treaty right away and kept fighting. The United States was proud of its efforts.

Synopsis: The chapter “The End of the War” provides information about the end of the War of 1812 and how it signaled the start of a new age of national pride for the United States.

Lesson

Text from Reader

The text of the Reader is reproduced here for your convenience. However, student referral to the text in front of them is a critical element of close reading.

Vocabulary Instruction

As the text is read aloud, stop after each sentence containing targeted vocabulary to explain meanings or to check student understanding.

Text-Dependent Questions

After any targeted vocabulary has been defined and/or discussed, ask the text-based questions.

Begin with a “winnable” question that will help orient students to the text.

The sequence of questions should build a gradual understanding of the key details of the text.

Questions should focus on a word, phrase, sentence or paragraph.

Responses

Answers should reference the text.

Multiple responses may be provided using different pieces of evidence.

Inferences must be grounded logically in the text.

Page 86

On January 8, 1815, the British attacked New Orleans. They planned on winning without much trouble.

When it says in the text [The British] planned on winning without much trouble, does that mean they thought winning would be easy or difficult?

That means the British thought winning would be easy.

But they did not know how brave Andrew Jackson and his men were—or how good they were with their weapons. The British soldiers had on bright red coats. A wave of them charged. Jackson’s men crouched behind their walls. They took careful aim. Then they fired. Their bullets hit the first wave of British soldiers.

wave—a line of attacking troops. Note for students the multiple meanings of this word. The word wave can also mean an area of moving water that is raised up above the surface of the water, or the repeated movement of a hand as a signal of greeting.
crouched—lowered the body closer to the ground by bending the knees.

What did the British not know about Andrew Jackson and his men?

The British did not know how brave Andrew Jackson and his men were or how good they were with their weapons.

Lesson 26: /o/ > 'a' and 'wa'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will review /o/ > 'a' and 'wa', will read two- and three-syllable words featuring the sound spelling and will read sentences featuring words with /o/ > 'a' and 'wa' and match pictures with the sentences.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii;

TEKS 2.2.B.v

REVIEW /O/ > 'A' AND 'WA' (10 MIN.)

Activity Page 25.3

- Pass out Activity Page 25.3 that you collected during the previous lesson.
- Remind students that in the previous lesson Watkins Llama and his friend Wanda helped students learn that the spellings 'a' and 'wa' can represent the /o/ sound.
- For review, ask students to read the words on the 'wa' branch of the /o/ Spelling Tree, calling attention to the /w/ sound that precedes each 'a' spelling.
- Tell students that they also learned that sometimes the sound of the spelling 'a' on its own represents the /o/ sound, as in the word llama. Tell students they will learn some new words in which the spelling 'a' is pronounced /o/.
- Write 'qu' on the board/chart paper, and ask students what sound this spelling represents. (/k/ /w/)
- Now show students the prepared spelling leaves for squash, squat, and squad. Have students read the words and place them on the 'a' spelling branch of the /o/ Spelling Tree. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use dra•ma as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Tell students that today they will learn some additional words in which the spelling 'a' represents the sound /o/. Ask students to point to the first picture on Activity Page 25.3. As students point to the picture, read the following:

"Hi, Second Graders, Watkins Llama here again. I am back to tell you a little more about words in which the spelling 'a' can stand for the /o/ sound. In the last lesson you learned that the letter 'a' can stand for the /o/ sound when it follows the /w/ sound. Today you are going to learn some more words in which 'a' stands for /o/, even when there is no /w/ sound.

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV.

Listen to the word llama. Do you hear the /o/ sound in llama? You can hear it in two places. Guess what—the /o/ is spelled with the letter 'a' in both spots. Listen again: I like to wear green pajamas. Do you hear the /o/ sound in the middle of pajamas? It is spelled with the letter 'a'. Do you remember my friend, Wanda Swan? She likes to act in plays and dramas. Do you hear the /o/ sound in drama? Just like the 'o' sound in llama, the /o/ sound in drama is spelled with the letter 'a' in both spots. Your teacher is going to show you some more new words to add to your Spelling Tree now."

Note: Some people pronounce pajamas as /p/ /ə/ /j/ /a/ /m/ /ə/ /z/ but in this program, the second 'a' in pajamas is pronounced /o/: /p/ /ə/ /j/ /o/ /m/ /ə/ /z/

- Show students the spelling leaves that you prepared: father, grandma, grandpa, lava, pajamas, drama, and llama.
- Read the words aloud as a class.
- Pass out leaves and ask students to circle the letters that stand for the /o/ sound on each leaf.
- Have student pairs read each word aloud to the class and tape it to the 'a' branch on the /o/ Spelling Tree.

PRACTICE /O/ > 'A' AND 'WA' (10 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 26.1 and complete it as a teacher-guided activity.

Activity Page 26.1: Match Pictures and Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 26.1. Students who did not correctly match pictures and sentences may benefit from additional practice reading words with /o/ spelled 'a' and 'wa' at a later time.

Support

Write the words pajamas, wand, lava, waffles, and water on the board/chart paper. Have students read the words and discuss the sounds they hear. Have students complete the activity page in a small group.

Lesson 26: Spelling

Language

Primary Focus: Students will read and alphabetize multisyllable words from The War of 1812, and will read and spell one-syllable and multisyllabic words with VCe syllables, closed syllables, and open syllables. TEKS 2.2.B.iii; TEKS 2.2.D; TEKS 2.2.C.i

INTRODUCE SPELLING WORDS

- Tell students that this week all of the words are domain-specific words. That means that all of the words have something to do with the Reader The War of 1812.
- Remind students that they can use what they have learned about VCe syllables to read and spell the words. Point out the /ae/ sound in tra•ders. They can use what they have learned about closed syllables (syllables that end in a short vowel sound and a consonant) to help them read the multisyllabic words rag•tag, knott•y, and riv•er. They can also use what they know about open syllables (syllables that end in a long vowel sound) to read the words de•fend and high•ways.

| 9. soldiers     | 19. orphan   |
| 10. Mississippi |              |

Tricky Word: New Orleans

- Using the cards you prepared in advance, show students one word at a time, asking them to first read the word. Ask students to use each word in a sentence illustrating its meaning. Tape the words randomly on the board/chart paper.

TEKS 2.2.B.iii Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.2.C.i Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling one-syllable and multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables.

- Tell students that you will now put the words in alphabetical order. Fold over the cards and paper clip them so just the first letter shows as you did in previous lessons.
- Ask: “Do you see any words that begin with ‘a’? No. ‘b’? No ‘c’? No. ‘d’? Yes, I have two words that begin with ‘d’—drains and defend. I wonder how we know which one to put first? Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘dr’ and ‘de’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘e’ comes before ‘r’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘de’—defend—before the word that starts with ‘dr’—drain. ‘e’? No. ‘f’? Yes, fired is next. ‘g’? Yes, I have two words that begin with ‘g’—goods and general. I wonder how we know which one to put first? Let me unfold one more letter. (Fold the cards so the ‘go’ and ‘ge’ are visible.) Oh, I see. ‘e’ comes before ‘o’, so I will put the word that starts with ‘ge’—general—before the word that starts with ‘go’—goods.” Proceed in this way until all cards have been alphabetized.
- Unfold the cards and read the words aloud with students.
- Explicitly tell the students that the words are now in alphabetical order.

|             |                 |              |

- Tell students that the words will remain on display until the assessment so they may refer to them during the week.
- Tell students that they will take home Activity Page 26.2 to share with a family member.

MORE HELP WITH /O/ SPELLED 'A' AND 'WA'

Mixed Review

- Make a copy of Activity Page TR 26.1 for each student.
- Read the words aloud together. Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use lla•ma as an example of how to use the VCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Then, have students write the following headers under the box: 'wa', 'a'.
- Have students write the words from the box under the appropriate header to show the spelling of /o/.
- Review the sorted word lists together.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Writing

➤ Digital Component 27.1

- Make a copy on the board/chart paper of Mr. Mowse's letter on Activity Page 27.2 or prepare to display the digital version (Digital Component 27.1).
Note: Mr. Mowse's letter, particularly the questions on the back, are being presented to provide context for the research report students will be asked to write about the national anthem in subsequent chapters.

Foundational Skills

- Prepare the following word cards for a baseball game:

|          |            |             |
|----------|------------|-------------|
| 1. cat   | 9. chasing | 17. water   |
| 2. flat  | 10. danger | 18. swan    |
| 3. shack | 11. about  | 19. wand    |
| 4. chap  | 12. China  | 20. waffle  |
| 5. tap   | 13. around | 21. drama   |
| 6. lady  | 14. Africa | 22. lava    |
| 7. paper | 15. attack | 23. grandma |
| 8. bacon | 16. walrus | 24. pajama  |

- Draw a baseball diamond on the board/chart paper.

Differentiated Instruction

- Review Activity Page 27.4 to determine if this is an appropriate activity for students who need additional support. If it is not, select a Pausing Point activity page for use during Differentiated Instruction.
- Plan which students who could work independently in Group 1 and which students you will work with in Group 2.

Lesson 27: Assessment

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will answer multiple-choice questions and one short-answer question assessing their understanding of the information they have read in The War of 1812. TEKS 2.5; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.7.B

THE WAR OF 1812 UNIT ASSESSMENT

- Have students turn to Activity Page 27.1. Explain that this assessment covers the information that they have learned from reading The War of 1812.
- If you feel it is necessary, you may preview any vocabulary from the assessment before having students answer the questions on their own.
- Tell students that if they finish early, they may choose to read any chapter in the Reader silently.

Activity Page 27.1: The War of 1812

Collect Activity Page 27.1 and use the analysis directions found in Teacher Resources to score the assessment and determine if additional evaluation or remediation is needed.

TEKS 2.5 Self-select text and read independently for a sustained period of time; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts that demonstrate an understanding of the text.

Lesson 27: Writing

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will read a letter and questions about the national anthem from Mr. Mowse. TEKS 2.7.C

A LETTER FROM MR. MOWSE

➤ Digital Component 27.1

- Have students turn to Activity Page 27.2, as you display the digital version, to read a letter that Mr. Mowse has left for them. Point out that the letter at the top of the page is Mr. Mowse's letter and that, as usual, there are some misspellings in the letter, so an edited version of the letter is reprinted below Mr. Mowse's letter.
- Ask one or more students to read Mr. Mowse's letter aloud.
- Then, ask students to turn to the back of the activity page. Read the questions that Mr. Mowse wants to find answers for. Ask students to refer to their Reader and identify in what chapter they already read that they learned about Fort McHenry, Francis Scott Key, and the national anthem. (Chapter 8 "Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem") Explain that Mr. Mowse must have thought of these questions after listening to Chapter 8.

Note: Collect Activity Page 27.2 for use again in Lesson 29.

Challenge

Without referring to the corrected version on Activity Page 27.2, ask students to correct the errors in Mr. Mowse's letter.

Lesson 27: Tricky Spelling 'a'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

Students will read words with the tricky spelling 'a' > /a/, /æ/, /o/, and /ə/.

➤ TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.v

Students will decode, spell, and use words with the prefixes un-, re-, and dis-.

➤ TEKS 2.2.B.vi; TEKS 2.2.C.vi; TEKS 2.3.C

➤ TEKS 2.7.C Use text evidence to support an appropriate response; TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; (v) decoding words using knowledge of syllable division patterns such as VCCV, VCV, and VCCCV; (vi) decoding words with prefixes including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.2.C.vi Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words with prefixes, including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.3.C Identify the meaning of and use words with affixes un-, re-, -ly, -er, and -est (comparative and superlative), and -ion/tion/sion.

BASEBALL GAME 10 MIN.

- Tell students that today they will review the tricky spelling 'a', including the 'wa' spelling. Write the following headers representing the sounds of tricky spelling 'a' in columns:

| 'a' and 'wa' |      |     |     |
|--------------|------|-----|-----|
| /a/          | /ae/ | /ə/ | /o/ |

- Choose one index card example of each sound/spelling to read with students as a way to review each. Tape each word under the appropriate header on the board/chart paper.
- Shuffle the cards that you have prepared.
- Remind students that they can use what they know about syllable types and chunking to read and spell multisyllabic words. Use grand•ma as an example of how to use the VCCCV pattern to chunk and read a word.
- Follow the procedure for Word Baseball that you have used in previous lessons.

DECODE, SPELL, AND USE WORDS WITH PREFIXES (10 MIN.)

- Remind students that we can decode, or read, words with prefixes by segmenting and blending the sounds and using the syllable chunking method.
- Tell them that prefixes are word parts added to the beginning of a base word to change the meaning of the word. Review what they have learned in previous units about adding un-, dis-, and re- to words. Remind them that each of these prefixes is one syllable.
- Display some of the following words: unbroken, unafraid, unreal, rename, respray, reappear, disservice, disrespect, disorder.
- Point to a word. Identify the prefix and segment it (e.g., /u/ /n/). Model segmenting the base word (e.g., /r/ /ee/ /l/).
- Pause between the syllables. Underline the prefix and the base word.
- Next, remind students that prefixes change the meaning of the word. For example, real becomes unreal when we add the prefix un-, which means "not." Remind students that dis- also means "not," and re- means "again."
- Say, "For words with prefixes, the spelling of the base word does not change when the prefix is added."
- Remind students that when they come across a word with a prefix while reading, breaking the word into its parts (prefix and base word), can help them understand what the word means.
- For practice, have small groups use their own paper to create and identify the meaning of words with the prefixes un-, dis-, and re-. Provide base words and have them add prefixes. Have volunteers share their words and their meanings. Offer feedback as needed.

Lesson 27: Differentiated Instruction

Differentiated Instruction

Primary Focus: Students will identify examples of different parts of speech in “The End of the War,” will write sentences about Andrew Jackson, and will identify whether sentences are complete or incomplete.

TEKS 2.7.B; TEKS 2.11.D.i; TEKS 2.11.D.ii; TEKS 2.11.D.iii

PARTS OF SPEECH; COMPLETE VS. INCOMPLETE SENTENCES

Small Group

Group 1: Have students who are able to work independently complete Activity Page 27.3 to review parts of speech, or assign some other reading related task that you feel would be beneficial.

Activity Pages
27.3, 27.4

Activity Page 27.3: Parts of Speech

Collect and review Activity Page 27.3 from Group 1. Students who did not correctly identify words by their parts of speech may benefit from additional practice identifying words by their parts of speech at a later time.

Group 2: Work with Group 2, students needing extra help, with either the grammar Activity Page 27.4 reviewing complete and incomplete sentences, or with another Pausing Point activity page of your choice.

Activity Page 27.4: Complete or Incomplete Sentence?

Collect and review Activity Page 27.4 from Group 2. Students who did not correctly identify sentences as complete or incomplete may benefit from additional practice with subject and predicate in sentences at a later time.

End Lesson

TEKS 2.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts that demonstrate an understanding of the text;
TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (i) complete sentences with subject-verb agreement; (ii) past, present, and future verb tense; (iii) singular, plural, common, and proper nouns.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Writing

➤ Digital Component 28.1

- Add the following to the poster you previously prepared with definitions for paragraph and topic sentence, or prepare to display the digital version (Digital Component 28.1).
  - A concluding sentence is one sentence, usually the last, that restates the topic sentence to end the paragraph.

Universal Access

- Write the words from the box on Activity Page 28.3 on index cards and have paper clips readily available for folding the cards.

Lesson 28: Topic Sentences

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will select and mark the topic sentences and concluding sentences of paragraphs, will number the remaining sentences in correct order, and will identify and cross out sentences that do not stay on the topic.

TEKS 2.9.D.i; TEKS 2.9.D.iii

MR. MOWSE'S REPORT ON THE WAR OF 1812 (15 MIN.)

- Remind students that they have been learning about writing paragraphs.

Check for Understanding

Ask students to explain what a paragraph and a topic sentence are.

Digital Component 28.1

- Direct students' attention to the poster and read the definition of concluding sentence.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 28.1. Remind students that in the previous lesson they read a letter from Mr. Mowse in which he talked about how much he was learning about the War of 1812, even though he still had some questions.
- Tell students that Mr. Mowse has also been listening to their lessons about writing paragraphs and decided to try writing some paragraphs about the War of 1812.
- Read the title of the activity page, and explain that a report is a piece of writing about a nonfiction topic. Tell students that Mr. Mowse started writing his report and, although he remembered some really good information about the War of 1812, he had difficulty organizing his thoughts, so he needs some help from the class.
- Tell students that the sentences on the front of the activity page are all from the same paragraph about the start of the War of 1812. There are six sentences: one is a topic sentence, one is a concluding sentence, and the rest are sentences that provide supporting details for the topic sentence. However, the sentences are not in the proper order.

TEKS 2.9.D Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including (i) the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance; (iii) organizational patterns such as chronological order and cause and effect stated explicitly.

Support

Have students write a number '1' next to the topic sentence when it is identified. Have students write a number '6' next to the concluding sentence when it is identified. Then have students number the remaining sentences with '2', '3', '4', and '5' to show the correct order.

Challenge

Have students write the sentences in order as a full paragraph.

- Ask students to read all of the sentences aloud as a group, thinking in particular about which sentence might be the topic sentence. After a brief discussion, have all students mark the topic sentence.
- Next, ask students to identify and mark the concluding sentence. Remind students that often the concluding sentence is a restatement of the topic sentence. Remind students that the concluding sentence is the very last sentence in a properly sequenced paragraph.
- Finally, tell students that the remaining sentences are all details supporting the topic sentence. Ask them to number the remaining sentences in a logical order so they make sense.
- Complete the back of the activity page with the next group of sentences in the same manner.

Activity Page 28.1: The War of 1812: A Report by Mr. Mowse

Collect and review Activity Page 28.1. Students who did not correctly identify the topic sentences, detail sentences, and concluding sentences may benefit from additional practice examining and labeling sentences in paragraphs at a later time.

STAYING ON TOPIC (10 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 28.2, and explain that it includes several paragraphs. Each paragraph has a topic sentence, followed by additional sentences.
- Explain, however, that in each paragraph, there is an extra sentence that does not relate to the topic sentence.
- Have students underline the topic sentence in each paragraph and cross out the sentence that does not stay on the topic. Complete the activity page as a teacher-guided activity.

Challenge

Have students write their own paragraphs that include a topic sentence, concluding sentence, detail sentences, and a sentence that does not stay on topic. You may wish to use these paragraphs as practice with the whole group.

Support

Have students underline the topic sentence and all the sentences that stay on topic, to more easily see which sentence does not stay on topic and needs to be crossed out.

Activity Page 28.2: Staying on Topic

Collect and review Activity Page 28.2. Students who did not correctly identify the topic sentences, detail sentences, and unrelated sentences may benefit from additional practice determining which sentences in a paragraph stay on topic and which sentences in a paragraph do not at a later time.

Lesson 28: Tricky Spelling 'a'

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus

➤ Students will alphabetize words to the second letter. TEKS 2.2.D

Students will read words with the tricky spelling 'a' and will use those words to ➤ complete fill-in-the-blank sentences. TEKS 2.2.B.i

Students will decode, spell, and use words with the prefixes un-, re-, and dis-.

➤ TEKS 2.2.B.vi; TEKS 2.2.C.vi; TEKS 2.3.C

ALPHABETIZE TO THE SECOND LETTER (15 MIN.)

- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 28.3 and complete it as an independent activity.

Activity Page 28.3: Alphabetize Words

Collect and review Activity Page 28.3. Students who did not correctly alphabetize words may benefit from additional practice alphabetizing at a later time.

TRICKY SPELLING 'A' (15 MIN.)

- Have students turn to Activity Page 28.4 and read the words in the box aloud before completing the activity page independently, as you circulate throughout the room, providing assistance as needed.

➤ TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words; TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; (vi) decoding words with prefixes including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.2.C.vi Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words with prefixes, including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.3.C Identify the meaning of and use words with affixes un-, re-, -ly, -er, and -est (comparative and superlative), and -ion/tion/sion.

Activity Page 28.4: Find the Secret Message

Collect and review Activity Page 28.4. Students who did not correctly spell or use words with the tricky spelling 'a' may benefit from additional practice spelling and using words with this spelling at a later time.

DECODE, SPELL, AND USE WORDS WITH PREFIXES (5 MIN.)

- Remind students that we can decode, or read, words with prefixes by segmenting and blending the sounds and using the syllable chunking method.
- Tell them that prefixes are word parts added to the beginning of a base word to change the meaning of the word. Review what they have learned about adding un-, dis-, and re- to words. Remind them that each of these prefixes is one syllable and adding a prefix does not change the spelling of the base word.
- Display some of the following words: unhappy, unlucky, unusual, remix, remove, rerun, disagree, disloyal, discomfort.
- Point to a word. Identify the prefix and model segmenting the prefix and the base word.
- Next, point out that prefixes change the meaning of the word. Remind students that un- and dis- mean “not” and re- means “again.”
- For practice, have small groups use their own paper to create and identify the meaning of words with the prefixes un-, dis-, and re-.

Word Sort

- Copy the word cards on Activity Page TR 28.1.
- Write the following headers on the board: /a/, /æ/, /o/, /ə/.
- Shuffle the word cards and pass them out to students.
- Have a student read the word on his or her card. Then, ask the student to identify what sound the tricky 'a' (or 'wa') makes in the word. Have the student tape the card under the correct header on the board/chart paper.
- Go through the remaining word cards in the same manner.
- When all the cards have been sorted, read the words under each header.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Writing

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 29.1 (Digital Component 29.1) to display for The Report Writing Process, or use the digital version.
- Prepare to display notes you took while reading as a whole group in previous lessons.

➤ Digital Component 29.2

- Create an enlarged version of Activity Page 29.2 (Digital Component 29.2) to display for The Report Writing Process, or use the digital version.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Copy the chart of questions from Choose a Topic (Digital Component 29.3) on chart paper, leaving space after the questions for recording student questions, or use the digital version.

➤ Digital Component 29.4

- Copy the sentences for Topic Sentences and Concluding Sentences (Digital Component 29.4) on the board/chart paper, leaving space above and below these sentences to write a topic sentence and concluding sentence with students during the lesson, or use the digital version.

Lesson 29: Report Writing

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will decode, spell, and use words with the prefixes un-, re-, and dis-. TEKS 2.2.B.vi; TEKS 2.2.C.vi; TEKS 2.3.C

DECODE, SPELL, AND USE WORDS WITH PREFIXES (5 MIN.)

- Have students warm up by reviewing what they have learned about decoding, or reading, words with prefixes by segmenting and blending the sounds and using the syllable chunking method.
- Prompt them to recall that prefixes are word parts added to the beginning of a base word to change the meaning of the word. Review what they have learned about adding un-, dis-, and re- to words. Remind them that each of these prefixes is one syllable and adding a prefix does not change the spelling of the base word.
- Display some of the following words: untie, uncertain, replay, retell, dislike, disappear.
- Point to a word. Identify the prefix and model segmenting the prefix and the base word.
- Next, point out that prefixes change the meaning of the word. Remind students that un- and dis- mean “not” and re- means “again.”
- For practice, have small groups use their own paper to create and identify the meaning of words with the prefixes un-, dis-, and re-.

Lesson 29: Report Writing

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will fill in a template outlining the writing process for reports. TEKS 2.13.B

TEKS 2.2.B.vi Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with prefixes including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.2.C.vi Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words with prefixes, including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.3.C Identify the meaning of and use words with affixes un-, re-, -ly, -er, and -est (comparative and superlative), and -ion/tion/sion; TEKS 2.13.B Develop and follow a research plan with adult assistance.

Students will read questions addressing information about the War of 1812 and will produce topic listings that cover the questions asked. TEKS 2.13.A; TEKS 2.13.C

Students will read sentences that go with a topic and will write a topic sentence and a concluding sentence for each topic. TEKS 2.9.D.i

Students will develop and follow a research plan, generate questions for formal and informal inquiry, identify and gather relevant sources and information to answer the questions, and demonstrate understanding of information gathered. TEKS 2.13.A; TEKS 2.13.B; TEKS 2.13.C; TEKS 2.13.E

THE REPORT WRITING PROCESS (25 MIN.) TEKS 2.13.B; TEKS 2.13.C; TEKS 2.13.E

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- Direct students' attention to the Write a Research Paper chart you prepared in advance and read the three steps listed with students (Plan, Draft, Edit).
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 29.1, telling them it is the same as the chart.
- Remind them that throughout Grade 2, they have been practicing different forms of writing: summaries of stories they have read, new endings for stories, and persuasive letters.
- Remind students that whenever they have practiced writing, they have used a three-step writing process.
- Have students identify the three steps—plan, draft, and edit—as they refer to the Write a Research Paper chart and Activity Page 29.1.
- Explain that students are now going to learn about writing reports. They will use the same three-step process, but will also learn some specific “mini-steps” for planning, drafting, and editing when they are writing a report.
- Explain that since a report is about a nonfiction topic, one of the first things that students need to do before writing a report is to choose a specific topic. Ask students to think back to the report that they just read by Mr. Mowse and identify the topic of his report. (the War of 1812)
- Write Choose a topic on the chart as the first mini-step in planning, and have students write the same on the first line of Activity Page 29.1. Explain that reports can be written about any nonfiction topic in history or science. Encourage them to discuss examples of possible nonfiction topics that might be of interest to them for report writing; make sure that they name nonfiction topics.

➤ TEKS 2.13.A Generate questions for formal and informal inquiry with adult assistance; TEKS 2.13.C Identify and gather relevant sources and information to answer the questions; TEKS 2.13.B Develop and follow a research plan with adult assistance; TEKS 2.13.A Generate questions for formal and informal inquiry with adult assistance; TEKS 2.13.C Identify and gather relevant sources and information to answer the questions; TEKS 2.9.D.i Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance; TEKS 2.13.E Demonstrate understanding of information gathered.

Activity Page 29.1

- Next, explain that once a topic has been selected, prior to starting to write about a nonfiction topic, students need to make sure they are knowledgeable about the topic. Tell students that the second mini-step in planning is to Gather information. Record this step on the chart as students copy it onto their activity page.
- Explain that when gathering information for a report, writers pull together as many different resources about that topic as possible. These resources can include books, articles in magazines or on the Internet, and other reference books, such as atlases and encyclopedias, when applicable. If you have access to the Internet in your classroom, this may be an appropriate opportunity to briefly introduce a search engine and the use of key words for doing an Internet search. You may also want to arrange for a classroom visit to the school library.
- Ask students what resources they think Mr. Mowse may have used to write his report. (The War of 1812 Reader)
- Next, explain and record the third mini-step in planning a report, Read and take notes about the topic. Direct students' attention the notes you displayed from previous lessons. Discuss them, pointing out that when you take notes, you often only write short phrases rather than complete sentences.
- Tell students that you will now talk about some mini-steps for the draft step. Remind them that this is when they will actually start writing about their topic. When writing a draft of a nonfiction report, it is important to Organize notes. Record this mini-step on the chart, and have students do the same on their activity page.
- Explain that when they organize their notes, writers group similar ideas from their notes together so they will be ready to write paragraphs.
- Record as the next mini-step in drafting Write paragraphs, and have students do the same on their activity page.
- Remind students that they have already learned a lot about writing paragraphs in this unit. They know that a good paragraph has a topic and a concluding sentence, as well as supporting details.
- Point out that the final step is to edit, which has three mini-steps. Record Use editing checklist as the first mini-step and have students do the same. Remind students that they have used editing checklists throughout Grade 2 to refine their drafts.

➤ Digital Component 29.2

- Now ask students to turn to Activity Page 29.2 as you display the digital version. Read the checklist aloud as a group, and discuss the questions. Note for students that this checklist is somewhat different from the editing checklist they have used in the past that was created for editing stories. This editing checklist has more items and the items include more information/details.

Activity Page 29.2

- Conclude this portion of the lesson by asking students to refer back to Activity Page 29.1, noting that there are still two blank spaces for two additional mini-steps in editing, but that you will come back to those final editing steps during a future lesson.

Check for Understanding

Ask students to identify the kind of writing these steps in the writing process go with.
(writing reports)

Note: Collect Activity Page 29.1 for use again in Lessons 31 and 33–36.
Collect Activity Page 29.2 for use again in Lessons 34–36.

✦ CHOOSE A TOPIC: REVISIT MR. MOWSE'S LETTER (15 MIN.) TEKS 2.13.A

- Ask students to turn back to Activity Page 27.2 and look in particular at the questions that Mr. Mowse has listed. Also direct students' attention the list of questions you prepared in advance. Point out that the questions listed on the chart prepared in advance are the same questions Mr. Mowse has listed.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

Topic: _____

- What do the words of our national anthem describe?
- When singing our national anthem, how should people behave?
- How do people show respect for the flag?
- How did the poem Francis Scott Key wrote become our national anthem?
- What are the three times during the attack on Fort McHenry that Key looked for the flag?
- How could Key see the flag in the middle of the night?
- Why couldn't Key see the flag just before the sun came up?
- Why was it important to Key to see if the flag was still flying after the attack ended?

- Ask students to reread all of the questions in order to identify a single topic that all of these questions relate to.

✦ TEKS 2.13.A Generate questions for formal and informal inquiry with adult assistance.

Challenge

Have students write their own list of additional questions related to the topic you identified together.

- Record whatever wording students use to characterize the questions in the blank space labeled “Topic” above the questions on the previously prepared chart. Possible responses might include how to behave when handling and addressing the flag and what the words to “The Star-Spangled Banner” mean.
- Ask students to brainstorm any additional questions that they may also have about the topic you identified together. Be sure to guide students in posing questions that are relevant to the topic and not just general questions about the War of 1812.
- Record any additional student questions on the chart. Tell students that over the next several lessons you will use these questions as a guide to write a report to answer Mr. Mowse’s questions.

Note: Collect Activity Page 27.2 for use again in Lesson 32.

TOPIC SENTENCES AND CONCLUDING SENTENCES (15 MIN.)

- Remind students that they have been learning about writing paragraphs.

Check for Understanding

Ask students to tell you the features of a good paragraph. (topic sentence, supporting details, concluding sentence)

- Display the sentences that you prepared in advance, and tell students that you have written a paragraph that includes some information about the War of 1812. Let students know that the paragraph does not yet have a topic sentence or concluding sentence.

➤ Digital Component 29.4

One reason Americans were angry with the British in 1812 was that the British forced some American sailors to serve in the British Navy. The British were also stopping American ships from trading freely with the French. Another reason Americans were angry was that the British were trading with Native Americans. This created problems for American pioneers who were trying to move west.

Writing

Writing

Beginning

Have students dictate the topic and concluding sentences to an adult.

Intermediate

Have students dictate the topic and concluding sentences when necessary.

Advanced/

Advanced High

Have students write the topic and concluding sentences independently.

ELPS 5.F

Activity Page 29.3

Activity Page 29.4

- Read the paragraph aloud with students, and then ask them to brainstorm ideas for an appropriate topic sentence for the beginning of the paragraph.
- Ask questions to guide students in recognizing that this paragraph is about the different reasons that the Americans were angry with the British in 1812.
- Help rephrase students' ideas for a topic sentence into a single, complete sentence, and then write this at the beginning of the paragraph, remembering to indent. Possible topic sentences might be:
  - There were many reasons that Americans were angry with the British before the War of 1812.
  - There were many things that led to the War of 1812.
- Reread the entire paragraph with the topic sentence.
- Tell students that good paragraphs also have a concluding sentence at the end of the paragraph. A good concluding sentence wraps things up and often is a restatement of the topic sentence.
- Ask students to suggest ideas for a concluding sentence for this paragraph and then write it at the end of the paragraph. One example of a concluding sentence might be the following:
  - All of these reasons led to the start of the War of 1812.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 29.3. Complete the first paragraph together as a teacher-guided activity. If time permits, have students complete the second paragraph on their own.

Activity Page 29.3: Topic Sentences and Concluding Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 29.3. Students who did not write appropriate topic sentences and/or concluding sentences may benefit from additional practice writing both types of sentences at a later time.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Having students reread Chapter 8, “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem,” during this lesson will help prepare them for the next few lessons and discussions about “The Star-Spangled Banner.”

Language

- Be sure to erase the spelling table from the board and/or turn the chart paper over so students cannot refer to it during the assessment.

Lesson 30: Spelling Assessment

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will decode, spell, and use words with the prefixes un-, re-, and dis-. TEKS 2.2.B.vi; TEKS 2.2.C.vi; TEKS 2.3.C

DECODE, SPELL, AND USE WORDS WITH PREFIXES (5 MIN.)

- Have students warm up by reviewing what they have learned about decoding, or reading, words with prefixes by segmenting and blending the sounds and using the syllable chunking method.
- Prompt them to recall that prefixes are word parts added to the beginning of a base word to change the meaning of the word. Review what they have learned about adding un-, dis-, and re- to words. Remind them that each of these prefixes is one syllable and adding a prefix does not change the spelling of the base word.
- Display some of the following words: untrue, unwell, retake, repack, disobey, disbelief.
- Point to a word. Identify the prefix and model segmenting the prefix and the base word.
- Next, point out that prefixes change the meaning of the word. Remind students that un- and dis- mean “not” and re- means “again.”
- For practice, have small groups use their own paper to create and identify the meaning of words with the prefixes un-, dis-, and re-.

TEKS 2.2.B.vi Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with prefixes including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.2.C.vi Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words with prefixes, including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.3.C Identify the meaning of and use words with affixes un-, re-, -ly, -er, and -est (comparative and superlative), and -ion/tion/sion.

Lesson 30: Spelling Assessment

Language

Primary Focus: Students will spell dictated multisyllable words from The War of 1812 and the Tricky Word New Orleans and will write four of the words in alphabetical order. TEKS 2.2.C.iv; TEKS 2.2.D

SPELLING ASSESSMENT

- Have students turn to Activity Page 30.1
- Read the first spelling word, use it in a sentence, and then read the word once more, allowing students time to write the word.
- Repeat this procedure with each of the remaining words.

|                |              |                                    |
|----------------|--------------|------------------------------------|

| 7. orphan      | 14. treaty   |                                    |

- Direct students' attention to the lines on the back of the activity page.
- Tell students to write the sentence "Andrew Jackson fought in the battle of New Orleans." Slowly repeat this sentence three times.
- At the end, go back through the list, and read each spelling word one more time.
- After all the words have been called out, tell students that you will now show them the correct spelling for each word so they can correct their own work.
- Say and write each word on the board/chart paper, instructing students to correct their work by crossing out any incorrect spelling, then copying and writing the correct spelling next to it.
- Continue through all the words and then on to the sentence.

Activity Page 30.1

TEKS 2.2.C.iv Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling multisyllabic words with multiple sound-spelling patterns; TEKS 2.2.D Alphabetize a series of words and use a dictionary or glossary to find words.

- Ask students to write the following words in alphabetical order on the back of the activity page.

1. river
2. ragtag
3. treaty
4. peace

- After all students have finished, write the four words in alphabetical order for students to correct their papers.

1. peace
2. ragtag
3. river
4. treaty

Activity Page 30.1: Spelling Assessment

At a later time, use the template provided in Teacher Resources to analyze students' mistakes. This will help you understand any patterns that are beginning to develop or that are persistent among individual students.

Lesson 30: “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will partner read “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” and will answer inferential and evaluative questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.10.A

REVIEW THE CHAPTER (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that today they will reread Chapter 8, “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” with a partner.
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.
- Review the images and captions in the chapter with students before they read.

REREAD “FRANCIS SCOTT KEY AND THE NATIONAL ANTHEM” (20 MIN.)

- Assign partners.
- Ask students to read the chapter with their partner, taking turns reading each page. Students may ask their partners questions about the chapter and discuss what they read.
- Remind students that if they need assistance, with the meaning of any bolded words, they should refer to the Reader glossary.

Observation: Anecdotal Reading Record

As you listen to students read “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem,” make notes regarding their individual reading ability in the Anecdotal Reading Record.

Wrap-Up

- When students have finished reading, call them back together as a class. Use the following questions to promote discussion. Also, note that students will learn more about the poem Francis Scott Key wrote in the next few lessons.

TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.10.A Discuss the author’s purpose for writing text.

Reading

Reading/Viewing Closely

Beginning

Ask students yes/no questions to scaffold their effort to answer the discussion questions (e.g., “Is Key’s poem important because it helped the United States win the War of 1812?”).

Intermediate

Provide students with sentence frames to scaffold their effort to answer the discussion questions (e.g., “Key’s poem is important because . . .”).

Advanced/ Advanced High

Encourage students to answer the discussion questions in complete sentences using details from the text.

ELPS 4.G; ELPS 4.I;
ELPS 4.J

Challenge

Ask students to turn to page 75 of the Reader, showing Francis Scott Key looking at the American flag. Ask students to describe what is in the picture, and compare and contrast it to the text (for example, his position and facial expression).

Discussion Questions for “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem”

1. Inferential. How was Key able to see the flag flying at Fort McHenry?
  - » He watched the battle during the day and could see the flag flying. At night, flashes of light from rockets and bombs lit up the sky, allowing him to see the flag flying.
2. Inferential. Why did Francis Scott Key write a poem?
  - » He wrote a poem because he was inspired after realizing the U.S. soldiers had not given up fighting the British sailors in the harbor. As a result, the British sailors had stopped firing on the fort.
3. Evaluative. Why is Key’s poem important?
  - » Key’s poem is important because it became our national anthem, an important song for the United States.

Observation: Discussion Questions

Call on a different student to answer each question. Note students’ names and performance in the Discussion Questions Observation Record, using the codes provided.

Lesson 30: Report Writing

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will read a paragraph and label the topic sentence and will identify and cross out sentences that do not stay on the topic. TEKS 2.9.D.i

IDENTIFY TOPIC SENTENCES (10 MIN.)

- Remind students that they have been studying how to write a paragraph and have learned that a good paragraph should have a topic sentence that tells what the paragraph will be about.
- Also remind students that the remaining sentences in a paragraph should provide supporting details about the topic. Sentences that do not provide information about the topic should not be included in the paragraph.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 30.2.

TEKS 2.9.D.i Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance.

- Tell students that they are to read the sentences in each group to identify the topic sentence by underlining it. They should then cross out any sentence in the group that does not pertain to the topic.
- Tell students that although they have completed similar exercises in earlier lessons, in those exercises the sentences were logically organized in a paragraph. This activity page requires more attention because the sentences in each group are not necessarily listed in the order that they would be written in a paragraph.
- Guide students in identifying the topic sentence and the irrelevant sentence in the first group. Be sure students read all of the sentences in the group before selecting either the topic sentence or the irrelevant sentence. Have students complete the remaining two groups independently.

Activity Page 30.2: Identify Topic and Irrelevant Sentences

Collect and review Activity Page 30.2. Students who did not correctly identify topic and irrelevant sentences may benefit from additional practice to determine which sentence in a paragraph states the topic and which sentence(s) in a paragraph do not stay on that topic.

End Lesson

Activity Page 30.2

Support

Have students put a check mark next to the topic sentence and all the sentences that stay on topic to more easily see which sentence does not stay on topic and needs to be crossed out.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Students will read Chapter 11, “Our National Anthem,” as you guide them in the usual manner. You will then reread Chapter 11, “Our National Anthem” to students during the Writing activity to help them fill in information to answer the questions on Activity Page 31.1. Familiarize yourself with the questions on the activity page (which are also included in this lesson) so you can pause and model taking notes when a question has been answered in the text.

When preparing for this lesson, be sure to take your local context regarding the national anthem into account, including any concerns that families might have about their children learning and/or reciting the national anthem.

Reading

➤ Digital Component 15.1

- Prepare to display the online dictionary of your choice and the digital Reader glossary (Digital Component 15.1).

Writing

- Have students' copies of Activity Page 27.2 ready to hand out to them.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Prepare to display the chart of questions (Digital Component 29.3) from Choose a Topic in Lesson 29, or use the digital version.

- Prompt them to recall that prefixes are word parts added to the beginning of a base word to change the meaning of the word. Review what they have learned about adding un-, dis-, and re- to words. Remind them that each of these prefixes is one syllable and adding a prefix does not change the spelling of the base word.
- Display the following words: unwind, reread, disable.
- Point to a word. Identify the prefix and model segmenting the prefix and the base word.
- Next, point out that prefixes change the meaning of the word. Remind students that un- and dis- mean "not" and re- means "again."
- For practice, have small groups use their own paper to create and identify the meaning of words with the prefixes un-, dis-, and re-.

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “Our National Anthem” with purpose and understanding, will connect new ideas to previously read texts, will use digital dictionaries and digital/print glossaries to clarify the meaning of words, and will answer questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.3.A; TEKS 2.6.E; TEKS 2.6.G

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (10 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Our National Anthem.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Spellings

- Write the word patriotic on the board/chart paper.
  - Circle the first letter ‘i’.
  - Tell students that this letter represents the sound /ee/.
  - Ask students to turn to page 8 of the Individual Code Chart.
  - Ask students to find the /ee/ row and follow it across to ‘i’ (ski).
  - Ask students to summarize what the power bar means for ‘i’.
- Write the word salute on the board.
  - Circle the letter ‘a’.
  - Tell students that this letter represents the sound /ə/.
  - Ask students to turn to page 7 of the Individual Code Chart.
  - Ask students to find the /ə/ row and follow it across to ‘a’ (about).
  - Ask students to summarize what the power bar means for ‘a’.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- Preview specific vocabulary immediately before students are asked to read the page(s) on which they first appear. The page number where each word first appears in “Francis Scott Key and the National Anthem” is listed after the definition. A word in parentheses after the definition is another form of the vocabulary word that appears in the chapter.

- Assist students in decoding these words in the following way:
  - Write the vocabulary word on the board/chart paper.
  - Divide the word into syllables.
  - Cover one syllable at a time with your hand, and segment the word.
  - Then, point to each syllable and ask students to “read it fast” to signal them to read through the word.
  - Explicitly point out any unusual or challenging letter-sound correspondences in any syllable, as well as one or two other words with the same sound/spelling.

Note: Here are the vocabulary words divided into syllables for your convenience, with any unusual letter-sound correspondences also noted.

1. pa | tri | ot | ic      ‘i’ > /ee/ (ski)
2. sa | lute              ‘a’ > /ə/ (about)
3. state din | ner

READ “OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM” (20 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.

Pages 92 and 93

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class: “Our National Anthem.”
- Call students’ attention to the image of a cover for the sheet music for “The Star-Spangled Banner” on page 93.
- Have students read the caption on page 93, and point out that it describes the image.
- Introduce the word patriotic as a vocabulary word.
- Have students turn to the glossary, locate patriotic, and read the definition together as a class.
- Have students read page 92 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Why do countries have a national anthem?”
- After students finish reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Countries have a national anthem to show that they are proud of their countries.)
- Ask students if any of them know of any other country’s national anthems and invite them to share.
- Have students share what they remember about Francis Scott Key and Fort McHenry. (Answers may vary, but should include that Francis Scott Key wrote the poem that became “The Star-Spangled Banner” at the battle of Fort McHenry.)

Pages 94 and 95

- Call on two students to read the paragraphs on page 94, and have the class listen for the answer to the question: “When do we sing our national anthem?”

Reading

Reading/Viewing Closely

Beginning

Ask students yes/no questions about the text (e.g., “Do people salute the flag?”).

Intermediate

Provide students with a sentence frame (e.g., “When people salute the flag, they . . .”).

Advanced/
Advanced High

Encourage students to answer in complete sentences using details from the text.

ELPS 1.E; ELPS 4.G;

ELPS 4.I

- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (We sing the national anthem before baseball games and other sporting events, on holidays like the Fourth of July, on special days when we gather together, and at school.)
- Ask, “How should we behave when we sing ‘The Star-Spangled Banner’? (We always stand, turn to face the flag, stand still, and look at the flag. You may wish to place your right hand over your heart.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 95.

Pages 96 and 97

- Have students look in the glossary for the word salute, and read the definition together as a class. Note a form of the word at the end of the definition, saluting, is also used in this chapter.
- Call on one student to read aloud the paragraph on page 96, asking students to listen for the answer to the question: “How do people salute?”
- After the student finishes reading aloud, restate the question and ask students to answer. (People salute by bringing their right hand up to their forehead or the tip of their hat.)
- Ask, “Why do people salute the flag?” (People salute the flag to show respect for the flag and pride in our country.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image and caption on page 97, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 98 and 99

- Have students read the first paragraph on page 98 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “How long did it take for ‘The Star-Spangled Banner’ to become our national anthem?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (It took more than a hundred years for “The Star-Spangled Banner” to become our national anthem.)
- Call on one student to read aloud the remainder of page 98 while the class listens to find the answer to the question: “How did the poem that Francis Scott Key wrote become words to a song?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (People took the words to the poem and set them to music. They sang the words to a tune that was popular at the time.)

Pages 100 and 101

- Tell students to read the first paragraph on page 100 to find the answer to the question: “Was ‘The Star-Spangled Banner’ the only popular patriotic song at the time?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (No, there were many popular patriotic songs at that time.)
- Have students read the remainder of page 100 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “When did ‘The Star-Spangled Banner’ become our national anthem?” (Congress made “The Star-Spangled Banner” our national anthem in 1931.)
- Ask, “How many years ago was that?” (As of 2022, that was 91 years ago.)
- Discuss the image on page 101 with students.

Lesson 31: Take Notes

Writing

Primary Focus

Students will gather information and make notes about “Our National Anthem” by answering literal questions about key details in the text and will brainstorm additional questions about the topic. TEKS 2.6.B; TEKS 2.7.B

 Students will develop and follow a research plan with adult assistance. TEKS 2.13.B

 TAKE NOTES ON “OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM” (25 MIN.) TEKS 2.13.B

Digital Component 29.3

- Direct students’ attention to Activity Page 27.2, and reread aloud Mr. Mowse’s first four questions. Note that you have displayed his questions as well.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 31.1 and point out that Mr. Mowse’s first four questions have been copied on this activity page, along with space for students to take notes.

Activity Pages
27.2, 29.1

 TEKS 2.6.B Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information;
TEKS 2.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts that demonstrate an understanding of the text;
TEKS 2.13.B Develop and follow a research plan with adult assistance.

- Remind students that in Lesson 29, they reviewed Mr. Mowse’s questions and decided that all of the questions were about the U.S. flag and “The Star-Spangled Banner.”
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 29.1.
- Remind them that this activity page lists the steps and mini-steps of the process for writing a report. Point out that students already completed the first mini-step of the planning phase (Choose a topic) in Lesson 29, because they chose a topic based on Mr. Mowse’s questions.
- Tell students that they now need to complete the next mini-step: Gather information. Tell students that they could gather information from many sources, including the Internet, but today they are going to start by looking at the chapter in the Reader they just read so they will be able to write a report.
- Ask students to again refer to Activity Page 29.1 to find out what the next mini-step is in planning, now that they have identified where they will gather information. (Read and take notes)
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 31.1. Point out that the first half of Mr. Mowse’s questions have been copied on this activity page, along with space for students to take notes.
- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Our National Anthem.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.
- Tell students they will listen again to the chapter and, using the activity pages, take notes during the reading to answer the questions.
- Remind students that when they take notes, they should write only the important words and phrases necessary to answer the questions, rather than complete sentences. An example would be: “What is the name of our national anthem?” Instead of students writing a complete sentence, they would simply write “The Star-Spangled Banner.”
- Say, “I am going to first read the question aloud while you follow along on your activity page.”
- Tell students that as you read the chapter aloud, you will pause when necessary to allow them to fill in answers on their activity page. Note for students that you will model how to do this correctly.

Note: Be sure students write only the important words and phrases necessary to answer the questions, emphasizing that writing in complete sentences is not necessary at this point in the process.

Support

Provide students with one or two key words to begin with when taking notes for each question.

Alternatively, have students include the notes you write as their notes.

Suggestions for Note-Taking

1. What do the words of our national anthem describe?
  - » what Francis Scott Key saw during the attack on Fort McHenry
2. When singing our national anthem, how should people behave?
  - » stand still, look at the flag until the anthem is over
3. How do people show respect for the flag?
  - » salute it, never let it touch the ground
4. How did the poem Francis Scott Key wrote become our national anthem?
  - » words were set to music, tune was popular at the time

Activity Page 31.1: Take Notes on “Our National Anthem”

Collect and review Activity Page 31.1. Students who did not accurately represent information from the text, or who did not take notes on the correct information, may benefit from you modeling note-taking while they take notes in a small group setting at a later time.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

After students read Chapter 12, “Making Sense of the National Anthem,” you will reread it to them during Writing to help them fill in information to answer the questions on Activity Page 32.1. Familiarize yourself with the questions on the activity page (which are also included in this lesson) so you can pause and model taking notes when a question has been answered in the text.

Writing

- Have students’ copies of Activity Page 27.2 ready to hand out to them.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Prepare to display the chart of questions (Digital Component 29.3) from Choose a Topic in Lesson 29, or use the digital version.

Lesson 32: “Making Sense of the National Anthem”

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will decode, spell, and use words with the prefixes un-, re-, and dis-. TEKS 2.2.B.vi; TEKS 2.2.C.vi; TEKS 2.3.C.

DECODE, SPELL, AND USE WORDS WITH PREFIXES (5 MIN.)

- Have students warm up by reviewing what they have learned about decoding, or reading, words with prefixes by segmenting and blending the sounds and using the syllable chunking method.
- Prompt them to recall that prefixes are word parts added to the beginning of a base word to change the meaning of the word. Review what they have learned about adding un-, dis-, and re- to words. Remind them that each of these prefixes is one syllable and adding a prefix does not change the spelling of the base word.
- Display the following words: unfold, recover, dishonest.
- Point to a word. Identify the prefix and model segmenting the prefix and the base word.
- Next, point out that prefixes change the meaning of the word. Remind students that un- and dis- mean “not” and re- means “again.”
- For practice, have small groups use their own paper to create and identify the meaning of words with the prefixes un-, dis-, and re-.

TEKS 2.2.B.vi Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by decoding words with prefixes including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.2.C.vi Demonstrate and apply spelling knowledge by spelling words with prefixes, including un-, re-, and dis-, and inflectional endings, including -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, and -est; TEKS 2.3.C Identify the meaning of and use words with affixes un-, re-, -ly, -er, and -est (comparative and superlative), and -ion/tion/sion.

Lesson 32: “Making Sense of the National Anthem”

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “Making Sense of the National Anthem” with understanding of vocabulary and key ideas and will use all text features, including graphics, to aid understanding. TEKS 2.3.B; TEKS 2.6.G; TEKS 2.9.D.ii

INTRODUCE THE CHAPTER (5 MIN.)

- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Making Sense of the National Anthem.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.

Preview Core Vocabulary

- There is no vocabulary to preview.

READ “MAKING SENSE OF THE NATIONAL ANTHEM” (25 MIN.)

Guided Reading Supports and Purpose for Reading

Note: It is important that you stop frequently to ask students questions and check for their understanding of the material, much in the same way you use the Guided Listening Supports in Knowledge. It is critical that you clear up any misunderstandings that students may have as you teach each chapter, so the misunderstandings do not compound over time.

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.

Pages 102 and 103

- Read the title of the chapter together as a class, “Making Sense of The National Anthem.”
- Call students’ attention to the image of the words for “The Star-Spangled Banner” on page 103.
- Have students read the caption on page 103, and point out that it describes the image.

Reader

Page 102

TEKS 2.3.B Use context within and beyond a sentence to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.9.D.ii Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including features and graphics to locate and gain information.

Language

Selecting Language Resources

Beginning

Ask students yes/no questions about the meaning of words (e.g., “Does perilous fight mean a friendly meeting?”).

Intermediate

Provide students with a sentence frame (e.g., “The text says perilous fight means . . .”).

Advanced/ Advanced High

Encourage students to answer in complete sentences using details from the text.

ELPS 1.E; ELPS 1.F;

ELPS 4.I

- Have students read page 102 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “How long ago did Francis Scott Key write the poem that became our national anthem?”
- After students finish reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (about two hundred years ago)
- Have students share what they remember about Francis Scott Key and Fort McHenry. (Answers may vary, but should include that Francis Scott Key wrote the poem that became “The Star-Spangled Banner” at the battle of Fort McHenry and that the words describe him watching the flag and hoping it was still flying after the battle ended.)

Pages 104 and 105

- Call on one student to read the first paragraph on page 104, and have the class listen for the answer to the question: “What do the words perilous fight mean?”
- When the student has finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The words perilous fight mean a dangerous battle.)
- Call on another student to read the second paragraph on page 104, and have the class listen for the answer to the question: “What does the word ramparts mean?”
- When the student has finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The word ramparts means the walls of the fort.)
- Call on another student to read the third paragraph on page 104, and have the class listen for the answer to the question: “What does the word spangled mean?”
- When the student has finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The word spangled means dotted with stars.)
- Ask, “What does it mean that the broad stripes and bright stars were streaming?” (When the wind blows, the flag ripples in the air causing the stripes to look like moving water, as in a stream.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image on page 105, and read the caption aloud as a class.

Pages 106 and 107

- Call on one student to read aloud the first paragraph on page 106, asking students to listen for the answer to the question: “What do the words at the twilight’s last gleaming mean?”
- After the student finishes reading aloud, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The words at the twilight’s last gleaming mean just as the sun sets.)

- Have another student read aloud the second paragraph on page 106.
- Ask, “How could Key see the flag at night?” (The rockets red glare and the bombs bursting in air lit up the night sky.)
- Call on another student to read the third paragraph on page 106, and have the class listen for the answer to the question: “Why couldn’t Key see the flag just before dawn?”
- When the student has finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The attack had ended, so there were no flashes from rockets or bombs.)
- Direct students’ attention to the image and caption on page 107, and call on one student to read the caption aloud.

Pages 108 and 109

- Have students read page 108 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Throughout the attack on Fort McHenry, what was Key looking to see?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Key wanted to see the U.S. flag.)

Pages 110 and 111

- Tell students to read page 110 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “What do the words land of the free and the home of the brave mean?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (The words land of the free and the home of the brave mean the United States.)
- Ask, “What do the last lines of the song mean?” (They ask: is our flag still waving?)
- Discuss the image on page 111 with students, and read the words as a class.

Pages 112 and 113

- Tell students to read page 112 to themselves to find the answer to the question: “Is there a part of our national anthem that answers the questions Key wrote?”
- When students have finished reading, restate the question and ask students to answer. (Yes, but the answers are in a part of the anthem that we don’t sing very much.)
- Discuss the image on page 113 with students, and read the caption aloud as a class. Note for students the answers to the questions Key wrote in the first part of the anthem.

Lesson 32: Take Notes

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will take notes on “Making Sense of the National Anthem” by answering literal questions about key details in the text and will brainstorm additional questions about the topic. TEKS 2.6.B; TEKS 2.7.B

TAKE NOTES ON “MAKING SENSE OF THE NATIONAL ANTHEM (25 MIN.)

- Tell students that today they will take notes on another chapter in the Reader.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Direct students’ attention to Activity Page 27.2, and reread aloud Mr. Mowse’s remaining four questions. Note the you have displayed his questions as well.
- Ask students to turn to Activity Page 32.1 and point out that Mr. Mowse’s remaining questions have been copied on this activity page, along with space for students to take notes.
- Tell students that the title of today’s chapter is “Making Sense of the National Anthem.”
- Ask students to turn to the table of contents, locate the chapter, and then turn to the first page of the chapter.
- Tell students they will listen again to the chapter and, using their activity pages, take notes during the reading to answer the questions.
- Remind students that when they take notes, they should write only the important words and phrases necessary to answer the questions, rather than complete sentences.
- Tell students that as you read the chapter aloud, you will pause when necessary to allow them to fill in answers on their activity page. Note for students that you will model how to do this correctly.

Activity Pages
27.2, 32.1

➤ TEKS 2.6.B Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information;
TEKS 2.7.B Write brief comments on literary or informational texts that demonstrate an understanding of the text.

Note: Be sure students write only the important words and phrases necessary to answer the questions, emphasizing that writing in complete sentences is not necessary at this point in the process.

Suggestions for Note-Taking

1. What are the three times during the attack on Fort McHenry that Key looked for the flag?
  - » just as the sun set, at night, at dawn
2. How could Key see the flag in the middle of the night?
  - » The rockets and bombs lit up the sky.
3. Why couldn't Key see the flag just before the sun came up?
  - » The attack had ended, so no bombs lit up the sky.
4. Why was it important to Key to see if the flag was still flying after the attack ended?
  - » It meant the British had given up.

Support

Provide students with one or two key words to begin with when taking notes for each question. Alternatively, have students include the notes you write as their notes.

- Allow students to brainstorm any additional questions they may have about our national anthem. Ensure that their questions are pertinent to the topic. Record any additional questions on chart paper. You may wish to encourage or require students needing more challenge to include additional questions.
- Collect Activity Page 32.1 for use in future lessons.

Activity Page 32.1: Take Notes on “Making Sense of the National Anthem”

Collect and review Activity Page 32.1. Students who did not accurately represent information from the text, or who did not take notes on the correct information, may benefit from you modeling note-taking while they take notes in a small group setting at a later time.

END-OF-YEAR ASSESSMENT

Silent Reading Comprehension

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will read “The Young Mouse” with purpose and understanding and will answer multiple-choice questions about key details in the text.

✦ TEKS 2.6.F; TEKS 2.6.G

Writing

Students will use their notes on “Our National Anthem” and “Making Sense of the National Anthem” to compose the first draft of the first and second paragraphs of

✦ a report on the national anthem. TEKS 2.11.A; TEKS 2.12.B

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

The Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment should be given to the whole class in one sitting. Ask students to tear out Activity Pages 33.1–33.3. Collect Activity Page 33.3 from them. Allow students 20 minutes to silently read the story on Activity Page 33.1 and to answer the multiple-choice comprehension questions on Activity Page 33.2. Students should be allowed (and encouraged) to look back at the story as they answer the questions. Collect the activity pages after 20 minutes. The ability to read the story and answer the questions in a fixed length of time is part of the assessment.

Writing

- Have students' copies of Activity Pages 29.1, 31.1, and 32.1 ready to hand out to them.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Prepare to display the chart of questions (Digital Component 29.3) from Choose a Topic in Lesson 29, or use the digital version.

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- Prepare to display the steps in the writing process chart, or prepare to display the digital version (Digital Component 29.1).

Lesson 33: End-of-Year Assessment

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Young Mouse” with purpose and understanding and will answer multiple-choice questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.6.F; TEKS 2.6.G

SILENT READING COMPREHENSION ASSESSMENT

Administration

- Have students work on Activity Pages 33.1–33.3. Collect Activity Page 33.3 from students before administering the assessment.
- Tell students to silently read the story on Activity Page 33.1 and then answer the questions on Activity Page 33.2. Tell students they should look back to the story if they can't remember an answer.
- Tell students that if they feel tired, it's a good idea to take a short, personal break. Explain that students need to respect the others in the classroom and stay seated, while quietly looking up to the ceiling, stretching their shoulders, and taking a deep breath or two.
- Encourage students to do their best.
- Once students finish the assessment, encourage them to review their papers, rereading and looking over their answers carefully.
- Again, explain the necessity of respecting that not all classmates will finish at the same time, and, if they finish and have checked their papers, they should remain quiet for others to finish.
- Collect Activity Pages 33.1 and 33.2. Activity Page 33.1 will be needed in future lessons for the Fluency Assessment.

Scoring and Analysis

- Use the following answer key for scoring the assessment.

|      |      |
|------|------|
| 1. C | 5. B |
| 2. B | 6. B |
| 3. B | 7. C |
| 4. A | 8. C |

Activity Pages
33.1–33.3

TEKS 2.6.F Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas.

- After scoring the assessment, record students' scores on Activity Page 33.3 (Grade 2 End-of-Year Summary). Then, sort students into two groups.
  - Students who read the story in the allotted time and answered seven or eight of the questions correctly do not need further assessing. These students are probably well prepared for Grade 3.
  - Students who struggled to read the story in the allotted time and/or missed two or more of the eight questions should complete the Fluency Assessment and the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment in subsequent lessons.

Lesson 33: Draft a Report

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will use their notes on “Our National Anthem” and “Making Sense of the National Anthem” to compose the first draft of the first and second paragraphs of a report on the national anthem.

 TEKS 2.11.A; TEKS 2.12.B

DRAFT A REPORT

Introduction

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Referring to the previously prepared chart of questions, remind students that in the previous two lessons they took notes while listening to two chapters in their Reader so they would be able to answer Mr. Mowse’s questions about the flag and our national anthem.

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- Now ask students to turn to and look at Activity Page 29.1, while you refer to the displayed chart, pointing out that they have completed the “Plan” step with its three mini-steps. Ask students to identify the next step and mini-steps in report writing (Draft: Organize notes and Write paragraphs).
- Have students turn to Activity Pages 31.1 and 32.1. It may be easier for students to take these activity pages out of the Activity Book so they can look at them side by side.

Activity Pages
29.1, 31.1, 32.1

 TEKS 2.11.A Plan a first draft by generating ideas for writing such as drawing and brainstorming; TEKS 2.12.B Compose informational texts, including procedural texts and reports.

- Tell students that when writers write a report, they often use several sources (books, Internet, magazine articles, etc.) to gather information on their topic. Ask students to identify how many different sources they have used thus far to gather information to answer Mr. Mowse’s questions. (Answers may vary depending on whether you and your students have consulted the Internet and other books, in addition to the Reader chapters.)
- Tell students that when you use different sources to gather information, once you have finished all of your research, it is important to go back and look at all of your notes and organize them into groups that relate to different aspects or parts of the report topic.
- Remind students that the overall topic of their report is the U.S. flag and our national anthem. Tell them this is the overall topic of their report, but it is likely that their report will have different parts (and paragraphs) once they look at and organize all of their notes.
- Ask students to spend several minutes briefly scanning their notes on Activity Page 31.1 and to then identify what all of these notes refer to. (our national anthem and the U.S. flag)
- Now ask students to spend several minutes briefly scanning their notes on Activity Page 32.1 and to now identify what all of these notes refer to. (what the words in our national anthem mean)
- Tell students that they are fortunate because, thanks to the way the note-taking activity pages were set up, their notes have already been organized in two different groups that they will now use to create two parts/two paragraphs for their report.
- Have students put Activity Page 32.1 aside, leaving Activity Page 31.1 on their desk. They should also take out Activity Page 33.4.
- Tell students that they are going to now use their notes on Activity Page 31.1 to write a draft of their first paragraph on Activity Page 33.4. Point out that there is a space at the top of this activity page to write the title of their report. Explain that the title should provide an idea of what the topic is.
- Explain that many times the title may actually be the same as the topic and that’s fine. Have them refer to the topic that they previously identified and that you recorded on the questions chart, and encourage them to brainstorm a title for their report.

Challenge

Ask students to come up with their own topic sentences individually or in small groups. Then compare and contrast them as a class.

Activity Pages 33.4, 33.5

Support

Model recording a title on the board/chart paper as students write their title on the activity page, emphasizing the need to capitalize the first and last words and other important words in the title. Note for students that titles do not have end punctuation.

Support

Work with students in a small group to sequence the remaining sentences.

Writing

Writing

Beginning

Have students dictate their topic sentence, supporting sentences, and concluding sentence to an adult.

Intermediate

Have students dictate their topic sentence, supporting sentences, and concluding sentence to an adult when necessary.

Advanced/ Advanced High

Have students write their sentences independently.

ELPS 5.F

Draft the First Paragraph of Report TEKS 2.12.B

- Remind students that they have learned that good paragraphs have a topic and concluding sentence, as well as several sentences that provide supporting details for the topic sentence.
- Ask students to take a few minutes to read through all of their notes on Activity Page 31.1. When they have had sufficient time, brainstorm ideas for a topic sentence for this paragraph as a group. When all have agreed to the topic sentence, tell students to write this sentence on Activity Page 33.4, as you model writing it on the board/chart paper. Remind students to indent the topic sentence.
- Tell students that next you are going to create and write sentences that provide supporting details for the topic sentence. You should also have the chart paper copy of these same notes displayed.
- Ask students to take a few minutes to individually reread their notes, thinking about the order in which they might want to write about these things in their paragraph. Suggest that they number their notes on their activity page in the order in which they think they should write about them in the paragraph.
- Once students have had time to number their notes on their individual activity pages, discuss as a class the order in which they think this information should be presented in their paragraph. Guide students in reaching consensus so you can number the notes on your chart paper.
- Work as a group to first orally state in a complete sentence the information numbered as '1' in your notes. Model writing this sentence after the topic sentence on chart paper as students write the sentence on their activity pages.
- Ask students to continue writing sentences with supporting details using the information in the notes.
- Remind students that they need to end their paragraph with a good concluding sentence. Discuss possibilities orally, and then write a concluding sentence to end this paragraph on the draft.
- If time still remains, ask students to start writing the second paragraph of the report. If so, have them take out Activity Page 32.1; you may also want to have them use Activity Page 33.5 so they have a clean page with sufficient space to write the second paragraph.
- Remind students that this page of notes is about the meaning of the words in our national anthem. Ask them to review their notes and then brainstorm a good topic sentence.

 TEKS 2.12.B Compose informational texts, including procedural texts and reports.

- Depending on your students, you may want to continue as you did with the first paragraph and guide students step by step in creating the paragraph. If all or some students are capable, you may want to encourage them to try writing a draft of the second paragraph on their own.
- Collect all activity pages from students. You may wish to paper clip them together for ease of passing out in the next lesson.

Activity Page 33.4: Report Draft First Paragraph

Collect and review Activity Page 33.4. Students who did not write their notes in the appropriate order or as complete sentences may benefit from additional support logically sequencing information and changing notes into complete sentences for a paragraph.

Activity Page 33.5: Report Draft Second Paragraph

Collect and review Activity Page 33.5. Students who did not write their notes in the appropriate order or as complete sentences may benefit from additional support logically sequencing information and changing notes into complete sentences for a paragraph.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Identify students who need to complete the optional Fluency Assessment based on their scores on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment. The optional Fluency Assessment provides a more focused, one-on-one assessment for students who incorrectly answered two or more of the eight questions on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment.

To administer this section of the assessment, you will pull students aside individually and ask each to read aloud to you the same story they read silently. You should keep a running record during this reading and calculate a Words Correct Per Minute (W.C.P.M.) score using the guidelines in this lesson. This will provide an indication of fluency. Students will read from a copy of the text found in Teacher Resources while you keep a running record on Activity Page 33.1.

In addition, this writing lesson is a continuation of the writing lesson you started in the previous lesson. Have students start or continue writing the second paragraph of the report using their notes from Activity Page 32.1. Have them write their draft on Activity Page 33.5.

Reading

- Prepare a copy of “The Young Mouse” found in Teacher Resources for students to read aloud to you.
- Plan for independent activities students can complete while you administer the Fluency Assessment to individual students. This may include rereading chapters in The War of 1812 Reader, completing Pausing Point activity pages, or engaging in other independent activities you have identified as appropriate.

Writing

- Have students’ copies of Activity Pages 29.1, 29.2, 31.1, 32.1, and 33.5 ready to hand out to them.

➤ Digital Component 29.3

- Prepare to display the chart of questions (Digital Component 29.3) from Choose a Topic in Lesson 29, or use the digital version.

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- Prepare to display the steps in the Write a Research Paper chart, or use the digital version (Digital Component 29.1).

➤ Digital Component 34.1

- Copy the chart from the Writing section on listing references (Digital Component 34.1) on the board/chart paper to display, or use the digital version.

Lesson 34: End-of-Year Assessment

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Young Mouse” aloud with appropriate accuracy, rate, and expression and will answer literal and inferential questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.F; TEKS 2.6.G

FLUENCY ASSESSMENT

- Have one student at a time come to a quiet assessment area to read “The Young Mouse” with you.
- Place a copy of “The Young Mouse” from Teacher Resources in front of the student. Ask the student for Activity Page 33.1 (copy of “The Young Mouse”) and Activity Page 34.1 (W.C.P.M. Calculation Sheet). You will use Activity Page 33.1 to mark a running record as you listen to the student read orally.
- Tell the student that you are going to ask him or her to read the story aloud.
- Explain that you are going to use a watch to see how long it takes them to read the story. Tell the student that this is not a race; they should read at their regular pace and not rush.
- Begin timing when the student reads the first word of the title. If you are using a watch, write the exact Start Time, in minutes and seconds, on your record page.
- If you are using a stopwatch, you do not need to write down the start time since the stopwatch will calculate Elapsed Time.
- As the student reads the story, make a running record on the copy with the student’s name using the following guidelines:

|                               |                                                                                                                          |
|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Words Read Correctly   | No mark is required.                                                                                                     |
| Omissions              | Draw a long dash above the word omitted.                                                                                 |

TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.F Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas.

| Self-Corrected Errors  | Replace original error mark with an 'SC'.          |
| Teacher-Supplied Words | Write a 'T' above the word(counts as an error) |

- When the student finishes reading the story, write the exact Finish Time in minutes and seconds on your record sheet.
- Alternatively, if you are using a stopwatch, simply write down the Elapsed Time in minutes and seconds.
- If the student reads very slowly, you may need to stop the reading before the student gets to the end of the story. (Five minutes should be enough time to get a measurement.) If the student does not read to the end, draw a vertical line on the record sheet to indicate how far the student read. Also write down either the Finish Time or the Elapsed Time.
- After the student finishes reading, ask the following oral comprehension questions to see how much of the story the student understood on the second reading.

Comprehension Questions for “The Young Mouse”

1. Literal. What two animals did the young mouse see on his walk?
  - » cat, rooster
2. Literal. Which animal was he scared of?
  - » rooster
3. Inferential. Which animal should he have been scared of?
  - » cat
4. Literal. Why did the young mouse like the cat better than the rooster?
  - » It looked like him.
5. Literal. What did the mother say at the end of the story?
  - » The mouse was lucky the rooster scared him.
6. Inferential. What is the moral of the story?
  - » Things are not always what they seem.

- Repeat this process for additional students.

Scoring and Analysis

- If the reading was fairly accurate (<10 uncorrected errors), you can get a rough (and easy) estimate of a student's W.C.P.M. score simply by noting the time and looking at the chart on Activity Page 34.1.
- To calculate a student's exact W.C.P.M. score, use the information you wrote on the record sheet and follow the described steps. The steps are also shown in graphic form on Activity Page 34.1 (W.C.P.M. Calculation Sheet). You will probably find it helpful to have a calculator available.
  - First, complete the Words section of the W.C.P.M. Calculation Sheet.
  - Count Words Read. This is the total number of words that the student read or attempted to read, up to the point where they stopped. It includes words that the student read correctly as well as words that the student read incorrectly or skipped over. If the student attempted to read the whole story, including the title, use 357 words as your total. If the student did not finish the story, you will need to count the number of words that the student actually attempted to read. Write the count for Words Read in the matching box on the W.C.P.M. Calculation Sheet.
  - Count the Uncorrected Mistakes noted in your running record. This includes words read incorrectly, omissions, substitutions, and words that you had to supply. Write the total in the box labeled Uncorrected Mistakes. (A mistake that is corrected by the student is not counted as a mistake; the student is penalized for the time he or she lost making the correction, but not for the initial mistake.)
  - Subtract Uncorrected Mistakes from Words Read to get Words Correct.
  - Next, complete the Time section of the activity page.
  - Calculate Elapsed Time in minutes and seconds. (If you used a stopwatch, this should already be done for you. Skip to the next step.) If you used a watch and recorded start and stop times, you will need to subtract the Start Time from the Finish Time to calculate the Elapsed Time. Subtract seconds from seconds then minutes from minutes. Calculate Time in Seconds. Multiply the number of minutes by 60 to convert minutes to seconds, and then add the number of seconds.
  - Divide Words Correct by Time in Seconds. Then multiply by 60 to get Words Correct Per Minute (W.C.P.M.).
- As you evaluate W.C.P.M. scores, here are some factors to consider:
  - It is normal for students to show a wide range in fluency and in W.C.P.M. scores. However, a major goal for Grade 2 students is to read with sufficient fluency to ensure comprehension and independent reading of school assignments in subsequent grades. Exact fluency targets vary from state to state; the national mean calculated by Hasbrouck and Tindal in 2006 for Spring of Grade 2 is 91 W.C.P.M.

- A student's W.C.P.M. score can be compared with the score of other students in the classroom (or grade level) and also with the national fluency norms for Spring of Grade 2 obtained by Hasbrouck and Tindal. Students whose scores are below the 25th percentile (62 W.C.P.M), are experiencing serious problems in reading fluently.
- Compare the student's W.C.P.M. score to national norms for Spring of Grade 2 (Hasbrouck and Tindal, 2006):

| Reading Time for this story | W.C.P.M. | National Percentiles for Spring, Grade 2 |
|------------------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| 2:35                               | 141             | 90th                                            |
| 3:05                               | 118             | 75th                                            |
| 4:05                               | 91              | 50th                                            |
| 4:55                               | 74              |                                                 |
| 5:55                               | 62              | 25th                                            |
| 8:00                               | 46              |                                                 |
| 11:35                              | 31              | 10th                                            |

- After you have entered each student's scores on Activity Page 34.1 (W.C.P.M Calculation Sheet), record them on Activity Page 33.3 (Grade 2 End-of-Year Summary) for each student.

Activity Page 33.3

Lesson 34: Draft and Edit a Report

Writing

Primary Focus: Students will use their notes on “Making Sense of the National Anthem” to write the first draft of the second paragraph of a report on the national anthem and will use an editing checklist to review what they have written.

TEKS 2.11.C; TEKS 2.11.D.vi; TEKS 2.11.D.x; TEKS 2.11.D.xi; TEKS 2.12.B; TEKS 2.13.F

DRAFT A REPORT (15 MIN.)

- Direct students' attention to Activity Page 32.1
- Remind students that this page of notes is about the meaning of the words in “The Star-Spangled Banner” by Francis Scott Key.

Activity Page 33.5

Check for Understanding

Ask students to tell you the features of a good paragraph. (topic sentence, supporting details, concluding sentence)

- Have students draft the second paragraph of their report, using their notes.

Support

Guide students step by step to create the second paragraph in the same manner in which you guided them through translating their notes into the first paragraph.

Activity Page 33.5: Report Draft Second Paragraph

Collect and review Activity Page 33.5. Students who did not write their notes in the appropriate order or as complete sentences may benefit from additional support logically sequencing information and changing notes into complete sentences for a paragraph.

TEKS 2.11.C Revise drafts by adding, deleting, or rearranging words, phrases or sentences; TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (vi) prepositions and prepositional phrases; (x) end punctuation, apostrophes in contractions, and commas with items in a series and in dates; (xi) correct spelling of words with grade-appropriate orthographic patterns and rules and high-frequency words; TEKS 2.12.B Compose informational texts, including procedural texts and reports; TEKS 2.13.F Cite sources appropriately.

EDIT A REPORT (25 MIN.)

Review Steps

➤ Digital Component 29.1

- When students have finished writing a draft of the second paragraph, reconvene as a group, asking students to turn once again to Activity Page 29.1 while you refer to the displayed chart. Point out that students have now completed all steps and mini-steps for planning and drafting a report, and ask them to identify the next step. (Edit)
- Remind students that the first step in editing is to Use editing checklist. Have them take Activity Page 29.2 out of their Activity Book for use later in the lesson.
- Returning to Activity Page 29.1, point out that there are still two blank spaces for two additional mini-steps under the “Edit” step. Tell students that the second mini-step in editing is to List References at the end of the report. Have students write this step on Activity Page 29.1 while you write it on the chart.

References

- Have students refer to Activity Pages 31.1 and 32.1 to identify these references. Tell students that it is customary at the end of a report for writers to list their references, by author and title.

➤ Digital Component 34.1

For a Reader chapter:

Name of the Reader (in italics), name of the chapter (in quotation marks)

Example: The War of 1812, “Our National Anthem”

For a book:

Name of author (last name, first name), title of book (underlined)

Example: Key, Francis, Our National Anthem

For Internet articles:

Name of author (last name, first name), title of article (in quotation marks)

Example: Key, Francis, “My Favorite Song”

- Explain and model the correct bibliographic format using the chart you prepared in advance.
- Point out that it is customary to put the author’s last name first. Also point out that the references are listed in alphabetical order.

Activity Pages
29.1, 29.2, 31.1, 32.1

Support

Work with students in small groups or individually to review their writing against the editing checklist.

- Have students copy these references at the very end of their draft report on Activity Page 33.5.
- Now tell students that the last mini-step in editing is to Add Illustrations. Have students write this mini-step on Activity Page 29.1 while you write it on the chart. Tell students that illustrations add interest to a report. Tell them that when they finish all other editing of their report, they can add an illustration or two.

Write a Research Paper

Plan

1. Choose a topic
2. Gather information
3. Read and take notes

Draft

4. Organize notes
5. Write paragraphs

Edit

6. Use editing checklist
7. List references
8. Add illustrations

- During the remaining time, pair students to assist each other in using Activity Page 29.2 to edit their drafts. Make sure students understand that they should edit the paragraphs on Activity Pages 31.1 and 32.1
- Model using an example from Activity Page 29.2. Read aloud the second question “Have I organized information into paragraphs that relate to my topic?” Go through your draft paragraphs to determine if you have addressed this item on the editing checklist. Think aloud as you review your writing.
- Review with students that a preposition is a word that can help tell where something is taking place. Words such as in, out, under, above, and so on, are called prepositions. Prepositions are useful in making simple sentences longer and more interesting.
- Remind students that a prepositional phrase is a phrase that begins with a preposition and is followed by an object (e.g., in the cave, on the table, under the rock, above the clouds). A prepositional phrase answers the same question, where, that a preposition answers about something in a sentence.
- Remind students that when they write a date, they should place a comma between the day and year (e.g., November 11, 2022). Explain that when they list more than two items, they should separate the items in the series with commas (e.g., We have a cat, a dog, and a bird.).
- Tell students to look for places to add prepositions and prepositional phrases and to check for correct use of commas in a series and in dates as they edit their report.

END-OF-YEAR ASSESSMENT

Word Reading in Isolation

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Foundational Skills

- Students will read one-, two-, and three-syllable words, in isolation, featuring ✦ short, long, and r-controlled vowels and tricky spellings. TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.iii

Writing

- Students will use an editing checklist to review what they have written and will complete ✦ their reports on the national anthem. TEKS 2.11.C; TEKS 2.11.D.x; TEKS 2.11.D.xi
 Students will use an appropriate mode of delivery to present results.
 ✦ TEKS 2.11.E; TEKS 2.13.G

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

Students who completed the optional Fluency Assessment should also complete the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment. The Word Reading in Isolation Assessment is designed to assess a student's ability to read words containing the spellings that were taught and reviewed in Grade 2. The emphasis in this assessment is solely on decoding accuracy.

It would be ideal to assess all students using the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment, but if there is a time restriction, assess only students who scored less than 80 W.C.P.M. on the Fluency Assessment.

Keep in mind that a single word will target multiple letter-sound correspondences. For example, the word phone assesses the 'ph' spelling for /f/, the 'o_e' spelling for /oe/, and the 'n' spelling for /n/.

In addition, this writing lesson is a continuation of the writing lesson in the previous lesson. Have students continue editing their reports and then begin their final drafts for publication. Students should have a final report by the end of Lesson 36.

Foundational Skills

- Prepare a copy of the Word Reading in Isolation Analysis Record located in Teacher Resources. You will complete this to further analyze any errors made by the student, so you will need one copy for each student.
- Plan for independent activities students can complete while you administer the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment to individual students. This may include rereading chapters in The War of 1812 Reader, completing Pausing Point activity pages, or engaging in other independent activities you have identified as appropriate.

Writing

- Have students' copies of Activity Pages 29.2, 33.4, and 33.5 ready to hand out to them.

➤ Digital Component 29.2

- Prepare to display the editing checklist that you created for Lesson 29 or use the digital version (Digital Component 29.2).

➤ Digital Component 34.1

- Prepare to display the references example chart you created for Lesson 35, or use the digital version (Digital Component 34.1).

Lesson 35: End-of-Year Assessment

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read one-, two-, and three-syllable words, in isolation, featuring short, long, and r-controlled vowels and tricky spellings.

TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.iii

WORD READING IN ISOLATION ASSESSMENT

Administration

- Have one student at a time come to a quiet assessment area to read the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment with you. The student should bring Activity Pages 35.1 and 35.2 with him or her. Collect Activity Page 35.2 from the student before beginning the assessment.
- Place the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment (Activity Page 35.1) in front of the student, and ask him or her to read aloud the words on the sheet.
- If a student misreads a word, circle the part of the word that the student gets wrong or fails to read on Activity Page 35.2. Do not coach or correct the student. If the student is unable to read a word in five seconds, ask the student to move to the next word. If the student says a different word, write down the word they say. If the student self-corrects, do not mark the word wrong.

Scoring and Analysis

- Guidelines for analyzing student scores on the optional Word Reading in Isolation Assessment are found in Teacher Resources.
- After you have entered all student scores onto Activity Page 35.2 (Word Reading in Isolation Assessment Scoring Sheet), record them on the Activity Page 33.3 (Grade 2 End-of-Year Summary) for each student. It is strongly recommended that you further analyze the errors of any student with a poor performance using the Word Reading in Isolation Analysis Record. This will be important information that should be passed on to the student's teacher next year.

Activity Pages
33.3, 35.1, 35.2

TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; (iii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables.

Lesson 35: Final Draft of Report

Writing

Primary Focus

Students will use an editing checklist to review what they have written and will complete their reports on the national anthem. TEKS 2.11.C; TEKS 2.11.D.x; TEKS 2.11.D.xi

Students will use an appropriate mode of delivery to present results. TEKS 2.11.E; TEKS 2.13.G

EDIT A REPORT AND WRITE A FINAL COPY FOR PUBLICATION

➤ Digital Component 29.2

- Have student partners continue using Activity Page 29.2 to complete the editing of Activity Pages 33.4 and 33.5. Those students who have completed the report may reread chapters in The War of 1812 or complete assigned Pausing Point activity pages.
- As you have time between assessments, briefly review students' checklists and paragraphs to identify any glaring errors or omissions. When you have reviewed these materials, return the drafts to students so they can rewrite the report for final publication.

Activity Pages
29.2, 33.4, 33.5

Activity Page 35.3: Writing Rubric for the War of 1812 Report

When students have completed their final report, collect Activity Page 35.3 and use the rubric to evaluate each student's work. As time permits, set aside a few minutes to meet with each student individually and provide feedback on the report.

Activity Page 35.3

- While students are waiting for the return of their drafts, have them draw one or two appropriate illustration(s) for their report.
- If time permits, allow students to share their reports with the class. They may especially enjoy talking about their illustrations. Remind them that Mr. Mowse is probably listening to find out the answers to the questions.
- Tell students that they can finalize their drafts by making any necessary changes, and by delivering them in the format of their choosing, either as written, oral, or multimodal reports. TEKS 2.13.G

➤ TEKS 2.11.C Revise drafts by adding, deleting, or rearranging words, phrases or sentences; TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (x) end punctuation, apostrophes in contractions, and commas with items in a series and in dates; (xi) correct spelling of words with grade-appropriate orthographic patterns and rules and high-frequency words; TEKS 2.11.E Publish and share writing; TEKS 2.13.G Use an appropriate mode of delivery, whether written, oral, or multimodal, to present results.

Take-Home Material

FINAL REPORT; “OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM”; “MAKING SENSE OF OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM”

Activity Pages
35.4, 35.5

- When students have finished their final report, have them take it home to share with a family member. Have students take home Activity Pages 35.4 and 35.5 to read to a family member.

END-OF-YEAR ASSESSMENT

Fluency and Word Reading in Isolation

PRIMARY FOCUS OF LESSON

Reading

Students will read “The Young Mouse” aloud with appropriate accuracy, rate, and expression and will answer literal and inferential questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.F; TEKS 2.6.G

Foundational Skills

Students will read one-, two-, and three-syllable words featuring short, long, and r-controlled vowels and tricky spellings in isolation. TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.iii

Writing

Students will use an editing checklist to review what they have written and will complete their reports on the national anthem.

TEKS 2.11.C; TEKS 2.11.D.x; TEKS 2.11.D.xi

Students will use an appropriate mode of delivery to present results.

ADVANCE PREPARATION

Note to Teacher

This is the last day for the End-of-Year Assessment. Please be sure you have assessed all students on Silent Reading Comprehension, and students who you identified as needing to be assessed on the Fluency Assessment and Word Reading in Isolation Assessment.

Reading

- Prepare a copy of “The Young Mouse” found in Teacher Resources for students to read aloud to you.
- Plan for independent activities students can complete while you administer the Fluency Assessment to individual students. This may include rereading chapters in The War of 1812 Reader, completing Pausing Point activity pages, or engaging in other independent activities you have identified as appropriate.

Foundational Skills

- Prepare a copy of the Word Reading in Isolation Analysis Record located in Teacher Resources. You will complete this to further analyze any errors made by the student, so you will need one copy for each student.
- Plan for independent activities students can complete while you administer the Word Reading in Isolation Assessment to individual students. This may include rereading chapters in The War of 1812 Reader, completing Pausing Point activity pages, or engaging in other independent activities you have identified as appropriate.

Writing

- Have students’ copies of Activity Pages 29.2, 33.4, and 33.5 ready to hand out to them.

➤ Digital Component 34.1

- Prepare to display the references example chart you created for Lesson 33, or use the digital version (Digital Component 34.1).

Lesson 36: End-of-Year Assessment

Reading

Primary Focus: Students will read “The Young Mouse” aloud with appropriate accuracy, rate, and expression and will answer literal and inferential questions about key details in the text. TEKS 2.4; TEKS 2.6.F; TEKS 2.6.G

FLUENCY ASSESSMENT

- Continue administering the optional Fluency Assessment to students who missed two or more questions on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment. Follow the guidelines for administration and scoring outlined in Lesson 34.

Activity Pages
33.1, 33.3, 34.1

Lesson 36: End-of-Year Assessment

Foundational Skills

Primary Focus: Students will read one-, two-, and three-syllable words featuring short, long, and r-controlled vowels and tricky spellings in isolation. TEKS 2.2.B.i; TEKS 2.2.B.iii

WORD READING IN ISOLATION ASSESSMENT

- Continue administering the optional Word Reading in Isolation Assessment to students who missed two or more questions on the Silent Reading Comprehension Assessment. Follow the guidelines for administration and scoring outlined in Lesson 35.

Activity Pages
33.3, 35.1, 35.2

TEKS 2.4 The student reads grade-level text with fluency and comprehension. The student is expected to use appropriate fluency (rate, accuracy, and prosody) when reading grade-level text; TEKS 2.6.F Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding; TEKS 2.6.G Evaluate details read to determine key ideas; TEKS 2.2.B Demonstrate and apply phonetic knowledge by (i) decoding words with short, long, or variant vowels, trigraphs, and blends; (ii) decoding multisyllabic words with closed syllables; open syllables; VCe syllables; vowel teams, including digraphs and diphthongs; r-controlled syllables; and final stable syllables.

Lesson 36: Final Draft of Report

Writing

Primary Focus

Students will use an editing checklist to review what they have written and will complete their reports on the national anthem.

✚ TEKS 2.11.C; TEKS 2.11.D.x; TEKS 2.11.D.xi

Students will use an appropriate mode of delivery to present results.

✚ TEKS 2.11.E; TEKS 2.13.G

EDIT A REPORT AND WRITE A FINAL COPY FOR PUBLICATION

- Have student partners continue using Activity Page 29.2 to complete the editing of Activity Pages 33.4 and 33.5. Those students who have completed the report may reread chapters in The War of 1812 or complete assigned Pausing Point activity pages.
- As you have time between assessments, briefly review students' checklists and paragraphs to identify any glaring errors or omissions. When you have reviewed these materials, return the drafts to students so they can rewrite the report for final publication.

Activity Pages
29.2, 33.4, 33.5

Activity Page 35.3: Writing Rubric for the War of 1812 Report

When students have completed their final report, use the rubric on Activity Page 35.3 to evaluate each student's work. As time permits, set aside a few minutes to meet with each student individually and provide feedback on the report.

Activity Page 35.3

- While students are waiting for the return of their drafts, have them draw one or two appropriate illustration(s) for their report.
- If time permits, allow students to share their reports with the class. They may especially enjoy talking about their illustrations. Remind students that Mr. Mowse is probably listening to find out the answers to the questions.
- Tell students that they can finalize their drafts by making any necessary changes, and delivering them in the format of their choosing, either as ✚ written, oral, or multimodal reports. TEKS 3.13.G

✚ TEKS 2.11.C Revise drafts by adding, deleting, or rearranging words, phrases or sentences; TEKS 2.11.D Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including (x) end punctuation, apostrophes in contractions, and commas with items in a series and in dates; (xi) correct spelling of words with grade-appropriate orthographic patterns and rules and high-frequency words; TEKS 2.11.E Publish and share writing; TEKS 2.13.G Use an appropriate mode of delivery, whether written, oral, or multimodal, to present results.

Take-Home Material

FINAL REPORT

- When students have finished their final report, have them take it home to share with a family member.

Pausing Point

This is the end of Unit 6. You should pause here and spend additional time reviewing the material taught in Unit 6 as needed. Students can do any combination of exercises listed below, in any order. The exercises are listed by unit objectives. Exercises that were part of the lessons are listed here only by name with references to their respective lessons. All other exercises have full descriptions. You may find that different students need extra practice with different objectives. It can be helpful to have students focus on specific exercises in small groups.

In addition, an optional partner reading lesson for Chapter 13, “Dolley Madison,” is included here.

PRODUCE A SERIES OF RHYMING WORDS

- Support students' understanding of producing a series of rhyming words by asking them to identify the first sound and the ending sound of a word, such as lake.
- Invite students to close their eyes and repeat the word. Isolate the beginning sound of the word if needed and repeat; say /l /ae/ /k/.
- Tell students to find a rhyming word(s), we need to change the first sound and keep the ending sound (e.g., take, bake).
- Direct students to the alphabet posted in the classroom to use as a reference for beginning sounds.
- Invite students to use blends and digraphs they have learned to make rhymes (e.g., shake, flake, cake).
- ✚ • Repeat this process with the word dry. TEKS 2.2.A.i

SPELLING ALTERNATIVE /F/ > 'PH'

Fill in the Blank

- Have students turn to Activity Page PP.1.
- Read aloud the words in the box as a group.
- Then, have one student read aloud the first sentence and select which word best fits in the blank. Have students write the correct word in the blank.
- You may wish to complete the activity page as a teacher-guided activity, or have students complete it with a partner.
- When students have finished, review the correct answers.

Practice /f/ > 'ph'

- Have students turn to Activity Page PP.2.
- You may wish to identify where in the word the 'ph' spelling appears. You may also wish to provide either the beginning, medial, or sound of the word.
- Have students circle the letters you identified or provided first. Then have students circle the remaining letters of the word.
- Have students write the correct word in the blank.
- Complete the rest of the activity page in the same manner.

✚ TEKS 2.2.A.i Demonstrate phonological awareness by producing a series of rhyming words.

TRICKY SPELLING 'EA'

'ea' > /ee/ or /e/?

- Have students turn to Activity Page PP.3.
- Read aloud the words in the box as a group.
- Then have students identify which sound the letters 'ea' make in each word. Have them write the words in the appropriate column on the activity page.
- After all words have been sorted, read aloud the words in each column.

---

R-CONTROLLED VOWELS

Fill in the Blank

- Have students turn to Activity Page PP.4.
- Read aloud the words in the box as a group.
- Then have students read each sentence and fill in the blanks with the letters for the appropriate word in each sentence.
- When students have filled in all the blanks, have them go back to determine what the secret message is by writing the letters from the corresponding number blanks in the secret message blanks.

---

TRICKY SPELLING 'CH'

'ch' > /ch/ or /k/?

- Have students turn to Activity Page PP.5.
- Read aloud the words in the box as a group.
- Then have students identify which sound the letters 'ch' make in each word. Have them write the words in the appropriate column on the activity page.
- After all words have been sorted, read aloud the words in each column.

Read “Dolley Madison” (20 min.)

- Be sure to call students’ attention to and discuss the images and captions accompanying the text, as they often reinforce understanding of the text.
- Also, call students’ attention to the bolded vocabulary words in the chapter, noting that they are included in the glossary.
- Have partners take turns reading aloud as you circulate throughout the room.
- When students have finished reading, have them share comments about the chapter.

Wrap-Up

- Have students turn to Activity Page PP.20 and complete it with their partner.
- When students have finished, go over the activity page as a class.

ENRICHMENT PASSAGES

The following enrichment passages may be used as additional practice and extension opportunities for students who are progressing in the core instruction, successfully learning the sound-spelling patterns, and able to read the decodable text accurately.

The content of these enrichment passages is blended, consisting of approximately 50% decodable words. The passages introduce students to applying foundational (word recognition) skills in more complex, content-area text.

Students who are successfully mastering the code can often generalize these skills to multisyllabic words and sound-spelling patterns that have not yet been taught.

You may wish to preview text vocabulary and/or support some students by using partner reading, choral reading, or small group reading.

The American Flag

The U.S. flag is an important and patriotic symbol of America. It combines red, white, and blue colors, with fifty stars symbolizing each state's place in our nation. The thirteen stripes stand for the original colonies of the United States. When Americans see the flag, they feel a strong sense of pride and honor for their country. The flag reminds us of our freedom, and it is displayed proudly in schools, homes, and at special events all across the country. When people sing the national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," they usually face the flag.

Comprehension Questions

1. What does each star and stripe on the flag symbolize? (stars—the fifty states, stripes—the thirteen original colonies)
2. Why does the flag make people feel proud? (because they remember our freedom)
3. Where might you see the U.S. flag displayed? (at schools, at special events, outside a house)

Texas and the U.S. Presidents

Some U.S. Presidents have special ties to Texas. President Dwight D. Eisenhower was born in Texas, but he moved away when he was very young. He grew up to be an important leader.

Another president who loved Texas was Lyndon B. Johnson. He lived in Texas for a long time and worked hard to help people. He became president and helped make important laws.

The Bush family is also connected to Texas. President George H.W. Bush and his son, President George W. Bush, made Texas their home. They lived there and worked with people in the community. As president, they each worked hard to keep our country safe. Texas was an important part of their lives and their times as presidents.

Comprehension Questions

1. Which presidents were father and son? (George H.W. Bush and George W. Bush)
2. What are some kinds of connections presidents have had with the state of Texas? (They have lived in Texas and been born in Texas.)
3. What are some things presidents do for the country? (make important laws and keep the country safe)

Different Kinds of Businesses

Have you ever been to the grocery store, or the bank, or a clothing store? Then you have been to a business. A business exists when people start their own companies to make or sell things or offer services. If you love baking, you might open a bakery. Businesses allow people to be creative and offer items or services they think others need or will enjoy. They help by giving people jobs and bringing new things to the community. What are some other businesses in your community?

Comprehension Questions

1. What is a business? (a place to sell things or offer services)
2. What kind of business would you like to start? (Answers may vary, but students should name a kind of business.)
3. How do businesses help people in a community? (They help people be creative and offer things other people will need or like; they bring jobs to a community.)
4. Why is it exciting to start a business? (Answers may vary, but students should name an aspect of starting a business.)

A Young Businessperson

Tommy is a second grader who loves America. He has a big dream to start his own business. In class, he learns that businesses can sell things you make, like toys or treats. Tommy thinks this is exciting because he wants to share his ideas.

Every summer, Tommy sets up a lemonade stand. He has fun making lemonade and talking to people who buy it. When people like his lemonade, Tommy feels proud. His mom says running the stand is like having a small business.

Tommy visits shops with his family. He likes meeting the shopkeepers who work hard and make their customers happy. Tommy wants to be like them and use his creativity to succeed.

One day, Tommy tells his teacher about his dream. The teacher says, "In America, you can do anything you set your mind to." This makes Tommy happy and proud to live in a place where dreams can come true with hard work.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is Tommy's big dream? (to start a business)
2. What does Tommy do every summer? (sets up a lemonade stand)
3. What does Tommy learn about businesses? (Answers may vary but could include how to make lemonade or that it is important to make customers happy.)
4. Who does Tommy admire when he visits shops? (Answers may vary but could include how to use creativity, the shopkeepers' hard work, or how they work to make their customers happy.)
5. What does Tommy's teacher say about dreams in America? (They can come true.)

The Pledge of Allegiance

Can you recite the Pledge of Allegiance? Maybe you say it each morning in your classroom. It is also said before some meetings, particularly meetings of government officials. People usually stand and put their hand over their heart when they say it. The Pledge of Allegiance is a statement made as a speech. People usually recite in unison, which means they say it together. The Pledge of Allegiance was written a very long time ago, in the 1800s. We say the pledge to show dedication to the United States.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Pledge of Allegiance? (a statement made as a speech)
2. What is one place where people say the Pledge of Allegiance? (school or meetings)
3. Why do people say the Pledge of Allegiance? (to show dedication to our country)
4. When was the Pledge of Allegiance written? (in the 1800s)
5. What actions or movements do people make when they say the Pledge of Allegiance? (They put their hand over their heart.)

The United States Constitution

Can you imagine a set of rules that help guide a whole country? That's what the Constitution is! It is a very important document with rules for how the United States should be run. It was written more than two hundred years ago to make sure everyone is treated fairly and that our government works for the people. Just like school rules keep your classroom running smoothly, the Constitution helps keep our country strong and fair.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the Constitution? (an important document)
2. Why do we have the Constitution? (to help us have rules to run the United States)
3. When was the Constitution written? (more than two hundred years ago)
4. What is one thing the Constitution helps do for us? (helps us make sure everyone is treated fairly and that our government works for the people)
5. Why is it important for everyone to follow the Constitution? (It helps keep the country strong and fair.)

The Declaration of Independence

Can you imagine telling the world that you want to be your own boss? That is what the Declaration of Independence did! It is a very important document written over two hundred years ago to announce that the United States wanted to be free from the control of another country, England. The people who wrote it believed everyone should have the right to make their own decisions and seek happiness.

Comprehension Questions

LESSON 5: SPELLING ANALYSIS DIRECTIONS

Write students' names in the column provided. The words on today's spelling assessment include spelling alternatives for /n/, /r/, /w/, /j/, and /f/. Place an X in the column of any word that the student did not spell correctly. Examine errors for patterns using the information provided below. If a pattern is identified, speak with the student and ask him or her to explain his or her thinking to you. This may help you understand the student's confusion and allow you to clear up the misunderstanding.

Numbers 1, 3, 5, 9, 12

What an error in these words means: These words include spelling alternatives for /f/: 'f', 'ff', and 'ph'. These students did not use the correct spelling for /f/.

What you should do: Practice identifying and writing words that use spelling alternatives for /f/ will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /f/ in words.

Numbers 2, 4, 6, 7

What an error in these words means: These words include spelling alternatives for /n/: 'n' and 'kn'. These students did not use the correct spelling for /n/.

What you should do: Practice with identifying and writing words that use spelling alternatives for /n/ will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /n/ in words.

Numbers 8, 10

What an error in these words means: These words include spelling alternatives for /r/: 'r', and 'wr'. These students did not use the correct spelling for /r/.

What you should do: Practice identifying and writing words that use spelling alternatives for /r/ will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /r/ in words.

Numbers 11, 13, 15, 17, 19

What an error in these words means: These words include spelling alternatives for /j/: 'j' and 'g'. These students did not use the correct spelling for /j/.

What you should do: Practice identifying and writing words that use spelling alternatives for /j/ will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /j/ in words.

Numbers 14, 16, 18

What an error in these words means: These words include spelling alternatives for /w/: 'w' and 'wh'. These students did not use the correct spelling for /w/.

LESSON 15: SPELLING ANALYSIS DIRECTIONS

Write students' names in the column provided. The words on today's spelling assessment include the endings -ge, -dge, and -tion. Place an X in the column of any word that the student did not spell correctly. Examine errors for patterns using the information provided below. If a pattern is identified, speak with the student and ask him or her to explain his or her thinking to you. This may help you understand the student's confusion and allow you to clear up the misunderstanding.

Numbers 1, 3, 4, 6, 9, 10, 12, 14, 16, 19

What an error in these words means: These words include the ending -tion. These students did not use the correct spelling for /shən/.

What you should do: Practice identifying and writing words that have /shən/ > 'tion' will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /sh/ + /ə/ + /n/ in words.

Numbers 2, 5, 7, 8, 17, 18

What an error in these words means: These words include the ending -ge. These students did not use the correct spelling for /j/ at the end of words.

What you should do: Practice identifying and writing words that use the 'ge' spelling for /j/ will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /j/ at the end of words.

Numbers 11, 13, 15

What an error in these words means: These words include the ending -dge. These students did not use the correct spelling for /j/ at the end of words.

What you should do: Practice identifying and writing words that use the 'dge' spelling for /j/ will increase students' comfort levels with choosing the correct spelling for /j/ at the end of words.

Tricky Word

What an error in these words means: The word Europe is a Tricky Word. Tricky Words do not follow the rules for encoding that students have learned thus far.

What you should do: For now, students should memorize how to spell these Tricky Words.

Alphabetizing

LESSON 20: SPELLING ANALYSIS DIRECTIONS

- The most likely error may be one of incorrectly alphabetizing the words on the back of the spelling activity page. Additional instruction will be given with this skill as the unit progresses.
- Students may also make the mistake of not capitalizing the proper nouns.
- Although any of the above student-error scenarios may occur, you should still be aware that misspellings may be due to many other factors. You may find it helpful to record the actual spelling errors that the student makes in the analysis chart. For example:
  - Is the student consistently making errors on specific vowels? Which ones?
  - Is the student consistently making errors on double consonants?
  - Is the student consistently making errors at the end of the words?
  - Is the student consistently making errors on particular beginning consonants?
  - Is the student consistently making errors on schwa spellings?

THE WAR OF 1812 UNIT ASSESSMENT ANALYSIS

- Use the following answer key to score the assessment.

|      |       |
|------|-------|
| 1. B | 7. D  |
| 2. D | 8. C  |
| 3. C | 9. A  |
| 4. B | 10. C |
| 5. C | 11. C |
| 6. C | 12. * |

- The assessment is worth 15 points.
  - Correct answers for items 1–11 are worth 1 point each.
  - Item 12 is worth 4 points: 1 point each for correctly selecting two adjectives to identify Francis Scott Key (2 points total) and 1 point each for providing at least one example justifying the adjective selected (2 points total).
- The following guidelines are offered as an analysis of student mastery of the domain knowledge presented in this unit.

| Score            | Domain Knowledge |
|------------------|------------------|
| 11–15 points     | good, excellent  |
| 9 or 10 points   | fair             |
| 8 points or less | poor             |

- If time permits, you may wish to re-administer the assessment orally to any students who perform poorly to ascertain whether the poor performance truly represents lack of knowledge, or whether it may be indicative of difficulty in reading the assessment questions and answers.
- You may also find it interesting to analyze a student's performance according to the type of questions answered incorrectly.

The Young Mouse

Once upon a time there was a young mouse who had never left his mother's side. One day the young mouse went outside for a walk to explore. But it was not long until he came running back to his mother.

“Mother! Mother!” said the young mouse. “What a scare I have had! I was walking along when I saw two strange animals. One of them looked a lot like me. She had paws and a tail. She looked soft, and kind, and graceful.

But the other one was a scary monster! You should have seen him! He had just two legs and scratched at the ground with his claws. He kept beating his arms. He was ugly, too. He had no fur, just feathers, and he had big red flaps hanging from his head and neck. But what scared me the most was the awful sound he made. It sounded like cock-a-doodle-doo!”

The young mouse went on. “I wanted to say hello to the nice animal that looked like me. She was so lovely, and she looked so good and gentle. She had thick, glossy hair and a modest face. As she looked at me, she waved her fine, long tail and smiled. I think she was about to speak to me when the other animal let out his awful scream. I was so scared that I ran for my life. I didn’t even have time to smile back at the nice animal. It is such a shame. I would have liked to meet that lovely animal.”

“My son,” said the mother, “the animal that scared you was a rooster. He may look and sound scary, but he would never harm you. The other animal that you saw was a cat. She may look good and gentle, but she is no pal of ours. She would gladly eat you and your mice pals. In fact, she would have eaten you if you had not run away. So be thankful, my son, that you escaped with your life. Stay close to me and remember that things are not always what they seem to be.”

WORD READING IN ISOLATION ASSESSMENT SCORING AND ANALYSIS

- The more words a student is able to read and the farther the student is able to progress in the assessment, the stronger is his or her preparation for Grade 3.
- The number of words read correctly indicates the following:
  - Students who score 48 or fewer words out of 70 correctly have minimal preparation for Grade 3.
  - Students who score 49–59 out of 70 words correctly have adequate preparation for Grade 3
  - Students who score 60 out of 70 words correctly have outstanding preparation for Grade 3.
- After scoring the assessment, you might find it helpful to determine which phonemes students missed that caused them to score below the benchmark for word recognition. Note that one-syllable words are not included in the syllabication analysis.

Set 2:

You must be sure to give a dog food and clean water each day.

Taking care of a dog as a pet is a big responsibility.

~~Birds make their nests in the spring.~~

You also need to walk a dog or let him outside at least three times a day.

It is important that a dog has a comfortable, dry place to sleep.

Set 3:

Francis Scott Key wrote a poem while watching the attack on Fort McHenry.

Andrew Jackson led the army in the Battle of New Orleans.

This poem later became a song known as "The Star-Spangled Banner," which is now our national anthem.

Key watched the American flag at Fort McHenry during the entire battle.

He was inspired to write the poem when he saw that the flag was still waving at Fort McHenry the morning after the battle.

Appendix: Using Chunking to Decode Multisyllable Words

Mastering the various letter-sound correspondences taught in this program will enable students to read one-syllable words with ease. However, knowing these individual letter-sound correspondences is no guarantee that students will be able to apply this knowledge in reading multisyllable words. To this end, most students will benefit from additional instruction in learning to recognize, chunk and read parts of words—syllables—as a way to decode longer words.

When students first encounter two-syllable words in Grade 1 materials, a small dot is used as a visual prompt or cue between the syllables (e.g., sun·set). This is done in both the Activity Books and Readers. The dot is intended to visually break the word into two chunks, each of which can then be sounded out separately. As Grade 1 progresses, the dot is eliminated and students are expected to begin visually chunking parts of longer words on their own.

Starting in Grade 1, this program introduces the decoding of two-syllable words by having students work first with two-syllable compound words (e.g., cat·fish, cup·cake, pea·nut, drive·way). For compound words, the dot is placed between the two component words. These are among the easiest two-syllable words to chunk and decode because each syllable of a compound word is already a familiar spelling pattern students have encountered in reading one-syllable words. In addition, each syllable or chunk is also frequently recognizable as a word part that has semantic familiarity.

In addition to learning to decode two-syllable compound words, Grade 1 students also tackle two-syllable words that consist of a root word with a simple suffix (e.g., yawn·ing, hunt·er, bust·ed). The dot is typically placed immediately before the suffix. However, for words that contain double-letter spellings for consonants, in this program, the divider is typically placed after the double-letter spelling rather than between the two consonants (e.g. batt·ed, bigg·er, bunn·y). Teachers familiar with other ways to chunk or divide syllables may initially find this odd. This is done, however, because the double-letter spellings have been taught as single-spelling units since Kindergarten ('nn' > /n/, 'mm' > /m/, 'tt' > /t/, etc.). This program strives to be consistent in representing these spellings in the way that the students have been taught to process them (e.g., as whole entities for a sound). (Ultimately, as students become more proficient at decoding and chunking syllables through subsequent grade levels, it really does not matter whether they visually chunk and decode these words as batt·ed or bat·ted.) Most students find chunking and decoding these two-syllable words consisting of root words and suffixes relatively easy.

A greater challenge is encountered when chunking and decoding other types of multisyllable words. To be successful in decoding these longer words, it is helpful if teachers and students recognize certain syllable types. Most reading specialists identify six different syllable types:

Note: Syllables exemplifying each type are underlined.

- Closed Syllables (CVC, VC, CCVCC, etc.)—always associated with a “short” vowel sound (e.g., /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/, /u/): let, pad, rod, tin, fun, pic-nic, un-til
- Magic ‘E’ Syllables (V-C-E)—always associated with a “long” vowel sound (e.g., /ae/, /ee/, /ie/, /oe/, /ue/): cake, home, like, mule, Pete, mis-take, stam-pede
- Vowel Digraph Syllables: joint, speak, proud, play, dis-may, be-low, coun-sel
- R-Controlled Syllables: art, curb, girl, fort, clerk, tur-nip, ar-tist, fe-ver
- Open Syllables (V or CV)—always associated with a “long” vowel sound (e.g., /ae/, /ee/, /ie/, /oe/, /ue/): go, me, hi, a-pron, fi-nal, com-pre-hend
- Consonant–LE Syllables (C–LE): sim-ple, puz-zle, raf-fle, ca-ble, ri-fle

In addition, it is also helpful to designate one additional syllable type:

- Schwa Syllables: ben-e-fit, ap-pe-tite, a-bout, hos-pit-al, e-mo-tion

Note: The Consonant–LE Syllable is also a schwa syllable, but it is distinguished separately because of the way this spelling is chunked when dividing words into syllables.

To be clear, in order to decode words, students do not need to identify syllables by these names. The names of the syllable types are provided here only to establish a common vocabulary for teachers as they use the materials. What is necessary, however, for students to become fluent readers of longer words in increasingly complex text is that they be able to visually parse certain spelling patterns as syllable chunks so they can quickly and easily decode each syllable.

The first type of two-syllable word pattern to which students are introduced is the closed syllable pattern in two-syllable words. These two-syllable words are also relatively easy for students to chunk and recognize as an example of the familiar CVC, VC, CCVCC, etc., spelling pattern they encountered in one-syllable words in Kindergarten.

Two closed syllables in a word are divided as follows:

- When two different consonants stand between two vowels, the syllables are divided between the consonants, creating one or more closed syllables.

ad · mit

nap · kin

trum · pet

- For words that contain double-letter spellings for consonants, the divider is typically placed after the double-letter spelling rather than between the consonants. As noted earlier, this is done because the double-letter spellings have been taught as single spelling units since Kindergarten (‘nn’ > /n/, ‘mm’ > /m/, ‘tt’ > /t/, etc.).

traff · ic

muff · in

happ · en

- When there are three consonants between two vowels, in general, the word is divided so the first consonant goes with the first vowel and the other two consonants with the second vowel.

mon · ster

con · tract

pil · grim

When students have difficulty reading a two-syllable word, you may find it useful to use your finger to cover the second syllable, revealing only the first syllable for them to read. Once students read the first syllable, the second syllable can be uncovered and read. If necessary, you can then model for students how to blend the two syllables aloud:

In Grade 1, students will encounter other two-syllable words with various combinations of the magic 'E' syllable, the vowel digraph syllable, the r-controlled vowel syllable, and the closed syllable.

- Chunking these syllable types follows the same patterns for division as noted above for closed syllables:

tar · get

for · get

es · cape

ig · loo

scoun · drel

char · coal

In Grade 2, students are introduced to more challenging multisyllable words.

Two-syllable words with only one consonant between the vowels are especially difficult to chunk because they may be divided either before or after the single consonant. Students are taught to use a flexible approach in chunking syllables with a single consonant between the vowels, trying each possibility when they encounter an unfamiliar word.

- When only one consonant stands between two vowels, first divide the word in front of the consonant and sound it out as an open syllable:

pu · pil

vi · rus

mo · ment

However, sometimes the word may divide after the consonant, creating a closed syllable. There is no definitive rule for when to divide before or after the consonant. Students will need to be flexible and try dividing and sounding the word each way—before and/or after the consonant—to determine whether they recognize a familiar word as they sound out each possibility. In order to recognize whether a word is familiar when sounded either way, the word must be one that the student has heard before (i.e., the word must be in the student’s oral vocabulary). Obviously, this will represent an additional challenge for students who have a limited vocabulary and/or for whom English is a second language.

- If the word divides after the consonant, a closed syllable is created:

cam · el

mel · on

pun · ish

In Grade 2, students are also introduced to Consonant–LE Syllables. Chunking these words into syllables is fairly straightforward.

- When a word ends in Consonant–LE, the word is divided in front of the consonant, creating a first syllable that may be an open, closed or even r-controlled syllable, depending on the other spellings in the words

ban · gle

twin · kle

sta · ble

cra · dle

tur · tle

In the later part of Grade 2, students are introduced to syllables in which various spellings represent the schwa sound. English words with more than one syllable usually include a combination of stressed and unstressed syllables. When a syllable in a spoken word is unstressed or weakly stressed, its vowel sound is often reduced to a flat, rather nondescript vowel sound that linguists call a schwa. This happens in many English words. Spellings for the schwa sound include 'a', 'e', 'al', 'il', 'el' and 'tion'. Chunking and decoding words that include the schwa sound can be quite challenging for many students.

- Syllables with a schwa sound are divided in different ways, recognizing that the syllable with the schwa sound has a particular spelling:

a · bout

de · pos · it

med · al

e · vil

nick · el

lo · tion

As noted earlier, the Consonant–LE Syllable is actually a schwa syllable, but it is identified separately because of the way this spelling is chunked when dividing words into syllables.

- Finally, while students encountered some simple root words and affixes in Grade 1, they study prefixes, suffixes, and root words in much greater depth and are taught to chunk syllables accordingly throughout the entire year of Grade 3 instruction.

pre · tend

non · sense

tri · cycle

re · peat

self · ish

sad · ness

help · less

By combining the specific code knowledge of letter-sound spellings taught in Kindergarten–Grade 3, with the ability to chunk multisyllable words into smaller decodable parts, students will have the tools they need to independently decode just about any word they encounter.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY STANDARDS - GRADE 2

Skills 6

Correlation—Teacher’s Guide

(1) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/learning strategies. The ELL uses language learning strategies to develop an awareness of his or her own learning processes in all content areas. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. The student is expected to:

(2) Cross-curricular second language acquisition/listening. The ELL listens to a variety of speakers including teachers, peers, and electronic media to gain an increasing level of comprehension of newly acquired language in all content areas. ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in listening. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across the foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student’s level of English language proficiency. The student is expected to:
